Four Heroes Protected Talas

Kairimubayi Borrowed Troops and Invaded, Heroes Discussed to Fight against the Enemy

When the dim moonlight before dawn,
Shined on the swamp of Kaitichy,
From the eating horses,
Kanchorao picked fat mare of empty embryo.

There was a maroon mare that did not get pregnant for years,
Now it was fat and strong.
Kanchorao had sharp eyes,
He picked it with only one glance.

During the time of making tea,
Kanchorao butchered this mare.
Krichorao dug a stove on the ground,
The pot was three meters long,
The warrior put it on the stove.

They put the mare meat in the pot,
Simmered with slow fire.
Krichorao wove a slotted ladle with willow twigs,
Stirred in the big pot,
Made sure all meat to be fully cooked.

Right at the moment,
Old Bakay and Khan Semtay,
They chatted and put their thoughts together.
Kanchorao asked to serve the mare meat,
When the sky turned white gradually,
They had eaten all mare meat.

Their horses were unsaddled and herded,
They led them back and saddled.
When they were busy doing it,
A strong man,
Rode on a black-spotted horse,
Galloped toward them fast.
Right before he arrived at their front,
He turned and ran away immediately.

Kanchorao had seen him clearly,
He hopped on his horse fast,
Galloped up from the low place,
Caught the fleeing man immediately.

The strong man riding on the black-spotted horse,
Was a messenger from Kazakh.
Semtay, Bakay, and Kanchorao,
No one came out and asked.
The wise warrior,
Almanbet's son,
Hero Krichorao walked out and asked,
With his sharp and aggressive words:

"It seems your horse has been well treated,
But you flee in a panic,
Where on earth are you going?
Do not hide anything,
Tell me the truth if you are a hero!"

The coming man did not answer Krichorao,
But he asked in reply in a hurry:
"Please tell me your name first,
Then you can ask me!

"I only can tell you my story,
After I know who you are.
If you do not tell me who you are,

Even if you bury me alive,
I will not tell you the secret!
If I do not know who you are,
How can I erase the doubts in my mind?

"My name is Molodokudur,
I set out eight days ago,
From the intersection of Kurpuldaik river,
I galloped day and night and come here.

"Majestic elder Bakay,
Lion Semtay,
Chuwak's son Kanchorao,
Almanbet's son Krichorao,
I guess you are whom I say.
Acairkaichy sent me here to deliver a message,
My Ayinla is in Altay."

Before Molodokudur finished his words,
Krichorao could not wait:
"You are right,
Where is Acairkaichy's letter?"

Molodokudur sat down immediately,
Took off his boots and threw them to the side,
Untied his long and smelly foot-binding cloth,
Took out a letter from the bottom of his boot-pad.
He ignored Krichorao,
Presented the letter directly to Bakay.

The letter was written in Karamark language,
It was totally strange to Kirgiz.
Khan Bakay urged anxiously:
"My kid, Krichorao, please read it quickly!"

The words draped from the upside to downside,
Waggled like injured snakes,

Twined like male argali.
When Krichorao took the letter in his hand,
Like he already recited the letter,
He read fluently.

Krichorao was Khitan people,
He knew forty-two languages,
And he knew their words too.

Once he read the Beyginning of the letter,
He knew the rest immediately.
Paper of the letter was specially made,
There were six rows written neatly.
"A" was used to replace Acairkaichy,
Elder Bakay's name,
Was replaced with "Ba" cleverly,
Semtay was replaced with "Se",
Krichorao was replaced with "K",
And Kanchorao was replaced with "Kan".

The end of the letter was neatly arranged,
Sixteen orderly symbols were there,
Krichorao weighed it carefully.
He explained it word by word patiently,
There were totally two hundred and fifty words,
Similar letters were too many in the world,
But Krichorao had no difficulty to read it.

Till the end of the letter,
He understood the letter completely.
Krichorao smiled.
Leopard Bakay urged him in haste:
"My baby, Krichorao,
Tell us the content of the letter quickly."

"Uncle, I have read the letter,
But I laugh for one sentence in the letter.

Kairimubayi has become a big bastard,
While Acairkaichy went to Buhara,
He took the chance and drove Kazakh people away.

"When Acairkaichy went back,
She got to know the truth.
Kairimubayi cut the chain and stole all money,
Acairkaichy's saving, twenty thousand pounds of gold,
Nothing was left to her.

"Kazakh people are preparing to go to a battle,
Kairimubayi contacts everywhere.
He went to remote Jafan and Jilin,
He has borrowed forty thousand troops from Jafan,
He invited giant Kerzilwuyouk to help him,
He recruited one hundred thousand troops from Jilin,
He invited giant Mardhan to help him.
Kazakh prepared ten thousand troops,
They are going to flat Talas.
They are trying to kill,
Peerless Manas' offspring.

"I made a judgment from the words,
In ten days from now on,
Massive invading troops will turn out to us!
Let us grasp our weapons and gallop our horses,
Give them a surprise blow.
Before they set out,
We can wipe them out completely!"

When Krichorao said this,
Kanchorao stood up and said:
"What Krichorao said is reasonable,
He is really a wise lion,
Never retreat in front of powerful enemies,
Dare to fight any ferocious enemies.
"We cannot let invaders step in our hometown,

We must let our fellow people live a happy and peaceful life.
Do not make troubles for our fellow people,
We should stop the enemies out of our hometown.

"Toshtuk's son Geodarbeshim,
Koshaoyi's son Jalgezack,
They two should go with us,
Baytaylak should stay in Talas.
In order to invite them quickly,
Let's send Molodokudur to go,
Is my idea appropriate?"

Heard what Krichorao and Kanchorao said,
Semtay still acted as if nothing were on his mind,
Quiet without even a single word,
Because he has been cheated once,
Krichorao was struck dumb.

At this crucial moment,
Majestic Bakay said:
"What Kanchorao said is wise,
I totally agree on his idea.
But he forgets one hero,
Among Jedigair people,
Everyone does know this warrior,
His name is Keyiz Bay,
Once he draws his bow,
He can be as powerful as one thousand people.

"I think we should send a message to him,
Let Ayichulek go,
Wake that sleeping tiger,
Let this great general,
Show off in the battlefield.

"From Kirgiz people in Talas,
Pick five thousand skilled soldiers and generals.

Together with Jalgezack and Geodarbeshim,
Send Senchybek a letter in Hohan,
Inform Kerkokuler's son in Kaitmantobe city,
Let them head their troops and come immediately,
Jamgerchy is too old,
Let him stay in Talas.

"Let Jezkanpire's seven sons,
Let Jedigair heroes,
Let warriors of seven rivers,
All gather here as soon as possible.

"Buhara's Khan Yismayil,
He is Timir Khan's son,
If he receives our letter,
Does not Yismayil come?

"Chaychuy and Shankay,
We should inform them too,
As long as Semtay thinks it is appropriate,
We will assemble a hundred thousand troops.

"Almanbet once said before he died,
Giant Kerzilwuyouk is very powerful,
He crosses the ocean and comes from Jafan.

"Kangayi Khan Niskara,
Krichorao killed him,
In the battle in Sire korgan city not long ago.
In Saylam benchland in Jerkan,
Kanchorao killed Muradler,
On the plain of kashan mountain.
Karamark people Wushan,
In Jayik plain in Arpa,
Was killed by hero Jalgezack.
"Went into the battlefield alone,
Pricked Orokger,

He is called a young hero,
Baytaylak gets a reputation from then on.

"The enmity has passed,
Does he still remember it?
The treasure lost in the battle,
Does he still remember it?
Does he want to make us pay his blood debt?
Niskara's son Mardhan,
Does he still hate us in his heart?

"Beat severely by Kanchorao,
Shaymanbet fled away,
Did he go and complain?
Does he bow to Kairimubayi?
Does he complain his suffering,
To hero Mardhan?

"That angry Mardhan,
Does he have a well-thought-out plan?
Kunwuerbayi is old,
Does he join them?
It seems this is a gigantic battle,
Does Jurjut join them?

"In Acairkaichy's letter,
Does she ask us to send troops to rescue her?
I have talked a lot,
Do we need to inform all heroes?

"From people come and go,
Assemble powerful troops,
Head gigantic troops,
Rush to ferocious invaders."
Bakay Khan stopped and raised his head and looked around,
Stroked his beard and sat down.

Peerless hero's son Khan Semtay,
He was a peerless young hero.
At the crucial moment the formidable enemies invaded,
He judged and offered his advice:
"Kanchorao and Bakay Khan,
What you said just now is penetrating,
Wise Krichorao,
Also expressed an opinion on it.
I want to say my plan,
I do not know whether you will agree with.

"I have been to Jedigair,
I only had two young heroes accompanied.
Once I fought against ferocious enemies alone,
I did not depend on gigantic troops at all.
If you feel scared,
You all can stay here,
Let me go and fight alone.

"Our fellow people call us MEN,
If we cause troubles to our people,
How we can be called heroes.
Our people call us Khans,
We should fight for them and die for them.
If we let our people suffer from the disaster,
How can we still call ourselves Khans!

"The equipment my father left me,
I do not take it with me this time,
I am empty-handed and do not prepare at all.
If I can carry it to fight,
It must be a gold-beset battle flag!"

Semtay just finished talking,
Impatient Krichorao,
Jumped up and laughed loudly,
His snaggleteeth exposed:

"What big brother said is reasonable,
The world in all directions,
Are divided into six parts,
It is not easy to travel round.

"Before we get well prepared,
Hold sharp spears and blue flags,
Giant Kerzilwuyouk will be faster than us.
Before we inform those heroes,
Before those heroes gather,
That aggressive beast,
Will head a hundred thousand troops,
Giant Mardhan will also come.

"Although invaders come from afar and will be tired,
They are ferocious and powerful enemies.
Before your gigantic troops assemble,
They still can flat our people's yurts.

"Your Kaitmantobe hill and Jas,
Your Atbash and Naren city,
Your Kara Kirgiz,
Your Yirkshitan,
Kokand located in plain,
Before you call troops from all directions,
The powerful enemies have laid your city flat.

"This will happen in a blink of an eye,
But we will be greatly sapped and have no power to fight back,
We have to give in under their power and violence,
People will lose their homes and leave their hometown.

"Will Jedigair be destroyed?
Chaychuy, Buhara, and Shankay people,
Will never come to your Ayinla,
They even will leave you as far as they can.

"I totally agree on big brother's advice,
Let's mount the horse and set out now,
Go and meet the invading enemies.
Pray to ancestors' spirits,
Wish Manas bless us!

"We would rather march ahead and die rather than wait here,
In order not to let our fellow people suffer,
What does it matter if heroes die in the battlefield?
We would rather challenge the formidable enemies actively,
Than wait for Kerzilwuyouk and Mardhan here.

"Even if Kerzilwuyouk is very powerful,
He is an old man.
Mardhan is Niskara's son,
His skill is as high as a little hill at most.
Impudent Kairimubayi and Wumaitoy,
We are thoroughly familiar with their skills.

"Since I heard the name of hero Mardhan,
I am always like an eagle looking down everywhere,
His power and all his movements,
Are all under my control.
Even if he is as strong and powerful as a volcano,
I must uproot him.

"Elder Bakay, Khan Semtay,
You are always the backbone of the tribes,
We need let everybody fully display his talents.
We will perish enemies out of Talas city.
Since the enemies go beyond their depth,
I must make invaders utterly routed!

"The thick beard is like white cotton,
Khan Bakay, your bowstring is more than four hundred feet long.
As long as you take charge of the battle flag,
I have the confidence to defeat enemies.

"Hero Kanchorao, please go with me,
You and I are as close as brothers.
Magnificent like lofty Arat mountain,
Outstanding in the world,
Big brother Semtay is by my side,
I am full of energy!

"In Acairkaichy's letter,
I do not find Kunwuerbayi's name,
Actually he is the most malicious and powerful enemy,
But there is no sign of his join.

"As long as Karamark people of Kangayi keep to their own line,
As long as Kunwuerbayi folds his arms and looks on,
How can others be a trouble?
Kerzilwuyouk and Mardhan,
I do not take them seriously.

"If Kunwuerbayi joins them,
Then we can call all heroes in and fight against them together.
If Kunwuerbayi does not join them,
Now there is no sign of his join,
We do not need to assemble troops,
Do not need to ask for help either,
Do not make our people worried.

"Do not talk nonsense here,
It seems we are scared of those enemies who do not exist now.
Do not stay here free and lose the best chance,
We must seize the chance and fight immediately.

"The news of Karakuli's death,
Do not let Kunwuerbayi know.
Let's wipe enemies out!
We must arrive at the intersection of Kurpuldaik.
In five days.

That is a place we have never been to,
Only uncle knows how to get there.

"I observe carefully today,
On the high hill of Kuyruktu,
On the pen hill of Kokjanak,
There are Karamark people's horses,
Karakuli was herding there.

"Let Kudur goes through those villages,
And pick out four or five Kazakh young men,
On September fifteenth,
Let them come and drive horses,
The master of the horses will come as he hears it.

"If Kunwuerbayi comes and asks for the horses,
We will ask him to pay tribute as we contracted,
We have the contract with his seal,
We can ask where the gold is.
Once we drive horses away,
Even if Kunwuerbayi comes,
What he can do about it?

"Kirgiz people wear white felt hat here,
Let them live happily and peacefully,
Enemies make troubles everywhere,
Let them shed blood on prairie and have no way to go back.

"We fight against enemies severely,
Shed our sweat and blood for our people,
Let us protect our fellow people,
Let them live a free and happy life,
Let us set out now."
Hero Krichorao finished his talking,
And stepped on horse stirrups immediately,
All warriors followed him and mounted their horses.
Khan ordered Kudurbek to stay,

Asked him to go past Kerziljar,
Along the downward of hill and go toward the west.

From strong and smart young men,
Let him choose four to five young men to go with him,
Asked him to keep close connection with the commander in chief,
Asked him to drive back,
All the Kangayi horses in the plain.

Toward the intersection of Kurpuldaik river,
Four great heroes set out.
Bakay said on their way:
"I have witnessed road of Shiber,
The famous Amur river,
I have crossed for three times.

"If we push on our journey without stop,
If we get up early and go to sleep late,
We still need eight days to get there.
We should get there and protect our people,
Before the flooding enemies come.
My kids, let me lead your way!"
Uncle Bakay said to them and galloped his horse.

When the sky began to turn white,
The group was busy in the morning mist,
Warriors saddled their horses in a hurry.
In the dim light of the evening,
In the dense mist,
They ate and rested on site.

Four great heroes galloped ahead bravely,
They went around lofty Chonyingan mountains.
The eighth day of their journey,
Right at the time the sun shined above their heads,
Four heroes arrived at the foot of a big mountain,
They climbed up a hill and watched.

There was a white-nosed mare without a saddle,
On the high cliff in their sight.
Their eyes lit up when they saw the mare,
It seemed they had arrived at a place with human,
They felt happy and stopped to watch.

In an instant,
A young man led a hunting dog,
Carried a hunting bag and a gun on the shoulder,
Appeared on a hill.

As seeing four heroes,
The young man felt scared.
It was lofty peaks behind him,
And it was brown cliff on his side,
But the scared boy,
Did not hide or flee.
He did not step forward,
But stood there still,
Like a stone sculpture.

Krichorao saw him,
Waved to him as a call,
Let him come toward them quickly.
The poor young hunter,
Ran to them in a hurry.

When he got close to the heroes,
When he saw four heroes clearly,
When he witnessed their majesty,
After he shouted "Uncle! Bakay!",
He did not say even a word again,
Just stood there openmouthed.

Kanchorao looked at thim:
"Come here quickly, Jenybay!

Why are you in a remote mountain,
Carrying your hunting bag and gun?
Why do you come here?

"In the green plain of Borukotoy,
On hills of Yuchykarkla,
There are always more than five attendants around you,
They never leave you alone.
Why are you so embarrassed today?
Why are you in such a remote mountain?
Brother, what happened?
Come to me, get close to me!"

Heard what Kanchorao said,
Exhausted Jenybay,
Had tears welled up in his eyes and sobbed for a long time.
He gradually calmed down,
And braced himself up.
He was lucky to meet the lions,
He felt warm and excited.
He walked slowly toward the heroes,
Sat down in front of them.

Semtay looked at him sideways and asked:
"My young leopard Kanchorao,
Which tribe does this Jenybay come from?
You call his name and ask him to come,
Are you familiar with him?"

Before Kanchorao made a detailed answer,
Before Kanchorao started to talk,
Jenybay began to talk:
"My name is Jenybay,
I was born in a Kazakh place,
I am Ayidslkrn's grandson,
And I am Jamgerchy's nephew's nephew.
Uncle Semtay Khan,

How do you not know your nephew?

"I am not an ordinary people,
I am not one of herds.
Giant Jamgerchy is my greatuncle.
Kanchorao, Krichorao, and I,
We played together since we were little,
We grew up in knucklebone game,
We lived together and accompanied each other.
When they came to hunt in Kunse once in the past,
They lived in my home for a long time.

"I live on the south side of Kunse in winter,
And live on the north side of Terks in summer,
I lived a carefree life and acted alone.
But since last spring,
I lost that leisure life.

"I did not go to Kunse for winter,
I was wild about hunting foxes,
In hills of Karkla prairie,
I sent eagle in winter to hunt foxes.

"When I sent my eagle and hunted that fox,
The black eagle and white snow,
The fox was in bright red color,
It was like a beautiful girl.

"I put spears across the front of my saddle,
Let the ferocious eagle land on,
I could catch foxes everyday.
I took snuff and tilted a feather hat on my head,
I only enjoyed myself,
I did not realize the disaster was coming on its way.

"The eagle stopped flying and spring came quietly,
I was among Kazakh people alone,

My lonely Kirgiz yurt,
Caused the trouble because it was different from others.

"Kazakh people were all called out,
Gathered in vast Karkla,
More and more of them gathered,
Kairimubayi commanded Begans,
Ordered to expel me, Jenybay, out of the tribe.

"Two days passed and the third day came,
Six or seven strong men came to force me,
Shouted to force Jenybay to move,
Pulled my yurt out.

"I had twelve camels,
The male camel saddled,
carried all my stuff,
And I was expelled out of Kazakh Ayinla.

"Under the escort of six strong men,
I was driven for two months without a stop.
I came to Amur river,
Under the foot of Chonyingan mountain,
At the intersection of Kurpuldaik,
The escort group stopped and set up their yurts.

"They worried maybe I would flee,
They arranged two neighbors for me,
There were three households including me.
Under the watch of Kazakh,
I stayed there for four days without an action.
I did not tie the horse and did not milk either,
Just drank tea and ate nang,
Like Sart people in Andijan!

"The miserable days came to the sixth day,
Wumaitoy and Kairimubayi,

Assembled all people suddenly.
They extorted gold and silver and treasure from the rich,
From unfortunate Jenybay's hands,
They took away eight strong male camels.

"They were not satisfied with eight camels,
They robbed the saddles and cushions together.
Because saddles and cushions were not enough,
There was almost no cover felt in my yurt.
They took away all my ropes,
Two horses I rode to hunt in winter,
Became their horses.

"I was like a frozen snake,
And was thrown in the wilderness.
Your unfortunate nephew Jenybay,
Was like the lonely dead standing tree.

"I was at the end of my resources,
I had to bring my hunting dog,
Two kids and one wife,
Rushed busy for finding food!

"I rushed here and there and set up the trap,
It was like what the saying goes:
'The hungry people's prey does not come often,
The trap gets nothing for a long time'.

"I carried the gun to hunt blue sheep,
I climbed up high peaks everyday.
It seems I feel there is something here today,
So I take my dog and come here.

"Good luck turns to me as I come here,
I finally can get out of the trouble.
My fellows from my mother's side,
You come to me finally.

"I spent the whole summer here last year,
And the whole winter here this year.

"From spring to fall this year,
It almost rains everyday.
Winter is very long here,
It almost has snowstorms everyday.

"The sunshine days,
Never appear two days in a row here!
Even if you wear two layers of fur coats,
You will still feel cold and quiver.
If you do not wear leather gloves,
You will still suffer from frostbite in summer.

"Before this spring,
Giant Kerzilwuyouk came suddenly,
Forty thousand troops swarmed here with him,
In order to treat and accommodate the troops,
People here suffer unspeakably!

"They thought Kerzilwuyouk's troops are not enough,
They invited Mardhan from Kangayi,
Troops that come with him,
Are one hundred thousand.

"Wumaitoy and Kairimubayi,
Recruit soldiers from Kazakh forcibly,
And they call ten thousand troops.
They will set out in three days,
They plan to march toward Talas from here!

"Poor Molodokudur,
He was my neighbor in the past,
Acairkaichy sent him,
To deliver a message to you.

He set out at night and no one knew it,
If these devils find it,
They must send soldiers to chase after him.

"Devil Kerzilwuyouk is like a vampire,
That beast has a mountain-size body,
Anyone that challenges him,
He will tear the rival in two.

"And there is ferocious Mardhan,
Let me describe him:
The devil is not too tall,
But no person in the world is as strong as him.
He is medium-size with strong arms,
He is merciless and iron-hearted.

"He is like that ferocious wild beast,
He is ugly and scary.
He has a single eye on his forehead,
Its color is like that dirty lake.

"His expression on the face is different,
It is like the withered leaf in winter.
He is exactly like that Dunderhead,
He rides a grey male rhinoceros.

"Right above its nose,
There is one sharp horn,
It is always eager to attack,
It is more malicious than its master,
It is a ferocious male rhinoceros.
"Face one hundred and fifty thousand troops,
Face two iron-hearted devils,
Only four heroes come to fight back,
I do not think you can defeat them.

"If you listen to my advice,

Turn round and go back to Talas immediately.
Call in numerous skilled soldiers,
Then come and fight against the devils.
That is the only way you can defeat them.
If you do not listen to my advice,
You will have no chance to go back home alive.

"Devil Kerzilwuyouk is cruel and vicious,
A hammer is put across the saddle.
I witnessed a miracle,
It showed how powerful he is.

"Right by the side of their tents,
There is a rock hill,
It stood there quietly the whole winter.
On the day when it turned to spring,
Free and lonely devil Kerzilwuyouk,
Swung his big hammer,
Punched upon the rock hill.

"At the moment when he drew the hammer back,
Powder of rock splashed.
The rock had disappeared,
There was a big and deep pit in the front.

"This is what I have witnessed,
If I did not see it by my own eyes,
I will never believe there is such a strong man in the world.

"Only Mardhan felt jealous and not convinced,
When he saw this.
He thought what a small thing it was,
How he dared to show off in front of me.

"He looked at the big mountain in the front,
Below the lofty snow peak,
There was a huge rock,

It blocked in front of the mountain.

"He walked to the mountain slowly,
And murmured to himself,
And pointed it to his rhinoceros then.
The rhinoceros dug the ground and growled,
It deafened ears.

"Its crazy eyes splashed with flames.
The single horn waved.
It ran forward directly and pushed hard,
Carried the huge rock on its horn,
And overturned the rock to the bottom of the peak.

"As showing his rhinoceros' power,
Mardhan was well-contented,
It seemed he was showing his power,
He felt very happy.

"His wild laugh was cruel and scaring,
Saliva ran down his mouth corners,
His ugly black teeth were exposed,
Like dogs were fighting.

"He rode on his rhinoceros immediately,
Carried his battle axe arrogantly.
When he shouted angrily,
The whole Ayinla was a scaring place.

"There are some cowards,
They were scared and passed out right away.
There were thirty pregnant women,
They all miscarried in a panic.

"The peaks in his sight,
Are capped with snow,
One after one in a row.

Arrogant Mardhan stood sideways,
Swung his axe hard,
The peaks cut by his axe,
All disappeared,
It is called Baltabel hill[1] from then on.

"This is what I have witnessed of his power,
Once Mardhan becomes wild,
Who of you can stop him?

"All that I have witnessed,
All the legends,
I have told you now,
It is up to you of what you want to do.

"Let us pray to Manas' spirit,
Ancestor's spirit will bless us all the time.
I am lucky to see you all here,
I will go back home now.
When people all go to sleep,
I will bring my wife and two kids,
Carry all kitchen stuff,
Come back at night before everyone notices.
I am capable of nothing else,
But making tea and cooking for you,
It is what your nephew can do."

Jenybay stopped when he talked this,
Semtay started to talk,
After he heard the long talk:
"Jenybay, my dear nephew,
What you said is true.
Do not stay here long and go back home quickly,
Look at the hill in the front,
Look at the hills behind the plain.

1 Baltabel hill: It means the hill flattened by battle axe.

When the stars fully rise up in the sky,
Bring your wife and kids,
Arrive there on time.

"Prepare well and do not come empty-handed,
It is hard to predict the days in the future.
Bring your stuff,
Bring everything you need.

"When you find us,
Let us meet your wife and kids,
Let them eat and drink to their content,
Then return to your Kunse prairie.

"If two powerful enemies compete,
If heroes fight,
It will shake the earth,
The earth would not bear it!

"Look at the pasture full of livestock,
You try your best to drive them away,
Carry your property with the camels.
You and your wife,
Can choose two fast horses to ride.
You cannot do it tonight,
You can wait and set out tomorrow night!

"You can choose where you want to go,
If you want you can go to Kunse,
If you are sincere you can go to Talas.
If you want to go to a peaceful place,
You can move to Naren.

"At Jalgezack's place,
You can receive the respect you deserve.
You should get the respect to yourself back,
How you can wander here.

No matter where are you going,
You should think reasonably first,
Then you can come to me.

"As long as you pick up the pasture you like,
You should come to me as soon as possible.
I will write an arranging letter for you,
Let you live a happy and peaceful life there."

Heard what Semtay told him,
Jenybay was so excited:
"My dear uncle Khan,
I have something else to say.

"You ask me to leave here as soon as possible,
Do you consider me as a Kirgiz man?
I want to stay and you do not allow me to,
Do not you think I can cook and make tea?

"Do you worry about my safety?
And worry about my young kids and weak wife's safety too?
Do you worry they will lose their lives in the battle?
And leave me alone in the world.

"My dear uncle Khan,
I am also one of your subjects.
You love me sincerely,
In your love and majesty,
How I can disobey your order.
Let me go to a distant place.

"If you really want to write a letter for me,
I have picked a place for myself to live,
Let me go to Terks!

"Kulja[1] is on the north side of Terks,
Toen and Issyk lake are on the south side,
Great Muzart is on its west,
Koshjilga is on its east.

"There are plenty of wild fruits,
Trees are full on the mountains there.
I do not need to dig channels to water the land,
I can harvest as long as I sow seeds.

"As long as you present Kulja to me,
Let me live a happy life there,
I will manage there better,
It will become Jenybay's territory,
This name will be remembered forever."

Khan accepted his request,
And wrote a proof down in detail.
The prairie of Terks downstream,
Is known by Jenybay Jaylo[2] till now,
It passed down through this story.

He had the proof Khan wrote in the hand,
He immediately felt his neighbors became more,
Number of his sheep in the pen skyrocketed,
And countless horses spread on the prairie.

Jenybay's was contented very much,
Said goodbye and left in a hurry.
He rode on the old white-nose mare,
Whipped the horse and went away.

Four heroes arrived at the appointed place on time.

1 Kulja: It is how Kirgiz people call Yili.

2 Jaylo: It means prairie in Kirgiz language.

When people were still in sleep,
Heroes on the platform of the hill,
Set a campfire,
Put up the pot and melted ice in it.

There was no tea in the wilderness,
They had to add some salt in water,
They had to put the stir-fried highland barley,
Stirred with salt water and ate it.

Covered with their Olbok coat armors on their bodies,
The heroes were going to sleep outside.
Krichorao started to say:
"Leopard Semtay, uncle Bakay Khan,
My peerless black tiger,
Hey, Kanchorao, you are the general,
Krichorao has something to say,
Please listen to me carefully.
If what I say is not pleasant to your ears,
You can blame me together.

"I want to sneak into enemy troops,
Under the cover of the coming night,
It is a secret action so I will not expose myself.
I will scout enemy situation,
See what secret they have.

"I want to sneak into Kazakh place,
Find Jenybay and his place.
Then I will send Jenybay,
Let him go and meet aunt Acairkaichy,
I will discuss with her about how to defeat enemies.

"People alive should always eat,
I will get three-camel loads of food,
Let Jenybay lead them quietly,
We will come back on time.

"If my plan is feasible,
Bakay Khan, allow me to do it,
Do not let me stay here and waste time.
Before the dawn comes,
I will come back to you in time."

Krichorao requested sincerely,
Hot-tempered Semtay,
Began to blame Krichorao in endless words:
"Go to scout enemy situation,
It is a wonderful idea, Krichorao.
Go and get enemy information,
It is brilliant too, Krichorao!

"After visiting aunt Acairkaichy,
Lead camels and carry food,
It is like what a thief would do,
What are you talking about?

"From powerful and prosperous Kakan Beygin,
Without considering the hardships of long journey,
Your father Almanbet came from there,
Was he a greedy person?

"My father hero Manas,
He is a lion of Ayikoler,
He used his whole life to fight,
Did he think about food?

"Go around the world in all his life,
Guide the way for my father and accompany my father,
Look at the elder Bakay in front of you,
Is he a person to be a thief?

"Ask food from those poor people,
Disturb the peace of Ayinla,

It is not what a man should do,
How we can live so ungracefully!

"Tomorrow we can get something new,
There is an old saying that goes this way:
'Livestock of no herdsmen,
Sometimes will fall into robber's hands.
Livestock of herdsmen,
Sometimes will fall into a sudden disaster.'

"There are full of livestock on hills here,
Till tomorrow morning,
We can drive them back and butcher some.
This is what ancestors leave to us,
It is right and proper to act this way,
And we will not lose our dignity.

"You can go now if you plan to scout enemy situation,
Come back as soon as possible,
Do not provoke Kerzilwuyouk and Mardhan.
Be cautious!
Do not wake sleeping enemies up.
Do not attack them at night either,
Do not act rashly and alert the enemy!

"Mardhan and giant Kerzilwuyouk,
Let me experience their power.
Do not think about anything and do not act rashly,
You just stay here and follow my order!"

Before Semtay could finish his words,
Brave tiger Kanchorao,
Went in a frenzy of rage,
And shouted in a loud voice,
Without a stop,
He faced Krichorao angrily:

"The ancestor of we three,
Is the same Khan, hero Manas.
His spirit is always with us,
He always blesses us happy and safe.
How we can do things stealthily,
You will damage our big brother's dignity for doing so.

"In the fierce battle of Sire Korgan city in the past,
Our big brother Khan was besieged in the corner,
It is said you challenged enemies at night,
You accomplished many things then,
You were in your prime time from then on.

"This time we face devil Kerzilwuyouk,
Let me win the first honor this time.
Elder Bakay, Khan Semtay,
My tiger friend Krichorao,
I plead you, please.

"Please give me this task,
Let me Kanchorao to scout enemy situation tonight.
Let me go and kill enemies,
You all can retreat at ease!"

Had the battle in two days in mind,
In order to win the time to make good preparations,
Kanchorao had great burden at the moment,
The rest of them felt contented.

Kanchorao never broke his promises,
He always kept his words.
For Kanchorao's request,
Krichorao fell in a dilemma.

They put it aside temporarily,
Unsaddled their horses,
And pillowed saddle,

They lay in a circle,
And fell into sleep.
Held the long rein in the hand,
And fell into sleep,
The lion woke up when the sky just turned white.

When the sky gradually turned white,
When the morning star faded,
When snow cock started to sing on high mountains,
When roe deer started to howl in forests,
When eyes could see farther,
The earth got rid of the curtain of night gradually.

Black mane wolf Semtay,
Climbed up the high hill in a hurry.
Observed the terrain around them carefully:
"We came late last night,
Is there a battlefield to fight?
Is there a place for horses to gallop?
If there is any proper place,
The battle flag descended by our ancestors,
Will wave high on that place."

Semtay climbed up the high hill,
Watched around,
There were countless enemies in the valley,
Mardhan's one hundred thousand troops,
And Kerzilwuyouk's forty thousand troops.

The Lion was surprised about the numerous troops,
Khan Semtay felt lucky in his heart,
Before enemies arrived in Talas,
Wiping all enemies out here,
Was his best choice.

He called Kanchorao immediately:
"Go up to the opposite hill,

Uncle brings our flag with him,
Erect our flag there.

"I will declare the battle according to the rules,
I will let enemies know why they die.
Erect the flag before the battle,
It is the rule ancestors made."

He sent Kanchorao to erect flag on the opposite hill,
Strong black mane wolf returned to their place.

Bakay Khan was still sleeping,
It was like he slept in Talas,
And it seemed nothing had happened.
The old hero was not scared at all,
He was calm and cool-headed,
Khan Semtay admired him very much.

Breakfast was ready,
Krichorao came to his side for his order,
He stood still like a peak.

Battle flag had been erected on high hill,
The sun was still behind the mountain,
Hero Kanchorao came back to report.

Kairimubayi conceived mischief,
His heart beat hard,
He could not sleep till the morning.
When the morning light shined his yurt,
Sleepless Kairimubayi got up.

He put the coat on his shoulders,
Two long sleeves draped on both sides.
When Kairimubayi stood in front of the door,
Jenybay passed in front of his eyes right at the moment.
Jenybay walked in a hurry,

He was preparing to leave.

"Where are you going? Jenybay!
Why are you in a hurry before the dawn?
You and Molodokudur,
Are busy recently and do not keep to your own lines,
What are you doing?

"You are not allowed to carry guns from now on,
Not allowed to take hunting dogs to mountains,
Not allowed to hunt wild goats.
Stay at home from tomorrow,
Do not go anywhere secretly.
If you do not behave yourself,
You will not have a good end!

"Do not regret if you make trouble for yourself,
Disaster will descend on you!
If I ask someone to whip you,
It is what you deserve.

"It is dark and people do not get up yet,
And no one orders you to go on night patrol,
But you carry a black bag and come out of your yurt,
Where on earth are you going?"

Facing Kairimubayi's face-to-face veprimand,
Poor Jenybay was at a loss about what to do,
He begged for mercy in a low voice and explained,
But Kairimubayi was still angry.

Kairimubayi turned his head accidentally,
On the hill of half-day journey,
The red battle flag with gold edge,
Appeared in his sight,
Shined and waved in wind under the sun.
He was terrified by the sight of the flag,

Kairimubayi felt his legs were limp.
He was unable to blame Jenybay,
Turned his head listlessly,
Walked in his yurt with a muddle head.

His shaking hands grasped the telescope clumsily,
Toward the direction of the flag,
Adjusted the telescope again and again.

He observed the flag carefully,
It was a beautiful red battle flag,
The flag was edged with gold.

When he watched that red flag,
He recognized it was hero Manas' battle flag,
Kairimubayi felt the catastrophe was on the way to come,
His body began to quiver in a panic.
The arrogant guy,
Became worried and lost his mind immediately.

Jenybay watched by the side,
He came to his yurt but turned round,
And ran to Kairimubayi.
He breathed heavily and asked Kairimubayi:
"Hey, Kairimubayi, my elite,
You care for everyone in the past,
Your manner and behavior,
I always remember in my heart.

"You are so absorbed in watching through the telescope,
Look, you are worried,
Tell me, my hero,
What do you find?

"Tell me what you have seen,
If you do not tell me, Kairimubayi,
I will tell you everything,

I have seen:

"At noon yesterday,
Just passed the noon.
When I carried heavy games,
Got ready to return to Ayinla,
I saw four people in the wilderness,
I have never seen these four people before.
These four people's majesty is admiring,
I have never seen before.

"I was going to run away,
But they saw me,
One of them rode the horse and got to my side.
He asked me,
'Who are you?'

"I had a good idea suddenly,
And I dealt with him like this:
He said hey and I waved to him,
Acted to tell him that I am a dumb person.

"If I talked like a normal person,
He would not let me come back,
They had no way out but waving to let me come home.

"In the dangerous riprap,
I escaped like a frightened bird,
I got back to Ayinla,
People all had gone to sleep.

"I was worried and did not sleep the whole night,
I got up in a hurry before the dawn,
And came to see you.
I came to you in a hurry just now,
I was coming to report to you the news.

"I just came to you,
But you did not ask for a reason,
Just blamed me harshly.
I was scared to death by your majesty,
So I turned round and left your home.

"I went back but I could not go into the door,
I could not let it go when such a big thing happened.
I leaned to the door,
And fixed my eyes on you.

"I saw you went back home in a hurry,
And then came out in a hurry too.
You had the telescope in your hand,
You watched toward the mountain for a long time.

"I saw it and I guessed,
Why is the hero in such a rush?
If you get exasperated and curse,
All people will be frightened.
I am also scared to death,
It is impossible to get to you on such a morning.

"My legs are limp to go forward,
But it seems you are worse than me,
You are so frightened.
Why are you so scared?
Why do you quiver and sweat all over?

"It is absolutely clear,
But you watched with the telescope.
Do you see clearly,
What is fluttering in the wind on the top of that hill?
Please tell me what that is!
"I am busy and tired everyday too,
I am busy hunting in mountains.
I come to you especially,

I was going to report the news to you,
But you cursed me unreasonably.

"You see the flag far away,
But you stay at home and feel scared.
I am luckier compared with you,
I saw them yesterday but I am still alive!"

Kairimubayi was like sitting on pins,
He had a distressed expression.
But Jenybay was heaved with joy,
He took the chance and had a dig at Kairimubayi.

There was no crack in his words,
He had harsh but perfect words.
He pretended he was scared,
Pretended he was busy and did not know what to do,
But he cherished his own thoughts.

He said when he was going to leave:
"Please tell your guard,
If Jenybay comes to your home,
Let them not stop me rudely.

"Tell them you let me go on that hill,
And scout the enemy situation.
When the deep night comes,
I will come and report you the enemy information.
In case the guard stops me,
Then I will be helpless."

Smart Jenybay,
He was sharply intelligent,
When he left Kairimubayi,
He made a wide road of retreat for himself.
He cursed damned Kairimubayi in his heart,
Then Jenybay marched off leisurely.

Kairimubayi felt nervous and flustered,
He could not be happy as usual,
He could not have tea and breakfast as usual.
He could not be relaxed as usual,
He could not do everything leisurely,
He could not follow his habit to wash.
He could not think about nothing as usual,
He could not enjoy the meat and fat.

He had no mood to drink alcohol,
He went back home in a hurry,
Asked his wife like a starved ghost:
"Is there any food for me?"
He grasped the dried nang and took a few bites,
Before his wife brought him the milk tea,
He even had no time to take care of his sleeves,
He just walked out of his home hurriedly,
Rushed to Wumaitoy's home.

Pillowed with his two hands,
Wumaitoy lay on his back,
It seemed he was still asleep.
Kairimubayi rushed in and shouted loudly:
"Hey, Wumaitoy, Wumaitoy,
Why are you still sleeping now?

"The Tyrant's son Semtay,
Is coming quietly.
My heart beats too hard and I am worried,
I did not sleep the whole night.
I thought over and over again through the night,
I did not sleep at all.
"I get up early in the morning,
Along with the breeze,
I looked at the livestock spreading over the mountains.

"I saw Jenybay coming to me,
I noticed he looked strange,
I beat around the bush,
And asked him a lot of things.

"But he tried by every means to deny,
He talked confusedly.
After a fierce contest in talking,
Jenybay returned home exhaustedly.

"Right at the moment,
I took a look at the south hill without any purpose.
On the peak top of Koktala pasture,
There was a flag waving.

"I felt shocked but I did not know what happened,
So I watched through the telescope.
I recognized the flag immediately,
It was hero Manas' battle flag.

"I was astonished,
I was struck dumb.
Jenybay came back to me,
Told me a lot of things in detail.

"He said right after the noon yesterday,
He encountered four majestic people.

"He told me just like this,
Poor Jenybay,
It seemed he was frightened very much.
He was going to report to me,
So he did not sleep the whole night,
And waited outside of my home.

"I saw the red flag beset with gold,
I heard these words.

I disturbed you from your sleep,
This was why I came in a hurry."

Heard what Kairimubayi said,
Wumaitoy jumped out of his bed,
Kairimubayi and Wumaitoy,
Went together toward Mardhan's yurt.

They could not delay anymore,
They two draped their heads,
And walked into Mardhan's yurt.

When Kairimubayi walked in the yurt,
Arrogant Mardhan,
Was still in the bed.

As he saw Kairimubayi and he asked:
"Kairimubayi, Wumaitoy,
You come so early and others are all sleeping,
Do you have something urgent?
Are you going to tell me now?"

Mardhan asked without getting up,
Kairimubayi reported hurriedly:
"Hero, We get together and discuss together,
About our bright future.
"I could not sleep at night with these in my mind,
I come immediately when the day gets bright,
I come out of the door disconcertedly,
On the peak top in the south,
I found a flag accidentally.

"I did not tell anyone at the moment,
I observed with my telescope,
It was a red flag.
I recognized it was Manas' battle flag,
It waved in wind on the peak top.

"It seems Semtay has come,
It seems he has known what we are doing.
It seems he heads tens of thousands of troops,
It seems there is no compatibility between us.

"The battle flag has erected high,
I did not see any of their troops,
I feel strange about this.

"I felt scared when I saw the hero's flag,
My heart almost jumped out,
I come in a hurry before you get up,
I just want to report it to you as early as possible.

"I have told you what I have seen,
By the way, I must go and tell it to Kerzilwuyouk,
I should report to giant Kerzilwuyouk,
Every time when I get the news.
Please consider about the plan,
It is up to you for the rest movements."

Kairimubayi just finished his words,
And was ready to get up to leave,
Mardhan stopped him suddenly in a loud voice:
"You do not need to go to Kerzilwuyouk in person.
I will ask the orderly to send him message,
Let him come here immediately.
You do not need to flatter this dunderhead,
Do not need to demean yourself to see him!"

Mardhan shot him a dark glance,
And then ordered an orderly to send message.
He knew it was not easy,
To ask Kerzilwuyouk to come,
But he still shouted loudly:
"Ask him to come quickly without delay!"

The orderly got the hero's order,
How did he have the nerve to say no?
He had no option but to go quickly,
He gave the message of invitation to the giant.

The rude and brutal devil,
The experienced big hero,
He was short but strong,
He was like a hill not too big and not too small.

"I do not go to his place,
How I can let him command.
If Mardhan has important things to discuss,
Let him come to see me!"

Kerzilwuyouk said to the orderly like this,
He stood up and moved forward slowly.
When he came to the half way,
He sat down by the road side and did not stand up anyway.

The orderly had no option,
But ran back to Mardhan,
Told Mardhan,
What he had seen.
Mardhan and Wumaitoy,
Heard it and murmured:
"It is caused by Kairimubayi,
Since the devil stops on the way,
We have to go and make peace with him."
So they went to see him in person.

When they were busy rushing here and there,
When they finished their morning tea,
Krichorao and Kanchorao,
Black mane wolf Semtay and Bakay,
Four heroes as ferocious as leopards,

Had climbed up the top of the peak.

The black mane wolf lifted the telescope and watched,
Aimed at the ridges in the front,
Fixed his eyes and watched there carefully.

Khan Semtay was different from others,
He thought nothing of the enemy troops,
He thought about how the terrain was there,
He watched the terrains and surroundings there.

Almanbet's son Krichorao,
He was a hero with great wisdom,
He would observe and calculate carefully,
The massive troops and numerous ordinary people.
With such a thought and attitude,
He sat down quietly and watched the front.

Bakay lifted the telescope and watched,
Looked for a battlefield to start the battle.
He thought the flat and vast plain in the front,
Was suitable for the warriors,
It was good for them to fight with the enemy.

When he concentrated on observing the battlefield,
The born-brave leopard,
A man of greatest strength,
His father was Khan of Kirgiz Nuoyihut tribe,
His mother was a Khitan lady,
Hero Chuwak's son Kanchorao,
Was aiming his telescope at Ayinla.

Four heroes sat on the ground,
Discussed the division of work of the battle.
When they raised the telescope again,
Giant monster Kerzilwuyouk from Jafan,
Like a hill of medium-size,

Appeared in their sight.

Strong man Mardhan beside him,
Four heroes analyzed attentively.
Only one glance at Mardhan,
They could conclude he was a hero,
And felt surprised about his image.

Wumaitoy and Kairimubayi,
Withered like they had jaundice,
Sat by the side listlessly.

As seeing their figures,
Kanchorao could not control himself anymore,
The fire of rage burned in his heart.
He was very anxious to cut Mardhan with his knife,
He was very anxious to punch Kerzilwuyouk into mince,
He fixed his eyes on them.

Let the elites stay on the mountain,
Many brilliant scenes were coming later.

When Mardhan, Kairimubayi, and Wumaitoy,
Came to Kerzilwuyouk,
Dunderhead Kerzilwuyouk was arrogant,
He said resentfully:
"I just woke up and was going to get up,
I was hungry and did not have my breakfast,
But you sent an orderly to call me to see you.

"Hey, incompetent fool Mardhan,
You have tens of thousands of Kangayi troops,
But your troops are just a disorderly crowd,
Have they stopped following your order?

"Mardhan, have you been nervous and flustered?
Do you have internal conflicts in your troops?

Tell me the truth if your troops have internal conflicts,
Tell me the true feeling in your mind.
You are in a hurry and confusion early in the morning,
What on earth do you worry about?"

Heard monster Kerzilwuyouk's inquiry,
Mardhan answered angrily:
"Kerzilwuyouk from Jafan,
Do not be so arrogant here.
If I have internal conflicts in my troops,
I do not come to you for help!

"On the top of the south mountain,
A flag appeared there suddenly,
Kairimubayi noticed it early in the morning,
Then he went to me hurriedly.

"It is the famous Kirgiz flag,
It is the flag Kazakh are very familiar,
It is the flag that never loses whenever it is erected,
It is the flag passed down by hero Manas.

"It is said that as their own symbol,
No matter where they go,
Kirgiz always raise it high.
Now it is erected in front of our eyes,
Can you still have a good sleep here?
So we send an orderly to invite you,
We think we can discuss together,
This is the reason why we are in a hurry."

Giant monster Kerzilwuyouk heard their words,
The powerful and aggressive giant,
Thought for a while then talked wildly:
"Since Semtay tumbles into my lap,
We do not need to go to Talas,
Let me kill him here!

"Do not say you also contribute to it,
Do not scramble the fame with me then!
Kairimubayi does a lot of things,
I want to send him to Talas,
He should go there and mount the throne of Khan.
As Kazakh Khan,
Let Wumaitoy return to Alma-Ata.

"Treasures left by Manas,
Will be all mine,
Let me prepare my troops well today,
I will go to the battle tomorrow.

"Do not let Mardhan be empty-handed,
From trophies of Kirgiz,
I will share a few with you!"
Giant monster Kerzilwuyouk shouted like this,
Stood greedily by the side.

When giant monster Kerzilwuyouk said like this,
Mardhan khan was mad as hell.
How could a thug that should suffer from much show his weakness?
He complained immediately.

As he opened and closed his mouth,
All his ugly teeth clicked:
"The coming powerful hero Semtay,
I must go and fight against him first,
Everyone does not argue with me about this.

"Since I am here, arrogant boor Kerzilwuyouk,
I will see how your skills are!
You want to defeat hero Semtay,
You want to claim the first credit,
It is daydreaming.

"Look at Kairimubayi in front of you,
You want to make him be Khan of Talas.
Look at disgusting Kairimubayi,
How is he qualified for a Khan?

"Boor Kerzilwuyouk,
Look at Wumaitoy's face,
How can he be a master of one place?

"You want to occupy all the treasure,
How can I let you carry them back to Jafan?
Semtay accumulated all these treasures,
How can there be a share to you, such a little man?

"I will destroy all the rivals,
I will cut their heads off,
I will take their Talas.
Shaymanbet once was beat,
I will make him be Khan of Talas!

"As long as I, Mardhan, do not die,
Kerzilwuyouk from Jafan,
There is none of your business with the treasure!
For Wumtaitoy and Kairimubayi,
They even will not have a yurt to live!
"In the past years,
Kazakh people were administered by Karamark,
They descended to Karamark's servants.

"I heard from others,
That when Manas became a hero,
Manas went on an expedition in person,
Took Kazakh back from Karamark's hands,
He considered them equally as his people.

"Muzburchak and Koktoy,
Were supported with his hand to be Khans,

They treated Kazakh who were insulted everywhere well.
But for hero Manas,
Some of them chose to persecute him.

"There were some abominable Kazakh leaders,
They opposed their Khan and gathered to rebel,
Brought disasters to Kazakh.
They could not bring their people any benefits,
How can they make us content?

"Let Kangayi people administer them,
Occupy every household forcibly.
Turn all Kazakh to slaves,
Then I will not let it go at that.

"Listen, Kerzilwuyouk,
Not only Kazakh, even include you,
If you dare to make enemy with me,
I will let you have a taste of cold steel.

"I am only around thirty years old,
I will show my talent and skills,
Everywhere in the world.
This is the purpose for me to dispatch troops this time,
No matter who goes against me,
I will flatten their territories!"

Mardhan talked unceasingly and superciliously,
He offended everyone present in words.
Wumaitoy and Kairimubayi,
Murmured unpleasantly:

"Mardhan is a fly on the wheel,
He is ambitious and insufferably arrogant,
If he really defeats Semtay,
We will also die under his knife.

"We thought we lost our happiness,
So we left Semtay Khan stupidly,
We should not have invited these devils."

Kazakh people clamored,
Kerzilwuyouk flew into a rage.
He glared at Mardhan angrily,
Shouted in cold and malicious words:

"In the early morning tomorrow,
I will set out before the sunrise,
I will go and look for Semtay in person,
Let me knock him down easily,
I will come to you, Mardhan, when I come back.
You are a guy who acts so hurriedly,
I will drive you all back to your home!

"The most beautiful place in the world,
Is Chonyingan and Kechyyingan,
They are good prairies to herd livestock.
Forest there is luxuriant,
It is a suitable place to build a city.

"From Changbai Mountain to the land under the feet,
From here to Amur,
Let me build five new cities.
Jafan people are limited on an isolated island,
Let me move them here.
Then I will die with freecare,
If I cannot fulfill my promise,
I am not a hero and let me go to hell!"

Kerzilwuyouk and Mardhan,
Were both shameless people.
They had not competed with Kirgiz,
But they began to argue about how to divide the trophy.
They argued unceasingly,

As long as they were still awake,
Their arguments continued.

Mardhan thought at the moment:
"No one could challenge me in the world,
In this whole world and whole earth,
I have one hundred thousand troops,
Like the luxuriant grass.

"Since Kerzilwuyouk wants to be brave,
I will let him go first,
Let him give his life out.
Krichorao and Kanchorao,
No matter which one of them is in the battlefield,
He must die in their hands.

"I will go to the battlefield then,
Anyone who meets me there,
I will kill them all.
For hero Semtay,
Maybe I will fight two or three rounds with him,
No one will escape in three rounds.

"At any time any place,
I will keep my promise.
I will set up a Khan in Talas,
I will support Shaymanbet to be Khan.

"There are abundant grains on his plain,
Grass is luxuriant on his mountains,
Kambuler is beyond his place.
Famous Karashar,
Is among those four mountains,
It is called Beshbalk city.

"Altay, Yili and Turks,
Kerziljar and Shemaiy,

And fertile Kaimin,
To the vast land of Naren.

"All Khitan and Karamark people,
I will move them here.
Even the place beyond Amur,
I will occupy them all.

"I will conquer Kirgiz first,
Then I will find hero Kunwuerbayi Khan,
Out of his people.
For the sake of Karamark and Khitan people,
Heroic Khan Kunwuerbayi,
Muradler and Niskara,
Many Khans made painstaking efforts,
Many heroes died in the battlefield,
Today let me clear all completely!

"I will let Kazakh under my control tightly,
Let them suffer,
Let them be my slaves.
Wait and see, who dares to look down upon me,
I will let him suffer greatly.
I will see which Kazakh dares to resist my order,
Which Kazakh dares to go to Kerzilwuyouk for help!"
Mardhan calculated in his mind.

Two heroes contested both with open and secret means,
Schemed against each other.
Kairimubayi dreamed to be Khan,
Wumaitoy was black hearted,
Facing such a messing situation,
What should they do next?

Narrow-minded Wumaitoy,
He felt discontented with Kairimubayi:
"It is meaningless,

Send livestock and money to strangers,
Golden gold and snow-white silver,
Are all given out.

"Now we are at the end of our resources,
Are we going to lose our homes?

"Who can defeat giant monster Kerzilwuyouk?
Semtay can defeat him,
But he cannot defeat Mardhan!
If he really defeats them,
Semtay will not let us go.

"Almanbet's son Krichorao,
We still do not see him now.
I heard he is cruel and merciless,
He never lets anyone off.
How can Kanchorao forgive us?
How can Khan Bakay think highly of us?

"You such a bastard, Kairimubayi,
You bring us a disaster.
In order to seek self-interests,
You are a base person, Kairimubayi!"
When Wumaitoy was angry,
Cunning Kairimubayi,
Was planning his route of retreat.
If Semtay defeats all of them,
Kairimubayi got it all together,
He had planed well for his route of retreat.

When he walked household to household,
He called Jenybay to him specially.
The bastard was a Molodo himself,
He wrote a letter for unexpected issues.

He especially described Talas in the letter,

And praised hero Manas:
"People's father, respected Bakay,
Semtay administers the country,
Peerless hero Krichorao,
Each one of them could resist thousands of troops,
And never let any challenger go.

"Unrivaled hero Kanchorao,
Kairimubayi is your slave,
Please listen to me carefully.

"When Khan Yurbi passed away,
Kunwuerbayi headed troops and surrounded Sire city.
Khan Semtay got the news,
He led his troops and came to rescue immediately.

"You called all people together,
For the sake of Kokcher's dignity,
Wrote a letter to Wumaitoy,
And informed all Kazakh people.

"When Wumaitoy was young and innocent,
He could do nothing to help when facing strong enemies.
Fortunately your troops came in time,
Concluded the besiege of the city,
Took the advantage and won the battle.
Heroes wrote the letter on the day they won,
They said they supported Wumaitoy to be our Khan,
We always obeyed his rule.

"He was young and reckless,
He was arrogant and went beyond his ability.
He ordered Kazakh to move to summer pasture,
He drove people to Siberia forcibly.

"He said I was proficient at many languages,
So he ordered me to take forty thousand to Jafan,

So he sent me to Jafan.
When I came back from Jafan,
He asked me to take the letter to visit Mardhan.

"According to his order,
I called all the ordinary people in,
Prepared to resist you.
Do not think this is what Kairimubayi does,
Do not doubt me.
Acairkaichy was not there,
She did not know it at all.

"Now you are coming,
Kerzilwuyouk and Mardhan,
For dividing the windy trophy,
They argued and struggled like black-eyed chicken."

Kairimubayi wrote the letter,
Handed the letter to Jenybay:
"I have met you yesterday,
I order to butcher a colt,
Boil its meat slowly,
You take the meat together with the letter,
Send to four heroes as soon as possible."

Kairimubayi had a guilty conscience,
Gave a fine horse to Jenybay,
Carried highland barley and colt meat on the horse.

Got Kairimubayi's secret order,
Jenybay set out immediately.
In order not to let others notice,
Under the cover of dense evening mist,

Came to Semtay's place in a hurry,
Faced with four great heroes,

Jenybay opened the pouch,
Took the colt meat out,
Put it on the tablecloth.

Without being noticed by others,
Secretly,
He handed the letter to Semtay:
"Cooked barley can make you full,
Boiled meat is here, uncle, please enjoy it,
I must go back there now."

Left the residence where the heroes lived,
Went back home in a hurry.
Kairimubayi waited impatiently,
He walked fast and panted heavily,
Rushed to Jenybay's yurt.

Bastard Kairimubayi said:
"Does Jenybay come back?
Do you give the letter to Kangkoer?
Heroes pitch a camp on the hill,
Do they enjoy the meat?
Do they live not far from here?
So you can come back during the time of a meal.

"If heroes have some orders,
Please do not hesitate to tell me.
If heroes have nothing for me,
What are their expressions?
Do not hesitate, Jenybay,
Tell me now!"

Kairimubayi was burning with anxiety,
Jenybay answered slowly:
"You gave me the letter you wrote,
Butchered a colt and boiled its meat,
Carried on the horse and sent me to them,

Without being noticed by anyone,
I left home under the cover of dense mist.

"Four heroes were together at the moment,
So I spread the tablecloth and took out the highland barley,
Put the boiled meat on the tablecloth too.
It seemed the heroes were all hungry,
I was greatly impressed with their vigor of eating,
I witnessed their greedy looks.

"Without being noticed by the other three heroes,
I gave the letter you wrote,
To khan Semtay secretly.

"None of them said a word of gratitude,
It is not that good when you see their bows and arrows,
But they look good on their faces,
This is what I have noticed,
I report to you."

Kairimubayi butchered colts everyday,
He added honey to horse milk.
Without being noticed by Wumaitoy,
Jenybay became his connector.

No matter day or night,
Kairimubayi sent Jenybay to Semtay.
Careless Wumaitoy,
Did not notice Kairimubayi's secret,
He still kept silent.

Semtay Defeated the Devil Kerzilwuyouk

Kerzilwuyouk rushed back to the camp hurriedly,
He asked soldiers to beat drums,
Ordered soldiers to get up immediately.

When the sky began to turn bright,
When the sun rose and shined the earth,
Kerzilwuyouk had already had no patience to wait,
He headed his troops and swarmed out.

All blue flags with white patterns were lifted,
It seemed they were going to turn the earth round.
They were like to topple the mountains and overturn the seas,
They bore down menacingly.

Dunderhead was short and merciless,
The sky could not bear his cold,
And began to pour large snowflakes.

Hero lion Semtay,
Erected the flag a few days ago and it waved in wind.
On the opposite hill,
There was a flag erected too.
Damned Kerzilwuyouk,
Swung his flag and shouted to arrange his troops.

He prepared a large amount of weapons,
Dozens of camels carried them,
His massive troops got close to the battlefield.

Both sides placed in battle array,
Heroes were ready to fight.

White cloak and sliver beard waved in wind,
Honorable Bakay rode the horse and led the way,
Together with three heroes,
Came to the battlefield like a whirlwind.

Flags were erected as symbol place,
Troops gathered under the flags.
A tactic different from the usual was used,
Everything was ready,
An earth-shaking battle was going to start.

Mardhan drove one hundred thousand troops,
Wumaitoy and Kairimubayi,
Drove Kazakh people,
Who were totally less than ten thousand.

On Koktala plain,
It was like a dark cloud of beetles,
They were troops coming from Jafan with Kerzilwuyouk,
And also the force of Mardhan and Kazakh.
There were totally one hundred and fifty thousand troops.
Giant monster Kerzilwuyouk,
And crazy beast Mardhan,
They arrived at the same time.

In the troops of Jafan,
There was a hero called Jankoybos,
He was a famous bloodsucker,
He rushed out and asked to fight first.

He rode on the king of camels,
He boasted he would fight alone,
And he would kill all Kirgiz.
He wore many kinds of strange clothes,

No one had ever seen.

He rode on the mount he brought from his hometown,
He had rode on it for countless times,
It was a male camel that cooperated with him perfectly.

A big-head hammer crossed the saddle in the front,
He picked a spear carefully,
And hung a long gun on him,
The big knife slept in the sheath.

His vigor was absolutely clear,
He had a big shield on his back,
A helmet on his head,
Nose tip was frozen to purple.

He rushed to the front of the battlefield,
His figure was like a low ridge.

He rushed ahead and shouted loudly:
"Come on, Semtay!
You'd better come and seek your doom in person,
Do not send those impotent persons to fight,
Do not waste my time,
Do not waste my knife and spear on them!"

When this guy shouted crazily,
Khan Semtay had already lost his patience:
"He really wants me to fight against him,
Let me go and challenge him!"
Semtay loosed his horse rein and started to go.

Kanchorao was rock-hearted and stubborn,
He grabbed Khan's horse rein:
"Please, dear brother Khan,
What are you talking about?
On vast Kaitichy plain,

In front of you heroes,
I had already made my request,
If giant monster Kerzilwuyouk does not fight in person,
You will never fight against his slave!
The guy called Jankoybos,
Is just a mad dog in Jafan troops,
Let me go and kill him.
Experienced brother Khan,
Please give me a chance."

Firm and unshakable Kanchorao,
Came to Khan Bakay.
"Go! hero, go!
The trouble-making Jafan person,
Is never defeated.
He is a rude and wild man,
Do not follow the tactics to fight against him,
Just make him smashed and bleed!"

When Khan Bakay gave out such an order,
The black horse had already galloped forward,
The wide cloak waved behind him.
The helmet on the head,
Was shining under the sun.
The strong-minded hero,
Did not fear at all,
No matter how powerful the enemy was.

Kanchorao and Jankoybos,
They did not ask each other's name,
They both were impatient to wait,
They did not rein the horses and introduce each other.

They started to fight immediately,
The spears clanged together with a loud noise,
The spears knocked and sparkled.
They did not yield to each other but fought braver,

It seemed they would swallow the rival.

Numerous people of both sides watched,
They were worried and anxious.
Rolling dust covered the earth and the sky,
The heroes were completely covered up in the battlefield.

The vampire rode a camel,
Before this time,
The damned guy used all kinds of tricks and tactics,
Killed many heroes mercilessly.
This time he used up all his skills,
But he could not defeat Kanchorao.

Hero Kanchorao only used part of his skills,
He seized the chance and swung the battle axe,
Chopped toward the shaking head.

When he drew the axe back,
In the cold wilderness,
The death descended on Jankoybos mercilessly.

After crazy Jankoybos died,
Kanchorao was like a devil who demanded other's life,
He blew the life-pressing horn:

"Hey, giant monster Kerzilwuyouk,
Do not hide anymore,
Come and fight in person if you are a capable man!
I keep staying here today,
Anyone who comes I will kill him.

"I will destroy your power and prestige,
I will smash your morale,
I will give you a good lesson.
From my wise Khan,
I only get two-day time to fight,

I will let you all die in these two days."

When Kanchorao shouted for a challenge,
It was like the end of the world was coming,
It seemed the earth was shaking.
Bastard Kerzilwuyouk,
Rode on his rhinoceros and rushed forward.

Like a giant monster running away from a hill,
It panted and its nostrils flared.
The damned guy held his head high,
It seemed he was going to destroy the whole world.

He wore eight layers of coat armors,
He was covered with iron from head to toe.
He held a silver spear in the hand,
The sharp spear point was soaked with deadly poison.

He came out like Kapuka mountain,
From numerous troops.
The sky was covered with clouds suddenly,
Like it could not bear his murderous look.
As long as he blinked his eyes,
There would be blood slashed out.

As seeing the ferocious devil,
Semtay and Krichorao,
Both worried about Kanchorao.
They were anxious.

That guy was like the merciless black fiend,
He was like the dragon coming suddenly,
He made everyone scared.

"I must punch this Burut flat."
The damned bastard only had this one thought.
He whipped the rhinoceros and made it run fast,

He murmured at the same time:
"Kill my brave general Jankoybos,
Kill my volunteered hero,
I must punch him to death!"
The guy rushed ahead with great strength,
Dense smoke splashed out of his mouth,
Dust rose up behind and covered the sky.

Kanchorao never knew to hold back,
He despised the enemy on his face,
But had tricks in his heart.
Facing the ferocious monster,
If fought against him,
It was not necessary to count the round.

He shouted the name Manas in the mouth,
Held the leather-handled spear in the hand,
Whipped his horse and galloped ahead.

When Kanchorao rushed ahead,
Giant monster Kerzilwuyouk had no time to dodge,
When the spear pricked fast and hard by the flank,
There was even no reaction like a mosquito bite,
Kerzilwuyouk was as steady as a mountain and did not shake at all,
He was a great general with much battling experience,
Kanchorao in front of him was not worthy to take a glance.

When Kanchorao reined the horse and turned round,
When his flank was exposed completely,
Kerzilwuyouk swung his spear,
Aimed at his flank and pricked hard.

The spear in his hand was too long,
It was too late to fight back with the spear.
Kanchorao was a seasoned hero,
He steadied himself on the horseback,
His manner of defeating everything,

And the tireless power faded away immediately.
He thought if he ran away in panic,
How he could bear such a disgrace.

He braced himself up,
He wanted to make a miracle that had never appeared before.
Toward the big mouth of the giant monster,
Aimed at the bastard's big mouth,
The spear in the hand howled in the wind,
Pricked out fast like the whirlwind,
One of the teeth was knocked out of his mouth.

The giant monster's tooth was knocked off,
The fire of rage burned in his chest.
The devil grasped the spear tight,
Spat to the palm.

The male rhinoceros was like crazy suddenly,
Ran forward at a surprising speed,
Rushed directly to hero Kanchorao.

When the sharp point of the spear got close,
Hero Kanchorao had no time to dodge it.
The firm chest protector in front of his chest,
Was broken into pieces,
It made Kanchorao wet with cold sweat suddenly.

Her ears rang and his vision blurred,
Kanchorao was born firm and unyielding,
He braced himself up immediately and launched an attack.
Kanchorao and giant monster Kerzilwuyouk,
As long as they got any chance,
They were trying to put each other to death.

Born agile and smart,
Kanchorao outflanked suddenly.
The bloody spear whistled,

Aimed at the rival's flank and pricked hard.

Although the spear point exactly got the target,
But the Dunderhead Kerzilwuyouk,
He had eight layers of metal armors on,
Kanchorao's sharp spear point,
Only pierced five layers of his armors.

The rest three layers,
Were too hard to be pierced through.
Although Kanchorao was knowledgeable and experienced,
The warrior who wore eight layers of armors,
He had never seen before.

Hero Kanchorao was in a good mood,
He did not give Kerzilwuyouk any chance to dodge.
He drew his spear out immediately,
Turned his horse round and adjusted his gesture,
Pricked toward his flank again.

Unyielding black mane wolf attacked for many times,
Finally the spear point was tainted with the enemy blood.

When the spear point was drawn out of his body,
It was like the thick ice was broken,
It was like pouring dirty water with barrel,
The blood spouted out.

Blood spouted out from the side of the waist,
Dropped along the stirrups.
Without considering the running blood,
Extremely cruel giant monster Kerzilwuyouk,
Had his killing interest aroused,
Puffed his cheeks and swung his blue-tasseled spear,
Toward brave Kanchorao,
Pricked on the hero's fat butt.
When the spear point got close in high speed,

Kanchorao was knocked off the black-spotted horse,
And fell on the ground several yards away.
Before he could take a breath,
Before he could get up,
Bastard Kerzilwuyouk,
The damned ferocious monster,
Lifted his door-size axe,
Grasped in his hand agilely,
Turned to his side and lifted the axe,
Intended to cut the back of Kanchorao's head.

When he lifted the axe and was ready to cut,
Hero black mane wolf Semtay,
Whipped his horse hard and galloped in a high speed,
Arrived like a shot arrow,
Gave three pricks by the side,
The monster's axe did not cut on Kanchorao's head.

Sire spear the hero pricked out,
Once it hit the huge quartz rock,
The rock would be smashed into ash,
And flew into the sky.

Black mane wolf's spear was accurate,
It pricked right on the ribs.
Even if the monster was as strong as iron,
He would have the wound.

Suffered from such a huge attack,
But the monster still sat still there,
Even his butt did not move at all.

Before Semtay drew his spear back,
Krichorao came in a hurry,
He supported Kanchorao with his arms,
Kanchorao barely escaped with his life.
Arrogant and proud monster Kerzilwuyouk,

Was tangled with lion Semtay.
Firm and stubborn Semtay,
Facing such an unstoppable giant,
He marched ahead and pricked out suddenly.

When he pricked twice,
Even Kerzilwuyouk was as big as a mountain,
How could he have the ability not to move?

The damned guy became angry and red-faced,
When Semtay ran past him,
He lifted the axe which he intended to use to kill Kanchorao,
Placed the axe sideward and aimed at the back of the peerless hero,
Cut toward the hero fast.

When received such a fatal attack,
Hero black mane wolf Semtay,
Had sparks fly before his eyes.
Sire spear in his hand,
Made a big noise,
And fell off half a mile away.

The bastard was strong and sturdy like iron,
He could not bend over and attack continuously,
He acted slowly and stupidly,
He went past because of his big inertia.

Passed down by his father Manas,
Kankoer Semtay's mysterious Sire spear,
Fell off his hand unimaginably,
Lion Semtay raised his crescent axe.

The pure steel axe,
Was a crescent battle axe,
Made by crippled blacksmith Bolikbye.
The axe body was as thick and strong as a door,
The axe handle was made of tough and tensile elder,

And then wrapped with thick elephant skin.

When faced with a formidable enemy every time,
The axe would be put across the saddle in the front.
When king Manas was alive,
The axe achieved great exploits.

Leopard Semtay raised the axe high,
Let Buruler gallop forward,
Chased tight after the stubborn enemy.

Aimed at monster Kerzilwuyouk,
Aimed at the vital part between his cheek and ear,
It was the end of his jawbone.
From the outside of the metal helmet,
He rushed forward and cut down.
If the axe cut down from here,
The devil would at least pass out if he did not die.

Shouted the name Manas in a loud voice,
Confident Semtay,
Prayed silently in his heart:
Giant monster Kerzilwuyouk, you are dead,
You will pillow the earth.
He fixed his attention and took a deep breath,
Cut with the axe in his hand hard.

The moment the axe cut on the helmet,
It made a huge noise,
Seeing the hero's heroic braveness,
Jafan troops became a scene of chaos.

The sunny day became blurred,
The huge noise made by the axe,
Passed to the place of three-day journey,
The sound was like the earth crumbled,
The enemies scared and huddled up together.

Mature Tayibruler steed,
Could not control its bit at all,
It was fat and strong with a firm neck,
It bit the bit tight,
Rushed out from one side.

Let's appreciate,
The guy's heroic manner:
The axe cut on Kerzilwuyouk's body,
Like on hot days insects and flies flew everywhere,
When you felt too itchy,
You just scratched.
He had no feeling about it,
He did not care about it at all.

Monster Kerzilwuyouk was pleased with himself,
Made of steel,
And added pure bronze in,
The helmet was made of five layers of iron,
And the shield was six-layer thick,
It still could not stand such a severe punch,
The axe was smashed.

By his heroic manner of man,
The giant devil did not care the helmet on his head,
He thought you were a Kirgiz hero,
You showed your great ability this time,
Now let me deal with you.

The crescent axe in his hand,
He hung it on the round leather bag adeptly,
And tied it in the waist quickly.
The pure steel made,
Thousand-pound hammer,
Was drawn out and held in his hand.

The monster was fierce and brutal,
Facing the coming rival,
His eyes were as greedy as hungry wolves,
Thousand-pound hammer was howling in his hand.

Before Semtay could turn round,
Toward his crescent shoulder,
He made a severe punch with the hammer,
Right in the middle of the shoulder.

The big shield Manas passed down,
Got a hollow on it and its edge curled up,
And it inverted on the sturdy back.
What on earth happened?
Who else could tell at the moment?

Sparks that splashed,
Had no one witnessed in the world,
There was no smoke coming out,
Only the surging fire was seen,
Weed on the ground was burning,
The earth was in an ocean of fire,
It spread rapidly to everywhere.

Bakay and Krichorao,
And born-brave Kanchorao,
Prayed to their heroes' spirits,
Prayed to Ayikoler Manas' spirit.

The earth was changed beyond recognition,
The dust rose up from the earth,
With the dark cloud in the sky,
Mixed together.
Suddenly fierce wind blew hard,
Scattered the rising dust,
Returned the original earth.

Semtay was still swelled with pride,
He was lofty as Obol mountain.
With the crescent axe in the hand,
He reined the horse and waited at the entrance.

The hero made a pose of fighting,
He was ready to fight against the monster.
Like an imposing eagle,
A severe attack was on the way.

Heroes watched the changeable situation nervously,
When they saw hero Khan's figure,
Uncle Bakay and his generals,
Shouted the name Manas loudly together.

Semtay's stalwart body,
Was covered with the dense mist.
From monster Kerzilwuyouk's cut,
The heroes appreciated Semtay's agile skills.

The brutal rival was a son of a bitch,
When he lifted the mountain-size hammer,
And punched it at hero Semtay,
The mother's milk he had when he was an infant,
Suddenly came back to the hero's mouth,
It made the hero escape with his life.

Although Semtay did in his full strength,
Rushed ahead to attack monster Kerzilwuyouk,
His vitality was greatly undermined,
He had had no power to cut the monster down.

He had blood all over his body,
His sturdy shoulder was torn,
His strong thigh flesh was mangled,
It was too horrible to take a look.

Looking at the black mane wolf's horrible appearance,
Hero Krichorao choked the great pain back,
He saw Khan's Sire spear was knocked off,
Its point stuck in a huge rock.

He whipped his horse and went there,
Grasped the elephant-skin spear pole tight in the hand.
Surkoyun steed under his butt,
Was whipped hard with his leather whip.
He shouted the name of the hero,
Braced up and took a deep breath.

Like the falcon chasing grey pigeon,
Krichorao grasped the spear and rushed ahead,
The spear was pulled out of the huge rock.
He continued rushing forward,
Got close to the hero Khan in high speed.

The whistling sound of the spear,
Was like the cold wind was blowing.

How Bakay could do nothing about it,
He whipped the horse and chased,
Hero Khan Semtay's horse rein,
He held it up and grasped tight in the hand,
Krichorao handed the spear to their king.

Intelligent and capable hero Semtay,
Thought his chance was coming.
Fought down the rising anger,
Braced up and launched another attack toward the enemy.

The magical spear his father left,
Was held tight in his hand.
The bleeding monster in front of him,
Had lost his helmet,
The hero aimed at the monster's ear and parotid,

He passed and pricked hard with the force of the horse.

When the point of Sire spear,
Got close to the aorta in the neck and parotid,
The sharp head of the spear,
Had knocked on the monster's neck bone.
With a huge noise,
The whole spear head pricked in.
The mountain-size monster,
Had collapsed completely.
With a severe prick at the ear,
He felt the earth was shaking and he could not sit still,
He fell off the back of the rhinoceros.

The over-confident guy,
Found his destination.

Pricked the target accurately,
Turned Buruler round,
Semtay rushed forward again,
Toward the untouched ear,
He made another prick and passed.

Sire spear pricked the second time,
It pricked at the end of his throat,
The sharp spear head pierced through quickly,
Cut his throat and air tube open.

Killed monster Kerzilwuyouk,
In the wilderness,
The blossomed and green earth,
Was stained with the monster's blood.

Four heroes cooperated,
The giant monster appeared one in a century,
They sent him into the hell.
He could not come back to the human world again,

He only could meet previous monsters there.

"The ambitious and arrogant monster,
Has got killed by Sire spear.
Mardhan, come to fight if you are a real man."
Semtay let Buruler pranced,
Lifted Sire spear high and stood in the front.

Krichorao came and pleaded:
"Let me fight against Mardhan!
My respected hero Khan."
"Let him do it, hero."
Bakay said and then held Semtay's horse rein,
Left the battlefield at a slow pace.

Let us put this aside,
Start from how Krichorao killed Mardhan.

Krichorao Had a Contest with Mardhan

After monster Kerzilwuyouk died,
Mardhan did not regret at all:
"Kerzilwuyouk has lost his life,
As long as I conquer Kirgiz,
Everything here will be mine.

"They went to fight in turn and attacked fiercely,
Three Kirgiz jointly attacked severely,
Finally they defeated hero Kerzilwuyouk.
I cannot let them attack together,
I should separate them and destroy them one by one."

Mardhan calculated in his mind,
Whipped the ferocious rhinoceros to the battlefield.
The single-eyed man was with a cold and mighty expression,
His body was sturdy of eleven dang[1] wide.

It was hard to find such a stupid hog in the world,
He was extremely stubborn.
He was not a mediocrity,
He was a great beam,
That was not easy to be bent and conquered.

If you look at the dunderhead,
No matter who came to challenge him,
The person would show in front of him,
The unlucky sign of death!

1 Dang: It is the old length measurement unit. One dang equals 0.71 meter.

The short body held a big head,
With a strange horn on the head.
It had an unpredictable strange temper,
It liked to dig the ground with its hooves.
The rhinoceros had thick skin but had no fur,
It was like a clay sculpture bull.

It was agile and flexible when it made turns,
Like fish swimming in water.
It dodged skillfully and ran everywhere,
The rhino did not rest at all,
It was agitated like a wild stallion.

Mardhan rode on its back,
He looked around fiercely.
Nothing on his face could be seen,
His beard covered everything on his face.

Mardhan grasped a solid spear in his hand,
Whipped the rhino and galloped forward.
He rushed out from the thousands of troops,
Made threatening gestures,
It seemed he would like to,
Swallow the whole earth into his belly.
Facing the misery in the world,
He did not have any pity on them.

If he opened his eyes wide and looked at the sky angrily,
The bright sun in the sky,
Would be scared and hid behind the cloud.
Flowers and grass on the ground,
Would be quivered in fear.

The lively earth turned ghastly suddenly,
People who were busy working,
Ran away and dodged immediately.
Places he stepped on had already been deserted,

Wild animals in the field,
Could not lower their heads and eat at ease,
Could not open their mouths and eat comfortably either.
Since human beings multiplied in the world,
He scared countless kind people to death!

Mardhan had cheeks like abrupt cliffs,
Wrinkles spread all over his face,
Like the ditches washed out by flood.

Bastard Mardhan was unstoppable,
He wanted to conquer the whole world arrogantly:
"I will stand in the center of the battlefield,
I will sweep away everything,
I will become the ruler of Arashi people,
I will control this charming world!"

At the moment,
It seemed Mardhan's dream had been fulfilled,
He was proud and itched to have a go.

Almanbet's son Krichorao,
Went face to face majestically,
Galloped Surkoyun steed forward.
The hero shook the horse rein,
Steed Surkoyun galloped.

In front of the troops of both sides,
Mardhan tried to keep his vigor as a general.
He was like to come to discuss and negotiate,
He started to talk to the rival:

"Who are you in my way?
Prancing Surkoyun magical steed,
Now it is your mount.
Do not hide it, tell me your father's name,
Do not fear, tell me your name!

"How you dare block my way?
You cannot live in the world anymore!
You have to go to hell,
You will never return to the human world!

"You show your manhood today,
Now, I come especially to fight against you,
Do not have any fantasy of your life!

"You killed monster Kerzilwuyouk,
You showed your majesty greatly,
You pricked the spear into his throat,
You took his life away.

"In order to demand his blood debt,
In order to avenge the dead,
I will clear it one hundred times,
Now I will avenge him!"

When Mardhan talked wildly,
Krichorao paid tit-for-tat:
"Do not talk nonsense,
You such a brutal animal!
Since you do not know my name,
Why you come here?

"My name is Krichorao,
My father is Almanbet.
You are unlucky to meet me,
Whether you can leave here alive,
It is hard to say!

"Since you do not know your rival,
I will let you know me well:
The man who rides on the purple horse as clear as the moon,
His silver beard waves in the wind,

He is Manas Khan's friend until death,
He is Bakay Khan.

"Riding on a maroon horse,
With a strong body and a calm look.
He is in a high spirit,
His face is red like the sun and eyes like stars,
He is peerless Khan Semtay.

"He can transfer into more than sixty patterns,
How can such a magical hero exist in the world?
Look at his clothes, pretty and elegant,
All his clothes is made of silk and brocade.

"He conducts himself nobly,
His voice is pleasant to ears.
He was a large man of imposing appearance,
Like a mountain peak descends in the world.

"He has thick eyebrows and big eyes like moon,
His face is clear like the lake.
The lion's son Semtay,
Like a dragon flying in the sky.

"He always achieves great exploits others never get,
He suffers greatly and fights with formidable enemies.
He sends numerous enemies into hell,
He makes countless wildly arrogant guys disappear.

"His black eyes spouted fire,
His red face sends rays of light.
He makes invaders fear,
He makes his people live happily and peacefully.

"Facing armed enemies' provocation,
Semtay's power is more than enough.
An ordinary man like you,

My big brother will never put in his eyes.

"The man rides the black-spotted horse and gallops ahead,
He is hero Kanchorao with great strength.
He never loses his head when he meets strong enemies,
He never shrinks back when he faces thousands of troops.
He takes the lead all the time,
He always volunteers to the battlefield.
He never panics when he faces numerous enemies,
He is never soft-hearted when he meets enemies.

"In order to fulfill his dream,
He throws numerous invaders to hell.
He is different from others with careful thoughts,
He is hero Chuwak's son.

"Kanchorao stamps with rage in the battlefield,
He can fight day and night without a stop,
He can resist bravely,
In a forty-day battle,
He did not get tired.

"He is extraordinarily outstanding,
He is a remarkable lion!

"No matter who you are,
Like a pouch bit by a mouse,
You have a single eye on the forehead.
Cannot find a horse so you ride a stupid rhino,
You arrogantly call yourself a man!

"Tell me your father's name and your name quickly,
Tell me your background.
Do not flaunt your superiority crazily,
If you have much complaints and grievance,
Go and tell my big brother immediately,
Or you will lose your life here in vain.

"You will lose your precious life,
If you still are set in your way,
You will be sent to hell,
You will have no chance to return to the human world again!

"What is the name of your tribe and where is it?
Where are you from?
Why do you come and challenge us unreasonably?
Who are you and why do you come here?"

Heard Krichorao's question,
Mardhan laughed loudly.
His mouth was like a crack in an earthquake,
He talked wildly.

He had a single eye on his forehead,
Like a luminous fish in ocean:
"My father's name is Niskara,
He was Kangayi Khan.
When Kaledayi's son Kunwuerbayi and my father,
Headed troops to Talas,
They were besieged,
You killed them all.

"Your father is Almanbet,
You are the enemy who killed my father.
On the river beach of Saylam,
You cut my father's head off!

"My name is Mardhan,
I will destroy all enemies in front of me,
I will throw you into hell and you will never come back,
Krichorao, I will see you off!

"Let me tie your Bakay up,
For all rest Kirgiz people,

Drive them away no matter they are noble or humble.
You praise Semtay,
He is a high peak in your eyes,
But he is worse than a deserted leather hat in my eyes.

"Since I stand here,
You are just a disorderly crowd,
I never look at you guys as a threat!

"I am a Kangayi person,
I am the headman of Kangayi people.
My city is in Changbai mountains,
You listen to me carefully!

"I intend to avenge my father,
So I make preparations all the time.
Jamgerchy's son Shaymanbet,
He surrendered to me long time ago.

"From five months ago,
Shaymanbet continued to complain to me.
Somebody came to me after him,
That was Kazakh people Kairimubayi.
He said he could not bear anymore,
Kirgiz people took him disasters.
Do not respect your own people,
I do not think you Kirgiz still have human sympathy.

"Even you give me one thousand horses,
I will not change my grey rhino,
I am coming to let you pay back my blood debt.
It is useless to talk so much here,
Do not be aggressive, Krichorao!
You will enter that pitch-dark hell.

"Do not worry how you will stay there,
Do not worry you will be lonely there, Krichorao.

There are heroes Semtay and Kanchorao,
They will accompany you.

"I will lift yurt-size rock,
I will press you all under the rock!

"Almanbet's son Krichorao,
I must cut your head off,

I will enjoy the revenge without regret,
I must enjoy myself to the full as a winner!

"Akun Khan's daughter Ayichulek,
Is a beauty no one does not know in the world,
I must marry her as a war trophy.
Shatimur's granddaughter Chachykai,
I will present her to Wumaitoy.

"Akebala is your wife,
I will make Shaymanbet marry her forcibly.
I will send Shaymanbet to Talas,
Make him be the Khan instead of Semtay!
I will make a big move,
I will build my capital city in Kochykor.

"I will rob Hohan city,
I will completely destroy Turkmen!
Manas' tomb,
I will level it.

"I will make Kanikai become a slave!
I will take Tashkent and Namangan over,
I will let Anzhu people come and live in the city.
Chaychuy, Bhara and Shankay,
These tribes take you as their support,
I will completely destroy them!

"Afghan and Yisfan,
Khurasan and Jetsu,
Keiyba mountains of lamu,
Amur bank and Yurkainychy,
Yirkshitan and Kashgar.
Sarkoler and Chymukant,
Araheku and Yuchytash,
Kaitmantobe and Jaz,
Atbash prairie and Naren,
All your territory,
I will take them all over and leave you nothing!

"Kotmald and Bishkek city,
I will let them disappear completely.
Altay, Turks, Kaimin,
I will drive horses there away,
And drive into Alma-Ata city.

"I will become the new master of Kazakh!
I will destroy Hutubi and Manas city.
I will destroy all cities,
I will rename them,
I will make Erhun city empty.

"I will tear everything they have down,
Including the words and pictures carved on rocks!
Bariskon and Darhan,
Edingkoler and Nula,
I will rename too,
I will make them change completely!

"Yuchykarkla and Sariarka,
And all places I have mentioned just now,
I will rebuild the social order thoroughly,
I will make it impossible for Kirgiz to live there!"

Mardhan gave an unceasing flow of nonsense words,

Eloquent Krichorao,
Surely responded him:
"Mardhan, do not be unbridled here,
You want to be the master of Kirgiz people,
It is a daydream,
You are digging tomb for yourself.
You come hurriedly before your death,
I have to send you on the way as soon as possible.

"Once I have pricked numerous heroes down,
Once I have killed countless strong men,
I have never seen a person more aggressive than you,
You are such a stupid hog!

"Facing you, such a shameless fool,
I have to bring it up directly.
Mardhan, you want to drive Kirgiz people away,
Including people in Talas, Namangan, and Tashkent city,
And people of Kotmald and Bishkek,
And all people in Samarkand,
It is an idiot's daydream,
How I can let you do it at your will.

"Kirgiz people are not weak-kneed!
Kaitmantobe and Jaz,
Yirkshitan and Kashgar,
Jetsu and Yurkainychy,
Bariskon and Darhan,
Edingkoler and Nula,
If I allow you, Mardhan, to trample on,
How I can call myself a hero.
Allow a devil to occupy our territory,
How Semtay can fold his arms and look on!

"Atbash, Naren and Arpa,
Alma-Ata, Altay and Sariarka,
Hutubi and Manas,

Tarbahatai and Yili,
Kokotuohai, Kunse and other places,
We are the master of these places,
There is no inch of land for you to stand on,
You overestimate yourself.

"I will not let you see tomorrow's sun,
You should have gone to the dark world!
I will not let your corpse be in the wilderness,
I will send you to the bottom of the hell directly.
So as to avoid wild dogs eating your corpse,
And then hurting others,
And bringing misery to people,
I do not want to cause any trouble.

"You want to marry Ayichulek,
She is a princess famous all over the world,
And she is our wise Khan's wife.
You talked nosense,
Let mad dog listen to you.
All your arrogant words of conquering everything,
You have to tell in hell!

"Jamgerchy's son Shaymanbet,
Could not become Khan of Arashi.
When Jamgerchy was still alive,
His unfilial son dare not step in Talas.
For Shaymanbet's evildoing,
Jamgerchy would never let him off easily.

"The traitor sells his own spirit and his homeland,
If he can run away quietly and successfully,
That's another matter if he runs to Arab!
Kirgiz people wear white felt hats,
How can they become your subjects?
You do not imagine occupying white felt hat's land!

"Kirgiz people regard mountains as our father,
Kirgiz people regard river as our mother.
We will never forget,
Father offers all kinds of care,
And mother offers all kinds of love.

"For the homeland we live and multiply,
How white felt hats could bear robbers to trample on.
In order to protect territory of our homeland,
Every white felt hat would render his life.

"Arashi land is admired by others,
Great Tianshan Mountains is famous all over the world.
Kirgiz has vast prairie to herd livestock,
How can we allow you, Mardhan, to trample on it?!

"Numerous Arashi people of ninety tribes,
Live along Arat mountains from the past,
Herd livestock following the water and grass,
It is a place better than saint Misir.

"Arat is a precious place in the world,
Kirgiz people sing songs to praise the homeland.
Tianshan Mountains erect loftily,
Rolling peaks are covered with snow.
Rivers crisscross,
It is milk running in the rivers rather than snow water.

"It is impossible to distinguish it is water or milk in rivers,
The crystal clear water is sweet.
If there comes a disaster,
Famines will not break in five to ten years,
People can survive by wild animals and plants all over mountains.

"Every time we meet disaster and crisis,
God of mountains and water always turns calamities into blessings.
Kirgiz people always swear like this,

If anyone does something bad,
Arat mountain will punish him.

"Six elder generations, and seven generations ancestors,
Everyone should remember clearly.
All offspring of white felt hat Kirgiz and Arashi,
Arat mountains are the cradle for them.

"Kirgiz people will never leave Arat area,
Arat is Arashi people's homeland!
No matter how their offspring multiply,
For Arashi people,
Lofty Arat mountains,
Are in their hearts forever,
Nothing in the world would replace it.

"Mardhan, you such an ignoble slave,
How you can understand Arashi people's bosom.
It is lion Almanbet's son,
Who is talking to you!

"Mardhan, I will let you know why you should die,
You have committed unforgivable crimes,
To Arashi people and sacred Tianshan mountains.
Even if you plead hard and beg sincerely,
I will not allow you to be alive in the world!"

When Krichorao said all these words,
Mardhan turned angry,
The sharp iron spear,
He grasped it tight in his hand immediately.

The rhino under his butt was like him,
It was a crazy and ferocious rhino.
Got the hint of its master,
It galloped forward crazily.

Rival's spear was coming toward his chest,
How Krichorao could wait,
He lifted his spear and was ready to fight,
Suddenly he heard the gong sound of calling off the battle.

The sun sank down low and the sky turned pink,
The evening was coming.
Bakay gave out order to Krichorao,
Asked him to call off the battle:
"Beat the bronze gong now,
Call hero Krichorao back."

When Mardhan returned too,
Jafan soldiers talked at once:
"Kirgiz has killed two of our generals,
Mardhan is a coward,
Why does not he fight but flee back quietly?

"Kangayi people do not want to fight hard,
Why do we stay here and risk our lives?
We would rather flee back to Jafan at night,
Than lose our lives in vain in an alien land."

Jafan troops were in a great confusion,
They fled away and ate wild hogs on the way,
They ate toads, snakes, and insects,
They ate wild grass roots to keep their lives.

The confused soldiers did not know where they were,
They separated in small groups and fled in a panic.
There were not many Jafan troops left,
Do not mention anyone going to find them back.
Mardhan and Kazakh people,
Were happy about Jafan people's running away.

Kairimubayi sent,
Jenybay delivered,

Ate horse meat and horse intestines to full,
Drank horse milk mixed with honey,
Drank strong alcohol in leather bags.
When they ate full,
They untied their belts comfortably,
Four heroes slept to next morning.

They saddled their horses in the morning,
The eagles were ready to set out,
Hero Manas' loyal offspring,
To their king in the paradise,
They prayed to Manas' spirit for help.

Mardhan had a guilty conscience,
He tossed and turned to the morning.
Krichorao's harsh rebuke,
Pressed on Mardhan's heart like a huge rock.
He rode on his rhino early in the morning,
Draped his legs on both sides,
Rushed to the battlefield in a hurry.
He raised his head high superciliously,
Sat high on the rhino back,
Like a ball pumped up,
Like a bag stuffed with straw,
Erected on the rhino back bulgingly.

He breathed heavily with his mushroom nose,
Released the smell to the air.
Facing the call of the death,
Mardhan did not give any chance to his companions.

Four heroes came to the battlefield,
Hero Semtay,
Did not give any order to heroes by his side,
Without considering his bad injury yesterday,
He ran to the battlefield alone.

Old but wise Bakay,
Let the hero,
Eat the meat and soup of black-eared lion.
He washed the hero's wound with the wine,
Then bandaged it with Aru[1].

Fat female argali's tendons,
Were cut into tiny pieces and stir-fried,
Then pickled with minced garlic,
And let the hero eat it.

He ground red medicine,
Let the hero take an over-dose,
He boiled black medicine,
And smeared it on the wound skillfully,
Those torn muscles,
Were cured rapidly under his treatment.

Hero's wound did not pain too much,
His body was still strong.
Semtay was the same as usual,
He was still a majestic man.

Packed all his weapons,
Mounted his Buruler steed.
Wore his invulnerable Akorlbok coat armor,
Wore his fireproofed Handahay armor,
Grasped Sire spear that could never be bent over,
Hung sharp crescent battle axe by his side,
His knife slept in the sheath.

When Semtay got angry,
No one could stop him in the world.
Semtay was majestic and inspiring at the moment,
Whipped his Tayibruler,

1 Aru: Clean white cloth.

Rushed to the front of Mardhan quickly.

Facing Semtay,
Mardhan looked fixedly at Semtay.
He told himself with scorn:
"How Semtay can be my rival!"

He kicked the rhino under his butt,
Rushed ahead face to face,
Toward the Kirgiz hero,
He pricked his spear out.

Dodged the spear Mardhan pricked,
Agile Semtay,
Swung his crescent axe,
Cut the rival's spear into two.

Mardhan lost his spear,
He took his axe out from his waist immediately.
At this crucial moment,
Manas' offspring hero,
Waved Sire spear fiercely,
He took the chance,
Pricked toward Mardhan's chest severely.

Sire spear Manas handed down,
When it poked to the hard rock,
Just like poked a piece of paper.
When the spear point got close,
Mardhan had already been cautious,
The spear the hero poked to him,
He warded it off upwardly.

Hero Semtay was equal to his reputation,
The spear warded off by Mardhan,
Was still grasped in his hand tight.

Hero Semtay was in high spirit,
He swung the spear in his hand,
Gave a poke to the devil from the flank,
As fast as a lightning.

Although Mardhan got another prick,
He did not feel hurt at all.
Iron-made armor on the dunderhead,
Was impossible to be pierced through.

By the impulsive force of Buruler steed,
When Semtay rushed by from the other side,
Mardhan whipped the rhino and rushed ahead,
He lifted the no-head spear pole,
Toward Semtay's broad shoulder,
He made a severe attack through his inertia.

Although the spear lost its head,
A sudden impulsive force,
Still surprised Buruler,
It galloped ahead with its full strength,
Its feet entangled with the rein,
Hero Semtay fell off on the ground.

Seeing their Khan fall off on the ground,
Hero Kanchorao galloped his steed to him.
Kanchorao was with strength,
Toward Mardhan's fat and thick thigh,
Pricked his spear out and passed by calmly.

Rode on the rare-seen rhino,
Before Kanchorao reined his horse and turned round,
Mardhan used that half spear pole without a head,
Gave a severe prick toward Kanchorao's butt.

When the spear pole got close,
Competitive Kanchorao,

Always took fight and challenge as games,
He leaned to the right,
Fell off his horse slowly.

The rhino was superior to some fine steeds,
Wind could not catch it when it ran.
It rushed ahead like a lightning,
But it met Bakay on the way suddenly.

They two knocked together face to face,
The brutal dunderhead turned his body to the side,
Used the half spear pole that pricked Kanchoraos,
Pricked toward Bakay's flank.

The silver beard flashed,
Aged Bakay,
Like an eagle jumped off the frame,
He fell off with his four limbs on the ground.

Before the lions realized what happened,
Super brave Krichorao,
Once he met such dangerous situation,
One Krichorao transferred into thousand Krichoraos.

He shouted the name Manas,
His angry shout could deafen your ears.
His heroic posture of charging ahead,
Made all witnesses astonished.

Krichorao could not hold his anger,
Facing dullard Mardhan who knocked Bakay off,
He pricked his spear out severely.
Mardhan did not have time to adjust his gesture,
And he could not swing his spear either,
He was pricked off his rhino right away.

It was such a pity,

Surkoyun steed could not turn round when it went downhill.
The hero tried hard but he could not stop it by pulling its bit,
It had rushed past Mardhan far.

When Mardhan was pricked off,
Semtay was near him.
But the hero was careless,
He did not take the chance to hit Mardhan's head.

The rhino was superior to all livestock,
It raised its single horn high,
And rushed to the side of Mardhan immediately,
Inserted its long horn between his legs,
Raised him and threw him on its back.
The smart and brave rhino,
Made a chance for his master to live.

The half spear pole in Mardhan's hand,
Had been deserted.
The dunderhead was filled with anger,
He grasped the battle axe.
Hero Khan Semtay,
Facing Mardhan's fanatical resistance,
He still kept calm,
He was cool-headed and patient.

He was relaxed like at home,
Even if a horrible disaster and the death,
Had come to him,
He still acted like nothing was on his mind.

He rode onto Buruler's back quickly,
Waited for fighting with the coming enemy.

Mardhan marched close to Semtay crazily,
Lifted his crescent axe high,
Cut it toward him with full of his strength.

Right at this crucial moment,
Lion Krichorao arrived.
He gathered full of his strength on his arms,
And pricked toward Mardhan's back hard.

Krichorao's steel spear pricked on Mardhan,
The guy did not care at all like nothing happened.
Kanchorao also arrived at the moment,
Swung his long spear and aimed at Mardhan's chest,
Pricked out his spear with full of his strength.

They thought that was where forty ribs were,
They thought that was the soft belly place,
They thought that was a place with soft muscle,
They thought that was the weakest place in a body,
They thought the bastard must die after this prick.

Mardhan had armors all over,
The pricked spear only made a clang,
The bastard sat still on the rhino back without a move,
The spear were broken into several pieces,
His armors all over saved Mardhan's life.

Kanchorao became empty-handed suddenly,
When he did not know what to do,
Almanbet's son Krichorao,
Came from distance like a wind,
Gave harsh attacks to the desperate enemy,
He was as powerful as a hunting hungry wolf.
When they tangled and started to fight,
Kanchorao lifted his axe and came to help.
Two lion heroes battled it out,
Tried their best to fight.
They chased as agilely as eagles,
One swung the spear and pricked,
The other one waved the axe and cut.

Under such circumstance,
Semtay whipped his Tayibruler steed,
Erected like lofty Arat mountains:
"Get out of the way, Krichorao, Kanchorao,
When I did not have any preparation,
This dunderhead pricked me off Buruler's back.

"I have defeated numerous strong enemies,
No one has ever knocked me off my steed.
Today he pricked me down,
It is the biggest shame of my life.

"With the blessings of ancestors' spirits,
In order to protect father Manas' dignity,
I have to battle it out with him,
I will wipe my shame out.

"A man will die anyway,
Fight against this arrogant desperate enemy,
Even if I die under his spear,
I cannot live a shameful life."
Semtay raised his arms and shouted,
He wore Akorlbok coat armor his father left,
Grasped sharp Sire spear in the hand,
Launched an attack to the ferocious enemy.
The handle was iron and the point was steel,
The point was so sharp that it could pierce through everything,
It never bent if it hit the rock,
The point poked toward Mardhan like rain drops.

Kanchorao, Bakay and Krichorao,
Followed Khan's order and dropped out of the battle.
They prayed the peace for their Khan,
Then whipped their horses to the hill top and watched.

Facing the challenge from Semtay,
Mardhan was filled with boiling anger:

"I must seize the chance,
Manas' little wolf pup,
I will clear out with him today."

It was blurred and dark,
Dust covered the battlefield,
It was hard to see anything.
They two showed up for a while,
But most time they were not seen,
Only the sound of their breathing and fighting,
Mixed with clang of iron weapons could be heard.

Almanbet's son Krichorao,
He was a skillful hero,
He cast the spell and made the rain fall,
The rising dust was washed away immediately.

Spreading Kangayi troops,
And Kazakh witnessed the fight,
The heroic Khan from Kirgiz,
Showed their peerless and majestic bearing.

Semtay and Mardhan,
Two greatest heroes in the world,
Fought against each other fiercely in Koktala.
The heroes were of astonishing strength,
Did not regard their lives at all,
Waved their axes and fought,
Did not put the rival in the eyes at all.

After they had fought two days and two nights,
Muzburchak's son,
Peerless hero Ackubak,
In order to confuse Kangayi troops,
Pretended he was going to chase after Jafan troops,
Headed fifty thousand troops,
Took them to cold Siberia,

Then Ackubak cast the spell,
Made the land covered with ice and snow,
Fifty thousand Kangayi troops were completely wiped out,
But he triumphed safe and sound.

In a fit of absence of mind,
Semtay got pricked on his arm.
The thick tendon and ligament on his arm,
Were completely broken.
He did not regard the pain,
Continued fighting against Mardhan.

Kanchorao was a great hero,
Once he defeated one hundred thousand troops of Jedigair alone.
Once he showed his power,
Countless enemies would lose lives.

He discovered accidentally,
His big brother in the battlefield had been injured,
He mounted the black-spotted horse right away:
"Please, dear uncle,
My big brother has been exhausted,
Please allow your kid Kanchorao to go,
Let me deal with this devil!"
Kanchorao begged Bakay sincerely,
He hoped to get his permission and blessing.

The silver spear Chuwak left,
Was grasped tight in his hand,
Kanchorao whipped the black-spotted horse,
Shouted the name Manas loudly,
Galloped toward Mardhan.

Heard hero Kanchorao's shout,
Kangayi people and Kazakh people,
All fixed their eyes on him in a panic:
Kanchorao rode on the black-spotted horse,

The silver spear was put across the saddle in the front,
It was shining in the sunshine.

Seeing his figure from a distance,
People were all astonished about his valiance.
Fire blew with his breath,
Powerful hero Kanchorao,
Overwhelmed enemies with his boundless imposing manner.

When Kanchorao got close,
Semtay had been exhausted,
His tendon and ligament were broken,
He was injured all over.

Facing Mardhan's tight press,
He could not hold his own anymore.
Desperate Semtay was overjoyed,
When he saw Kanchorao.

Kangayi and Kazakh people thought:
"When Kanchorao stepped in the battlefield,
He was no match for Mardhan,
He was pricked off his horse easily.

"He rested for two days,
We did not know where he recharged his strength,
He just cames back like nothing happened before!"
People discussed and felt confused,
Whispered to each other and looked.

When Kanchorao arrived in a hurry,
Semtay turned his horse round immediately.
When Semtay was leaving,
Hero Kanchorao,
Facing devil Mardhan,
Braced up all his strength,
Pricked his silver spear out,

As hard as he could,
He got him.

Damned bastard Mardhan,
He sat still and did not move at all.
Chuwak's son Kanchorao,
He was strong and tough,
He did not fear of the enemy mountain-size figure,
He did not shrink on the devil's braveness.
He used different tactics and skills,
Whipped the horse,
Pressed and launched attacks.
Like a nosed-down falcon,
Swept on past the devil like a storm.

Kanchorao bent over and launched attack twice,
He got the rival's vital part twice.
But Mardhan was like an iron-made man,
The spear pricked on him was like rain,
It seemed he felt nothing,
He was still safe and sound.

Kanchorao was as agile as a falcon,
Facing Mardhan who was sitting on the rhino still,
Stretched his strong arms twice,
With impressive speed,
Swung his iron-made axe,
Cut toward Mardhan hard.

Facing the coming axe,
Mardhan shrank his body and got a blow,
His waist was almost broken,
He almost lost his life.

Narrowly escaped Mardhan thought:
"Last time when we fought,
I knocked him off easily like an apple,

How he becomes so fierce this time?
I cannot take him lightly!"

Mardhan adjusted himself on the rhino hurriedly,
When the chance appeared,
Mardhan was as fast as a bird,
Whipped his rhino to the rival's flank,
With the side of the axe,
Beat Kanchorao to make an attack,
From the back of the black-spotted horse,
He knocked Kanchorao far away off the horse.

He did not take a look at Kanchorao anymore,
Mardhan was running to his death,
He shouted to chanllenge hero Krichorao.

Krichorao responded quickly,
Rode Surkoyun and arrived like a shooting arrow,
Clouds of dust rose up behind him.
He was like an eagle facing the prey,
Shrank his shoulders and bent and fixed his eyes on the rival.

He had a face of demanding other's life,
He had a pair of eyes as sharp as falcon.
The most distinctive hero,
Fought against Mardhan fiercely again.

When Krichorao fought Mardhan again,
He would let Mardhan know his power.

Krichorao swung his spear,
Mardhan felt hard to resist.
After getting the attack of that spear,
Mardhan could not bear more.

Unmatched black mane wolf,
Tightened his belt right away,

He did not give a chance for dunderhead to breathe,
He launched attacks like a storm.

No matter how skillful he was at using the spear,
He was unable to knock down the rival,
Off the rhino!

He thought the spear ancestor left,
Had no use on the bastard.
He thought about his fate,
He thought he would die in the hand of the devil.

Golden bronze wire twisted on the handle,
It was specially made for the hero,
His father Almanbet,
Passed down the crescent battle axe,
It was a sharp axe that cut the rock like clay.
Anyone who touched it,
Only had a choice of death.
Krichorao lifted the axe as he thought about this,
He braced himself up again.

As vigorous as an eagle,
As ferocious as a falcon,
Hero Krichorao whipped his horse to Mardhan.
He thought his father went on expedition many times,
There was no one that escaped alive from the axe.
Once the axe cut,
Bastard Mardhan would have no chance to live.

He stepped in the stirrups tight and stood up,
Bit his lips tight with anger,
He lifted the axe over his shoulders,
Cut toward the bastard with full of his strength.

The axe made a loud clang,
People half-day-journey away,

Heard the deafening sound,
Like it was by the side of their ears.

Shayili god blessed Krichorao,
Krichorao was like to swallow completely,
The evil world.
Like he was going to sweep away the millions of enemy troops,
Like he would stuff everything into the abysmal hole.

The axe he cut,
Hit right on the bastard's chest.
The chest-protecting iron armor,
Was cut into two immediately.
The strong and arrogant guy,
Only shook gently,
Like breeze blew the tree,
He sat still.
Like nothing had happened,
He had no injury on him.
Facing such a situation,
Krichorao had nothing to do with it.
Only the fire of the hatred and anger,
Burned in his chest.

He thought I met the bad luck,
He was really my sworn enemy.
I should launch continuous attacks toward him,
And make him impossible to open his eyes.

When he thought about this,
Krichorao whipped his horse and had all weapons in the hand,
No matter it was axe or hammer, knife or spear,
No matter it was sharp edge or the point,
No matter it was up or down, front or back,
He attacked the rival fiercely.

Experienced Mardhan,

No one had ever seen him tired!
Krichorao's attacks like rain drops,
Just like scratched him itchy parts,
Just made him frantic.

He reached his arms out suddenly,
Grabbed Krichorao's wrist tight.
When he grabbed the rival's wrist,
The ferocious beast,
His super skills could get a show-off.

He twisted Krichorao's arm hard,
The crescent axe the hero grasped in the hand,
Fell off on the ground.

Krichorao's both wrists were grabbed,
But he was not caught,
He made his left arm free quickly,
And pulled the rival's collar immediately.

The powerful and super hero,
Pulled hard with full of his strength.
From the evil hand,
Lion Krichorao,
Finally made his right hand free too.

Then they pulled each other's collar hard,
Stamped on the stirrups tight and came to a deadlock.
They could not bear the fierce tear,
Both of their coat armors and armors had been torn,
Completely beyond recognition.

Surkoyun steed and the rhino,
Had been exhausted with limp legs.
They had been exhausted of their physical strength,
Tumbled and could not stand still.

They both refused to budge and take hands back,
They twisted and did not shrink back,
Two heroes had fallen off their mounts,
Pulled and pushed from valley to plain.
Two heroes were in a clinch,
Fought against each other in the plain.

They two were regardless of their lives,
Grasped the iron chain on each other's waist tight,
Like giants wrestled,
They tore each other and twisted each other.
Their coat armors and armors had been torn into pieces,
They rolled up their sleeves,
Tried their best and fought.

People watched their fight,
They felt desperate of their own lives.
The sun disappeared suddenly,
Dust covered everything in their sight.
People heard their noise sometimes,
No one could distinguish where the noise came from.

They pulled each other and knocked each other hard,
They had stamped many big pits on the earth.
When they roared and shouted angrily,
It seemed the earth had been shattered a crack.
Spring water spouted out suddenly,
Joined together and ran.

Rocks they stamped on,
Had been smashed into powder,
Splashed like the dust.

They opened their eyes wide and looked at each other,
Gnashed their teeth and were anxious to swallow each other.
Fire of anger spurred out of their eyes,
Like fire blew through bellow.

Two days and one night had passed,
Warriors hand-to-hand continued upgrading.
They were badly mutilated,
How such a cruel battle could exist in the world.

They were well-matched,
Neither of them could defeat the other one.
Right at the moment,
Wise Khan Bakay arrived and said:
"Lions, you are exhausted,
But you continue battling,
Fight day and night without a rest,
How about you two retreat and have a rest?

"How about you two both go back and rest?
Have a good ninety-day rest,
Pick better armors and weapons,
Pick another date and battle again."

When Bakay went to them and persuaded like this,
Krichorao felt regretful very much,
He thought he achieved nothing for these days,
How he could go back empty-handed.
But Khan's order could not be disobeyed,
He had to keep silent.

The wild beast from Kangayi,
Spurred dense smoke and fire out of his mouth.
He bit like a mad dog,
He shouted wildly:

"I will never run away in the battlefield,
I will wipe you all out,
I will erase the name Kirgiz in the world.
Before I destroy all of you,
Khitan's offspring Krichoroa,

I will dispose of you, an apple of discord betrayed your ancestors.
I will knead you like dough,
How I can be satisfied if I do not skin you alive?

"Semtay and Bakay,
Each one of you falls off the horse,
The other one will come immediately to help.
You attack secretly to win,
Look, how cunning you Burut people are,
Why do not you see what skills you have?

"I carry my gold-made patron with me,
I worship solemnly all the time.
I do not fear at all when I face god and devil,
Almanbet's son Krichorao,
How I do not look down upon him.
How he dares to cut me toward my head,
I will never tolerate such humiliation!"

Mardhan turned furious,
His angry face,
Was like the withered Gobi desert,
It was as pale as the salt marsh.
It was like storms coming suddenly,
It turned cloudy and scary.

From the bastard's eyes,
The sunny expression disappeared immediately,
The harmony and peace of human beings in his eyes,
Turned to nothing in a blink of an eye,
He had a cruel expression on his face.
White foam splashed out of his mouth,
Which made people feel disgusted.

From the bastard's eyes,
There would be yurt-size flames spurring out,
If it met huge rocks or mountains face to face,

It would burn them immediately.
Pine trees, birch trees, and poplar trees,
Like cut by sharp axes,
All fell down on the ground.

As long as his eyes could see,
Frozen ice would break.
The heartless earth swallowed everything in the world,
Also shook under his feet.
He blew black smoke shooting up to the sky out of his mouth.
The sun hid behind dark clouds,
The moon hid and did not dare come out,
Stars also hid and dare not open their eyes.

Astonished by the dullard power,
There were only a few stars still in the sky.
He rode on his grey rhino,
Waved his arm backward,
Sixty strong men from Kangayi,
Carried weapons, coat armor, and armor,
Presented to him immediately.

After a great hurry and bustle,
They dressed him up with coat armor and armor again,
Tightened his belt and buttoned,
Wrapped him up tight.

He reached his hand into his clothes,
Took out the patron,
Which was made of cast iron and beset with precious diamonds,
He held it in his hand.

He murmured to himself,
With a dignified expression on his face,
Then his face brightened with joy,
And he put the patron back into his clothes.

Seeing the stupid dunderhead cheerful and confident face,
Krichorao spoke his mind,
To venerable leopard Bakay:
"My respected uncle Bakay,
Do not try to persuade me to stop.
Look at the bastard's arrogance,
How I can retreat from the battlefield.

"He made a patron by himself,
The stupid hog thinks it will protect him.
Look at his stupid conduct,
I feel angry but he is funny.

"Peerless father Manas,
I only worship his spirit in the world.
No more than twelve hours,
I will smash the dunderhead into pieces.

"Look at his highly conceited appearance,
How I can swallow the grievance,
I will let him disappear from the earth completely!
Let that arrogant dunderhead,
Witness my power,
Let his arrogance destroy himself!"

Krichorao said to Bakay firmly:
"Uncle, goodbye,
Pray for me,
I will prick this arrogant dunderhead down,
In Kangayi, Jafan, and Kazakh's presence,
Pick the bastard on my spear,
Show it to the thousands of troops.

"Generals can be brave but do not act recklessly,
Kanchorao is impertinent,
Do not let him fight and kill,
Do not let him rush into Kangayi and Jafan troops.

"Khan should not be reckless,
Do not let him ride Tayibruler,
And gallop to the battlefield.
Why break a butterfly on the wheel?
To deal with a rash man like Mardhan,
Khan does not go in person.
I must succeed,
For all enemies that come to invade us,
I swear to kill them all.

"Dear uncle, I plead for one thing,
Sire spear Manas left,
You try to give it to me,
Please ask Kanchorao to fetch it,
Let him send it to me as soon as possible."
Krichorao said in a sincere voice,
He pleaded again and again.
Bakay tried his best to persuade him,
But it was useless.

Warrior fought alone in the battlefield,
Would never retreat,
Especially when he faced ferocious Mardhan,
The hero swore to defeat him.

Old Bakay had no choice,
But agreed on the hero's request.
He whipped his grey horse,
Clouds of dust rose behind him.
He called Kanchorao's name loudly:
"Sire spear handed down by Manas,
Please send to him quickly."

Before his words were finished,
Fully equipped Kanchorao,
Galloped with the magical spear crossed on the saddle,

He sent him not only Sire spear,
But also Krichorao's coat armor and armor.

Krichorao and Kanchorao,
They grew up together like brothers.
At this crucial moment,
Heroic lion Kanchorao,
Helped Krichorao with the saddle and his armor.

He shortened the breeching,
Loosened the bellyband,
Tightened the breast plate.

Almanbet's Badana armor,
Was beset with gold and jewelry,
When he was in Beygin city of Khitan,
The armor was his splendid attire.

There were twenty seven buttons,
There were twenty seven lock catches,
Kanchorao buttoned them up one by one carefully.
He did not step on gold-made stirrups,
Toward single-hump camel-size Surkoyun steed,
Krichorao pranced and sat on its back.

Beard like reeds,
Red face,
Sweet words,
Rock hearted,
Big eyes and bushy eyebrows,
Sharp eyes.
Sometimes he talked gently like girls,
Sometimes he was as powerful as tigers.
There was no second one in the world,
He was the only one in the world.

He had an insight like the morning star,

He had ears like shields.
Red was red and white was white,
His face was pretty like blood dropping on snow,
It was impossible to describe with language,
His face was bright as the moon.

His hair swung like silk in wind,
Beard around his mouth,
Was like the tassel on the spear.
His figure was perfect,
It was like the fresco on the wall.

When he grasped Sire spear in the hand,
He gave a smile,
To uncle Bakay and Kanchorao.
Khan Bakay had witnessed,
Mardhan's aggressive appearance,
He was worried about Krichorao.

All weapons had been prepared well,
Mardhan was ready,
He was like a single-hump camel in heat.
He held the sharp red-tasseled spear in the hand,
Galloped forward suddenly and launched an attack.

When he was pricked by the red-tasseled spear,
When he got a prick from Mardhan,
The sharp and long spear,
Had pierced through Badana armor.
Chest protector had been broken,
Delicate skin under his arm,
Was poked in for four spans deep.

When the rhino ran fast,
And passed by him,
When he got the spear prick,
Krichorao adjusted himself,

Prepared to attack Mardhan.

When running blood,
Soaked him and his horse,
Krichorao was completely enraged.
When Krichorao was irritated,
For the iron warrior,
Such wound was not worth mentioning!
Even if his blood,
Had run into streams,
He would clench his teeth,
And fight against the enemy to the end.

He grasped Sire spear tight in the hand,
Launched more fierce attacks to Mardhan.
Before Mardhan turned round,
Aimed at the edge of enemy's chest protector,
Toward the center of the shoulder,
He pricked his spear hard.

Sire spear made a fierce prick,
Like pricking into a liver,
It pricked deep in the rival's chest.
Badly injured Mardhan grasped the horns,
Blood spouted out of his shoulder,
Ran all over the rhino.
Blood ran on both sides,
Ran along the rhino legs.

He was angry like a vampire,
The damned Kangayi Khan,
He became angry from shame.
The spear point in the chest,
Was nothing for Mardhan.
He hurled himself upon Krichorao.

Like an injured wild male hog,

Waved his long spear and bent over,
The damned guy was skillful,
The spear went toward Krichorao's butt.

Facing the spear the bastard pricked,
Hero Krichorao had prepared,
He did not let the spear get his butt.
He did not let Mardhan notice,
Skillful Krichorao,
Leaned to the side of the horse,
Dodged the vital prick agilely.

The spear moved to one side,
Flew past him.
The rhino under Mardhan,
Was like a fish in water.
When it turned round easily,
It was already one arrow shoot away.

With the extraordinary habit of rhino,
Galloped its strong legs.
It dug the ground with its legs,
Dust mixed with rocks rose behind him in the sky.

Mardhan turned his rhino round again,
He thought if he turned round and pricked again,
He would destroy the rival completely.
Before Mardhan got close to Krichorao,
Hero Krichorao had made good preparations.

He adjusted his strong body,
Gave a hard whip to his horse,
Shouted the name Manas loudly,
Toward the fat butt of dunderhead,
He pricked out his spear.

He pricked Sire spear out with full of his strength,

It could smash the huge rock.
The spear poked the rival's fat butt,
Crazy dunderhead Mardhan,
Was almost pricked down on the ground.

The guy was as strong as mountains,
It bent over with pain.

Injured tiger was still stubborn and unyielding,
Dying person would still give dying kicks.
Mardhan's last hour had come,
It was the situation at the moment.

Mardhan was pricked by the hero,
He still fought bravely.
Who had ever seen such a hero?
He fought bravely and unyieldingly,
He was irresistible.

The bastard showed his power,
Grasped his spear tight and rushed forward.
Before Surkoyun steed turned round,
Hero's offspring Krichorao,
Was bleeding on the side of the butt.

Krichorao rode on Surkoyun steed,
It tumbled,
Krichorao on its back,
Fell off into the mud.

Ugly rhino was formidable,
It never let any chance go.
It opened its eyes wide,
Rushed forward toward the rival.

Skillful giant,
Vigorous hero.

He straightened up,
Grabbed Surkoyun's rein.
Surkoyun steed was not injured at all,
It galloped its hooves and rushed ahead.

The hero got two wounds,
Blood ran out of the wounds.
The brave hero Krichorao,
Pranced onto the steed immediately.

Although he rode on the steed,
His blood had dyed the earth red.
Facing giant Mardhan,
He had already had no strength to fight anymore.

There was such a hero in the world,
How would people not praise him?

They could not chase and fight,
They dare not get close either,
There was four-arrow distance between them,
They were in a deadlock and waited for the chance.

Krichorao remembered suddenly,
The spirits of ancestors in the heaven,
He thought at this crucial moment,
Manas and his father's spirit must come and help.

His eyes were filled with tears of hatred,
He was immersed in the grievance.
Then he raised his eyes and looked toward south,
Prayed to the spirit:

"Father, you have gone to heaven,
I wish your spirit comes.
Sacred Khan Manas,
How blessed I will be if your spirit comes.

Facing such a ferocious enemy,
It will be so good if you all come and help!

"Almanbet Khan has been in heaven,
I had not seen your appearance.
Fellow people say you are my father,
It is so good if you come!

"At this crucial moment,
At this battling moment,
Ancestors' spirits,
How do not they come and help!

"Almanbet comes from Khitan,
My father is in heaven now.
Do you think now:
'My kid Krichorao,
Goes ahead toward his goal bravely,
He has a pure heart and he must have a bright future.'
Do you think:
'Krichorao is my beloved son,
Is he in danger now?
Does he need me to help now?'

"My father,
Do you let me regret for my whole life?
Does your spirit hide from me?
Do you just see,
And let my blood flow under Mardhan's spear?

"Acbarita's son Chuwak Khan,
Rode Koktykai steed,
Wore grey iron armor,
All enemies fought him,
He could send them to the bottom of the hell easily,
Do you consider me as a hero's offspring?
Do I still have your love?

"I, Krichorao, ride on Surkoyun steed,
Do I have that unrestrained days too?
Now I stick here and cry.
Hero Chuwak's spirit,
Do you come and help me?

"If I die in the battle,
Next hero who dies,
Will be your son and my good brother Kanchorao,
How you can look on and do nothing for your offspring.

"Hero wears white hat with black edge,
Lion Manas' fellow,
Khan Jagurp's Sirak,
Rode on Tilkerzil steed,
He never drew his pricked spear back.

"He never retreated when he faced ferocious enemy,
All enemies he met,
He would wipe them all out.
Anyone who fought against him,
Would have only one way, that is death.

"Hero leopard Sirak,
Do you come and help us?
Chuwak's son Kanchorao and I,
Are the only support of Khan.

"If two Choraos both die,
Lion's offspring,
Horse's colt,
Who can help him and support him?
How can his future be?

"My big brother is spitting blood,
He has severe injury.

My old uncle Bakay,
Black-hearted Mardhan,
Will he cut Bakay's head off,
And let the blood dye the silver beard.

"Numerous Arashi people are unable to resist,
Do they suffer from invaders' abuse?
Giant Jamgerchy's Shaymanbet,
Has surrendered to Kangayi people,
Does this shameless guy get lost in excitement?

"Mother Kanikai, I had sucked her milk,
Will they humiliate her?
My countless kind elders,
When they are old and weak,
Will they be wiped out?

"Jalgezack and Baytaylak,
Will their heads,
Be cut off by brutal Mardhan?
Poor white felt hat Kirgiz people,
Will they lose their homes and wander?

"Will Ayichulek transfer into a white swan,
And fly back to Akun Khan's city to hide?
Will Kangayi troops besiege the city,
And force them to give Ayichulek out?
Because they are her families,
Do Akun Khan's people suffer from disasters?

"Yismayil in Bhara,
Is considered as the best support,
Will he wipe them out?
The bastards kill people in cold blood,
Will they kill innocent ordinary people?
Will they stop only when they kill them all?

"Zhodar of Kashgar,
Margalan, Tashkent, and Hohan,
Will they be trampled under Kangayi people's feet?
Heroes and wise people there,
Will they gather them together,
And kill them all?
Then the invaders will be satisfied!

"Fertile and beautiful Arat,
As a good father,
As a good mother,
Nourish its people carefully.
It is Kirgiz people's parents,
It is generations of Arashi people's home,
Do we give it up to enemies like this?

"Rivers come from mountains,
Water is running in rivers.
Milk there is too much and runs like river,
Fertile and beautiful Tianshan mountains,
Will invaders destroy its children?
Will they make dust blow everywhere there?

"Will fellow people's miserable groans,
Make ferocious enemies contented?
The bastards mutilated the people mercilessly,
Do they occupy the place forever?

"The sunny day as bright as a mirror,
Does it turn cloudy?
Our homeland is fertile,
Will it be covered by dark clouds?

"Four heroes in heaven,
If you miss your Arat home,
Will your spirits come and help?

"My father Manas' white tomb,
Is famous in the world.
Will the bastards ruin it?
Will they level it and let it disappear forever?
If Manas loses his tomb,
Will his reputation go away with it?"

Krichorao felt resentful,
Tears ran down from his angry eyes,
When he complained to ancestors in sorrow,
Surkoyun steed under his bottom,
Started to talk to him:

"I would like to die in front of the hero,
Rather than lose Krichorao,
Rather than lose the grass in Arat,
Rather than lose the pasture I live on happily,
Rather than turn into a war trophy of the enemy.
Please, dear ancestor Achura,
Bring me, Surkoyun, to accompany you in heaven!

"My dear father Achura,
You are lion Manas' companion.
Sorandick's son Almanbet,
Rode Sariala,
Do not let me part with lions,
Please, let your spirits take me with you!

"Warrior Chuwak's Koktikai,
Has equal share of power.
Your fame is passed down to now,
Please, take Surkoyun with you!

"Hero Sirak's mount,
Great Tilkerzil steed,
Please, take me away with you,
Rather than let me become Kangayi people's prisoner!"

Surkoyun steed pleaded hard,
Like a deserted orphan,
Cried desperately.

When the steed cried,
At the throat of Kurpuldaik river,
It was right at the noon,
Earth split and mountains fell,
It became totally dark suddenly.

Fierce wind drove up from the ground suddenly,
From the top of the mountain southwest,
Bright red light appeared.

Lofty Arat mountain,
Was towering into the sky.
Now, it was bending over,
Stood solemnly.

Pine trees, birch trees, and willow trees,
Swung in the fierce wind.
Mountains and forests turned silent suddenly,
A perfect silence prevailed,
The earth was like freezing up.

Suffered from Kangayi troops' invading,
It was like the end of the world was coming,
Heaven fell and earth cracked,
Peaceful Tianshan pasture,
Suffered from a devastating disaster.

Baby argali skipped and jumped in mountains,
Now disappeared.
Spreading flowers and grass,
Nourished by rivers,
Withered suddenly.

Like the cold of deep fall came suddenly,
The earth lost its color.

Animals looked for food in wilderness,
Tried to let the babies eat,
But it was impossible to distinguish their own babies.
Birds tweeted in grief,
But their sounds were totally different from in the past.
White snow turned green,
Everything on the earth,
Was frozen and lost life.

In a blink of an eye,
It seemed everything changed again:
Brightness and hope came to the earth.

Panic-stricken Kangayi troops,
Did not know what on earth would happen,
But they felt it would not be something good,
They turned into a mess immediately.

Red light and purple fog came like the sky was opened,
The sun shined immediately,
Blue sky and white clouds appeared,
Four heroes appeared on the clouds.

Lofty mountains became enlightened suddenly,
Clouds covering disappeared.
Towering Tianshan peaks stood upright again,
Flowers blossomed and spread over mountains,
The feeling of spring came back.
Birds chirped happily and the earth was full of vitality,
Everything sad and annoyed was gone.

Fields turned green again,
All people who witnessed felt surprised.
Horse god Kangbarata bestowed,

And touched the crescent fat bottom,
Extraordinary magical steed Achura,
Carried a god-like giant on its back,
Came to the world from the blue sky.

As magnificent as Arat mountain,
Lion Ayikoler Manas,
Led the way in the front.
Rode on Sariala steed whose bottom was like bull's,
Almanbet was in a high spirit,
Wore his black coat armor and followed tight.

Rode on Koktikai steed,
Wore grey coat armor and armor,
It was warrior Chuwak.

Held Sire spear high in the hand,
Rode on Tilkerzil steed,
Wore diamond-beset crown,
Lion Sirak was the one who came.
By the side of Sirak in the past,
There were eighty heroes,
Accompanied day and night,
Who else had such good fortune!

The coming one was as brilliant as cuckoo,
Smiled in high spirit,
His face was as bright as the moon.
Accompanied lion Ayikoler,
Three heroes were closely associated.

God would let all disasters leave,
Flowers were as red as fire,
Grass waved in wind like green waves.
Rocks on mountains shined,
It was sunny everywhere,
Fragrant smell greeted everyone,

Everything came to life again,
How sweet it was.

People put their heads together and murmured:
"Kirgiz reinforcements have come,
Invaded Kangayi and betrayed Kazakh people,
It is impossible for them to escape from punishment,
Kirgiz will not let them off easily.
"Devil Kerzilwuyouk has died in the battle,
Bastard Mardhan's death is on the way.
Four heroes are equal thousands of troops,
No one could resist four heroes.
Four heroes have four spirits' help,
No one knows what is going to happen."

Look at four heroes' majestic bearing,
Four heroes were as holy as god in heaven,
They came back in order to protect their homeland,
Everyone worshiped and admired such heroes.

Look at those invading enemies,
All of them were desperate and sighed,
Sometimes high and sometimes low,
Sometimes smooth and sometimes difficult,
The world was merciless like this.

Four heroes advanced shoulder to shoulder,
They went forward at a steady pace,
Rocked on Sariala's back,
Agile Almanbet took the lead,
Came to the side of Krichorao alone.

He was contented with tears in his eyes,
Fixed his eyes on his son.
It was the first time Krichorao faced his father,
Krichorao was struck dumb with astonishment.

Sorandick's son Almanbet,
Started to talk to Krichorao:
"I did not see you when I was alive,
I did not see your bright smiling face.
My kid, I had no chance to love you,
I had no chance to kiss your cheeks either.

"I am in heaven,
But I always think about you.
I heard your mournful cry,
My heart was going to break.

"My son,
Mardhan of Kangayi,
Is not an immeasurable strong man,
Is not unstoppable flood,
Is not invincible vigorous opponent either."

He pulled his son by his side hurriedly,
Grabbed his son's right arm,
Said he gave him the power of the right arm.
Then he grabbed his son's left arm,
Said he gave him the power of the left arm.

"Now you have the power to lift thousand pounds stuff,
You can go and destroy that cruel dunderhead,
Look at all Kangayi heroes,
There is no one capable to challenge you."

He touched the back of his son:
"No matter how powerful the enemy is,
He will never make you fall on your back again.
If you are confused or in danger,
Do not be childish to call me.
I have left the human world and went into heaven,
I do not want to deal with matters in the human world.

"Do not stay here long and go to the battlefield now,
Crazy Mardhan's days are numbered.
Go and wipe out the devil for your people,
Send the bastard to the bottom of the hell!

"You are a strong man,
No one can defeat you at any place.
If you cannot defeat Mardhan,
Do not say you are my son anymore!
Troops swarmed like flood,
Remember, do not annoy them!"

Before Krichorao answered him,
Troops moved in the sight,
Diverted Krichorao's attention.
When he turned his head round,
Four heroes in front of his eyes just now,
Had disappeared,
He could not see them anymore.

Kangayi Mardhan,
Watched what happened in front of his eyes,
He did not know whether it was real or it was a dream.
Four heroes appeared in front of his eyes,
It made him worried and confused.

Hero Krichorao was ready to fight,
He grasped Sire spear tight in the hand,
He had a pitiless look on his face.
He saw ancestors' spirits in person,
It doubled his confidence.
According to his father's instruction,
He rushed to the battlefield and launched an attack.

Mardhan asked:
"Krichorao, are you a magician?
Did you cast a mist just now?

It is just a ploy to confuse ignorant people.
If the people in the mirage are real,
Tell me who they are?

"Rode on Achura steed in a majestic state,
Had flames splashed out of his eyes,
He was different from others,
Who was the man in silver coat armor?

"Never yielded when facing strong opponents,
Never let one enemy off.
Wore black coat armor and armor,
Rode Sariala steed.
The general passed before my eyes,
His dignified appearance was superior to numerous generals,
Please tell me who is this warrior?

"Held the silver spear high in the hand,
Rode on Koktikai steed,
Looked strong and tall,
Never feared when facing thousands of troops,
Never drew back when facing a formidable enemy.
In fierce and cruel battles,
He could plow new ground.
Look at his red but ferocious face,
Thousands of troops could not stop him if he fought,
Please tell me, who is this hero?

"Held Sire spear high in the hand,
Rode on Tilkerzil steed,
Like a falcon spread its golden wings.
I saw he had a special status,
Among these coming people.
Wore a splendid long gown with gold thread collar,
It matched him perfectly,
Tell me, who is he?

"Two days ago,
Bakay came to you in a hurry.
Persuaded me to go back and have a rest,
I refused his persuasion,
I did not agree to do it.

"I thought at that time,
I believed I could knock you off easily,
Let your blood spray everywhere.
But I never expected,
You could escape from my hand.

"Once I am pleased with myself,
Kunwuerbayi really has no ability,
He failed to level Kirgiz Arashi to ground.
My father Niskara,
Could not resist enemies' attacks,
Let Kirgiz people go on the rampage,
It was unimaginable and strange.

"Muradler is an impotent person,
How he could be a Khan,
I do not know how he got the honor,
Actually he is a famous loser in the world.
I criticized them from head to feet,
Now it seems I have wronged them."

Mardhan talked about his heart,
Then he said to Krichorao:
"Now, please give me two days off,
Let me go back to my camp!
Let me have two days rest,
Let me take good care of you!

"Jafan people quarreled in my camp,
Defended dead Kerzilwuyouk.
I became angry as I heard it,

So I came hurriedly without eating anything.

"If you do not feel scared,
Let me go back and eat full,
Then I will come back and kill you,
Splash your blood in the wilderness.

"It is not over after I kill you,
I will go directly to Talas,
I will destroy everything there,
I will rob everything in your city!"

The bastard talked aimlessly without stopping,
Facing hero Krichorao who was as brave as a lion,
Let's see how bold he was.

When Mardhan pestered,
Uncle Bakay like a forty-year-old man,
With his white beard waved,
Whipped his green horse,
Came to the battlefield.

He was overjoyed,
He talked excitedly:
"Hey, colt Krichorao,
The spirits came just now,
My friends hinted like this:
'He only has one more meal life,
But the guy has not eaten till now,
So he still keeps himself alive,
And he still lives in the world.'

"I watched from a distance just now,
Watched and analyzed carefully,
He begged very hard,
He asked to go back to his camp,
You can agree him to go back,

He will come and die after he eats full,
My lion, what is your opinion?"

Uncle explained to him,
Gave him the advice.
Then he turned his horse round,
And went back majestically.

Like green grass grew on the earth,
Under the nourishment of the drizzle,
Krichorao accepted Bakay's persuasion.
Like eagle in the mountains cried,
Krichorao answered Mardhan,
With his vigorous voice:

"Hey, Mardhan, listen,
Seeing lions' figures,
You feel scared and do not know what to do,
I do not know what you are talking about!
You asked who these four heroes are,
Let me tell you one by one:

"Rode on Achura steed majestically,
Anyone who saw him would feel scared,
Among numerous famous Arashi people,
He is a pillar like Arat mountain,
He is the harbor,
For white felt hat Kirgiz.
Are you frightened out of your wits when you see him?
It was like he was in front of you in person,
But that was Manas' spirit!

"People call him lion Ayikoler when he was alive,
God gave him the name Manas.
Once heard his famous name,
All devils were all scared to death.
Once his figure appears,

Bastards like you must be scared to death!

"The strong and tall man talked with me,
He was like the eagle on high mountains.
Sorandick's son Almanbet,
He was a Khitan prince.
Unparalleled Krichorao,
People in the world all said I am his son.
I have only heard but not seen for years,
Today I saw my father for the first time.

"Kangayi and Jurjut,
It is said they colluded with each other,
Bowed before Karamark people shamefully,
Only him, an energetic young hero,
Did not obey Karamark's rule,
He had a battle with them.

"He abandoned the prosperous capital city,
Gave up the throne of Khan,
He endured hardships and came to Talas,
Became Khan Manas' advisor and company.

"Lion Ayikoler Manas led an expedition,
Almanbet was the general commander,
He headed fifty four Liek troops,
Drove Karamark out of Beygin city.
He had great achievements,
It is impossible to finish in days.

"Wore grey coat armor and armor,
Rode on Koktikai steed,
Everyone that witnessed was scared out of the wits,
Fire splashed out of his eyes,
That was giant Barita's son Chuwak,
No matter who the rival was,
He never let him be alive.

Till he left the world,
He never lost his dignity.

"Held Sire spear high in the hand,
Straightened his body up,
He always stared fixedly,
Like an agile but ferocious eagle,
He is hero Sirak.

"In the fierce battle in Qiong Beygin,
Faced more than ninety tribes,
Faced countless troops,
Faced powerful Khitan and Karamark,
He was really an experienced warrior,
He rushed into the city alone,
Fought bravely.

"Jagurp's son Sirak,
He was energetic and brave,
Do not think he is nobody.

"Four heroes showed up just now,
Each of them is an unparalleled hero,
Each of them has great fame.
Even if you cast yourself with iron completely,
As long as they wave their hands gently,
You will be smashed into ash.
Do not imagine escaping from the coming death,
That is daydreaming,
It is time to kill you,
Mardhan!

"I always keep my words,
Your grey rhino,
Will accompany you on your way to death.
I will not act like you, Mardhan,
Ride a stupid rhino and run everywhere.

"I watch your figure and appearance,
I will arrange your fate.
Your face is fat and oily,
You have been fat,
How a fat pig can live in the world.
I must let you die in the wilderness,
Throw your corpse on the moving trail,
Let Kazakh dogs eat it!

"If I launch an attack again,
I must knock you off the rhino,
I will pick you on the spear point,
High like the leather hat,
Show in front of Kangayi, Jafan, and Kazakh people.

"If I do not allow you to go back to eat,
You will be starved to death,
You will regret,
And I will not be a broad-minded hero.

"At least two days,
And no more than seven days,
I will let you eat to your content,
Do not let you be a starved dead dunderhead.
You should return here on time,
Come to die like a black sheep!

"Follow the time you promised,
Do not break your words!
You will come and observe in the morning and evening,
I will not return to my camp."
These were the hero's words,
For damned Kangayi Khan,
He answered him definitely.

He loosened Surkoyun's bit,

Took the bridle off,
Without worrying about anything,
He let his mount off.

Mardhan rode on the grey rhino,
Went back to his camp and fell into deep sleep.
His chefs were all busy rushing around,
To prepare his meal.
Let's introduce,
The meal he would eat alone:

There was no fat pig for him there,
But around there,
Bears and marmots,
Were countless in number,
Mardhan gave out the order,
They called in six hundred hunters quickly.
Eleven bears and five hundred marmots,
Were hunted in one day.

They never ate horse meat,
They kept their eating habit.
They butchered thirteen strong bulls,
And two camels,
And one hundred sheep.

Eleven bears,
Five hundred marmots,
Thirteen bulls,
One hundred sheep,
And two camels,
Mardhan ate them all in one meal.
Two flourmills worked at the same time,
Continually provided flour.

From the downstream of Kurpuldaik river,
He drank all water in the river,

He watched the river turning dry.
Mardhan bulged his large belly,
Sweated all over.
Sweat flowed down his forehead,
Six servants helped him wipe it,
They still did not wipe all.
They took turns day and night,
They were exhausted pitiably.

Strong alcohol made from horse milk,
He drank it without a stop.
The dunderhead kept eating and drinking,
All meat and alcohol,
He finished all in an instant.

Mardhan ate immortal pills,
And ate six leather bags of nang.
He still said he was not full,
He asked to take him more food.

Mardhan called five hundred blacksmiths in,
All his spears, battle axes, knives, and swords,
He ordered them to poison all of them.
The split wound on his back,
Had dirty blood and had ulcerated,
He asked to clean it completely for him,
Then he felt comfortable.

The grey rhino was still his mount,
The sun was high above the head,
Mardhan was still eating,
Till the noon,
He set out in a hurry.

As soon as he saw the dunderhead,
Krichorao mounted his steed immediately,
He had lived in the wilderness for seven days,

He did not eat anything.

During the ninety-day fierce battle,
He experienced countless fights,
He remained calm all the time.
He did not eat at all,
He never felt exhausted because of hunger.
He was born strong and agile like a leopard,
Among thousands of troops,
His power was extraordinary.

As he saw the figure of the devil,
He was happy like a woman gave birth to a baby boy,
The hero felt overjoyed and laughed loudly.
Tightened Surkoyun's bellyband,
Held Sire spear father left in the hand,
Galloped toward cruel Mardhan.
He thought he would not let him die regretfully,
He would let him struggle before he died,
He stopped his steed in front of troops of both sides.

Mardhan was with great strength,
He shouted like a wild beast,
Everyone that witnessed was absolutely terrified.
Beasts that saw him,
Would flee away in a panic.

Mardhan galloped forward,
Like fire spouted out of the bellow.
He was in a very threatening manner,
He did not fear at all.
Mardhan was agile and fast,
Pricked his spear out fiercely.

When the howling spear attacked,
The spear point had flames splashed,
Yurt-size flames splashed out.

The grey rhino under his butt,
Galloped forward as fast as a shooting arrow.

Seeing the dunderhead fast and fierce attack,
Khan Semtay, Khan Bakay,
And Kanchorao,
These three lions watched aside.

Facing such a fierce attack,
Krichorao fought back bravely.
Before the hero attacked,
The strong dunderhead pricked again.
Krichorao came out victorious in every battle,
In this bright world,
He almost got disappeared!

He pulled the long mane and held the horse neck tight,
His chest protector was broken into pieces,
And fell onto the ground.
Mardhan looked thoroughly ferocious,
If he used the spear pricked Krichorao,
To prick Towering Yingan mountain,
He must turn the mountain over!

He was happy Krichorao was pricked,
The arrogant bastard pulled himself together,
Turned sideways and aimed at the hero's chest,
Gave another fierce prick,
Then he passed by happily.

When he drew the long spear back,
Peerless hero Krichorao,
Blood spurted from his body,
Like the water flowed in river.

Facing Mardhan's crazy attacks,
Hero Krichorao was perfectly calm.

He swung his Sire spear,
Galloped ahead and rushed to the enemy.

Aimed at the butt with the spear,
Watched the breeching of the saddle,
Looked for the best point to prick,
Toward the rival's vital point,
He pricked his spear out fast.

Sharp Sire spear got the vital point,
Although Mardhan was as strong as mountains,
He bent over and fell off the rhino to the ground.

Krichorao always acted on what he said,
Once he promised,
He never broke it.
He reined Surkoyun steed,
And turned it round smoothly.

He got extremely angry,
He stared at Mardhan on the ground angrily,
Toward his soft flesh on his chest,
He pricked again fast and fiercely.

He aimed accurately and pricked fiercely,
The sharp point of Sire spear,
Pierced through Mardhan's fat back.

He did not pull the spear out,
But he drew his crescent axe out,
Toward the astonished grey rhino,
Lifted the axe and cut at it.

When he drew his axe back with great strength,
Because he cut it too hard,
The axe stuck in the head.

The injured rhino jerked its legs and struggled,
Groaned in an extremely painful voice,
And died under the hero's axe immediately.
The hero drew his axe back and whipped his horse,
Before the enemy reinforcement came,
He came back to the side of Mardhan.

Grasped the pole of the spear tight in the hand,
Pushed Sire spear deep in,
Then lifted the spear and picked Mardhan on it.
Krichorao and Mardhan together,
For Surkoyun steed,
It was too heavy for it to carry.

Surkoyun was a great steed,
In order to fulfill its master's task,
In order to show its master's power,
Even if mountains pressed down on its back,
It also stood there steadily.

It was more sincere than last time,
Like surging flood and mountains,
Especially to sacred Tianshan mountains,
It talked its heart loudly:
"Come and help me quickly,
Hey, my respected Arat,
I will die happily as long as I drink your magical water!

"Grass here is sweet food,
Spring water here is perfect milk,
Sacred Arat gives me power!
Cool, flat, and fragrant,
My great mountain, offer me power now!

"Krichorao on my back,
Is a peerless lion in the world,
No one in the world could defeat him,

No one in the world dare challenge him.

"My master is filled with hatred,
He has picked damned Mardhan,
High on his spear point.
In order to erase Kirgiz people's hatred and humiliation,
He will show the bastard of full record of crimes in public,
But I feel difficult to move even one step.

"As my master's close companion and mount,
How I can make him lose face.

"Please offer me grass and magical spring,
Let me, Surkoyun, gain courage and strength.

"My sacred snow mountain Arat,
If you do not come and encourage me,
I would rather die in battle,
Than live incapably like this!"

Surkoyun begged in sorrow,
Rocks would dissolve like lead,
When the poor steed pleaded,
Sacred Arat mountain was moved.

Unparalleled lion Manas' spirit,
Sent his mount Achura,
Let this magical steed made by the whirlwind,
Gallop forward along Arat mountain.

Kirgiz people of white felt hat,
Considered Arat as their father,
Arat provided white milk,
Offered Surkoyun power,
It was with great strength immediately.

Arat mountains,

Nourished tens of thousands of livestock,
It gave the order to Ackayipu[1],
Asked it to go with Achura to help.

Ackayipu and Achura,
Galloped forward fast like they flew,
Came to the entrance of Kurpuldaik.
As soon as Achura saw the holy water,
It neighed loudly as thunders.
Ackayipu walked close,
Put its rein on the horn of the bull.

Ackayipu and Achura touched Surkoyun gently,
Transferred the strong and holy strength,
Into Surkoyun steed's body.

Witnessed such a thing,
Thousands of troops were astonished.
Surkoyun steed had its strength doubled,
It pulled the stomach and galloped its hooves forward,
Gathered the magical steeds' power,
It carried two giants easily.

The power was like surging flood,
Was like lofty peaks,
Was like grand snow peaks,
It made Surkoyun encouraged.
It raised its powerful hooves,
Stepped forward,
Galloped steadily and fast.

Bastard Mardhan was picked high on the spear point,
Krichorao raised Mardhan high and rushed into the enemy camp.
Kangayi troops had been desperate,
Ackubak was very excited.

1 Ackayipu: It was the god administering livestock and wild animals in the legend.

Kairimubayi and Wumaitoy,
Their hearts were torn with anxiety,
They were impatient and worried.
Acairkaichy led a white horse,
Came hurriedly to butcher the horse to exorcise for his son.

People crowded round Krichorao,
Strong hero Mardhan,
Was picked high on Krichorao's spear point and displayed publicly.
All enemy soldiers dismounted and pleaded for forgiveness,
The loud noise rose up.
All enemy soldiers begged and prayed,
Pleaded the hero to spare them.

Right at the moment,
Khan Bakay, Khan Semtay, and Kanchorao,
Arrived hurriedly,
They surrounded Krichorao,
Greeted him and said blessings.

The heroes arranged all troops,
Ordered them to pitch camps,
They called in the surrendered people the next day.
Khan Semtay asked them:
"Jafan and Kangayi troops,
Who invites them to come?"

When Semtay asked in a cold voice,
Without letting others open their mouths,
Kairimubayi answered in a hurry:
"It was I who went to Jafan,
It was I too who went to Kangayi.
I sent messages to them,
But I followed the order to do so.

"For Wumaitoy's order,
I never dare say no.

I called all troops in,
And I traveled around many places.

"It was my fault,
But it was Wumaitoy who ordered me to do it.
I was guilty to invite them to come,
But it was Wumaitoy who sent me.

"He gave giant monster Kerzilwuyouk,
Forty thousand pounds gold and large amount jewelry,
Asked him to recruit soldiers and come to help.

"He asked me to cross the surging ocean,
Ordered me to go to an isolated island,
Ordered to go to a place far away,
He said because I can speak their language.

"I followed his order and went there,
I told them my purpose,
They came here happily.
Before I set off,
They apportioned each rich man ten thousand pounds gold.

When Kairimubayi said these words,
Semtay rebuked him:
"Do not talk nonsense, Kairimubayi,
Do not beat around the bush.

"Kangayi and Jafan troops,
You are hired to come here,
You follow orders and come here.
I do not account for your crime here,
You start to go back now.

"Your horses, armors and equipments,
I do not occupy them as trophy,
I do not let you walk back nakedly,

Why do I let you take the wrongs?"

Then he ordered the generals,
And tribe leaders to fall out,
No single leader dare call himself leader,
And broke the ranks.

The generals led troops,
Thought they would be beheaded because of their crime,
No one could stand still,
They all were scared and sat limply on the ground.

Jafan soldiers had a strip of cloth on them as mark,
It was absolutely clear when you took a look,
It was useless to hide.

When they heard the command of falling out,
Astonished guys were too weak to stand up,
They acted like buffoons,
They bent, bowed, and with their hands touching on the ground.
Many of them were too scared,
They were thrown into a panic.

Generals led troops,
One thousand fell out from Kangayi troops,
Forty fell out from Jafan troops,
Only ten fell out from Kazakh troops.
All defeated generals were gathered,
And led in Mardhan's yurt.

Semtay and Khan Bakay,
Did not walk into the yurt immediately,
Hero Krichorao walked in first.
As seeing hero Konkoer stood in the front,
They all felt scared,
They thought their dead day was coming.

Facing the defeated enemy generals,
Krichorao rebuked severely:
When Kerzilwuyouk and Mardhan,
Ran amuck and acted like devils,
As leaders and generals,
You committed the crime together with them.
You held the candle to the devil,
You acted as the paws of the tiger,
You destroy people's lives,
You all should have gone to hell immediately.

"When two devils died in the battlefield one after the other,
None of you dare wave flags and shout,
Your troops dare not go and help,
You are just some useless persons,
You have no guts!

"Are two monsters rude and unreasonable,
In their territory?
Do they take wild and dirty?
Do they make you annoyed?

"You are still your leaders,
Take care of your lives.
Mount immediately if you have horses,
Go on foot if you do not have horses,
Head your own troops,
Go back now and disappear immediately!

"Food, ammunition, and weaponry,
How do you feel if you leave them all?
Camels that carried your stuff,
Leave them all to me.
How many ride horses and how many go on foot,
Give me an exact number now!"

When Krichorao said this,

Numerous Janfan people complained:
"We do not have horses,
We come here on foot,
We come here only three months,
We just learn how to ride horses.

"There is no horse in our place,
We have never seen a horse before.
It is unsuitable for raising livestock in our territory,
Many people among us,
They fled away many days ago.

"They all rode fine horses,
Kairimubayi and Wumaitoy picked from their tribes,
Provided the fine horses,
Especially to monster Kerzilwuyouk,
Presented as gifts.

"It is the luckiest to keep our lives,
As long as we can go home alive,
We will be grateful and contented."
Jafan soldiers begged together,
They appreciated Kirgiz from the bottom of their hearts.

Jafan soldiers just finished talking,
Some Kangayi men began to complain:
"We have one hundred thousand troops that come here,
Fifty thousand ride on horses,
And the other fifty thousand go on foot.

"We recruited a lot of horses from Kazakh,
So we all have horses now.
We would rather go back home on foot,
Kazakh have experienced the great loss.

"Muzburchak's son.
Ackubak headed fifty thousand troops,

Chased after defeated and fled Jafan troops.
They chased day and night without a rest,
They cast spell and turned the weather cold,
Froze numerous Jafan soldiers to death in wilderness.
"Please forgive us, the defeated soldiers,
Let us off,
We do not have any complaints,
We are willing to give up fifty thousand horses."

They begged very hard,
Kind-hearted hero Krichorao,
Granted their request.
He steadied soldiers with horses,
And cared about soldiers without horses too.

Their weapons and ammunition,
He returned to them.
Horse meat, food, and tea,
Valuables like gold, jewelry, and money,
He returned to them.

"I return your weapons,
Do not make troubles on your way back,
Do not act absurdly,
There are games on the way if you are hungry.

"On the slopes and in valleys,
On the lofty mountains and peaks,
Hunt games there to keep you alive,
Do not stay long but go back soon!

"The generals lead troops,
I have given the power to you,
You cannot leave any of your soldiers behind,
You should take them back home safely!"

When Krichorao finished talking,

Generals present were all excited,
They bent over like marmots,
Lined up and went away slowly.
The defeated generals witnessed Semtay's kindness and justice,
They talked and praised:
"If the monster did not force us,
We would not come here."

The completely defeated troops talked on their way,
Put the pouch on their shoulders,
Kangayi and Jafan soldiers,
Swarmed forward like insects,
Stepped on their long journey back home.

Four heroes went together,
To Acairkaichy's home,
Flagitious Wumaitoy,
Did not have any imagination of his life anymore.

When they were eating and drinking,
The lion called in all Kazakh people,
He made excuses for Wumaitoy.
He said although Wumaitoy did wrong,
But he was an innocent kid,
He was cheated and instigated by evil people.

He did not have much crime,
Let aunt Acairkaichy,
Lessoned and straightened him out.

Khan Semtay blamed Wumaitoy on the surface,
Actually all the blames and rebukes,
He aimed at Kairimubayi.

The hero ordered him to gather livestock in two days,
Prepared to move immediately.
Ordered him to put out all fires,

Headed his people to move.

Move to Alma-Ata and Altay,
And famous Sariarka,
Let them settle down there.
Arranged all Kazakh well,
He consoled his aunt Acairkaichy,
It was time for him to return.
"You harbor evil intentions,
You have an evil heart,
You will cause more troubles!"
Semtay talked straightly,
He warned Kairimubayi.

For numerous Kazakh people,
He appointed Wumaitoy as their Khan.
Cunning Kairimubayi,
Thought he was plotted by Semtay,
He was thinking for more tricks.

He could do nothing but thought in vain,
His end days were coming.
He was weak and got jaundice,
How could the sudden disease let him off easily?

Kairimubayi had collapsed,
But he had no way to cure.
He called Wumaitoy to his side,
Talked his heart to Wumaitoy.

He was a cunning guy,
For young and aggressive Wumaitoy,
He cheated and instigated him again:
"Let me tell my heart to you,
Please listen to my advice carefully.

"He appointed you as Khan nominally,

From now on,
How can Semtay consider you as his good friend?
You also know him well,
He always acts on his will,
He never discusses with you.

"It is just because he cannot leave Kanikai,
He does not want to leave Acairkaichy either,
He let you be Khan,
He just wants to control you and use you.

"Look at cunning Semtay,
He will not let you have a good end.
Remember anytime he does not discuss with you,
You can take it as an excuse and kill him.
They three will get old,
You just wait and fight against them to the end!"

It was the devil's cunning trick,
And evil instigation,
Sowed a seed for Wumaitoy's death.

Peerless Molodokudur,
Was under Semtay's command,
Kunwuerbayi's all horses,
He drove them back as soon as possible.

After he left Semtay,
When he was going in Kaitichy,
Kunwuerbayi got the news of Karakuli's death,
So he sent numerous people to pursue.
But Kunwuerbayi's pursuit failed,
His horses were driven away by smart Molodokudur.

Molodokudur talked endlessly,
About what happened.
When he finished his talk,

Hero Semtay hinted to Bakay,
Kanchorao and Krichorao,
That they should not stay at Acairkaichy's home too long,
It was time for them to leave.

When he heard four heroes would go back,
He thought they would take him.
Kairimubayi completely,
Lost the confidence of his life.

He heard they would set out tomorrow morning,
Kairimubayi mixed Koktash[1] and medicine Kuchala[2] with oil,
And ate it.
The medicine taken carelessly was the most terrible,
His liver, kidneys, and spleen were corroded.
Kairimubayi was terminally ill,
Hero Semtay had heard about it,
He thought if he was healthy,
He must take him away,
But he was seriously ill,
Semtay did not want to take his corpse away.

When Semtay thought about this,
He went to Kairimubayi's home to see,
He was sure he would die that day,
No more than the evening of that day.
Khan was right,
Kairimubayi died at noon.

Four heroes from Talas,
Mounted and left this place,
They passed Atbash and Naren,
Returned home safe and sound.

Let us put this aside,
Start from the fierce fight,
Between Semtay and one-eyed Mardkuler.

1 Koktash: It refers to hard green rock. It is poisonous.

2 Kuchala: it refers to the white fruit shaped like a button. It is a poisonous plant, and it is similar to ephedra.

Semtay Kept Thousands of Troops out Alone

Mardkuler Invaded Karmanapu

Tribes lived in Betback mountains,
Were called Turkmen people.
It was a one-eyed hero,
Who ruled the whole Turkmen people.

The hero had only one eye on his forehead,
It was strangely different from human beings.
No one failed to know his nickname one-eyed man,
Only a few people knew his real name Mardkuler.
His appearance and character were strange,
He was superior to everyone in power,
He had the best skills.

Although he was a peerless hero,
He did not go anywhere else in the world.

In remote mountains of Shukurly,
In the dense forest,
There was a hero named Karmanapu,
There was a giant called Kalado,
They were brothers.

Karmanapu's wife,
Was Jargurps Khan's eldest daughter,
Lion Manas' sister,
She was called beauty Kardhachy.

Karmanapu was the head of Karakalpak tribe,
He had vast pasture and spreading livestock in his territory.

But there was no great hero in the fertile tribe,
They were always invaded and robbed.

Once Badikuler in Manget headed troops and invaded,
Fortunately Manas led his troops and fought back,
He avoided a great disaster.

Now a disaster was coming to them,
The strong one-eyed man in Turkmen,
Lied on his bed and thought,
He was thinking of evil ideas.

"I was born with great power,
No one dare challenge me in Russia.
I am a peerless hero in the world,
No one dare challenge me in the world.

"Treasures do not fall from the sky,
I should get it through my courage and power.
I will lead my troops and occupy Karakalpak tribe,
Karmanapu's horses,
Should be mine.

"Jargurp's beloved daughter Kardhachy,
She married Karmanapu,
She is his loving wife now.
I heard she is more beautiful than a fairy,
I will rob her off him to be my wife!"

This guy never left his home,
Maybe it was destined,
He was looking for a place to die.
Driven by death,
Pulled by blood,
He had a evil fire burning in his heart suddenly,
He wanted to rob of treasures and beauty,
So he set out to look for Karmanapu.

He recruited from ordinary people,
He recruited five thousand desperate people,
Prepared enough forage and weapons,
Drove his numerous troops,
Set out from Betback mountains,
Marched toward Shukurly,
Aimed at Karmanapu.

Mardkuler marched ahead in streaming columns,
With deafening trumpet and gongs,
Day and night without a rest.
Did not know how far he marched,
He arrived in Shukurly.

Shukurly was flat and fertile,
Karmanapu's people lived well.
No matter the royal or the ordinary,
His people all lived peacefully and happily.
His people lived a harmonious life,
They were never alienated.

The one-eyed man wanted to rob his horses,
Gathered troops and arrived,
He sent messenger to give messages:
"Ask Karmanapu to come immediately,
Let him hold my stirrups and kneel down to me,
Lick my boots' bottom with his tongue.
Let him be my slave,
Let him behave himself and stay at home.
Ask him to give Kardhachy to me,
Let her be my second wife!"

Word by word,
The messenger delivered Mardkuler's words.
Karmanapu was angry as he heard it,
He flew into a rage:
"Where is my brother Kalado?

You have the honor of a giant,
But you stay at home all the time,
I am very unsatisfied with you!

"You do not move all year round,
You only stay at home and sleep.
Today you should tie your belt and brace up,
Go with me to deal with the invading one-eyed man."

"Hey, my dear brother,
You talk so easily.
If he only has one eye,
If his eye can see,
He is definitely a devil.
Maybe he will drink our blood,
Maybe he will eat us all!

"I heard once that he eats people,
He even does not waste the soup.
Although I am called giant Kalado,
I never go out,
I never fight in the battlefield either.

"He only asks you to give up Kardhachy,
Who do you arouse so many people?
Why do not you give your wife to him?
Why do not you protect your wealth well?
As long as you are still Khan,
You can marry a wife more beautiful!"

"You are such a bastard!
You are talking nonsense,
Give my wife as a gift to others,
How shameful it is!
I am a hero too,
I will see how the one-eyed man deals with me!"

Karmanapu erected his flag and assembled his troops,
Arranged and headed his troops,
Pitched camps on the way the invaders must pass,
Waited for the one-eyed man patiently.
His white flag with edge,
Was erected high in front of his camp.
The hero observed the terrain and arranged the battlefield,
Made preparations for fighting against enemies,
Karmanapu waited carefully.

What the situation of the one-eyed man was,
He was extremely cruel and merciless,
Once he felt depressed,
He would eat living people to calm down.
People in Urumu could do nothing,
But present him living people every year.

Once he apportioned to Russia,
Asked them to offer him beautiful girls every year.
He barbequed and ate the people,
Then he left comfortably.
He did not let them go once he saw beautiful girls,
He was really a devil.

Right above his nose,
There was a fist-size eye,
It was red like fire was burning.
He was medium-size and strong,
But what he did made people angry.

He demanded wealth from girl's family,
Then asked the girl to sleep with him.
Other people and even his wife,
He ate them,
He was such a cruel devil.

He rode on Jilbas steed,

He came to Karmanapu and rapped out:
"Are you Karmanapu?
Put your wife on my horse now.
If you love Kardhachy,
Come and fight with me!"

Mardkuler was a strong man like a beast,
He never retreated when he fought.
He was destined to die in the battlefield,
He was driven by the death.

When Karmanapu swung the spear and pricked toward him,
In a blink of an eye,
He grabbed the Karmanapu's spear in his hand.
Giant Kalado came up immediately,
Raised his spear and pricked toward the one-eyed man.

The one-eyed man looked thoroughly ferocious,
He thought the brothers came together,
They came to ask for the death.
There was no hero like me in the world,
I would knock them off together!

The long spear giant Kalado pricked out,
Grabbed by Mardkuler.
Karmanapu and giant Kalado,
Lost their spears,
The brothers looked at each other empty-handed,
They pushed the panic button.

"I will let you open your eyes and look,
Let me show what I will do!"
The one-eyed man finished his words,
A red-faced young man from his troops,
He called him to come to him.
He called the young man to come,
Who knew what he wanted to do?

When the young man came to the one-eyed man,
He was scared and quivered.
The devil grabbed the young man's arm,
Under the watchful eyes of the people,
The young man was killed.

Witnessed the devil's brutal crime,
Everyone present felt terrified.
He jumped ahead suddenly,
Grabbed Kalado with his rough and strong left hand,
Grabbed Karmanapu with his right hand,
He was ready to put them to death.

Right at the moment, Jagurp's daughter Kardhachy,
Held the silver spear and came on her horse.
Although she was an old woman,
She was still as strong as a young man.
Kalado and Karmanapu,
Were asking for Kardhachy's help.

She pricked her spear out,
Launched fierce attacks.
She rescued her brother-in-law bravely,
Then she rescued Karmanapu.

Under the devil's clutch,
She rescued two heroes,
She turned the horse round and galloped forward.
Kardhachy made preparations,
She went to look for his nephew Semtay.

She climbed up on the mountains,
She did not see her husband and brother-in-law,
She did not see the bastard either.
She organized her people to move.
She asked to move all horses,
Hid her people and horses in remote mountains.

She thought there were her people left,
She searched patiently.
After she moved her people safely,
Then she went to look for Semtay.

Let's see the one-eyed devil,
After Kardhachy left,
He did not meet any equaled rival again,
He had to find other games to eat.

In short nine days,
Six young men and five girls,
He ate eleven people.
Let the one-eyed devil live freely for a while,
Let the one-eyed devil live happily for a while.

Kardhachy was regardless of her danger,
She rode a horse to look for Semtay.
Followed the road she knew,
She galloped in vast Tashkent,
Crossed rough Namangan,
Finally she got close to the downstream of Talas.
She saw a tomb in the wilderness,
That was the tomb of peerless hero Manas.

She dismounted and prayed for his brother Manas,
Prayed to God for his brother's spirit.

She did not have Ailichek on her head,
She dressed like a man,
She came to her nephew's home secretly.
Kardhachy had walked in,
Semtay did not recognize who she was.
He guessed who the person was,
And what she wanted to do?

Right at the moment,
White beard waved,
Like the bright sunshine,
Khan Bakay stepped in suddenly.
He stared blankly for a while,
And recognized that she was lion Manas' sister.

Although Kardhachy was younger than him,
Because of the respect to Manas,
He always called her big sister.

"Big sister[①], are you happy and healthy?
Do you have offspring now?
You dress up like a man and come in a hurry,
Have you suffered from any disaster?
You come here in person,
Do you suffer from robbery or slaughter?"

The lion asked immediately,
Kardhachy's eyes ran over with tears.
She answered:
"Turkmen people live in Betback mountains,
The leader of Turkmen,
Is a one-eyed man Mardkuler.

"He eats living people like a monster,
He destroys Russian people,
He conquers Urumu people,
And requests to present me to him as a gift.
He writes to Karmanapu,
He wants to marry me forcibly.
Karmanapu does not yield at all,
He assembles his troops,

1 Big sister: It is Kirgiz custom. Although they have uncle and aunt to call the elders, in order to show affability, usually they call elder man as big brother, elder woman as big sister. Even when grandparents are alive, they can call their parents big brother and big sister.

Tries his best to protect his dignity.

"Karmanapu is a great man,
Giant Kalado is my brother-in-law,
He is also strong and tall.
When they fought with the devil,
Both of their spears were taken away,
They both became empty-handed.

"I dress up as a man to protect my dignity,
I go to the battlefield,
Under the clutch of the devil,
I rescue them.
So I come to you now,
Let you judge the rest thing!"

Semtay listened patiently,
Tried to figure out what she wanted in her words.
Because he never saw this aunt before,
And he did not know her at all.

Semtay now understood his aunt's intention,
He did not call his warriors,
He set out alone.
He did not fear the strong rival at all,
He would meet the devil,
He looked down upon the one-eyed monster's craziness.

Kardhachy went together with the hero,
She mounted hurriedly,
Galloped her steed and followed tight.
She had a fire of avenge burning in her heart,
In order to clear the hatred and humiliation,
She did not care about the only nephew,
She let the hero defeat the devil.

Semtay Stabbed One-eyed Mardkuler to Death

The heroes passed Namangan hurriedly,
Then crossed Tashkent,
Galloped toward Shukurly mountains.
When it was close to their destination,
There was a rough mountain path.
There was a cliff on the one side,
And an abyss on the other side.
The narrow winding trail up to the mountain,
Was the only way to go.
It was the natural barrier of Jagerzkya,
It was a well-known dangerous path.

Semtay climbed up difficultly,
He galloped his Buruler steed,
He did not take care of the aunt behind him at all.

The hero took out the telescope,
Lifted it and watched.
He observed Shukurly mountain carefully,
Valleys crisscrossed and mixed with hills and plain.
Suddenly he found a strong man like a devil,
Who was driving horses out of a valley.

He observed the guy carefully,
It was the devil that ate living people.
The devil frowned with a horrible expression,
He was medium-size but sturdy,
Four people together could embrace his waist,
His muscle was strong like bull thigh.

As long as seeing him in person,
Everyone would be astonished and scared.

He never cared the food was cold or warm,
He never cared the food was raw or cooked,
No matter what he ate and drank,
He never suffered from stomachache or diarrhea.
He led a young girl with hand,
Something terrible would happen.

Let us not know what the devil would do first,
Let me describe hero Kangkoer Semtay again.

Kirgiz present listen carefully,
Let me tell you Ayikoler's only son,
Hero Semtay's skills.
With the support of the hero's spirit of never hesitating,
He won great achievements.
In the battle with Chinkogeo and Toltoy,
He built up his heroic dignity.

In the fight with all evil forces,
He had his status of righteous Khan established.
He was the backbone of his people,
Only his people knew his justice and kindness.

Semtay figured out at one glance,
That the one-eyed man was heartless,
He was doing a completely consciousless thing.
He grabbed the girl with his hand,
He carried salt for barbeque with him.

He put the girl down,
Took out a handful of salt from his pocket,
Then bent over and grabbed the girl again,
He was ready to swallow the girl.

Witnessed what the devil did,
How Semtay could do nothing.
He shouted the name Manas,
Rushed to the devil like an arrow.

The one-eyed man did not understand what happened:
"Maybe it is that damned Kalado,
He is shouting for his brother's help,
If they come to me again,
I will turn them to my lunch."

He had no time to care about the change,
He was busy eating the girl.

Hero Khan Semtay,
He was born to save the weak,
No one could stop him from what he would do.

Once he pierced through the rock with his spear,
His spear was not bent or broken.
His spear was made of white steel,
The lame blacksmith made it specially,
His father left him this Sire spear.

He grasped the spear in his hand,
Stared at the one-eyed devil angrily,
Pricked toward the devil's ribs.
The one-eyed devil felt his body shaking severely,
He lost his mind immediately.

He wore seven layers of armors,
Iron cloaks and iron coat armor.
Although Sire spear did not pierce through his armors,
But the great impact force made him unbearable.
He looked around with dizzy head,
Suddenly he saw the hero with the spear.

He saw someone was stopping him,
The devil burned with rage,
He abandonend the girl in the hand,
Turned his horse round and asked:
"Kid, where are you from?
Are you coming to send me delicious food?
You are a fat boy with tender skin,
It looks delicious."

"Let me tell you if you do not know,
I am Manas' son Semtay,
I come a long way to cut off you devil for people!"

When he heard the name of black mane wolf Manas,
The one-eyed devil felt his eye blurred.
When he heard the prestigious name of Manas,
His face turned pale immediately.

Majestic and powerful lion,
Hero Ayikoler Manas,
When the evil people heard his name,
They would be scared out of his wits.

"If it is like this, Semtay,
Since you come hurriedly,
Let's follow your rule to fight.
I wear iron-made armors and coat armor,
Nothing can touch me.

"Although your prick was powerful,
But, look, I am completely ok!
The hero who can make me bend and lower my head,
Has not been born yet!
The young man in front of me,
I will let you attack first!"

"I get protection from the patron in my territory,

No one has a good end if he challenges me."
Tiger Semtay did not lift his spear and attack,
He answered with a majestic manner:
"I have pricked you once,
I will give you the chance to attack first!"

Seeing Semtay refusing to attack,
The one-eyed man yelled unhappily:
"Let it be if you do not attack, young man,
You come to die in person,
Let me send you to hell.
You do not know what's good for yourself, Semtay,
I will let you experience my power.

"You are past praying for,
I will let you disappear immediately.
I will let you go back,
Exactly like how you come.
I will let you witness,
Where you should have gone.
I will let you go forever,
Let you taste what is death!"

Brutal one-eyed Mardkuler,
Waved the spear in his hand,
Launched fierce attack.
Suddenly he threw the spear in the hand away,
Lifted the yurt-size hammer,
Tight in his hand.
Whipped Jilbas steed,
Lifted the hammer high with both his hands,
Pounded toward Semtay's head.
Held heavy shield on the back,
Wore sturdy helmet on his head,
Hero Semtay was fearless in the face of danger,
Sat on his steed and stared at the devil angrily.

When the hammer pounded severely,
The heavy shield was smashed,
The sturdy helmet was broken.
His shoulder blade-bone was too pain to endure,
Young hero Semtay,
Was almost sent to hell.

Hero Semtay said:
"You only have one chance,
It is your time to receive my attack!"
The hero's father was Manas,
He never used the hammer,
If he wanted to defeat the devil,
He should use the back of the crescent axe.

No matter the blade or the back of the axe,
Both were made of pure steel.
No matter how strong and powerful the enemy was,
Kangkoer used the back of the axe to attack.
When he pounded hard,
He once smashed the rock.

He turned his horse round confidently,
Kicked the steed with his feet,
Passed the one-eyed man.
With a lightning speed,
Toward the one-eyed man's head,
Semtay swung the axe and pounded down.

Look at the one-eyed man,
Helmet on the head was smashed,
He only had a little leather hat on his head,
He still sat upright there.

Witnessed what happened,
Semtay was astonished:
"What should I do now?

My leopard father Manas,
Can your sacred spirit protect me?"

They both lifted their spears,
Chased and fought,
Knocked and clanged.
They were on equal with each other,
They were in a stalemate for two days.

None of their weapons was excellent without damage,
They were all damaged and could not be used.
Semtay only had his Sire spear left,
He still grasped it tight in the hand.

The one-eyed devil had gone from strength to strength,
Hero Semtay had had nothing to do with it,
He had to ask the ancestor's spirit to bless him:
"The enemy fighting with your son Semtay,
Is a peerless hero in the world,
Father, please give me power and courage,
Father, please help me now,
Do not leave regret to our coming generations!"

Semtay just finished praying,
They clasped each other by the waists,
Tussled fiercely.
Their steeds had been exhausted,
They had to dismount,
Took off their coat armors and armors,
Stretched his stout arm out ferociously,
Got ready for an empty-handed wrestling.
They pulled and pushed,
Iron chains on them were dragged apart.
Many deep pits were stamped on the ground,
Dry earth had spring water oozing out.
Dirt on the ground had piled up,
Hills had been stamped into lake.

Two ferocious tigers fought fiercely,
They had fought for seven days.

The one-eyed man had numerous troops,
Semtay was isolated and helpless,
Under such a circumstance,
Hero Semtay was still fearless.
Because the hero had a well-regulated mind,
He had ancestor's spirit to help him,
He must defeat the strong enemy.
Facing more and more fierce Semtay,
The one-eyed man said again:
"You are really a great hero,
How you can still be alive as you meet me.

"Let us mount again,
Fight it out on the steeds.
If I cannot kill you today,
Let me disappear forever.

"Ayikoler Manas,
I will let him lose his son today and forever!
Tie your belt tight,
Do not imagine being alive anymore.

"Hero like you is whom I want to kill,
But you come to ask for the death.
How lucky I am,
Since you stretch your head out to me,
It will let my knife down if I do not kill you."
He lifted the knife as he finished his words,
He shouted to show his power.

Right in front of the one-eyed devil,
There was a towering black mountain.
He grasped the knife tight in his hand,
Suddenly he rushed ahead,

He wanted to cut and smash rocks there,
Tried to frighten hero Semtay.

He lifted the sharp knife,
Cut toward the rock with full of his strength,
The huge black rock was cut into two,
And was smashed.

The one-eyed devil was bloated with pride,
As if nobody in the world could beat him:
"Forget it, little kid, Semtay,
Is your neck harder than the rock?"

"Forget it, you stupid bastard,
You should come to beat me,
Rather than cut the rock painfully.
It is Semtay who is challenging you,
It seems you are frightened,
You dare not fight with me."
Semtay looked at the one-eyed devil with disdain,
And answered him straightly and courageously.

The one-eyed devil saw Semtay giving no indication,
He thought let Semtay witness his power again,
Let him be scared to death.
He lifted the hammer in his hand,
Swung and smashed the hill by his side.

The gravels flew into air,
Covered the sky.
"Semtay, you such a violent guy,
Do not be arrogant, open your eyes quickly!"

Semtay seemed to see nothing,
By his heroic manner,
He was really impatient,
To the low play of the one-eyed devil:

"Forget it, you devil,
You would rather smash your head on mountains,
Than show off there.
It seems you the bastard's dirty blood,
Will make my spear dirty."
He whipped Tayibruler,
Galloped toward him.

The devil ate living people,
The one-eyed devil should have died,
The devil should vomit his stomach and blood,
The guy should have suffered like an evil wolf,
Glared at Semtay angrily,
Talked to himself like this:
"He is such a hero like a leopard,
He is a real lion,
Even Semtay is only a kid,
Now only he can challenge me."

Rode on Tayibruler steed in a great state,
Semtay was as great as a mountain.
Now on the back of Achura steed,
Lion Manas sat upright.
On the back of Sariala steed whose bottom was like a bull's,
Almanbet was on it.
Riding on Koktikai steed,
Chuwak marched forward majestically.
Following tight,
Sirak rode on Tilkerzil steed.
When Semtay saw the spirits of his father and others,
He was braced up greatly.

The one-eyed devil stamped with rage immediately,
He spat like a ferocious tiger,
He grasped the huge hammer in his hand,
Toward Jilbas steed,
He whipped fiercely.

He wanted to pound hero Semtay,
Into a piece of meat.

The spirits of Ayikoler Manas and three other Khans,
Surrounded Semtay like the air of heaven and earth,
Stood behind Semtay with great energy.
Numerous troops followed the one-eyed devil,
Karmanapu's generals and soldiers,
Watched the heroes' battle excitedly.

The one-eyed devil should have died,
The bastard should have been destroyed,
He rushed ahead sideways,
His face was fierce like a storm.
When he lifted the hammer and pounded down,
When he turned Jilbas round,
He wanted to pound Semtay down.

When he watched excitedly,
Semtay came out from the dust,
He was still sitting on Buruler steed steadily.
He regretted:
"I missed,
How unlucky I am!"

Semtay shouted the name Manas,
Whipped his steed and marched toward the one-eyed devil.
When he heard Semtay's shout,
The bastard lifted his huge hammer,
Came face to face ferociously.

The devil was as frightening as a crazy beast,
He rushed to his front amok,
He swung the hammer and pounded to Semtay's head.

Dust rose up immediately in the battlefield,
Semtay was completely covered in the dust,

People watching grabbed their own collars nervously.

Semtay had full of dust on his face,
Whipped Buruler steed,
Rushed out of the dust suddenly.

The one-eyed devil had launched two attacks on him,
Facing the soldiers and generals there to watch,
He sat still on the horse majestically,
He just coughed gently.
He did not attack Mardkuler,
He was waiting for the one-eyed devil's attack.

When he saw Semtay was safe and sound,
The one-eyed devil quivered with rage.
He thought, even if you were a mountain,
I would smash you into pieces.
Even if you were made of iron,
I would pierce your heart and liver through.

The devil grasped the spear in the hand,
Became angry from embarrassment,
He shouted to encourage himself,
Galloped and pricked his spear out.
It did not satisfy himself either this time,
He overdid it,
The spear broke into two,
Right in the middle.

Semtay felt dizzy suddenly,
Piercing sound came into his ears.
Semtay opened his eyes,
And he got over it bravely again.
The hero galloped Tayibruler,
Rushed out of the dust and shouted:
"One-eyed devil, it seems you have exhausted your tricks,
I have let you attack for three times,

You cannot hurt me even a hair,
Now it's my time to attack."

Look at that damned devil,
He did not follow the rule of the battlefield at all.
He never cared about the reputation,
He grasped his sharp long knife,
Cut toward the hero crazily.
The devil was more and more excited in fight,
Jilbas steed was like a small boat,
It acted agilely.

Hero Semtay Khan was very angry at the moment,
He launched fierce attacks.
Sire spear the lion left,
Was grasped tight in his hand.
Hero Semtay remembered his father's advice,
He aimed the spear at the devil's heart.

When the chance was coming,
The hero shouted and rushed to him.
The steel spear point,
Pricked into the devil's chest.

He twisted the spear point after it got the devil,
And threw him on the ground easier than picked a dung.
He galloped past the devil,
Then turned round and attacked hard again,
The devil's chest protector was smashed into pieces.
And splashed to everywhere,
The armor was broken either.

The lion's offspring, the black mane wolf,
Took the chance and pricked and passed.
Semtay turned round to the side of the one-eyed devil,
Picked the bastard up high on the spear point,
Turned round and came to the enemy camp,

To extremely evil Mardkuler,
He blamed and rebuked severely.

Khan's sharp words were aggressive:
"Invade and rob innocent people,
Do you still want to do it, one-eyed devil?
Force other people to present his wife,
Do you still want to do it forcibly, one-eyed devil?
Ask betrothal from families with girls,
Do you still want to do it, one-eyed devil?

"Eat living people's flesh, you such a devil.
Do you still want to let blood shed, one-eyed devil?
Let your knife coat with blood,
Do you still want to lick the blood, one-eyed devil?
Rob others' livestock and property,
Do you still want to do it, one-eyed devil?

"When you try to grab trophy with whole your heart,
How many people would die in the battlefield?
Have you ever thought about it, one-eyed devil?
You continue robbing beautiful girls off Urum people,
How many families are destroyed?
Do you still want to do this evil thing, one-eyed devil?

"In order to frighten your rivals and show your power,
You cut the rock stupidly,
Do you show your power again, one-eyed devil?
You pound the top of the mountain flat,
You talk nonsense and you talk wildly,
Are you still arrogant, one-eyed devil?

"You commit all manners of the evil to Baran people,
And you rob everything off others,
Do you want to rob more, one-eyed devil?
You look down upon everyone,
Where is your magical power?

Do you still want to show off, one-eyed devil?

"You are deserved to the punishment today,
Are you willing to be killed, one-eyed devil?
Semtay will kill you to carry god's will,
Have you ever thought about this, one-eyed devil?
The seven-layer iron-made armor and coat armor,
Do you want to wear again, one-eyed devil?

"Everyone will die one day,
Do you understand it, one-eyed devil?
Do not let people multiply on their lands,
Do you want to kill them all, one-eyed devil?
Facing all creatures in the world,
Are you confident, one-eyed devil?

"Lift Semtay up with his leg,
Do you want to do it, one-eyed devil?
When you face death today,
Do you feel surprised, one-eyed devil?
Revive and return to your homeland,
Can you be born again, one-eyed devil?

"You want to eat every fat person,
Do you want to satisfy your appetite, one-eyed devil?
Merciless and brutal tricks,
Do you still want to use, one-eyed devil?
"The blood debt you owe to Urum people,
Do you want Turkmen people to pay it back, one-eyed devil?
Today, I will let you pay the blood debt back,
Are you not convinced, one-eyed devil?
Death is your destiny,
Do you want to dodge it, one-eyed devil?
Like cutting the black donkey's belly open,
Do you want to be cut open, one-eyed devil?"

Hero Semtay picked the one-eyed devil on the spear,

Went around the battlefield majestically.
His sharp words were like the spear,
Each sentence pricked the invaders hurt.
Right at the moment,
Hero Semtay grasped the spear tight and adjusted himself,
Toward the rock with the one-eyed devil's face down,
Pounded it down hard.

The one-eyed devil's blood splashed,
He was smashed into pieces immediately.
Mardkuler was over-confident and lost his life,
Invaders who followed the devil,
Felt the death was going to descend on them.
They witnessed the one-eyed devil's death,
They thought they could not wait for the death,
So they began to launch attacks toward the young hero.

Whole troops rushed up,
They were all brave and strong,
They were all with great strength.
They all rushed forward,
Like an iron barrel,
They surrounded hero Semtay.

"It seems they are well-trained troops,
They act fast and neatly."
Semtay admired and felt surprised:
"Their commander has been killed,
If they surrender,
Or they flee away,
I can spare their lives.

"The commander has died,
But the soldiers do not panic.
They are all brave,
They come to avenge their commander.

"Although I admire such troops,
I cannot let them live anymore.
For the safety of Urum people,
I have to kill them all."

Achalbaris sword was made of tungsten steel,
He grabbed the handle tight and drew it out,
Semtay had to kill them all.
He swung the sword and cut along his way,
Blood was dripping off his sword.

Sharp spears and blue flag,
They were not scared facing death and blood,
Mardkuler's heroic troops,
Swarmed to Semtay like flood.

Facing the troops that flooded forward,
The world had no hope.

Like the running flood with surging waves,
Like the red glow in the morning,
All Turkmen troops,
Were scattered by Semtay.

To valley with narrow paths,
To muddy and wet paths,
He drove numerous invaders into their destination,
Young hero was merciless to them.

He thought such troops could not be let go:
Once they lost in the battlefield,
They would give vent to ordinary people,
If any of them was spared to be alive,
They must come back and kill ordinary people.

Hero Khan Semtay,
Regardless of his own safety,

He tied his belt tight,
Began to chase to kill fleeing enemies.

The one-eyed devil's viciousness aroused the hero's hatred,
Enemy troops' stubbornness let the hero make up his mind.
He pursued tight and persistently,
Finally he wiped the enemies out.

There was no enemy alive in the battlefield,
Turkmen soldiers that invaded,
None of them surrendered,
And none of them was alive either.

As hearing the brutal one-eyed devil,
Was wiped out from the human world,
Urumu people were overjoyed,
They were all eager to see Semtay,
All fellow people swarmed ahead.

All Urum people gathered,
Held a grand ceremony to pray.
They only heard about Semtay,
Now they could see the hero face to face,
They all praised the hero:
"If he kicks with his foot,
Even mountains can be kicked into the sky,
Fairies in heaven,
Would be scared and scatter.

"If he blows gently,
The smooth sea will become rough.
Once he smiles toward the sky,
It would become warm and sunny.
If he looks at the sky at night,
There would be full of stars twinkling in the sky.

"If the one-eyed bastard does not die,

We must be killed,
We kind Urum people,
Must be thrown into cold and dark tombs.

"The devil forcibly married fifteen girls in a year,
And ate them all.
Once he could not find suitable girls,
He would come and rob our livestock.

"Ten years in a row,
The one-eyed devil brought us an endless disaster.
Only the hero can defeat this devil,
No one in this world could compete with the hero."

People felt happy and lucky,
To get rid of the one-eyed devil.
The noises of people rose one after another:
"The disaster,
The damned one-eyed devil brought to us,
Has branded us forever.

"His wife is pregnant now,
If the baby is born,
He will be brutal in the future.
Kind Khan Semtay,
If you can fulfill our wish,
Go and kill the baby for us."

Semtay was asked to find the pregnant woman,
He was ready to kill her,
The hero's aunt Kardhachy,
Stopped him and said:
"You are also the only son of your mother,
You have punished the devil severely,
You killed all resistant soldiers,
The baby is still in the tummy,
What does he do wrong?

"What will he be like when he grows up,
Except God,
No one can predict."
The hero took Kardhachy's advice,
He kept the life of the pregnant woman.

Not long after that,
The one-eyed devil's wife gave birth to a boy,
And she named him Sart,
Finally he was like his father,
He took a great disaster to Kirgiz.
That was what happened twenty years later,
Let us sing it later.

Semtay turned his horse round,
He was ready to return to Talas.
He got to know giant Kalado before he left,
They shook hands and became friends.
He said goodbye to his aunt Kardhachy first,
Then to her fellow people.

People from Urum, no matter men or women,
The old or the young, and the rich or the poor,
They listened to the hero's advice,
They got plenty of trophies,
They witnessed the miracle.
People all prayed for the hero,
They wished he could come to Urumu more often.
Semtay worshiped the spirits of his ancestors,
Then he mounted his steed,
Galloped toward Arashi,
He returned to Talas safe and sound.
Let us put this aside,
Talk about how Kunwuerbayi walked to the death.

The Plot between Kunwuerbayi and Wusangan

Kunwuerbayi Played the Same Old Trick Again and Kissed Death

Semtay was a peerless hero,
No hero in the world could challenge him.
Another twelve months passed,
Karamark signed the contract,
But they did not pay the tribute yet.

The cold winter had come,
Snow sealed mountain passes,
Semtay did not send a messenger to urge,
They spent a silent winter.

Winter went away and snow melted,
Kunwuerbayi spent a peaceful winter,
He began to figure out what to do:
"I can give him some tribute,
Hold the tiger steady first,
Then send a messenger to test him."

The greedy guy calculated like this,
He tried his best to make false coins.
He made gold coins with brass,
Made silver coins with shining aluminum,
Then rendered to Semtay as tribute.

Cunning Kunwuerbayi racked his brains,
On twenty Cheyilik[①] gold,
He stamped his seals,

① Cheyilik: It is the weight measurement in ancient Kirgiz. One Cheyilik equals 22 pounds.

Rest tribute,
He used the forged money.

He tried to bluff his way through,
He paid the tribute of that year,
Then he found all kinds of excuses to delay,
He cheated for two years like this.

He racked his brains for other ways,
He prepared to challenge Semtay face to face.
He was distressed of having no ideas,
He was worried and could not sit still.

After a long time hard thinking,
He had a new idea.

He lied in the palace in Beygin city,
Sent messenger with fine steed secretly,
Picked Aisan Khan to him.
He called in many royal and rich people,
He stirred up troubles with an unceasing flow of words:

"Since human being existed in the world,
Since human people live in the world,
Beygin got its name,
Since it became a big city,
Khitan always administer it.

"Since I manage this city,
No strong enemies,
Dare step in this city.
Manas once occupied this city,
I have let him pay back with his life.

"I did not have a peaceful life for a long time,
Manas' son Semtay,
Becomes our strong enemy.

"I had a fierce battle with Semtay,
I got an even worse defeat,
Niskara lost his life,
And I signed an insulted contract with him.

"I have exposed to him that I am old,
You Khans do not know it at all.
Who is your friend and who is your enemy?
You have no idea!

"I had no choice but to yield to Semtay,
I paid twenty Cheyilik gold to him,
The first year according to the contract.
I did not want to give him the real gold,
I used the brass and aluminum smartly,
Cheated stupid Burut people.

"It is nothing,
Khans, listen to my good idea,
See how I cheated Semtay.

"I rendered tribute to him on time every year,
Presented him with a lot of gold and silver.
Any of you ever thought,
This is our biggest shame!

"You, the rich, only stay in the palace,
Enjoy your luxury life,
Do not care about your people,
You do not consider anytime.
As long as there is a flash of hope,
I will compete with Semtay again.

"I have an idea today,
I have two shock tactics.
I want to send a messenger,

Invite him to come to meet me.
I will show him the record of the battle,
Let him see who will lose more in the battle?

"Do not calculate the ordinary soldiers,
Delete the ordinary soldiers from the roll.
Only calculate the heroes and giants,
If we lose less of them,
We will continue to pay the tribute.

"If we lose more,
We will not give gold to them, my Khans!
If we surpass them in the loss,
Let them sign and give their land to us.
These are my good ideas,
Let's solve this completely!

"Since there is human being in the world,
The palace in Beygin city,
Owns countless gold, silver, and jewelry,
Who ever come and demands for it?

"Since the creation of the world,
Only Manas opened the door.
He launched two attacks,
Although he did not occupy our land,
He did not fail to get the trophy.
I will clear it with him today completely,
Please give me your suggestions!"

He was proud when he said this,
Aisan Khan listened carefully by the side,
Other Khans put their heads together,
Offered their suggestions:
"We have given the power to you,
We will follow your arrangement.
If there are strong enemies coming,

You have the responsibility to resist."

They trusted hero Kunwuerbayi,
With all their power and treasure,
And even their property and lives.

When he got all the power in the hand,
He did not wait in comfort,
He sent two messengers immediately,
One went to find hero Wusangan in Karamark,
Only they two knew what they would do,
You would know it later.
The other one carried Kunwuer's letter,
Went directly to hero Semtay:

"In sacred rivers of Amur,
There is precipitous Kerzilkya cliff,
There is vast pasture.
I hope you, Semtay, can come,
I hope I can meet you.

"You have profound hatred of me,
I also have blood debt to ask you to pay back.
Just because you have greater power than me,
Once you defeated me proudly.

"Do not mention gold and treasure now,
I only want to calculate from both our dead giants,
Do not involve any of the ordinary people,
Do not drag any soldiers in,
Delete them from the roll.

"We only calculate those dead giants,
Who of us surpasses the other one,
Can demand a claim.
If it is still not equal,
Let us clear it with exchanging land.

"Calculate from when Manas was alive,
From when I was still young,
Or from when I was in my prime time,
And when you are in your prime time.
We will clear the blood debt of hundred years completely,
We will wipe the hatred of hundred years away.

"Now I am ninety years old,
From my father's time,
We have battled till now.
Infants in cradles cannot sleep,
Horses on hills cannot calm,
People cannot live a peaceful life.

"The world changes in fifty years,
The earth changes in one hundred years.
Semtay, think carefully,
Do not leave the hatred to our later generations.

"Let us clear the old hatred,
Do not leave worries to them,
I think about it again and again,
I think we only can clear it by this way."

This was the content of the letter,
This was what Kunwuerbayi wanted to say.
Semtay asked to read the letter to him,
Then he calculated in his mind:
"If he wants to calculate the number of dead giants,
His number must be larger than mine.

"Kuyruktu has a vast perimeter land,
He wants to occupy the fertile land all the time.
If I have more dead giants than him,
Will he give me that land?

"Self-righteous Kunwuerbayi,
Wants to challenge me!
It is the chance of a lifetime,
This is what I have longed for years.
Let him come on the scheduled date,
I will arrive on time!"

Semtay had a gloomy face,
He did not write a letter,
He did not treat the messenger with delicious food either,
He just let the messenger take the oral message back.

It seemed Kunwuerbayi dug the tomb for himself,
His death was waiting for him in the front.

The messenger went to the far place,
Endured hardships on the way,
Finally he got back home.
He repeated Semtay's words,
To Kunwuerbayi.

When he heard Semtay would come,
Arrogant and confident Kunwuerbayi,
Became overjoyed.
He thought his plot had worked,
It seemed the vast fertile land had been under his feet.
He could not control his exciting feeling,
He plotted more vicious schemes with Wusangan.

Winter passed and spring came,
Semtay arrived at the appointed place.
Cunning Kunwuerbayi was eager to win,
He brought numerous troops with him.

Kunwuerbayi was as huge as black mountain,
He had cheated countless people.
When all power of Kangayi,

Was completely in his hand.
He was over ninety years old,
But he still acted on his own will.

He headed countless troops,
Marched toward Amur,
Wanted to make a clean sweep of Semtay.

He headed numerous troops,
He led sorcerer who could talk to fairies.
He led thugs who had whips made of venomous snake skin,
He led magical black steed.
The black eagle,
He put it high on his arm.

From giants with great power and influence,
From strong men that spurred flames with mouths,
From warriors with frightening manner,
From brutal people that did not communicate well with human,
He chose lots of followers,
They swarmed like flood.

Once Semtay came and challenged,
They would not give him any chance to fight,
They would just tie him tightly.
Kunwuerbayi cast the big net he brought,
Beneath Kerzilkya cliff of Amur,
Pitched his camp there and tried to find a chance to attack.

Right at this crucial moment,
Super smart hero,
Born-brave Semtay,
Discussed with his men,
Predicted what would happen.

Sharpened his crescent battle axe, knife, and sword,
He ordered the numerous Arashi troops,

Ambushed and waited for his order.
He thought he would test the enemy's intention.

In a blink of an eye,
Galloping horses,
Rose clouds of dust behind,
Rushed ahead like flood.

According to the rules and the courtesy of Khan,
Followed Kunwuerbayi's will,
Leopard Semtay and Kunwuerbayi,
Sat in Khan's seats on a high platform.

Without wasting too much time,
They had expressed their opinions.
According to their prior agreement,
They began to calculate their dead giants separately,
Dead giants of Kangayi side,
Were a few more than Semtay's side.

Kunuwer Bay shouted immediately:
"Line out your land and put your seal on."

Semtay answered decisively:
"There are more than six hundred thousand Karamark people,
You should give them to me as compensation,
You are doing this for my father hero Manas!"

Giant Kunwuerbayi,
Became angry from embarrassment immediately:
"How strange is your thought?
Where is this unreasonable thought from?"

Krichorao began to talk at the moment:
"Stupid Jurjut slave,
Pick up your ears and listen.
Almanbet and Chuwak,

Muzburchak and Ajibayi,
Kokcher and hero Sirak,
Serik and other heroes,
They were swallowed and all left the human world!

"You think your crimes are not enough,
You invaded Talas and killed people!
If you do not explain this clearly,
Why do we pay back to Karamark people?
Why do my big brother stamp his seal on?

"Gold and silver we agreed on that year,
You made it delayed every year.
The gold you sent us is actually brass and iron,
The silver is actually wasted zinc and aluminum,
You cheat us with the false stuff,
Why do not you explain this clearly?

"Kunwuerbayi, You have a full record of crimes,
Who else do you want to ask for the blood debt?
You do not ask for but you need to pay back,
If you shake your head and say no,
You will die under my knife immediately!"

Seeing the prestige of the lion,
He was frightened to death,
Scared Kunwuerbayi,
Blinked his furtive eyes hurriedly.

His subordinates who knew ghost languages,
All mounted their horses in a hurry.
Thousands of troops of both sides were like surging waves,
Rushed to the battlefield.

In the vast wilderness that bird could not get,
Facing Kangayi people's challenge,
Heroes all went into the battle,

Countless warriors were knocked off their horses.
In Kerzilkya open land,
An orange wild wind blew suddenly.

Noises of shout rose one after another,
Dense crowd made surging waves.
Troops of two sides mingled together,
Like roaring waves.

Rows of tough giants,
Lifted shining knives high.
Warriors with high skills,
Waved their shining spears,
Rushed out of their troops and went to the battlefield.

The three brave heroes,
Knocked all of them off their horses.
The war blades from Khitan warriors were sharp,
One wave fell down and another wave came up.

Flags waved and covered the sky,
Battle drums beat earthshakingly,
Crescent axes shined cold light,
Horses swarmed up.

Fearless when facing the death,
They only had one intention,
They must conquer Kirgiz people.

Silver Sire spear,
Could pierce through mountains.
Krichorao and Kanchorao,
Were both heroes with great skills.

Whipped the steeds under their butts,
Surkoyun and Kariala steeds,
Like the flying clouds suddenly,

Galloped their hooves and attacked like the lightning.

Enemies swarmed like flood,
Karamark came in flocks,
Enemies that held shields on their backs,
Waved their spears and put those shield-covered losers down,
Made them bleed and die.

Soldiers wore Badana chest protectors,
Fell off their horses.
Dust flew on both Amur banks,
The entire wilderness was dyed red with blood.

Giants with super strength,
Were dizzy and did not know what to do.
Majestic and powerful giants,
Giants too heavy for horses to carry,
Were cut down like grass,
Huge heads rolled on the ground.

Injury and casualty of both sides was large,
Spreading corpses over hills were scaring,
Blood flowed everywhere was frightening.

They gathered to clear the blood debt,
But more warriors lost their lives there.
Better make friends than make enemies,
Revenge on each other makes it endless.

The sun set and night came,
Troops of both sides went back to camp.
Hero Khan Semtay,
Counted his people immediately:
He did not see interpreter Beldkai,
Yilgadai and Tald Bay were nowhere to find,
Heroes Yochebapu and Moenge had died in the battlefield.
"The merciless world changes too fast,

Is the end of the world coming?"
Semtay fell into sorrow.

If you take a look at the moment,
Brutal and merciless Kunwuerbayi,
Did not care about his subordinates' lives at all.
He divided the rest soldiers,
Into thousands of small groups:

"If we wait till next morning,
Burut will wipe you out completely.
You cannot sleep and wait for your death here,
You should go and surround Burut at night.
Launch attacks with Ochohur artillery,
Burn them with artillery fire to death!"

They acted under the cover of night,
They surrounded Semtay's camp immediately,
Started to attack with artillery.
The noises of Koyichager firelock came from every direction,
Bullets shot like shooting stars,
Made big noises at night.

Three heroes gathered immediately,
Discussed the situation,
And made up their decisions.
They loaded Ackelty gun with gunpowder,
Semtay began to fight back from the lower part.
Those born-brave warriors,
Rounded to enemy's back,
Attacked from enemy's flank separately.

Heroes shouted the name Manas loudly,
Rushed into enemy troops.
Kirgiz warriors fought back bravely,
They did not leave any regret.

When the sky began to turn white,
Those Karamark soldiers,
Were all driven to the ice land,
Karamark soldiers skidded and slipped on ice,
They attacked them severely like fluffing wool.

If you watch at the moment,
Fish smiled in river.
Otters dressed,
They prepared to celebrate heroes' success,
They admired three heroes' braveness.

During the moment of a small talk,
The earth revived and morning came,
Mountains, rivers, blue sky, and horizon,
Coated with golden morning glow.

Kunwuerbayi was impatient,
He could not wait anymore.
He saw numerous of his people had been destroyed,
He mounted Alkala steed.
Grasped a bloody spear,
Panted and went to the battlefield hurriedly.

He shouted without stop:
"I come alone,
Damned Semtay,
Do you dare to fight against me alone?
If you are a coward and do not dare fight,
Pay the blood debt back now!"

Krichorao could not bear anymore:
"The dirty shouting guy,
He had maligned us many times.
Big brother, let me deal with him!
Numerous Arashi people,
You must take care of them."

Never retreated when facing strong enemies,
All giants that met him,
Were all pushed into tombs.
Almanbet's son Krichorao,
When big brother allowed him to go to battlefield,
Yellow hair on his face stood up immediately.
Facing the enemy who killed his father,
He had been enraged,
Galloped his horse toward the enemy without hesitation.

Surkoyun steed galloped,
Rose up clouds of dust behind it,
Its eyes were like splashing flames,
Rushed to the battlefield aggressively.

Looking at Krichorao rushing forward,
Kangayi people were astonished:
"Is he a fairy or a devil?
Or is he an elephant?
Look, he is irresistible,
Look, his face is as cold as frost!
God, please bless us,
Bless Kunwuerbayi wipe Burut out!"
Took a clay statue out of his pocket,
Karamark people felt frightened.

Let's watch Krichorao carefully again:
His arms were as strong as iron,
His strength could compete with an elephant,
He sat on the steed majestically with his spear,
Who could defeat such a hero!

The bastard was too impatient to wait,
He galloped the steed and rushed up.
Look at his ferocious looking,
It was like a hungry tiger.

Look at his cold and cruel expression,
People who fought him must die.

Swiped the earth like a hurricane,
Swept across like crimson waves.
Shouted like thunders and seemed to smash mountains,
No one could resist him in the world!

"Wish Manas' spirit to bless."
Arashi people watched aside,
Prayed loudly and endlessly.

In a blink of an eye,
Two dragons had begun to fight.
They were heavy and used too much of their strength,
The earth shook under their feet.
Weapons knocked and clanged,
The earth turned into a sea of fire immediately.

They twisted and tore at each other like lions,
They fought mercilessly,
They knocked and pushed each other back and forth.
When they twisted,
The storm had stopped quietly,
Dense mist came and then faded away.

Look at their foreheads,
Hot air steamed like dark clouds.
Under the hooves of the steeds,
Sweat flowed like spring water.

They were well-matched in strength and could not defeat each other,
Kunwuerbayi from Jurjut,
Grasped the bottom of Krichorao's clothes suddenly,
As fast as a lightning,
Then tied it tight on his saddle.

He whipped the horse and rushed forward immediately,
He tried to drag Krichorao off the steed.
It was right on the upward of the hill,
Alkala was old,
It failed to drag Obol mountain-size man off.

Surkoyun steed staggered at the moment,
Galloped its hooves and pursued tight.
Krichorao was as agile as a snake,
He grabbed the rival's long plait.
Krichorao turned the tide again,
He pulled the plait back hard.

Kunwuerbayi fell in a difficult position,
He lowered his head and put himself at the mercy of Krichorao.

Giant Angushi from Kangayi,
Wanted to rescue his hero.
When he arrived in a hurry,
Kanchorao arrived right after him,
And took the chance and gave him a prick.
Kajiman came at the right moment,
And cut his head off and passed.

In such a mess,
Giant Angushi from Kangayi,
Galloped his horse and arrived,
Toward Kanchorao and Kajiman,
He pricked both of them quickly.

Yeshan Bay came at the crucial moment,
He asked Kanchorao and Kajiman,
To grab his horsetail,
Pulled them out of the battlefield.

If you watch carefully at the moment,
Kunwuerbayi's Alkala,

Had limp legs and dragged bottom.
Krichorao's Surkoyun steed,
Bit its leg tendon tight in the mouth.

In the twisting,
Kunwuerbayi's grabbed long plait,
Slid out of krichorao's hand.
Kunwuerbayi turned round right away and whipped his steed,
Galloped toward his camp in a hurry.

The young lion thought at the moment,
How I can let him go now.
He followed the fleeing rival,
Chased tight after and tried to grab his clothes.
He whipped his steed and pursued tight,
Like a swooping eagle,
Followed tight after the rival.

Countless Karamark troops,
All shrank back.
Krichorao's angry eyes burning like flames,
They became redder.

The silver sword drew out of the sheath,
Stretched to forty-eight spans long suddenly.
Krichorao bent over,
Used the rest of his strength,
With the sword in his hand,
He cut toward the black steed the devil rode,
He thought he should sever its leg tendon.
But he missed the target,
Krichorao regretted very much about it!

The steel sword he cut with his effort,
Broke pine trees, birch trees and plane trees,
And a mountain peak was cut down undesignedly.
In the howling of cutting sword,

Mountains knocked and collapsed,
Dust flew and covered the earth and sky,
It became pitch dark.
Dense fog spread all over suddenly,
It did not fade away for six days,
The earth was deadly quiet.

Krichorao lost his way unfortunately,
The hero both intelligent and courageous had nothing could do.
Hot sweat flowed in vain on his forehead,
His sweat like spring water wetted the earth.

He shouted the name of Manas immediately,
He shouted at the top of his voice,
It made Koykapu mountains shaken.
His shout aroused a fierce wind,
The spreading dust that covered the earth and the sky,
For six whole days,
Were blown off magically.

Broken rocks rolled down and knocked,
Like they could talk,
And talked loudly.
A fierce wind swept suddenly,
The world was like to be turned over,
All warriors were worried and frightened.

The mountains were like to be turned over from the bottom,
Shaking and quivering,
Like male camels in heat in winter.
People and horses of both sides trembled with cold,
Flying dust faded away,
And the dim earth turned bright gradually.

He wanted to kill Kunwuerbayi of one mind,
Krichorao searched with anxiety.

At the age of ninety,
For the Kalcha[1],
He never suffered such hardship.
He had lost his past manly manner,
In the pitch dark mist,
With worry and fear,
He did not know where he could run.

Hurried Kalcha wanted to climb up the hill,
Alkala was injured on its legs,
It shrank back down the hill.
Kunwuerbayi tried his best to pull it up the hill,
But it dragged its bottom and did not go at all.

Krichorao rushed out of dust and mist,
He looked around,
On the other side of Amur river,
He saw Kunwuerbayi.

As fast as a shooting arrow,
Whistling like a flying rock,
Lion Krichorao had approached.
Kunwuerbayi on a lamb steed,
When did he take pity on his own life?

It was cold on Amur river banks,
It had thick ice even in hot summer.
There were steep cliffs on both sides,
And it was rapid currents in the middle.

In the mist aroused by surging waves,
Under cracked ice holes,
Ice water flowed in the river,
Whirlpool swept and waves surged,

1 Kalcha: It is the nickname of Kunwuerbayi in the epic.

Yurt-size ice,
Was washed out to the surface of the river.

Water spouted,
Out of the cracked ice.
Thick ice in the middle of the river had been broken,
Roaring river washed the banks.

Kunuwer Bay was in a desperate hurry,
He rushed into the river.
Alkara stumbled on the ice,
Thick ice of six guns length,
Could not bear and collapsed.

Ice bricks rushed in the river,
Like rafts were lashed,
You only could hear the cracking sound.
Alkala steed was lashed with rapid currents,
Knocked the river bank sometimes,
And knocked the ice sometimes.

Kunwuerbayi struggled in the ice water,
His figure appeared now and then in water.
He appeared to the surface suddenly,
Then he disappeared again.

From sixty-two different tribes,
With mane of many colors from different horses,
Twisted into a horse lasso,
His father Almanbet left it to him.
Wise Krichorao,
Made the lasso ready and waited on the bank.

Kunwuerbayi was like a piece of dung,
Rose to the surface out of an ice hole.
Eagle-eyed Krichorao,
Was very skillful in lassoing and taming horses.

He rode violent-tempered horse and herded horses,
He had good skills in lassoing horses.

He reached his arms and threw the lasso out,
Skillful Krichorao,
Lassoed the target accurately.
The lasso was pressed under two arms,
It lassoed on Kunwuerbayi's chest tight.

When the lasso got him tight,
Everything of Kalcha was going to an end.

When Krichorao pulled it backward,
Kunwuerbayi was lassoed,
Alkala steed was washed away in the river.

Kalcha was able to do nothing,
His huge figure was like a mountain,
He took the chance and approached ice sideways.
Krichorao pulled with great effort,
But could not pull him up onto the ice.

One end of the lasso,
Krichorao wound it around the stirrup quickly,
Turned his steed round and whipped it.
He shouted the name Manas loudly,
With full of his strength,
He pulled Kunwuerbayi.

Facing the hero with great strength,
Facing the roaring warrior,
The thick ice could not bear it anymore.
The clear thick ice,
That was one-hundred-span thick,
Was turned over suddenly,
Kunwuerbayi was like a piece of ice,
He was thrown out of the river.

Huge ice of size of a sheep pen,
Was thrown up high in the sky,
The broken ice pieces howled past,
Fell to the distance more than ten miles away.

Kunwuerbayi was dragged after the steed,
He deserved the end.
Krichorao whipped his steed and set out immediately,
He wanted to pull him to see Semtay.

Towering cliffs,
Erected on both sides,
There was a narrow valley and rapid currents in the middle.
When they came to a narrow place,
Kunwuerbayi was stuck there.

The hero dragged with great effort,
The horse lasso was pulled apart.
The steed rushed forward with full of its strength,
Surkoyun almost fell.

Krichorao reined the horse and turned round,
Surkoyun then stood steadily.
Krichorao grasped the silver sword tight in his hand,
Rolled his sleeves up and rushed to Kunwuerbayi.

Karamark people thought as they saw this:
"We cannot just watch and wait,
See Krichorao cut Kunwuerbayi's head off."
Spreading Karamark people,
Whipped their horses and rushed toward them.

In order to rescue Kunwuerbayi,
Karamark people regardless of their grass-like lives,
Like surging waves,
They rushed to Krichorao to rescue Kunwuerbayi.

Right at this crucial moment,
Quick and tough Semtay,
Powerful Kanchorao,
Stopped numerous Karamark troops,
None of them could approach Krichorao.
Two long spears shined with cold light,
Stopped millions of roaring troops,
It was a miracle in the battlefield.

Semtay said to Krichorao:
"Why do you make a trouble to the steed?
The mountain-size Kalcha,
We only need his head,
You just cut his head off!"

Hearing the order from the big brother,
Krichorao was not reluctant and acted right away.
He lifted the steel sword,
So high that touched the moon in the sky,
And when he cut down to Kunwuerbayi's neck,
It cut into solid rock.
If he did not grasp the handle tight in his hand,
It would have cut the horn of grey bull① off.

Kunwuerbayi lost his life under the hero's sword,
Numerous Karamark people,
And evil companions Kara Khitan people,
Were defeated and began to retreat toward Kangayi.
Horses neighed and pranced suddenly,
Galloped toward their hometown.
Roaring Amur river,
Swallowed countless Karamark.

Witnessed Kirgiz's victory,

1 Grey bull: In Kirgiz legend, it is believed that a grey bull holds the earth with its horn.

Cuckoos tweeted happily,
Ciconias began to sing to each other.
Marmots could not control themselves from singing,
For they avoided a vital disaster.

It was sunny,
Gun salute echoed to the clouds,
The earth shook with happiness,
Amur river sang joyfully.

The shining sun,
Smiled in all its splendor.
They collected the blood debt,
For their ancestors' spirits,
The whole world celebrated.

Heroes mounted fine steeds,
Set out toward Talas right away.

Let us put this aside,
Sing about Wushan's second brother Wusangan,
See how he carried out the plot they made when Kunwuerbayi was alive.

Wusangan Made a Sneak Attack of Talas, and Young Taylak Bay Died

Kunwuerbayi deserved the harshest punishment,
Kalcha was steeped in crime,
When he lived in the world leisurely,
When he held the power in his hand,
He and Wushan of Kangayi were like brothers.

Before he made the appointment with Semtay,
He had made devilish scheme,
With Wushan's second brother Wusangan,
He would lure Semtay away from Talas,
And let Wusangan head troops to attack Talas.

"I have invited Semtay,
He must leave Kankoler without doubt,
You go immediately and attack Talas."
At the instigation of Kunwuerbayi,
Wusangan was blinded by greed and marched the army to Talas.

He headed his troops of strong soldiers,
Made a detour with worries,
Cautiously and alertly,
Scouted in advance and chose the route.

From remote wilderness,
Under the cover of Arat mountains,
Without being noticed by Arashi people,
No one noticed anything,
They sneaked toward Talas.

Around Talas city,
There was a fertile and vast prairie,
On the summer pasture in Belsaz prairie,
Kanikai, Bakay, and Jamgerchy,
Enjoyed their lives there.

Battle flags waved with wind,
Dense troops appeared suddenly.
They could not know where the troops were from,
People were astonished.

Kirgiz people began to doubt it immediately,
They rushed and asked about the information,
When massive troops marched forward,
Some Karamark people among them,
Swarmed close to the city.

Before this happened,
Ayichulek had gone to Yurkainichy,
To visit his father Akun Khan.

When seeing the spreading troops,
Ordinary people were frightened.
The hero who led them was out,
They did not know what to do at all.
No warriors could ride horses and fought for them,
No one came out and solved the crisis.

Startled people cried to heaven,
Invaders shot firelocks and arrows,
No one dare stop them,
People had nothing to do but cry.

Enemies shouted and swarmed to the city gate:
"Hand out your leader and treasure,
Arrange camps and accommodation for us right now."
They shouted and rushed into Sire city.

It was easy to launch a sudden attack,
They ran wild after they took the city.
There were too many reasons for it,
This was the disaster from Karamark.

Among Kara Kirgiz people,
There were many Karamark people,
When Wusangan's troops arrived,
They joined them immediately.
Karamark Khan Wusangan,
Took the chance and mounted the throne.

He occupied the lush prairie,
Humiliated people lived there.
They were a crowd of greedy robbers,
They would let nothing off.

At the moment,
Their Khan negotiated with Kunwuerbayi,
Did not know Kunwuerbayi sent the invaders to Sire city.
Karamark got the chance to step in,
That was Kunwuerbayi's plot.

Karamark troops occupied Sire city,
They ran wild to kill and to rob,
The young, the old, and the women cried,
They robbed all their treasures off them.

They folded Kamuha fabric,
Led strong mules away.
Tied all kinds of goods up,
Carried on big camels.

They did not leave even a needle,
They did not leave even a piece of felt,
They carried everything back to their prairies.
The palace and the bedroom,

Had nothing left but the walls.

They robbed Sire city,
Some of them rushed to Ayinla,
They would drive all livestock away.

Jamgerchy, Bakay, and Kanikai,
Observed the invaders carefully:
It seemed they had killed Kankoler's Khan,
And came swaggeringly.

They were distressed about the enemies,
But they did not fear at all.
Budding Baytaylak was going to the battlefield,
But he had no right horse to ride,
He was taken by surprise.
Jamgerchy's mount Wularboz,
Had become old,
The young hero had no other choice,
He had to ride on this old horse.

Mounted Wularboz steed,
Chest protector and helmet shined,
Rushed around majestically.
Bakay's son Baytaylak,
He would fight for protecting his home and his people,
But he had no heroes to support him by his side.

The situation of Sire city was not clear yet,
He was worried about what happened:
Karamark soldiers came aggressively,
They had occupied most of the patures,
Had robbed livestock,
And drove people living there.

He got the news from his family,
Those Karamark people knew well,

That Semtay and other heroes,
Were out to a far place.
And they had grasped their situation,
They knew the heroes would not come back soon,
So they acted more recklessly.

"Is it false that big brother is not at home?
If it is true,
Have they already occupied the city?
If Sire city is robbed,
Kirgiz people will become destitute and homeless.
They act wildly and drive our people away,
Have they already occupied Kankoler?"
He was worried but did not know what to do.

Jamgerchy and Bakay mounted and went to the city,
They witnessed the massive troops coming,
And witnessed their crimes.
They saw them driving all livestock away,
Occupying the whole city.
Kara Kirgiz people's happy and peaceful life,
Was completely destroyed.

Wusangan said to his men:
"If we go back along the usual route,
Will not the treasure we get be robbed?
If we take a detour to Kashgar,
I think it is safer to return to Kangayi this way.

"Do not be afraid of the hardships on the long journey,
Trophy we get from Talas,
Must be sent back safely."
The bandits who plundered a huge amount of treasures,
Discussed how to send the treasures back.

Bakay's son Baytaylak,
Koshaoyi's son Jalgezack,

They were two young heroes.

Baytaylak wanted to challenge strong enemies alone,
But he knew he could not resist so many enemies.
He sent people to look for Jalgezack immediately:
"Invaders have robbed of our treasure,
They are preparing to carry them back through Kashgar.

"You should watch on the way,
I will follow and scout too,
You should pay attention to the direction of Kashgar,
Prevent them from entering Kashgar.

"I will catch up from the back,
If I cannot cut the enemy leader's head,
Please rename Baytaylak!
I will bring all livestock and treasures back,
Let invaders' dreams become bubbles."

He wrote the letter in the name of his father,
And sent messenger to deliver quickly.

He rode the horse and went alone,
Pursued the bandits.
Searched them on the main roads,
And searched them on the top of mountains.
He looked around cautiously,
Suddenly in Yirkshitanm valley,
He found the bandits were going toward Kashgar.

Karamark groups were in massive columns,
They carried countless gold, silver, and jewelry,
Marched toward Kashgar.
They thought as long as they entered Kashgar,
They would be safe.

Before the invaders' dreams came true,

Baytaylak pursued them tight,
Finally the young lion caught up with them.
Baytaylak passed them and ambushed in front of them,
Then rushed out to fight.

There were no enemy general could challenge him,
He rushed into enemy groups and controlled camels,
He drove the livestock and camels,
Returned toward Kankoler.

Young hero Baytaylak,
Brought up the rear.
He drove the livestock been robbed,
And camels carried numerous treasures,
Stepped on the road to Kankoler.

There was only one Kirgiz person,
He drove Karamark camels,
Followed them tight during the daytime,
Monitored them carefully.
He stood sentry at night in person,
Did not dare blink his eyes at all.
The energetic young lion,
Escorted the huge amount of treasures alone.

"As long as I still can breathe,
I must return to Kankoler.
Unconscious bastard Wusangan,
I must find you!

"You make me bristle with anger,
You make me clench my teeth in hatred,
Who do you attack Sire Korgan city secretly?
Why are you incompatible with Kirgiz?
I will not let anyone be alive,
I must find out their backstage intrigue.

"If Karamark people come and make troubles,
Let them experience my manly power.
Facing such evil enemies,
Let me go to Karamark capital,
Let me rob everything off Beygin city,
But this is not what a human should do.
For the bandits like Wusangan,
I will not let them off easily,
Violence must be met by violence!"

Baytaylak was ablaze with anger,
Young eagle was impulse but lacked wisdom,
Camels were approaching Kankoler,
They would be returned soon.

Let him continue on his way back,
Koshaoyi's son Jalgezack,
Who was scouting his situation?

When he got the letter Baytaylak wrote in the name of his father,
Jalgezack was away for the summer holidays.
On summer prairie of Mazar mountain.
He was not satisfied with Semtay and felt wronged on him,
He complained in a bad mood:
"Koshaoyi never fell behind,
The battle flag presented by Koshaoyi,
Manas held it high till he died.

"I am Koshaoyi's son,
Semtay is Manas' son,
How he can look down upon me!
What will happen if I do not go?

"Watch the enemies kill and rob,
For Karamark wearing a black tassel on the head,

Chuntolie[1] is the support.
For Khitan wearing a red tassel on the head,
Chioutoli works for them,
Niggard Semtay,
Said he would go to negotiate and sign a treaty with them.

"If he does not come in person,
What will happen if I do not go?
I cannot fuss over this,
I cannot set myself against the lion again.

"When Karamark troops swarm in,
Because they are huge in number,
Uncle Bakay is too worried.

"Let Karamark shed blood like water,
Let invaders' voice of begging for life resound through the sky,
Let me go in person and kill them.
Pledge the life,
For all Kirgiz in the world,
It is the indispensable choice of a real man.

"What else can I do?
To Khan Semtay,
Complain of my discontentment,
That is just personal grudge.

"There is no need to find dignity in front of Khan,
Witness enemies take our city,
I cannot fold my arms and look on at home,
I can devote my life to the dignity!

"Kirgiz troops will come soon,
It should be in massive columns!

1 Chuntolie: It is Kirgiz language. Tolie means leader, and Chiou means big. Here it refers to Kunwuerbayi, the commander of Khitan and Karamark.

Let me go first,
Let fairies clear the way for me!"

Jalgezack left these words,
Then he saddled Jalmanboz steed.
Wusangan settled in Kankoler,
He stayed inside and threatened others,
He abused Semtay outside.

Stubborn and crude man,
Koshaoyi's son Jalgezack,
He marched forward irresistibly.
He whipped his steed,
Galloped without a stop.
The distance Ajibayi took five days in the past,
He only used two days.

There were high mountains on the north,
Jalgezack climbed over the mountains,
And came to Tojaylo hill.

He looked ahead cautiously,
He saw camels with heavy stuff marching slowly forward.
There were mountain-size goods on camels' backs,
That was certainly the treasures enemies robbed.

He was not sure who was driving camels,
And where they were going.
He was very anxious,
But he could not stay there and just watched.
Jalgezack was an energetic hero,
He could not control his indignant feeling,
Loosed the rein and rushed down the hill.
His clothes edges waved in wind,
He rushed into the camel group.

He gazed with anger,

It was silk and brocade the camels carried.
Although Karamark people escorted,
Baytaylak drove behind them.

It was a sudden attack,
They were Karamark to be attacked,
He was familiar with Karamark language,
Jalgezack began to talk with Karamark people.

While they were talking,
Baytaylak came up,
Rode on his Wularboz steed.
Two heroes met there,
They reined their horses and greeted each other,
They shook hands and kissed each other's finger tips,
Cared about each other's health.

To devote to people's dignity,
It was man's duty and honor.
Jalgezack started to talk:
"Respected Baytaylak,
Our uncle Khan Bakay,
If we lose Sire Korgan city,
While he is still alive,
It would be very embarrassing to be known!

"What is Semtay doing?
I heard he went to negotiate with Kunwuerbayi,
Although it is the most important thing to do,
He cannot ignore what happens at home.
"Where on earth does our big brother go?
Heroes live in Kankoler,
Do not you know it either?
We feel regretted about it,
We are unsatisfied with you all."

Baytaylak smiled at the moment,

With his clear voice which was like falcon's,
Turned round and said:
"Dear Jalgezack, what you said is reasonable,
I swear to God,
I never tell lies.
Kangkoer was burned with anger,
He went there alone,
I did not know it at all.

"Two heroes Krichorao and Kanchorao,
When and where did they go?
We knew nothing about it.

"When massive invading troops came,
We got the news,
That they went to meet Kunwuerbayi.

"We are facing Karamark invaders,
Wise hero Jalgezack,
It is not the time to complain.

"No matter how much we say in this wilderness,
Who else would listen except the earth?
We should complain to Semtay,
But he is not here now.

"Let's fight for ancestors' spirits,
For hero Ayikoler Manas,
Let's devote regardless of our safety.
"Respected old hero Koshaoyi,
White-beard elder Khan Bakay,
Noble mother Kanikai,
We should fight for their dignity recklessly.

"Let's consider our action this time,
As for the dignity of our elders.
Fight for all Kirgiz people,

It is our bounden duty!

"Hero, it is not late to complain to Semtay,
When you meet him.
Do not let invaders take our Sire Korgan city,
Let's go and guard the city today.

"There is a giant called Wusangan,
He is a bastard. He occupied the throne of Khan,
He is a tyrannous devil.
Now, hero Khan Semtay is far from us,
Only we two can protect our homeland.
This is what I want to say,
Jalgezack, will you listen to me?"

He was broad-minded like ocean,
He was wise and righteous like a father.
He proved himself to be Khan Bakay's son,
His life goal was noble.

Jalgezack started to talk,
He talked from the bottom of his heart:
"Do not let our fellow people wander,
Just for taking sulks with Semtay.
Our home is occupied by brutal Karamark,
We cannot look on and do nothing.

"Manly heroes fear nothing in the world,
How we can let our fellow people lose homes,
How we can let our people flee from calamity,
Like chukars spreading all over hills.
Hero Manas had passed away,
His spirit has great expectations on us!"

They hit it off instantly,
Every place they passed,
The invaders would be utterly routed.

Bakay's son was like a young tiger,
He was nineteen years old,
For Karamark, Kangayi, and Khitan enemies,
Young heroes had ability to destroy them completely.
He was young and brave like lions,
He would destroy all invaders.

When he went to the battlefield for the first time,
Araokai's youngest son,
And his sixty followers,
He wiped them out all.

Did not let invaders misconduct in Kankoler,
Drove Karamark and Kangayi troops,
Made them have no place to stay.
Young hero made a brilliant figure among Kirgiz,
It was the time for him to be approved.

Jalgezack was very skillful,
He talked acceptably,
He talked sweetly and reasonably,
He treated everyone with sincerity.
He was twenty-two years old,
He was Khan Koshaoyi's son.

Jalgezack and Baytaylak,
They prepared to go to Kankoler,
Wanted to guard Sire Korgan city wholeheartedly.
In order to resist Karamark enemies,
They set out in a hurry.

Semtay and Krichorao,
Strong Kanchorao,
They rushed back toward their homeland.
They hurried forward day and night without a stop,
Whipped their horses,
Wanted to go back immediately like going fire fighting.

When they were on their way,
Krichorao mentioned one thing suddenly:
"The invaders come from afar,
Seems they have occupied Sire city.
They may have brought a disaster to our people,
Our fellow people may have been humiliated.

"Jamgerchy and Khan Bakay,
And loving mother Kanikai,
Have they all been killed?
Baytaylak and Jalgezack,
Do they go and fight against enemies?
Do any other heroes fight against enemies?

"Big brother, your manly manner,
Your outstanding lion-like arrogance,
What do they bring to us?

"You have lost justice in your hand,
You think others are not perfect,
You cannot understand others' majesty.

"Such an important big issue,
Between Kirgiz and Karamark,
But you made the decision by yourself.
My uncle Koshaoyi is loyal and brave,
But you do not respect his offspring.
Toshtuk Khan looked at you,
But you did not care about him at all!

"We met Wumaitoy on the way,
But you ignored him.
He is your family,
You should at least visit him.
Your aunt Acairkaichy,
You also ignored her,

Big brother, how do you explain this?

"How do you face it?
Face those hurt hearts.
How do you erase,
These bad effects?"

Followed Krichorao's talk,
Kanchorao also made an issue of it,
He poured out his complaints.
Kanchorao began to complain:
"Big brother, you care about nothing,
It seems you are not related to anyone.
Do not mention people far away,
Even herdsmen at your home,
It seems you have no relations with them either.

"I could not mention anyone else,
We grow up together like brothers,
You even look down your nose at me!
For our action this time,
All people who hear it,
Have sowed a seed of anger in the heart!
It is because your father was great,
The people then submitted to you!

"Like what Krichorao worries,
Those angry ordinary people,
Almost split and fall apart!"
After making his endless complaints,
Kanchorao then calmed down gradually.

Semtay smiled with regret,
He felt incredibly ashamed.
He felt what he did was inappropriate,
He woke up to his error:

"My dear little brother,
You share hardships together with me,
I did not discuss with you when I met something,
Now I get such a bad result.
Now I do not know what to do,
I have no idea at all.

"In that fierce battle,
Kanchorao, you are a man of great courage.
Do not mention aggrieved Kirchorao,
You are always with me.

"You can understand your big brother,
You will come forward and deal with it properly.
How to console all Khans?
I believe you two will have good ideas.
I believe you can free myself from my error,
You will solve problems for your big brother.

"If you two brothers want to pursue your career,
How I can stop you.
We cannot lose more of our fellow people,
Go and protect our land and people.
I give you my power,
I just want you two to distinguish between right and wrong.

"What I did has caused bad result,
I wake up now and it is late to regret.
Young people should grasp the opportunity,
Do not lose friends around you.

"I will give all my power to you two,
Brothers Krichorao and Kanchorao,
You two can decide what Kirgiz can do!"

What Semtay said to them,
Was sincere,

He neither evaded nor covered it up.
When he gave them authority,
Two heroes felt a heartfelt admiration,
Anger in their hearts was dispelled,
Their worries were defused.

Grudge and misunderstanding had been erased,
Clouds scattered and it became sunny.
Three brothers felt suddenly enlightened,
Three steeds galloped forward freely.

Grand Sire city was in their sight,
White battle flag and blue flag waved over the city,
It was a pity,
Sire city ancestors left had been in Karamark people's hands.

Jalgezack and Baytaylak,
Headed all other people,
On the ridge of Tojaylo prairie,
Joined Semtay.

When seeing Semtay's figure,
It seemd Jalgezack still had doubts,
He was in low spirit.
Broad-minded Baytaylak,
Also frowned with a scowl,
He covered his face with layers of sleeves.
He did not shake hands when others greeted him,
Urged each other and left as quickly as they could.

Bandits from Karamark,
Damned Wusangan,
Facing gathering Kirgiz troops,
He was not worried at all.
He was waiting for sharpshooter Kogeojash,
That was his backbone.

Semtay and Krichorao,
Powerful hero Kanchorao,
Peerless hero Jalgezack,
And lion-brave hero,
Young hero Baytaylak,
Galloped to Sire city.

Wusangan saw they were coming,
But his sharpshooter had not come yet,
It was not the proper time to go and fight.
The city walls were high and city gate was solid,
He closed the gate immediately.
He looked out of the city,
Hid in the city and refused to come and fight.

Left the city to Karamark people,
The Khan had nothing to do but sighed.
Neither looked nor sighed,
There was no choice but to fight.

At this crucial moment,
Ayichulek flew in the sky,
With a speed and power of a hurricane,
She fluttered her wings,
Flew over Sire city back and forth.
With her keen eyes,
She observed the enemy situation in the city.
The city had been occupied,
And Karamark robbed everything in the city.
The history repeated over and over,
The world changed too much!
Who was a hero and who was a coward,
You only could distinguish at such a moment.

They wanted to send a messenger,
But neither a gate nor a crack was open.
Although they erected the flag and declared the battle,

Karamark hid in the city and refused to come out.

When they had no idea of what to do,
When Karamark were in sleep,
Krichorao was busy,
He racked his brains to find ways to go into the city.

There was copper piping inside of the stonewalls,
There was iron lid fully tightened outside.
He got close to the wall secretly,
He took action cautiously.
Grasped the iron lid tight,
He twisted it off as expected.
After he twisted the lid off,
He sneaked into the city through the piping.

He held the knife in the hand,
Began to kill without fear,
The city was dyed red with blood immediately.

When hearing someone sneaked into the city,
All Karamark began to react.
It seemed the city was not suitable to stay anymore,
Karamark swarmed out of the city like flood.

Wusangan fled out of the city quietly,
Erected his flag and beat the drum immediately,
Arranged arms and embattled,
Made a stance of a decisive battle.

Kanchorao was a manly hero,
He rushed into the battlefield fiercely.
He had made up his mind of fighting to death,
For his people and his land.

Karamark hero Wusangan,
Had well equipped with all his arms.

Wusangan had had a clear idea,
He went into battle unhurriedly.

Cunning Wusangan did not take action first,
He waited for Kanchorao to act first.
Kanchorao lifted his crescent axe and rushed forward,
When he was going to cut on the rival's head,
There was a whistling sound coming suddenly.
Kanchorao was convulsed with fear immediately,
He did not know what happened.
He turned round and looked back,
Shipushaydar's son,
Peerless Kogeojash,
Shot arrows and they flew toward him.

The flying arrows were like raindrops,
Approached him in a blink of an eye,
His three iron layers' shield,
And his invulnerable coat armor,
Were pierced through by those arrows.

When the arrows reached his skin,
Kanchorao grabbed the end of the arrows,
There was only one Kanchorao in the world,
Only he could grasp the flying arrow.

Kanchorao was born agile like a leopard,
He thought: "If there are more arrows coming,
I must die.
How Kogeojash could let me be alive!"
He dare not fight against Wusangan face to face when he thought this.

In order to avoid Kogeojash's eyes,
He turned his horse round and retreated immediately,
But he forgot to guard against Wusangan.
Right when he was turning his horse round,

Wusangan pricked him.

Kanchorao fell off his horse,
His head plunged into mud.
His eyes could not see anything,
He crawled for his life in fear,
Stumbled and fell.

Wusangan turned his horse at the moment,
He wanted to cut the hero's head off.
Baytaylak was worried when he saw this,
He approached the hero immediately.
Regardless of his own safety to save his fellow,
He did not hesitate when facing the death.

His manly power was immeasurable,
There was no other hero who could compare with him.
Bandits took their city,
Karamark was his sworn enemy.

Baytaylak whipped his horse galloped,
Came like a fierce tiger.
Angry eyes had flames splashed,
He thought he would prick Wusangan off first,
Before he got close to Kanchorao.

Young warrior launched an attack,
Wusangan left Kanchorao and fled away.
Kanchorao was in a great bustle,
He picked himself up,
The hero was frightened,
He was unable to take a step.

He reached his hand and dragged the black-spotted horse,
When he was going to mount,
Shipushaydar's son,
Powerful Kogeojash,

Shot his arrows with his quick hands and sharp eyes.

The arrow hit the saddle flap of the black-spotted horse,
It pierced through the iron flap,
Knocked the black-spotted down.
The arrow pierced through the horse,
Then under the watchful eyes of people,
It broke Kanchorao's arm.

Baytaylak felt worried when he saw this,
He loosed the rein and galloped his steed,
Toward hero Kanchorao.
He called out with a loud voice: Grab the horsetail now,
Rescued his fellow as fast as a whirlwind.
Kanchorao was really lucky,
He took a new lease of life again.

Kogeojash took the chance,
Shot another poisoned arrow.
Bakay's son Baytaylak,
Tried to rescue his fellow wholeheartedly,
He was not on guard against enemy's secret arrow.
One sharp arrow pierced through his right shoulder blade,
His crescent axe fell off from his hand.

When he lost one of his arms,
When the crescent axe fell off,
The sturdy and strong hero,
Had lost ability to fight,
Wusangan took the chance and came up,
Lifted the long knife and cut toward Baytaylak.

Before Krichorao could approach him,
Wusangan had cut the head off,
From the head of the young hot-tempered hero.
What could poor Krichorao do?
To avoid the hero's head falling to the ground,

He bent over and tried to pick the hero's body up.

Bastard Wusangan came again,
Hero Krichorao was boiling with rage,
He pricked his spear out like a lightning,
Knocked crazy Wusangan down his horse.

Hundreds of thousands of Karamark troops,
Swarmed ahead like flood,
And encircled Wusangan.
They tried not to let Krichorao get close,
Prevent him from cutting Wusangan's head off,
Take the chance and rescue Wusangan.

Krichorao came by the side of Baytaylak's corpse,
He said to himself that he must take the corpse with him,
Baytaylak was uncle Bakay's only son,
How he could leave the body to Karamark people.

Tied iron chains on his waist like belt,
Krichorao held the body up from the waist,
Put it across Surkoyun's mane.
He whipped his horse,
From hundreds of thousands of Karamark troops,
Krichorao finally took his fellow's corpse out.

"When such a battle starts,
Bleeding and sacrificing is inevitable.
The general was killed in the battle,
It was the honor of a warrior.

"You should go to die as long as the death calls,
It never stops because you are the single child.
It is the arrangement of God,
No one in the world can disobey him!"

Krichorao held the fellow's body and murmured,

He thought about the unfair world,
He burst into loud cry sadly.
When he approached his troops,
Baytaylak's head and body fell apart.

When Krichorao reined the horse,
White-haired uncle Bakay,
Witnessed his son's death.
It was damned Karamark people,
Who took away his beloved son's life,
Khan Bakay had been old,
How he could bear such a deadly strike!

Blood gushed from his mouth immediately,
His face was pale and his lips turned purple:
"Semtay, how can you be called Tolie?
You bring such a severe disaster!
How can you be called young tider hero,
How can you lead your people?

"Notorious Kunwuerbayi,
He is a faithless bastard,
Without telling anyone,
You went to see him secretly.

"You told lies that Kanchorao watched outside,
You said Krichorao scouted the news,
And you said Kirgiz is living a happy life,
We do not have anything to worry about.

"He who does not think of the future is certain to have immediate worries,
A Khan must adopt a wait-and-see attitude,
A Khan should provide against the future,
This is the only way to ensure the peace for your people.

"You did not consider your people in advance,

So you bring such a miserable end.
Your people suffered from the calamity,
Even our city is in enemy's hand now,
What a great insult and sadness it is for a Khan.

"When I, Bakay, become old,
I fall into such a miserable condition!
The only son God bestowed me,
Now go back to heaven with him!
I lose my beloved son suddenly,
I am at the age of dying anytime,
But I suffer from such a deadly blow!

"Prick the hard rock,
With the spear in my hand,
It is I who kill my only son!
I have withered as I cried for him,
I wash my old face with tears!

"I coated swords and knives with blood once,
I stepped on lands everywhere once.
But I lost the falcon in my hand,
I suffer from the pain!

"My shotgun is broken in the middle,
Who made me suffer from such a sudden disaster?
I wash my face with tears when facing my son's corpse,
I do not know who can be a bosom friend of mine?"

Old and weak Khan Bakay,
His tears flowed like river.
Skylight of yurt was covered and burning incense was put out,
It seemed everything was destroyed!

Karamark Wusangan cut off many heads,
They were all young men,
Their poor and lonely parents were left.

Leopard Bakay lost himself in sadness,
He passed out with great grief.

People came up and helped the old man come to himself,
He was limp and could not stand up,
Bakay Khan was overwhelmed with sorrow.
Respected uncle had tears flowing from his aged eyes,
In desperation and extreme grief,
His eyes had bloody tears flowing.

"My steeds have no one to ride on,
My falcon has no one to fly.
My love has left me,
But my steed is not able to enter horserace yet.
Karamark want to torture me to death,
It is more miserable than going to hell!"
Sad tears ran out of the aged eyes like rain,
The white beard had been soaked.

Witnessed Bakay's tragic encounter,
People present all burst into tears.
Old Bakay had been bathed in tears,
People around him cried loudly too.

For Khan Bakay's misery,
Pine trees cried and willow trees cried,
Even eternal sun cried.
Budding flowers shed tears,
Dim moon shed tears too.

Both the old and the young cried,
Mountains could not help crying.
Rocks, dirt, lakes, and ocean cried,
The earth and hills cried,
There was no person in the world that did not cry.

Old Bakay could not bear it,

He sobbed his heart out.
The clear streams cried,
Swans in Aydingkol lake lamented.

Numerous Nuoyi from six tribes,
The old, the young, women, men, the noble, and the ordinary,
People all shed tears for khan Bakay,
Walls of Sire city cried,
Even trees in the city cried.

Sad tears ran down along the beard,
White-beard Bakay cried,
Everyone present cried.

Krichorao Fought against Wusangan

Facing such a tragic scene,
Heroes were at a loss what to do,
Semtay could not bear anymore,
Fire of rage burned in his heart.
Semtay could not control himself,
He tied the rein tight around his waist:

"Karamark put us through hell,
Your Tolie are angry.
Uncle Bakay's rebuke,
I will undertake it by myself.

"No matter he complains or not,
What he thought is completely correct.
Krichorao and Kanchorao,
Warned me before:
Your people would be split,
What they said to me is right.
Jalgezack would not ignore me,
If I showed him full respect.

"I do not mean to make Bakay cry,
When he gets his age.
Baytaylak is only nineteen years old,
We could not let him die uncleared of injustice.

"My people suffer from such humiliation,
This is my fault.
If I cannot change the bad situation,

How I can be called a heroic Khan.

"Leave my kind and industrious people,
How can I face my life in the future?
If I have my people in my heart all the time,
My people must get benefits.
How I can forget my people!
They are my support as solid as mountains,
They are my strong backbone.

"I will kill bastard Wusangan in person,
I will drive the bandits away and take my land back,
I will march forward courageously.

"Fighting strong enemies bravely,
Depends on people's power.
Once I defeated numerous strong enemies,
Once I wiped enemies out alone,
Once I defeated that one-eyed monster and took the honor.

"I am extremely proud of my achievements,
So I persist in my way arrogantly.
Now we get such a heavy blow,
I will remember this tough lesson forever."

Semtay reproached himself painfully,
He actually felt ashamed to face Khan Bakay:
"My dear Krichorao,
Make up your own mind for coming things,
Wash the young hero clean and bury him,
Wrap him with plain silk and then bury him.

"Do not make uncle angry again,
It is the time to avenge our fellows,
I am going to meet Wusangan now and clear with him.

"Uncle Bakay's predictions never fail,

He is an incarnation of wisdom and strength,
Let him give me wisdom and strength,
Do not let him curse me."

He entrusted everything to Krichorao,
Semtay was ready to mount and set out,
When he was going to the battlefield angrily,
Krichorao held his rein:

"My dear big brother,
Being regardless of life does not mean you are a hero,
When you go alone,
It is not easy to come back alive.

"It seems Kogeojash is on the way coming,
He is not inferior to Shipushaydar!
He is a sharpshooter,
If he shoots guns and arrows,
He must send games to hell!

"His arrows are accurate and sharp,
Even your coat armor cannot resist it.
Big brother, you cannot act alone anymore,
You are Khan of all Kirgiz people,
You must discuss with all of us about protecting our land and people."

Krichorao stopped his big brother's risky action,
Then he asked his sister-in-law Ayichulek for help:
"Sister-in-law Ayichulek, where are you?
Please turn into a flying swan soon,
You know well about the nature of all creatures,
Please fly over the battlefield,
Scout the enemy situation from the sky.

"Among numerous Karamark people,
Where are the massive troops?
Is there any family the in remote place?

Does anyone come alone?
Does anyone dig stove and set off fire?
Where is sharpshooter Kogeojash stationed?
Sister-in-law, please scout carefully,
Please find out where Kogeojash is hiding!"

Krichorao made prompt decisions,
Semtay became silent,
As soon as he gave the power to Krichorao.
He could not stay with Bakay,
So he came to the side of Kanchorao.

Right at the moment,
Hero Kanchorao moaned on his broken arm,
He sat aside and held his injured arm.
When he saw Semtay,
He turned his back to the hero.

He thought his luck had gone,
Khan then came to Jalgezack,
Stubborn Jalgezack,
Turned round and walked away angrily.

Kangkoer suddenly felt nervous,
The once powerful king thought:
"How is uncle Sari now?
We have not seen each other for a long time,
Does he miss me and look forward to seeing me?"

He rode on his Buruler steed,
Came to Sari Khan slowly.
Greeted him and he did not respond at all,
He did not miss Semtay at all either.
Facing Khan's warm greeting,
Sari Khan even did not raise his eyelids.

Sari Khan did not respond,

Semtay became silent and lowered his head and thought:
"When I ride on Buruler steed,
Gallop majestically,
When I wear the crown and mount the throne of Khan,
Warriors do not all respect and admire,
Some of them are jealous of me."

The king felt annoyed and perplexed,
He became fidget.
He thought he would rather fight to death,
Than live just for the sake of being alive.
Even if he died under enemy's knife,
It was not a shame for the Khan's dignity.

Semtay rode on Buruler steed in a hurry,
Drew the knife out of the sheath suddenly,
Did not spare his precious life,
Did not consider his life at all.
Toward flooding Karamark,
He rushed forward with great majesty.

His charging was not successful,
Karamark Khan Wusangan,
Swung the spear and came out,
Entangled Semtay crazily.

When he heard Wusangan's shout,
Young Kogeojash,
Knew it was his time to show.
His sharp black eyes,
Stared at Semtay,
Did not move at all.

He drew the bow and shot arrows with his agile hands,
Shot toward Semtay angrily.

Whistling arrow was approaching,

Invulnerable Akorlbok coat armor,
Was pierced through immediately.
The arrow tip was going to touch his skin,
The sharp arrow was going to pierce through his heart,
The guy protected by Shayili god,
What would his life be if he was not blessed?

Babeding god protected him was fearless,
The respected naked red kid,
He arrived by the side of Khan fast.
The sharp arrow was going into the body,
He grasped the arrow and pulled it.

Sharp arrows fell one by one,
Whistling arrows failed,
They could not approach the hero's skin at all.

Kogeojash felt surprised,
He felt confused:
No one can dodge my sharp arrows,
They even could pierce through bronze and rock,
But this guy is invulnerable.

Kogeojash put an arrow on his bow and bent over,
Aimed at Buruler and shot.
Buruler's shinbone was broken immediately,
The sharp arrow went right through its shinbone,
It was fortunate that the tendon was well.

Buruler could not move immediately,
Semtay could do nothing to help.
Facing Wusangan's knife and the sharpshooter's arrow,
It was crucial at the life-and-death moment.
Krichorao knew Khan had gone to the battlefield,
He thought the hot-tempered big brother,
Was really a fearless hero.
He did not consider his majestic status as a Khan,

He did not consider his own life,
They were really touched.

"If he fights to death bravely,
Whom I should bury till then?"
Baytaylak's corpse,
He entrusted others with the body helplessly,
Krichorao made up the mind and went to the battlefield.

The powerful Sur bow,
Put on sharp arrows on it,
Ready to shoot Karamark.
Krichorao made up his mind,
He was ready to fight against the enemy to the end.

He looked up to the sky,
He wondered whether Ayichulek had come.

Ayichulek was in the sky as expected,
She overlooked everything that happened on earth.
She pushed clouds aside,
Revealed herself to Krichorao clearly,
Her beautiful figure was high up in the sky.

On the uneven hills,
Karamark troops sparsely lined up.
There was a man with shabby clothes,
He stood in the front of the troop alone,
His stove was right beside him.

Ayichulek waved the flag in her hand,
To that direction.
Hero Krichorao was a brilliant man of wide learning,
There was nothing he did not know,
Was not it a proof of his ability?
Toward rough and cragged mountains,
He whipped his horse and galloped.

Right at this vital important moment,
Koshaoyi's son Jalgezack,
Whipped his horse and came in a hurry.
At this crucial moment,
As a Kirgiz hero,
How he could stop coming and helping!

Karamark devil Wusangan,
The butcher with full of blood on his hand,
Before he could turn his horse round,
Before he could approach Semtay,
Hero Jalgezack,
Took the chance and poked him with the spear.

Wusangan was hit and fell off his horse,
Jalgezack turned his horse round,
Wanted to cut the bastard's head off.
At the moment he was turning his horse round,
Before he could lift and wave his big knife,
A whistling arrow had coming to him.

The sharp arrow hit on his right arm,
Right at where there was no armor protected,
The arrow whistled coming,
Jalgezack's arm broke with the sound.

Hero Krichorao, at the moment,
Followed Ayichulek's guide in the sky,
Had come to the place.
Krichorao had spotted Kogeojash in the sight.

Triples rows of bows in Krichorao's hands,
Almost shot together,
Sharp arrows flew to the rival like raindrops.

Hero Krichorao,

Arrows he shot like fires,
Before Kogeojash could turn round,
He had shot him down on the ground.

Krichorao was with sharp eyes and agile hands,
He shot another three times,
Then three times more,
The Karamark sharpshooter,
The rival died immediately.
Karamark's big support,
Kogeojash ended his evil life.

Krichorao was as powerful as mountrain,
The warrior was born with great wisdom,
It seemed he knew everything that happened in the world,
He knew something breathtaking was happening in the front.
He did not have enough time to cut Kogeojash's head off,
He galloped his horse and rushed ahead.

He braced himself up,
Surkoyun steed was under him,
Waved the whip and whipped the horse hard.

Krichorao's whip fell like raindrops,
Surkoyun galloped forward like a lightning.
What it could do except galloping,
Facing besieged Jalgezack,
Facing foot Semtay,
Facing wounded warriors,
It arrived in a blink of an eye.

Jalgezack and Semtay,
Two heroes' lives were in deadly danger.
When they prayed to the Creator,
Bastard Wusangan reined his horse and turned round,
He wanted to cut their heads off at the same time,
He wanted to lift their heads and go away.

Death was approaching Karamark Wusangan,
When he turned his horse round,
Krichorao was like a flying raptor,
Charged toward him face to face.

He had been born and died many times,
He never let a single rival off.
He had experienced hardships,
He never let a rival off.
He had experienced many battles,
No one that fought against him could survive.

Hot-tempered Krichorao,
Whipped his horse and galloped forward.
The horse's mane waved in wind,
The horse's tail was tied up.

He asked for the bless and help,
From Thor Konyurt in the heaven.
He swung spear his ancestor left to him,
He did not wait till Wusangan turned the horse round,
Aimed at the edge of the chest protector,
Aimed at the gold-beset pommel.

He thought that was the vital place,
He wanted to rival to die in one poke,
So he decided to poke toward his liver.
He rushed his horse and gave a hard poke,
The spear pierced through the chest,
The spear point came out of his back.
When the spear whistled and hit,
Two layers of iron armor were pierced through.
Krichorao was born strong and powerful,
His great achievement shook the mountain,
People who witnessed trembled with fear,
Cowards were frightened out of their wits.

Seeing Wusangan's life was hanging by a thread,
It was like mountains collapsed for Karamark,
They scattered immediately for their lives.
Hero's light was his eyes,
It was sharp and shining.
He did not give enemy any chance,
He watched every movement of enemy.

Many Karamark people still left things to luck,
They looked back to see Wusangan's situation.
Wusangan was heavily injured,
He knelt down to beg for mercy,
Pleaded the hero to spare his life.

Krichorao never let rivals off,
For extremely evil Wusangan,
How he could let him off easily.
He picked Wusangan on his spear point,
And drove defeated Karamark troops.

Led lame Buruler steed,
Semtay was on his way hurriedly.
Jalgezack broke his arm,
He could not mount his horse,
Heavily injured Kanchorao,
Looked around hopelessly.

Khan Bakay stood stiffly by the side,
Felt sad for the loss of his only son.
He thought of these malicious animal-like bastards,
How they trampled on our people like this.

Bakay Khan stood dumbly,
When he saw Buruler steed with a broken leg,
He felt surprised:
"The horse leg has broken,

How is the lion now?"

For the sake of the death of his beloved son,
He blamed Khan all the time.
Seeing Buruler and Jalmanboz steeds,
He felt worried about Khan Semtay,
He also remembered Boks with whom he experienced hardships.

What old Bakay thought was:
"Elders' wisdom is people's fortune,
Young warriors,
Are the barriers of maintaining people's dignity."
Elder Bakay did not regard his son just died,
Toward the battlefield,
Galloped his horse.
His fine steed galloped like a whirlwind,
In a blink of an eye,
Bakay Khan had approached Semtay.

"Angry Bakay Khan,
He is likely to draw his bloody spear out,
Even uncle will not kill me,
It still can make me injured heavily."
Semtay thought like this,
Jalgezack thought the same way,
Both of them were worried.

Bakay Khan came in a hurry,
His words touched their hearts:
"My tyrant, how are you?
I saw Tayibruler has been lame,
What disaster is it?
My lion, how are you?
I saw your steed is lame now,
Who decended the disaster on you?"

He felt sorry to Jalgezack,

The hatred toward his Khan,
He had thrown it to the wilderness completely:
"Please listen to me, my kid,
What makes you worry so much?

"You are in a low mood,
Why are you so low-spirited?
About the loss, we only have one that died,
Do not be so sad and self-blamed.

"Leopard Jalgezack,
Pluck up your courage and pursue enemies,
Do not let Karamark outflank you,
Go and save your people!
If we lose more of our people,
Our future will be harsher!

"I have lost my only son,
If I lose more folks,
For me, old Bakay,
It will be more miserable!

"People suffer such a heavy disaster,
Khan feels more painful.
Do not speak of unhappy things again,
Let's abandon doubts between us.

"Young people stop complaining,
Do not say complaining words to each other.
First, I, Bakay will not complain again!
"Do not harbor selfish ideas and distracting thoughts,
Do not seek small immediate interests,
You should look to the future and the overall situation!

"If our poor people are expelled,
Bleed and shed tears and wander,
Lion Ayikoler Manas,

Will not rest in peace underground.
And Manas' offspring,
Who else still wants to receive such a hardship.

"When I, old Bakay is still alive,
When giant Jamgerchy is still alive,
And you, hero Jalgezack,
And many other heroes and warriors,
Who will allow such a tragedy to happen again!

"Only regard my son and forget my people,
When I shed tears and cry,
If we lose Talas,
If Arashi people are expelled again,
Then Kara Kirgiz later generations,
Who of them will forgive us.

"Our leopard Koshaoyi Khan,
Famous generals Almanbet and Chuwak,
Heroes Ajibayi and Sirak,
If their spirits are stained,
How do we meet them in heaven?
We would rather fight to death in the battlefield,
Than leave such a bad reputation in the human world!

"Let us go through thick and thin together,
Let us fight to death in the battlefield.
It is a worthy death for Baytaylak,
Let our people calm first and then bury him.
"If our splendid royal city is deserted,
If mother's breasts have swelling pain,
If infants are exhausted from crying,
If elders groan and sigh with rage,
I would rather die early,
Than live such a miserable life.

"Lion Manas' offspring,

Suffer from such a humiliation and misery,
How do we face it as Khans?
I would rather wash the shame,
With my blood,
Than let white-haired ladies curse us.

"White eagles screech sadly,
Where is my Kirgiz with white felt hat?
Brown falcon screech sadly,
Where are my numerous Arashi people?

"If Arat mountains howl sadly,
My overweening Kirgiz people,
Once travel freely,
Why do they lower their heads now?

"If white clouds in the sky shed tears,
If bright moon shines in the dark,
Now hides in clouds and asks sadly
Kirgiz people were the people of the world,
Where are they now?
How do we answer?

"The sun gives people power and courage,
Brings people brightness and joy,
If he wears thick veil and sighs:
My numerous dead heroes,
Where is the regime Manas founded in the past?
Where is the splendid throne?
How do we respond?

"White female camels neigh sadly and run away,
Swans in lakes whoop and scatter,
Yellow hunting dogs bark and wander everywhere,
Fine steeds neigh and flee.
They harbor sadness and injustice,
How can they forgive us?

How can they stop condemning us?

"There will be great man born among people,
He will lift flags and protect his people.
True man will devote himself to his people,
Rash lion will lose life in vain.

"People will die if great man does not devote himself,
People will bury him if the great man falls in battle,
Who will bury him if there are no people?
Fearless warriors bold and able to fight,
Should display their skills to the full at crucial moment.

"If plane trees break branches,
They will still sprout next spring.
Bind up Buruler steed's broken leg now,
It will recover completely.

"Khan's vocation is to defend territory,
Khan's responsibility is to protect his people.
Head all heroes and warriors to the battlefield,
Destroy Karamark invaders,
Protect our people together now!"

At the moment losing his only son,
At the moment heart burning with rage,
Bakay still could present his views righteously,
Jalgezack sighed with sorrow:
"My respected uncle,
Please look straight at me.
When we dedicate ourselves to fighting against Wusangan,
When we were going to poke him to death,
I got enemy's secret hit.

"There are sharpshooters hidden in Karamark troops,
They shoot whistling arrows secretly,
It pierced through my arm,

My uncle,
I will never forget your bosom words,
I will remember them forever!"

Fire in the chest burned suddenly,
As fierce as wild fire in forest,
The damned Kangkoer's offspring,
He shouted loudly and furiously:

"My respected uncle, you have seen,
Buruler got an arrow shot,
I felt helpless to do anything at the moment,
Before that sharp arrows shot toward me,
I was lucky that they only pierced through my Akorlbok coat armor.

"The power of the sharp arrows is not strong enough,
They did not pierce through my skin.
When countless arrows shot at me,
Arrow points turned into soft willow twigs,
Rebounded and fell onto the ground."

Bakay asked when he heard what the tyrant said:
"My kid, what are you talking about?
When sharp arrows pierced through,
Maybe you did not sense it!

"When you were furious,
You did not notice when you got injured.
Where did sharp arrows hit you?
Let me have a look at where you got hit!"

Bakay looked at Semtay's coat armor,
Sharp arrows had pierced through his coat armor and armor,
But there was no wound on the hero,
Bakay was astonished with his eyes widely open.

When people felt confused and looked at each other,

The sage came to them,
A naked red kid stood in front of them and answered:
"I was worried the lion would be injured,
When the arrows almost pierced him,
I arrived in time,
Grasped the arrows,
And pulled them out and then I left."

The red kid described excitedly,
Semtay and Jalgezack,
Heard the voice of the kid,
But they could not see the kid.

Jalgezack was born smart and agile,
He continued the talk:
"My uncle,
Please listen carefully,
It is brave Krichorao,
Saved all us.
He rushed into Karamark troops,
Found out the guy who shot secretly,
And he shot the bastard to death.

"Then he returned and rescued us,
Evil bloodsucker Wusangan,
Was picked on his spear point,
He used the guy as a sign of victory,
Drove Karamark troops.
"Kanchorao's arm was shot broken,
He was badly injured,
Although he wanted to help the lion,
He was helpless to do anything."

Bakay began to say at the moment:
"Among Kangayi people,
There is a sharpshooter called Shipushaydar,
That is his Karamark name,

Others call him black monster.

"His son is Kogeojash,
He is also a famous sharpshooter.
The monster kills heroes and warriors,
I guess he did all these things.

"Now I Beygin to understand,
Heroes and warriors,
The person who killed my son,
Is not Wusangan,
It is Kogeojash who shot sharp arrows,
It is he who brings the miserable disaster to us.

"If Krichorao goes on expedition to far place,
If we lose Krichorao,
Who else can defend the honor?
We must find him back immediately,
Can Ayichulek find him?
Can she chase the hero and get him back?"
Elder Bakay finished his words,
Headed all heroes and warriors,
Returned to the city.

Bakay Khan himself was a doctor,
He gave a medical treatment,
To Jalgezack and Kanchorao's injured arms,
Prayed to God for them to recover soon.
Applied herb medicine,
To Tayibruler's shinbone and bound up,
He said it would get well soon.

He asked to make a gold powder pot,
Asked to bring white gauze,
Took Baytaylak's body back from the wilderness,
Warriors washed the hero gently,
Bakay wrapped his only son carefully,

People buried Baytaylak,
With a grand funeral.

Krichorao drove enemies and went away,
No one knew where he went,
Ayichulek looked for him in the sky,
Who could go and look for him on the ground?
There was no suitable person to do it.
People had no idea at the moment,
Old hero Jamgerchy was a hundred and thirty years old,
He was determined to go.

Hero Jamgerchy was different,
He rode on an old horse Wularboz,
He wore Bayandoz gown,
He never took a bow and arrows,
He never held a knife or spear in the hand either.

No matter when he met enemies,
He always pulled out a tree without hesitation,
He used it to kill enemies,
That was his habit.

He did not care he was old,
But he was still like a young man,
He galloped his Wularboz horse,
Went forward majestically.
Let us put this aside,
Sing a more wonderful story,
Listen to how Krichorao killed Giobatay.

Giobatay Invaded Talas

Jamgerchy Sacrificed His Family to Righteousness and Went to Die

On his way,
Old hero Jamgerchy met a young man:
"Strange kid,
You are so cute,
Where are you going?
You are a lovely boy like a leopard,
Can you tell me the truth?"

The young boy asked in reply:
"You are an old man,
Where are you going in such a hurry?"
"Do not ask me, young boy,
Tell me your information first.
If you do not tell the truth,
I will kill you now!"

The boy did not want to answer the elder at all,
Turned his horse round and wanted to go away.
Old hero Jamgerchy got very angry,
He was agile and acted fast,
Before the boy could turn his horse round,
He grasped the boy's clothes edge immediately.

The old hero was old but he was strong,
He bent over and grasped the boy easily.
The boy became frightened,
The poor young man was caught,
He began to reply,

He told all the truth:

"Wusangan set out in advance not long ago,
He headed troops and marched to Talas.
Whether he succeeded or failed,
There is no news coming.
Giobatay orders me to scout,
Then he will head hundreds of thousands of troops to fight.

"Behind the hill that behind me,
There are numerous Karamark troops,
Once they all come,
How Kirgiz can resist them?"

He told the truth without hiding anything,
The boy gave a rough talk.
Jamgerchy was very angry,
Pressed the boy under his arm,
Cut his ear off suddenly,
Blood shed over the boy's face:

"Hold your ear in the hand,
Tell them it is Jamgerchy who does this.
Do not hide and report to them now,
Tell them Jamgerchy has come."

He handed the ear to the boy,
Made the boy set out on the way,
Then he prayed to God:
"God, I pray to you for help,
I have never heard this guy before,
He might be a new hero.
I will fight against invading enemy Giobatay,
Let me poke the spear point into his liver."

Old Jamgerchy,
Looked at both sides excitedly.

He licked his lips with his tongue,
A towering plane tree,
Was pulled out and held in his hand.

He had lost the color on his face,
He had lost energy of his waist.
Although he braced up and went to fight,
It exposed he was old and weak.

The hero had his chin up and chest out in the past,
Bow he was like a crooked old tree,
Swung with wind.
He had no teeth in his mouth,
His lips drooped.

He did not lose the heroic manner in his heart,
Jamgerchy released his breath gently,
He thought the boy had gone back,
He must report his coming.
The old hero encouraged himself,
And got ready for a fierce fight.

He felt the moment had come,
It was time for him to display his skills:
"Buruler steed is the support,
Its leg has broken and unable to ride it anymore.
Hero Semtay,
Was abandoned in the wilderness mercilessly.
Old Bakay Khan is so poor,
Enemy cuts his only son's head off,
He falls into deep sorrow.

"Wusangan acted violently,
But Krichorao poked him off his steed,
Sharpshooter Kogeojash killed countless people,
He also died under Krichorao's arrows."
Jamgerchy recalled what had happened:

"Now I am old,
But at this crucial moment,
I cannot retreat.

"Can Krichorao find the invading enemies?
Can he come and fight against the enemies?
If he goes back to Sire Korgan city,
Maybe he will follow my trace and come.

"In case Kogeojash still has a breath,
Does he kill Krichorao?
Once Krichorao loses life,
That means the fate is destined,
We are going to be destroyed completely!"

Jamgerchy thought about all these things,
Put the plane tree across the saddle,
Rushed forward regardless everything.
He did not lose his heroic manner,
His shouting was loud although he was old.

He panted heavily a little when went up the hill,
He also held his breath and coughed some.
He coughed with too much force,
Because he got old,
He passed wind when he held breath.
Jamgerchy marched forward,
He climbed up the hill all of a sweat.

Beneath Yuchykoshaoyi rock,
It was a flat swamp,
Karamark troops pitched their camps there,
They had no caution at all.

Jamgerchy climbed up the high hill and watched,
The young man had galloped back.
As soon as he went back,

The young man began to complain to Giobatay:
"I carry out your order strictly,
Behind the hill in the front,
I met an old man.

"The old man asked me,
He asked where I was going forcibly.
I did not answer him directly,
I did not greet him either.
I thought he was only an old man,
What he could do to me.

"I did not put this old man in eyes at all,
I said scornful words to him.
When I wanted to turn round and leave,
He dragged me back to his saddle.
He pressed me under his thigh,
Put my head on his pommel.

"He humiliated me and tortured me,
He cut my ear off mercilessly.
He handed my ear to me,
Ordered me to take my ear back,
Report to you everything,
Without hiding anything.

"That crazy and weird old man,
He let me off and come back.
These are words I bring back to you,
I lost my ear wrongly,
Khan, please avenge me.

"On my way back,
I climbed up a hill and watched,
I observed that weird old man secretly,
His action is surprising.
"There is a towering plane tree beside him,

He held the tree trunk tight,
Pulled the tree out with its root,
Then he put the tree across his saddle.
He galloped his horse forward,
Followed my way,
He wanted to make us miserable!"

Getting the enemy's news,
Giobatay was wild with joy,
The reason of his joy was:
Giobatay was born super strong,
He grew up in the place Khitan and Karamark mixed,
He never met a rival there.

In wrestling,
He won the first prize for many times,
He defeated numerous heroes and earned the honor.
Kunwuerbayi and Aisan Khan,
Once frighteningly became his defeated opponents.

He had a strong militant attitude,
He was excited as he heard the enemy's news.
After he knew Jamgerchy's information,
He had to make a preparation:

"The old man is alone without a troop,
He comes to give me his life alone.
Let me pierce his liver and lung through,
I will swallow the fat on his liver.
I will fill wood basin with his blood,
I will drink his blood.
If I cannot achieve what I say,
Let me, Giobatay, disappear forever!

"My second brother Wusangan went in advance,
I must get his news.
Sharpshooter Kogeojash,

If he is still alive,
We brothers and he will unite,
Even Semtay is a lofty mountain,
I will turn him over!"

Giobatay talked wildly,
With an angry voice.
Battle drums beat and flags waved,
Karamark warriors mounted their horses,
Held bows and arrows on their shoulders.
The earth became boiling suddenly,
Troops swarmed forward.
In a blink of an eye,
They had approached Jamgerchy.
Facing the hundreds of thousands of coming troops,
Jamgerchy looked perfectly calm.

As seeing Jamgerchy,
Those militant guys were all frightened.
They saw him crossing the whole tree on his saddle,
They saw his manly majesty,
They saw he was different and he was a giant.

Soldiers dare not approach him,
They observed him secretly and distantly:
He was a hill, not a normal person,
Because of the plane tree and its top,
His mount and the lower part of his body had been covered,
He moved forward like a mountain.

Seeing his huge figure,
Giobatay had thousands of thoughts in his mind.
He did not rush up and fight,
But he watched carefully on the rival's weak point.
He found Jamgerchy was big and strong,
But he was an old man over one hundred years old.
He waved the big tree like fierce wind did,

But he was old and lacked staying power.

Jamgerchy swung the tree,
Swept toward Karamark troops fiercely,
Rows of Karamark soldiers,
Were knocked down like heys.
Groups of Karamark generals,
Were driven away like herds of sheep.

Right at the moment,
One hero came to him,
It was hero Krichorao.
Krichorao appeared suddenly,
Jamgerchy felt surprised and happy.

Krichorao drove Wusangan's defeated soldiers,
He killed those stubborn enemies,
Karamark soldiers who had surrendered,
He gave them to Kirgiz people as slaves.

After he finished this work,
He marched toward Kankoler,
He found death was in the air there suddenly,
So he turned his horse round and came.

He only left this place for a few days,
He did not meet something big between these days,
But he met such massive troops here.
He did not recognize it was Karamark troop,
He did not know who they were,
So he stood at the outer-ring and watched.

When a round of fight finished,
He recognized Jamgerchy.
Seeing Jamgerchy fought alone,
Krichorao was very surprised,
He did not know what had happened.

He suddenly calculated in his mind:
"I have killed bastard Wusangan,
Kogeojash also went to the hell.
Are these the same Karamark people?
Do they come and invade Kirgiz again?
Before Kirgiz people can take a breath,
They will carry out bloodbath to Kirgiz tribes again.

"Now only Jamgerchy is here,
An old man of a hundred and thirty years old resists enemies alone,
Hero Semtay and Jalgezack,
Hero Kanchorao with great strength,
Old uncle Bakay Khan,
Do they all die?

"Among my fellow people,
Only elder Jamgerchy is here,
Is it said he is the only fellow left?"
Krichorao thought about this,
His heart was torn with anxiety,
He wanted to get there and ask uncle Jamgerchy.

Krichorao was born a warlord,
His power doubled once he met a battle.
He never knew what was tiredness,
No matter he ate or not.
Even he continued marching for thirty days,
He never knew whether he was hungry,
He neither felt dizzy because of hunger,
Nor vomited yellow saliva because of hunger.
The lion was born brave and smart,
He fought from strength to strength.
Once Krichorao encountered enemies,
He would have endless energy,
There was no such elite among human beings,
He never felt tired and never lacked strength.

Giant Wusangan's head,
Was tied on his saddle,
Enemies came to challenge him,
He never let them off.

He was the hero who killed Chinkogeo,
He was the hero who sent Toltoy into the hell.
He was the hero who picked Wusangan on his spear,
And cut his head off.
He was the hero who shot Kogeojash with arrows,
And made him bleed and die.
He was the hero,
Who wiped out hundreds of thousands of Karamark troops.

All enemies walked into the hell,
As long as they challenged him.
He was with great strength and skills,
He was hot-tempered but wise.

When he saw Jamgerchy,
He was too impatient to wait,
He called his uncle loudly,
With his highest voice,
But the old man did not respond at all,
He had no time to care about the etiquette in the hurry,
He called Jamgerchy's name directly.

He galloped his grey steed,
Waved his leather whip when he went down the hill.
When he arrived at the side of the old man,
Jamgerchy turned his head round suddenly,
When he saw Krichorao,
He burst into loud laughter:

"My baby Kristan,
You know it is our hard time:

Buruler steed had its leg broken,
Koshaoyi Khan's son Jalgezack,
His shoulder was shot broken,
He has to rest and heal his wound.
Kariala steed also got a sharp arrow shot,
Kanchorao's arm got shot too,
It is broken right from his elbow.

"The bastard's arrows are very sharp,
You were present at the moment.
When Baytaylak fell in battle,
You witnessed it,
You rushed into enemy troops like a storm,
With your powerful bow and arrows,
Shot that bastard to death.

"Your sharp spear,
Pricked into Wusangan's liver mercilessly.
Then you picked him on spear and pursued,
Rushed into Karamark troops.
People are worried after you left,
So I come to look for you.

"Right beneath the hill in the front,
There was a person coming.
I turned my horse round,
Reined my horse and asked for his information.

"I was cold-shouldered because I am old,
He answered beyond the question,
So I grabbed him immediately,
Pressed him on my horse saddle.

"I cut his ear off angrily,
Handed his ear to him,
Then I questioned him again.
Under the threat and fright,

He told me the truth.

"He came after Wusangan's troops,
And he scouted in advance,
He said massive troops are coming after him.
He said Giobatay is their leader,
He is a peerless hero,
He is called giant no one could defeat.

"I let the boy off,
Then I pulled a plane tree out with its root,
It is hero's spirit that helps me,
Let you come and meet me here.

"My dear tiger Kristan,
Your face is radiant,
You should listen with your heart,
To your uncle's bosom words.

"Do not come up and stop me:
Hope me, Jamgerchy, still alive,
Do not think like this,
I do not need to stay at home and close my eyes.
When wives and concubines fight over my property,
Do I hope to leave this world like that?
Life and death are determined by god,
It is useless if you want to avoid it.

"I had a dream three months ago,
It was a strange dream.
I dreamed I drove hundreds of thousands of enemy troops,
I used a huge plane tree,
Swept invading enemies.

"I chased after enemies and they ran everywhere,
The disaster fell right at the moment,
A sharp spear pierced through my chest,

Blood ran out of my chest.

"Followed close behind it,
A bunch of mad dogs barked and chased around me,
I wore funeral clothes soon after.
It seems death is not far from me,
I realize clearly my life is going to an end.

"Since Yesitik tribe became my subjects,
I marched for my people's peaceful life.
I set mountain-size ideal for me,
I never hold a weapon in my hand,
I just pull up trees to fight against enemies at any time.

"When I went to Beygin city a long time ago,
Khitan was frightened out of their wits,
Then I became well-known in the world.

"I led troops against Karamark for five times,
I brought peace and honor to my people.
Now I have a card up my sleeve,
I will welcome and challenge the death calmly.

"Do not let me stay at home and die,
My kid, do not let me suffer like that.
At the last minute of my life,
Let me die a glorious death in the battlefield!"

Jamgerchy pleaded like this,
He did not turn his horse round,
He did not stop either,
Whipped his horse and galloped away.

Karamark was well-prepared,
He braced up to fight:
"As long as Kirgiz are not wiped out,
I will not put my long spear down,

If you, the old bastard, do not die,
Let me, the bloodsucker, go to die!"

Exasperated Giobatay,
Dashed ahead regardless of his safety.
He swung his iron spear in the hand,
Roared with rage,
Like storms swept over the earth.

Krichorao stood in the center in an instant,
He persuaded Jamgerchy sincerely:
"Give up, uncle, stop now,
Please be rational and calm!
Your junior Krichorao in front of you,
Pleads you to turn your horse round.

"I beg you to cheer for me by the side,
Please pray for me and wish me the best,
Let me deal with this bastard.

"If you die in the wilderness,
How I can abandon your body,
I do not want to cry over your corpse.
Young Baytaylak just left us,
If you, my dear uncle, leave us too,
How do you let us bear it?

"It is young people's matter to fight in the battlefield,
You should stay at home and enjoy your life.
As long as God does not call you,
You should enjoy a happy life!"

No matter how Krichorao persuaded,
Jamgerchy did not give up.
Facing Krichorao who was stopping him,
The experienced old rider shouted:
"If you get my blessing and prayer,

Can you have three heads and six arms?
Can you become a hero?
I will help you achieve it,
I wish you with a long life,
If I die,
Let my soul accompany you and bless you all the time.

"If Giobatay is really as sharp as a razor,
Let me witness his power.
If God wants me to die,
Let me die.
My kid, do not stop me,
Let me die gloriously!"
Jamgerchy persisted in not giving up,

Giobatay swung the long spear in the hand,
And roared with rage,
He waited to send the old hero to the grave.
When Krichorao overlooked,
Giobatay was really ferocious,
He once had met numerous powerful enemies,
But he looked more merciless than others,
He was really powerful.

Giobatay had three inner-layer armors,
And seven armors outside.
He could bear such heavy iron armors,
He was really with great strength.
His oldest brother was the famous hero Wushan,
His second brother was devil Wusangan,
Three brothers followed Kunwuerbayi all the time,
He was a famous Karamark hero,
He was the backbone for Kunwuerbayi.
Who else in the world could defeat him?

If it is the end of your life,
The death is here for you.

Jamgerchy must fight against Giobatay,
Krichorao cannot stop him at all,
I have to pray for him:
"Ah, God, please bless him,
Uncle, go now, wish you succeed."

Once seeing the Karamark's figure,
Hero Krichorao sighed with emotion:
"Holy God is so marvelous,
How many creatures you have created!

"You make some people into kings,
You make some into bandits;
You make some into giants,
You turn some into cowards.
You make some succeed in their career,
You make some with rough future.
It is you, the sacred creator,
You bring happiness and sadness to the world.

"You create merciless Giobatay,
You also create a heroic me.
Today you drive this bastard to me,
Let me, your royal servant,
Punish the evil monster,
Let me wipe this devil out.

"Almighty creator!
You turn spring into winter,
You turn hot summer into fall.
You make us sow in spring,
And make us harvest in fall.

"You make the world peaceful,
You make all creatures have lives.
But I cannot understand,
Why are there so many bad guys among Karamark?

"I have not witnessed but I heard,
In the time of my Khan father,
You created Kunwuerbayi and giant Markel.
You created Khan Manas,
And heroes Almanbet and Chuwak too.

"You let justice and evil,
Come into the world in blood and fire,
And die in blood and fire then.
You let all creatures smile in breeze,
You let all creatures groan in cold wind.

"Ah, fair creator,
Sometimes you are so unfair!
Why do you act on your own will?
Why do you make such ferocious Karamark,
Come and fight against this old man?
Do not you think it is a cruel disaster in the world?

"We are under your majestic manner,
You level lofty mountains to ground.
It is hard for me to imagine,
To your people living a happy life,
Why do you allow,
Such misdeeds to happen!"
Krichorao complained,
He begged the Creator to help,
Did not want old Jamgerchy to go to the battlefield,
Did not let him suffer from the disaster.

Wore a coat armor and a cloak,
Rode on Surkoyun steed majestically,
Krichorao carried Sire spear in the hand,
He did not go and fight against enemies,
He felt pitiful:
"My big brother inflicts heavy losses,

Jalgezack and Kanchorao,
Now are injured badly.
Uncle Bakay has a furious fire burning in his heart,
His heart is tortured badly.

"My uncle, hero Jamgerchy,
He entrusts me heroically.
When he comes with confidence,
He meets such a powerful enemy."

Krichorao was angry,
When he sighed out of heart,
Old hero Jamgerchy could not control his rage,
He had rushed toward the enemy.

Hero Krichorao was in a trance,
He was at a loss about what to do,
He felt regretful from the bottom of his heart.
Seeing the severe situation,
His heart was torn with grief.
He was like to pass out,
He felt dizzy,
It seemed he could not sit still on the horseback.

Right at this critical moment,
A giant rode on Sariala steed,
Came to his side,
And shouted in a loud voice:
"Cannot you know me?
You did not see me when I was alive,
But my soul has seen you for many times.
I am your father Almanbet."

He grabbed Krichorao's wrist:
"I give you the power of my arms!"
Then he fondled Krichorao's head:
"I give you all my strength!

My kid, you must be strong,
Wish you conquer everything!"

A beam of strong light shined after the words,
Then disappeared immediately.
In the time of a blink of an eye,
Krichorao had full of force.

Krichorao opened his eyes and looked,
Giant Jamgerchy was still rushing in the front.
Krichorao thought with joy:
"My father has given me full of power,
Self-confident Giobatay,
He has seen his time to pillow the earth,
When is his time if he does not die now?"

He tied his belt and made up his mind,
Young Krichorao,
Had joy and confidence of success,
He whipped the horse and chased after.

Old hero was in high spirits,
Put the grey helmet on his head well,
On mountain-size horseback,
He could not calm down.
He continued whipping the horse,
Leaned forward on the horse mane skillfully,
Silver beard waved in front of his chest,
The war robe fluttered in the wind,
He roared and rushed forward.
In a blink of an eye,
He had caught up with the Karamark.

A spear crossed in front of him suddenly,
One Karamark blocked his way.
Karamark general came out suddenly,
Shouted majestically:

"I am famous Shaymanbet!"

When he heard the name Shaymanbet,
Jamgerchy quivered all over,
He shouted with rage:
"You are a shameless traitor,
You make me disgraced,
You are the cause of ruin.
You bring Karamark troops here,
Rob and kill your own fellow people!

"You betray your land to Karamark,
You give away your people shamelessly,
In front of the world,
You make me lose my face.

"You are the scum of the nation,
It is the biggest shame of my life,
Having you as my son.
People love and have pity for you,
Do they have good ends?

" 'The scum son betrayed his own people,
Is killed by Jamgerchy in person.'
I will leave this in the world.
In front of the spirit of hero Ayikoler Manas,
And numerous heroes' spirits,
Wash the injustice and my grievance!"

Elder Jamgerchy was furious,
He waved the tree,
Shaymanbet betrayed his own people,
Jamgerchy pounded him down on the ground.

Silver sword left a rusty spot since then,
"Jamgerchy killed by his own hand,
His scum son who betrayed his own people."

A deed praised far and wide spread.

"I have killed my scum son,
Karamark people, come and fight now!"
He roared and rushed into the enemy troops,
Clashed in every direction,
Pounded numerous enemies to death with his head.

People next to the plane tree,
None of them survived.
Like a ton of bricks,
He rushed to the front of Giobatay.

On the way rushing toward Giobatay,
He made all karamark that encountered him,
Fall and cry.

Jamgerchy's heroic undertaking of killing his son,
Made people respect him.
The scum son who betrayed his own people,
He pounded him to death mercilessly.
Proved how detestable the traitor was,
He became the hero of the nation.

"I have no regret even I die now,
I send the traitor to the hell,
With my own hands!"
He felt contented from the bottom of his heart.

"In front of respected Suritan Manas,
In front of our people's hometown Talas,
I retrieved my dignity and honor,
I leave an example and lesson,
To our future generations!"
Jamgerchy felt proud of himself.

Karamark felt surprised and frightened,

They said he was a crazy Kirgiz.

Giant Jamgerchy and Giobatay,
Started a fierce challenge against each other.
Without the old rules of taking turns,
Without the politeness of courtesy,
Damned young and strong Giobatay,
Waved the long spear and launched an attack.

Jamgerchy was old,
But he warded the coming spear off,
Waved the plane tree and pounded toward the enemy.

Giobatay dodged the coming tree,
He grabbed the tree in his hand,
Then he turned round,
Pounded toward Jamgerchy's head fiercely.
Giobatay became angry from shame,
Pounded angrily with the plane tree,
Old hero Jamgerchy fought all his life,
Now he was pounded into the earth,
He and the horse disappeared together,
Transferred into a rainbow raising into sky.

Krichorao Killed Giobatay Angrily

Krichorao was overlooking on the battlefield,
How he could just look on and do nothing.
He whipped Surkoyun steed as much as raindrops,
He shouted the prestigious name Manas loudly,
Waved Sire spear and rushed forward courageously.

Krichorao galloped forward like a whirlwind,
He pursued Giobatay crazily.
When Krichorao's spear poked out,
Agile Giobatay,
Pulled Krichorao's coming spear hard,
Tried to take his spear over.

Krichorao grasped the spear pole in the hand tight,
Tried his best to drag it back.
Giobatay also pulled with full of his strength,
Both of them did not let it off.
Both heroes did not loose their hands,
The spear almost broke in two.

Then they let it off at the same time,
And lifted their crescent axes.
With a chain of clang,
They cut and warded,
Iron-made axes had their blades curled up.
Both axes had been broken,
They had to fight with the back of axes.

They fought fiercely face to face,

They were like two naughty kids,
They fought fiercely without thinking of time.
The battleaxes were not useful anymore,
They threw them away at the same time,
They drew the knife and sword out of the sheaths,
Flashing with the knife and sword,
Smoke spread all over the place.

They were both peerless heroes,
They never got injured under others' weapons.
One cut and the other warded it off,
Knife and sword clanged and flames splashed,
Knife and sword broken in the middle,
They threw them away,
Lifted yurt-size hammers.

They were both giants,
When they pounded hammers with full of their strength,
Mountains would be smashed.
They roared and pounded toward each other,
Two hammers knocked together like mountains collided,
An earthshaking noise was made,
Spreading smoke came out.

All weapons were damaged,
They had become bare-handed.
All weapons turned into scrap iron,
Both of them were empty-handed.

Only Jamgerchy's plane tree was in the sight,
Giobatay was trying to get it,
He calculated in his mind,
Before he could reach his hand out to get it,
Krichorao had lifted it in his hand.

Strong phane tree trunks fanned,
Krichorao pounded it toward the rival with great strength,

Giobatay leaned to one side and warded it off.
Angry Krichorao turned crazier,
He lifted the tree and swept toward the rival.

Giobatay grabbed the tree,
They began to pull over the tree.
They were well-matched in strength,
Such a fierce contest was hard to see in the world,
Such brave and peerless men were even harder to see!

The tree had been pulled apart,
They twisted and tussled together.
Armors and coat armors on them,
Had been torn into pieces.
Exhausted roaring shook the earth,
Like dragon roared.

Krichorao was in a towering rage,
He shouted to the spirit of Ayikoler:
"Wish ancestor Manas to come and help,
Let your bosom friends Almanbet and Chuwak,
Come and help.
Without your help,
How I can defeat,
The damned Karamark!"

Hero Krichorao became extremely angry,
He held the axe back with only half handle,
The young hero was like a tiger,
Who dares to come and challenge him!

Almanbet's son Krichorao,
Roared like thunderstorms,
Angry flames splashed out of his eyes,
Like dancing flames in steel furnace.
He could not control his wrath,
Gnashed his teeth with angry eyes.

All hair on his body stood up,
Pierced through his coat armor like burrs.

Anger showed on krichorao's face like tiger roared out of forest,
Beard on his face was in a mess.
He opened his eyes and took a look,
He felt the moon shining all over him.
He had a presentiment that,
If he launched a fierce attack,
He could send the damned strong enemy into hell.

Giobatay was a cunning enemy,
Although he did not get injured at all,
But under Krichorao's successive attacks,
He began to feel tired.
He beckoned to Krichorao suddenly,
He wanted to stop the fight and talk:
"What is your name, hero?"
Giobatay asked his name by surprise,
He inquired all the information suddenly.

He pretended to be calm and polite,
But the hatred in his heart was hard to be covered.
With strong and thick shoulders,
Like blazing flames,
Furious fire spouted out of his eyes,
It was like to swallow the rival.

Krichorao knew he was playing the trick,
So he took the chance and had a rest.
As a rule of the battlefield,
Krichorao had to stop attacking.
He replied the rival:
"Ayikoler Manas is my father,
I do not talk nonsense and cheat you,
Semtay is my brother,
You should know the relationship!

"You want to know who is fighting against you,
It seems you want to die reasonably,
You do not want to die confusedly,
You are really a hero.

"You dare compete with me,
Hero, you are a lion too.
You can stand my attack,
Hero, you are a mountain.
You are strong and you can bear everything,
Hero, you are a true man.
I have not seen a warrior like you before,
Hero, you are a strong man.

"Your strength is like surging waves,
Hero, you are a general.
You fight against me for a long time,
Hero, you are a great general.
You bring disasters to all people,
Hero, you are a devil.
Tell me the truth,
Hero, who are you?"

Giobatay answered like this:
"I was born in Kala Karamark tribe,
I come from Wuergu.
I live together with Khitan people,
I come from the boundary of it.

"In order to let Kirgiz pay their blooddebt back,
I will avenge my oldest brother.
My oldest brother's name is Wushan,
In Kankoler battle,
Kirgiz people took his life away.

"Wusangan went to the battle before me,

He is my second brother,
Now I do not know whether he is alive or not.
My name is Giobatay,
This is the first time I step on this land.

"My father's name is Wushanda,
My name is a Kazakh name,
When my sister married a Kazakh,
She once raised me.

"I feel surprised about you,
I am shocked with your great power.
Like willow twigs waved with wind,
You are too young, Krichorao.
Have much experience in battles,
You are skillful, Krichorao.
Like an iron-made man,
You are as solid as a rock, Krichorao.
Strong and tall like lofty mountains,
You are a peak, Krichorao.
As vast as prairie,
You are broad-minded, Krichorao.

"With full of energy,
You are a true man, Krichorao.
As agile as a leopard,
You are a ferocious lion, Krichorao.
As solid as iron,
You are really strong, Krichorao.
Once defeated countless rivals,
You are exceptional, Krichorao.
A rival worth me competing,
You are peerless in the world, Krichorao.
You come alone and proudly,
Come here and meet me,
Here is the place to bury you,
I believe you have no chance to go back alive."

Krichorao heard what Giobatay said,
He felt excited,
He looked up,
Said with bright piercing eyes:

"Giobatay, please listen to me carefully,
You have told me your life,
I really did not know your background,
I only want to tell you your brother's news.

"Your arrogant second brother Wusangan,
When he came and invaded my homeland,
When he occupied Sire Korgan city,
When he killed my fellow people,
When my heart burned like flames,
When I was filled with rage,
When that peerless and ever-victorious general,
Cut Khan Bakay's beloved son's head off,
He was merciless,
So I killed Kogeojash,
I sent Wusangan to the hell too.

"I destroyed his arms,
I picked his corpse on my spear point,
I lifted his corpse up high.

"Numerous Karamark troops,
I drove them and killed them,
I made them disappear completely!

"I defeated your Karamark troops,
I took my treasures back.
I drove my livestock back,
I have avenged.
I have divided all prisoners,
Gave them as trophies.

"After I did all these things,
I came here,
I met you by accident,
I feel pitiful for elder Jamgerchy,
But you killed him mercilessly!

"I am not a hero easily to be defeated,
I am not a lion easily to be defeated either.
Karamark and Kirgiz people,
Have deep hatred for years.
Let my heroism increase,
Let my enemies scatter,
Let invaders die out,
Let enemies never come back again!"

When he heard what Krichorao said,
Giobatay was like a mad lion,
He could not sit still on the horseback.
He became furious with a bad face:
"Tell me the truth, Krichorao!
When and where did Kunwuerbayi die?"

Krichorao answered him:
"Kunwuerbayi has died for three months,
Black-hearted bastard Kunwuerbayi,
Played all kinds of tricks in his life.
He cheated us to negotiate on one hand,
He sent bloodsucker Wusangan,
To sneak to Talas on the other hand,
His plot of taking Sire Korgan city,
Was exposed to the world.

"He pretended to calculate the number of dead warriors,
He actually wanted to take our land,
We figured his trick out quickly,
Almanbet's son Krichorao,

I was their interpreter.

"As long as Kunwuerbayi saw me,
He was scared out of his wits.
He was in a hurry,
To run off from me.
I pursued him without thinking of anything,
I caught him in the rapid current.
I cut his head off at the place,
Let his dirty blood spray and killed a devil for my people.
After Kunwuerbayi lost his life,
Karamark troops scattered for their lives!"

When Krichorao talked about this,
Giobatay's tears ran like rain,
He picked the damaged knife from the ground,
Rushed toward Krichorao,
Started an earthshaking fight.

He shouted himself hoarse,
To avenge his dead brothers,
Giobatay was wild with rage:
"You said you killed Wusangan,
You said you smashed his corpse.
You boasted you shot Kogeojash to death,
You praised you are a sharpshooter.

"Krichorao, do not sing your own praises,
You make me angrier and angrier.
Merciless and black hell,
It is waiting for you, Krichorao!

"If you do not fear and do not flee,
Let us fight in rounds.
Fighting without a rule,
Let's give it up if you are a hero.

"Let's fight in rounds, Krichorao,
The first chance of attack belongs to you,
The rest of attacking chances are all mine,
Let's fight for three rounds.
Who is a hero and who is a coward,
Let the true power talk!"

Giobatay stopped there,
Krichorao agreed:
"I agree on you,
You come from afar,
The first attack is yours."
Krichorao said frankly.

Rage in the heart was burned,
His heart was cut when his fellows died,
Two brothers were killed,
Rage made him lose his mind.

When Giobatay felt extremely grieved,
When he got the chance to attack first,
The arrogant Karamark,
Burned like blazing flames,
He wanted to swallow Krichorao.

Ancient giants had a rule in battle,
That was fight alone and in rounds and turns,
The warrior who gave up the attacking chance,
Should come into the battlefield and accepted the attack.
The hero who had the attacking chance,
Would whip the horse and launch the attack.
He could choose the best weapon,
He could attack with his best skills.

Hero who accepted the attack,
Should stay there still.

Giobatay got the chance to attack first,
Krichorao gave up the first attack,
So he stood majestically in the center of the battlefield,
He did not put Giobatay in his eyes at all.
He held a huge and solid shield,
Wore an iron helmet,
Rose like a tomb.

Krichorao stood there still,
Stared with his sharp eyes,
Watched Giobatay carefully:
He was with great skills and power,
It was well-matched his heroic manner.

From his shoulder,
He took grey Aliniger iron bow off,
Reached his hand into arrow bag,
Took out sharp arrows quickly.

He was ready to launch an attack,
It was a rule handed down from ancestors:
If a man was a real knight,
He must be agile and quick,
He must dodge coming arrows.

The sharp arrows of Aliniger bow,
Giobatay held them in his hands.
He drew the bow with full of his strength,
The bow made a cracking sound,
It seemed it would break in any second.

When the sharp arrow left the bow,
Like a firelock was lit,
Surprising sound came out from the arrow tail,
The roaring sound pierced through ears.

Facing such powerful sharp arrows,

Who could stand still and do not move?
Let's look at lion Krichorao,
How he acted.

With a cracking sound,
Grey sharp arrow left the bow,
And approached Krichorao in a blink of an eye.
Hero Krichorao was as brave as a lion,
He was perfectly calm.
He watched the coming arrow,
It was aiming at his forehead.

Krichorao had great martial skills,
He leaned his body to the left of the horse immediately,
Dodged the arrow under people's watchful eyes,
Who had ever witnessed such a great hero!

The second arrow came right after the first one,
It roared and came.
Krichorao looked ahead,
The arrow was coming toward his liver.
When the arrow approaching,
Toward the right side of his mount,
He leaned agilely.

Right at the same time,
The sharp arrow broke the pommel,
Fell off on the ground behind the horsetail.

The rival had dodged two arrows,
Giobatay felt angry and frightened.
He braced himself up,
Drew the bow with full of his strength.

The bow was almost broken under his great power,
The bow and the string were drawn wide like a full moon,
The flying arrow with great power,

Made an ear-piercing noise.

Krichorao fixed his gaze,
The arrow was aiming at his thigh.
Well-trained Krichorao,
Looked forward to the arrow coming sooner.

When the sharp arrow approached his body,
When the arrow point almost touched his skin,
He grabbed the arrow suddenly.
He said Karamark arrow was a trophy,
Then he put it back into his arrow bag.

Giobatay witnessed what had happened,
He stamped with rage and worry,
He realized the guy was invincible.
Giobatay did not stop,
He calculated sharp arrows that could not hurt the rival,
He had to fight against the rival alone.

He picked the battle axe,
The axe blade had gone,
The axe back was still solid iron.
Giobatay roared like thunders,
Rushed ahead like storms.

Like a ferocious tiger rushed out of forest,
As furious as an angry dragon.
Held a huge shield in the hand,
Wore a grey helmet tight,
Krichorao kept his body unmoved,
Waited for Giobatay's attack.

When Giobatay rushed to him angrily,
Confidnet Krichorao,
Was still perfectly calm.

With all of his strength,
Giobatay pounded his axe at Krichorao fiercely.
Solid shield was knocked over,
The shield was pounded inside out.

Dust spread with a big bang,
The earth was blurred and nothing could be seen clearly,
All Karamark people present,
Did not know what had happened,
The shouts of "Where are you" came everywhere.

Krichorao was dizzy after the pound,
Sparks flew before his eyes.
When he heard the big noise,
He rushed out of the dust calmly.

Giobatay was pleased with himself,
He carried the axe and waited there,
He thought the rival should be smashed,
He was looking for Krichorao's corpse.
But Krichorao was safe and sound,
Whipped Surkoyun steed and galloped forward.
When he saw Krichorao,
He stamped with rage,
Angry flames burned in his eyes.

Sadness and anger filled up his heart,
He lifted the hammer in his hand,
Intended to pound at the head of the rival,
He was trying to make a last attack toward Krichorao.

He shouldered the hammer,
Whipped his horse,
Rushed to the hero madly.
Stepped on the stirrups with strength,
Bit lips tight,
He swore to destroy him with the hammer,

Send him to the hell.

He swung his yurt-size hammer,
Rushed ahead and gave a hard blow with his hammer.
Lion hero Krichorao,
Felt dizzy and had sparks flown in his eyes,
He quivered all over his body.

He recalled his memory to his infant time,
Mother's milk he once had,
Seemed to come back to his mouth,
He felt at ease immediately.

Krichorao took a new lease of life again,
He came to Giobatay.
The hammer Giobatay pounded down,
Had broken in two,
Giobatay felt worried and frightened,
He had no time to grasp the hammer head,
The hammer head had fallen to the ground.

He had launched three attacks,
Krichorao thought it was his time to attack,
Giobatay had to accept the death.
Krichorao thought like this,
Waited for Giobatay to come.

Stupid Giobatay should be cursed,
He was strong with great strength,
He had great skills.
Giobatay was an abnormal bastard,
Meeting a tiger like Krichorao,
He had realized his death was coming.

Manly hero Krichorao,
Let's look at his unique skills.
Sur bow handed down by ancestors,

He took it off from his shoulder,
Then took out from the arrow bag,
Arrows with prismatic heads.

He reached his arms out skillfully,
Leaned back and grabbed the bow tight,
Held the breath and aimed the arrow at Giobatay,
Shot the arrow toward his liver.

Sharp Sur arrow roared,
Like bullets shot out of the gun,
A thundering noise blasted,
A cloud of smoke fumed on the arrow tail.

If Giobatay was powerful,
Look at what he would do.
He looked ferocious,
He was a strong but stupid bastard,
When the sharp arrow approached him,
He leaned to one side.

When the arrow roared past,
He sat up straight on the horseback again!
Dodged the sharp arrow agilely,
He was a magical guy.

Facing such a skillful warrior,
Krichorao shot the second arrow,
He thought the guy must die this time.

The bow hero Krichorao used,
Was Sur bow,
His father hero Almanbet handed down,
It was a great bow.

Krichorao pulled with full of his strength,
The bow was almost broken,

Sharp Sur arrow left the bow rapidly,
Roaring arrow flew toward the rival,
Karamark Khan Giobatay,
Looked around and stood there still.

When the arrow approached,
When the arrow was going to pierce through him,
He had great skills,
The flying arrow roared in the sky,
He grasped it with his hand easily.

They both failed in shooting each other,
Almanbet's son Krichorao,
Put on his shoulder again,
The blade-curled crescent axe,
Rushed toward the battlefield.

Giobatay watched everything happen,
He did not fear at all.
The huge shield blocked in front of his face,
Iron helmet was on his head,
Layers of armour gowns were on him,
He sat on the horseback still.

The hero came from a royal family,
Followed the rule of the battlefield strictly,
Aimed at the enemy's solid shield,
Krichorao lifted his axe and pounded down with the axe back.

Flames and smoke leapt to the sky,
Splashed fire sparks lit withered grass.
Because he used too much power on the axe,
The earth was spread over with dust,
Covered with dust,
Giobatay had disappeared in it.

"Oh, hero Giobatay! where are you?"

Karamark people called together.
When hearing the calling,
He opened his eyes,
Braced himself up and kicked his horse,
Roared and rushed out of the dust.

As seeing Giobatay,
Hero Krichorao,
Flew into a rage.
Angry fire spouted from his eyes,
Fire of hatred burned in his heart.
He gnashed his teeth with anger,
Lifted the huge axe,
Roared and rushed toward Giobatay.

When he got close to Giobatay,
Facing the calm enemy,
He balanced the stirrups,
Stepped tight in the stirrups and straightened his body,
He bit his lips tight,
Pounded the battle axe with his full strength.

The shield in Giobatay's hand flew away in a bang,
The helmet was smashed,
The steed under him,
Its legs had been shaken and limp.

Giobatay on his horseback,
He could not escape from death,
He fell off the steed,
Died in the battlefield.

There was no blood on the battle axe,
Giobatay died on the ground,
The self-confident beast,
Was sent to the hell.
Giobatay had died,

But Krichorao did not let him off.
Krichorao roared like thunders,
He made Giobatay pillow the earth forever.

Arrogant Karamark general,
Lost his life.
Hundreds of thousands of troops behind him,
Put their hands on chests and kept silent.

Numerous soldiers were forced to come,
Some of them were overjoyed,
Some of them were frightened,
Some of them were scared out of their wits,
Some of them were worried.

Krichorao dealt with the aftermath,
He dismissed numerous Karamark soldiers.

Krichorao mounted Surkoyun steed,
Returned to his homeland Talas.

Semtay's Tayibruler steed,
Its shinbone had recovered,
Kanchorao's wound was cured too,
Jalgezack recovered and returned to hometown,
The dead were all buried in their homeland.

Let us put this aside,
Start the story,
From the fierce battle between Semtay and Wumaitoy!

Personal Animosity between Wumaitoy and Semtay

Wumaitoy Exhausted the Troops and Expected to Fight against Semtay

Kazakh and Karamark tribes,
Lived together where there was water and grass,
Koktoy was their Khan,
Ayidar khan was a famous rich man.
Ayidar khan's son Kokcher,
Was their reliable and trusted Khan,
Hero Kokcher's beloved son,
Was respectably called Wumaitoy Tolie.

Yurbi and Muzburchak,
Were their Khans,
When they left the human world,
There were still three Tolies in Kazakh.
Now they were united,
There was only one Tolie,
Kokcher's son Wumaitoy,
Was Khan of all Kazakh tribes.

He drank fresh horse milk wine,
Aimed at the moon and indulged in self-delusion.
He used the contract to make a trouble,
Launched an attack to Semtay.
What Kairimubayi said when he was dying,
Buried in his heart secretly.

He wanted to be Khan of sixty tribes' Arashi,
Even in his dreams,
He thought day and night:
"Arrogant bastard tyrant,

What's his action to us?
He does not say a word except acting on his will,
He went to Khitan place alone,
And signed a contract with them.

"He killed Kunwuerbayi,
He did not discuss with me about it,
What was he doing on earth?

"His father acted on his own will in the past,
Once concentrated the power in his hands.
He headed troops and attacked Beygin city recklessly,
Many people lost lives in vain.

"He kept forty warriors by his side,
Used these forty crazy thugs,
He carried out his brutal rule,
On Kazakh and Kirgiz people.

"His tyrant son Semtay,
Now even goes further!
He signed a contract with Kangayi tribes secretly,
He did not tell us after he came back.

"He did not care at all about what I said,
He never thinks highly of me,
Manas should be punished by the vow,
He cheated my father to follow him,
He made my father lose life in vain!

"Was he betrayed to Karamark?
Did he suffer from Kangayi's humiliation?
We have not seen him since then,
No one can explain it.

"Let me avenge my father,
If Semtay does not agree,

I will destroy his Sire city.
I will level it to the ground,
I will rob of everything in it.

"Is Semtay more powerful than me?
Am I inferior to him in strength?
Does he have more subjects than me?
Is it my will to yield to Semtay silently?
Is it my will to bow to Semtay humbly?

"Semtay is a ferocious tyrant,
He is the chief criminal trampling Arashi underfoot,
I must avenge my father!
I would rather commit suicide,
I would rather go to hell,
Than allow him to manipulate me obediently!"

Wumaitoy became angry from shame,
He called in his aides and staff immediately.
Butchered four fat mares,
Served hot mare meat.

The feast was over and the tablecloth was folded,
They walked in the yurt and sat cross-legged.
Wumaitoy poured out words,
He talked excitedly and impassionedly.
His voice got higher and higher,
With froth at the mouth and smoke out of nostrils.
He talked crazier and crazier,
Slobber ran down his mouth:

"Hey, all brothers present,
Young Tolie Wumaitoy,
I have some bosom words to tell you.
Please keep your promise,
Listen to me carefully!
"Brothers, if I do not tell you,

Who else I can tell my misery to.
People's sarcasm and sharp remarks,
Always hurt my dignity.

"In order to maintain my dignity and honor,
I do not care about how much gold and silver I need to spend!
Now I, Wumaitoy, am very satisfied,
We have enough treasures and capable power,
To assemble troops to resist Semtay.

"If we do not assemble troops for the sake of the honor,
If we do not recruit soldiers and buy horses to prepare,
Do we still act like cowards?
Is it still my time to shirk?

"I feel ashamed when I think about it,
Everything that has happened is vivid in my mind!
I call all of you in on purpose,
My respected elders and brothers!

"Cruel tyrant Manas,
Ruled all people in the past.
No matter where he went,
He drove people like sheep.

"He was a strong lion,
He made Karamark pay back the blood debt,
He made all people have their lands.
He got trophy in Russia,
He divided them equally to his people.

"He climbed over Kerzilkya hill,
Robbed Khitan tribes.
Farsighted tyrant,
Divided the trophies to people equally again.
"Even when he only had one bosom word,
He would tell everyone.

Therefore people followed him,
Never hesitated to go through fire and water for him,
Never complained and never felt sentimental.

"The reason why Manas did this,
Divided what he got to people equally,
Because he deluded his people.
They were misled by his livestock and honeyed words,
No one predicted his future,
Everyone's life was in the tyrant's hand.

"Cruel Semtay,
Is even more merciless than his father.
He is supercilious and looks down upon everyone,
Once someone feels scared about him,
He would take him as a slave.

"My father once went on expedition with Manas,
In the battle of marching to Khitan,
My honest father Khan Kokcher,
Lost his life doubtfully.

"I did not get the chance to see my father,
I did not bury my father in person,
I did not cry and mourn him,
I did not pray for his spirit.

"I will not stop if I do not avenge my father,
I will absolutely not live under the same sky with Semtay!

"I do not ask for livestock for the sake of my father,
I do ask for brocade and silk for the sake of my father,
The blood debt should be paid back by blood,
I will not be deceived by treasures!
"My father Kokcher had died,
I will let him off easily.

"I will launch an attack to Kangkoer tyrant,
To avenge my father!

"It is said that,
A man born in the world is for dignity and honor.
It is said that,
An elder living in the world is for upholding justice.

"Elders, you all sit here,
It is ancestors' edification.
No matter how big his devotion is,
Mad bloodsucker Semtay,
He never feels grateful to us.

"Let's all think about it,
He went to Khitan alone,
Is it reasonable?
Cannot go to Kangayi together with him,
Are Kazakh people so incapable?

"Kokcher Khan's son Wumaitoy,
Is he inferior to Semtay?
Although his father made countless troubles,
My father Kokcher did not shout publicly,
Still followed him as a bosom friend.

"After alienating Almanbet,
Soothed him again.
Although my father and Manas had grudges against each other,
Ayikoler Manas,
Still supported my dear father Kokcher,
Made him be Kazakh Khan.

"When he mounted the throne of Khan,
Hatred in his heart was swept away.
He was cheated and deceived,
Finally stepped on the way to Beygin city.

Right at the place called Beygin city,
Right under the besiege of numerous Kakan,
My Khan father lost his life in vain!

"I will not let it go at that,
If I do not avenge my father,
I cannot forget the wrongs in my heart.
I must attack Semtay,
I must clear the blood debt with him!"

Wumaitoy talked wildly,
Stamped with rage.
He talked endlessly and angrily,
As aggressive as a hungry lion.

He called in five thousand skilled men,
Organized every one thousand into a team.
From people skilled in pricking spears,
From sharpshooters,
From swordsmen good at swinging swords and knives,
From warriors of extraordinary skills,
From giants good at swinging axes and hammers,
He chose five thousand strong men.
Young and strong men among the ordinaries,
Most of them were recruited,
Wumaitoy built a strong army.

They were well equipped with full energy,
In order to deal with Semtay,
An elite strong army was built.
Every time Semtay was mentioned,
He hated him to the core.

Militant Wumaitoy built a strong army,
Prepared to attack Semtay,
As long as anyone had a different opinion,
He would fly into rages immediately.

He always remembered to avenge his father,
Wumaitoy had been mentally and physically exhausted.
Damned guy had prepared to set out,
Headed his army and marched toward Kankoler.

When weapons were all ready,
When the day was coming,
Acairkaichy came and persuaded:
"Hey, my colt, Wumaitoy,
Baby, you should take my advice.
Leopard Manas once was a boat,
He was a hero born with strong characters.
It was Krigiz and Kazakh people,
Who supported Manas wholeheartedly.

"Kankoler and Talas,
Are homelands of Kazakh and Kirgiz people.
In order to protect homeland and people,
He racked his brains and fought a lifetime,
And he got people's respect and support.

"Person who went against people's will and became his enemy,
He never let them have good ends.

"Ayikoler's offspring,
Semtay is your relative,
What else is he if he is not your relative?
He is your cousin and your mothers are sisters!

"Kanikai is my younger sister,
Semtay is her son.
You are my son,
You two are cousins.

"Your fathers were bosom friends like brothers,
They fought against enemies together when they were young.

Even Russia and Baran,
Many conspirators alienating plots failed.

"Wumaitoy, if you are smart enough,
Do not become the enemy of Semtay,
Do not find a fault with him for no reason.
In the contest with Kangayi and Karamark,
Countless people received benefits from him,
He also was a big threat to numerous malicious enemies.

"When Karamark cast his greedy eyes on Sari Arka,
Tried to take it away from your father,
It was Manas who stepped forward bravely,
Helped your father protect this land.
He had a heart-to-heart talk with your father,
Then your father mounted the throne of Khan.

"Anyone who becomes an enemy of Manas and his offspring,
Will never have a good end!
Wumaitoy, I suggest you to stop now,
If you do not take my advice,
Disasters will descend on you soon.

"Kanikai and I are sisters,
Semtay and you are cousins.
If you are still reasonable, Wumaitoy,
Do not challenge lion Semtay!

"You want to conquer him by force of arms,
Once you step on his territory,
You will definitely have no good end.
If you make him angry,
You will lose your life.

"Semtay is a peerless tiger in the world,
Everyone challenging him has no good end.
Anyone that becomes his enemy,

None of them is still alive.

"Semtay is Manas' offspring,
Wumaitoy, you listen carefully.
I advise you kindly, Wumaitoy,
You should remember this clearly!
Wumaitoy, my son,
You should think well before you act.

"My smart and agile Wumaitoy,
If you are discontented,
You can talk with him sincerely,
Or you can send a messenger to tell him what you think.

"He will soothe you in adversity,
He will distribute you a proper territory.
He will make your force multiplied,
He will let you avoid making detours.
He will regard you as a bosom friend,
He will share life and death with you.

"If you keep being stubborn and oppose him,
He will take your life.
He will not allow your corpse to come back to your place,
He will throw you in the wilderness!

"But if you restore good relations with Semtay,
Who lese in the world dares to challenge you,
If you two cousins ally with each other,
No one dare push you around.

"Semtay himself is a dragon,
No one dare go against a dragon.
You have a tiger cousin as your support,
Who else dares to come and invade you?

"If some arrogant and crazy people really come and invade,

At the crucial moment,
Semtay will offer his free service,
He will come and help you without hesitation.

"No matter where enemies come from,
Semtay will drive them away.
Even Karamark and Kangayi,
They do not dare to invade either.

"If you ally with Semtay,
All heroes will crowd round you two,
They will all respect you.
Kazakh and Kirgiz,
Will like the rising sun in the morning.

"Wumaitoy, my boy,
Do not be cheated by evil people,
Do not believe evil people's words!
Do not make a deadlock in relation with your cousin,
Do not head your troops and invade him!"

When Acairkaichy talked about all these to him,
Wumaitoy was still stubborn,
He retorted upon his mother:
"Mother, stop wasting your breath,
I will not listen to what you said.

"Between me and Semtay,
There is no mischief-maker,
Your son has nothing to do with evil counselor.
It is what Semtay has done,
That sets the fire in my heart!

"My father is Khan Kokcher,
He is upright and honest.
Cunning tyrant Manas,
He cheated my father,

He made my father lose life.

"Semtay is even worse than his father,
He does not realize his father did wrong at all,
As a son,
When does he confess for all his father's mischiefs?

"Semtay will not distribute his land to me,
He will not give me any good chance either.
He did not discuss with me on big issues,
He went to Karamark alone,
He did not tell me and killed Kunwuerbayi,
What his action is!

"My power is not inferior to him,
I do not think he is better than me.
I have many Kazakh tribes,
Are my tribes and people inferior to his?

"I will avenge my father,
I will not let him off easily!
Sure, we are cousins,
When he went to meet Kunwuerbayi,
He should ask and invite me to go together,
It is my problem if I do not go,
Then I will have no regret!

"Kunwuerbayi had heavy blood debt,
He is the murderer killed my father,
When I wanted to kill him and avenge my father,
But I failed regretfully.
I feel a loss since then,
It makes me toss and turn sleeplessly every night!

"Mother, you come and persuade me to give up,
I have recruited soldiers from Kazakh,
If I do not fight against the tyrant,

How can I maintain my dignity?

"Incapable of avenging my father,
Such an incompetent Tolie,
I will turn into a joke people scoff,
How I can bear all these things!

"Pray sincerely for my safety,
Sacred Creator God.
No matter shake hands or fight,
I will not retreat.

"Once we fail in negotiation and become enemies,
I will not let him off as long as I am alive.
Kangkoer has an undeserved reputation,
I will kill him with my hand!"

Facing his mother's sincere advice,
Wumaitoy did not repent his error at all.

In Ayidar khan's tribes,
There was an old man called Alteng Khan,
He was a famous long-lived man,
He was a white-haired elder.

Elder Alteng Khan upheld the justice,
The elder advised Wumaitoy sincerely:
"Give up, kid, do not be arrogant,
Do not try to be brave, do not challenge him!
"If you do not take your mother's advice,
If you call in your people and fight against the hero,
You are lucky if you win,
You will fall on hard times if you lose.

"I guess he must defeat you,
Lion's son Semtay,
He never let any rival he meets off,

Semtay is a strong and peerless hero.

"You are so arrogant at home,
You look down upon everyone.
Although you wear an iron armor,
You are not a peerless hero.

"Kid, you have not witnessed strong enemies,
You have not fought against strong enemies.
You have not witnessed warriors' contests,
You have not killed enemies and shed your blood,
You have not seen fierce battles.

"If you do not take the advice and go to fight,
You must fall on bad luck.
Once Semtay is enraged,
You will lose your life and have no chance to return.

"Kanchorao is not inferior to you,
Think about it, Wumaitoy,
You are inferior to hero Krichorao.
Tell you the truth, from what I can tell,
You are no match for Semtay!

"If you enrage him,
He will not let you off easily.
You do not keep your nose clean and send troops rashly,
How you can have a good end!

"Chinkogeo and Toltoy invaded,
They even cannot keep themselves alive.
Numerous Jedigair people in Jetsu,
Fight against each other and have few left.
Kunwuerbayi dispatched troops several times,
Finally he failed,
Lost his life under Krichorao's knife.

"Since Kunwuerbayi has been killed,
Your cousin has avenged for you,
Can it put an end to your father's blood debt?
Kid, why do you refuse to obey?
Do not quibble for your dignity,
It is impossible for you to achieve your ridiculous dream!

"I do not make a trouble deliberately,
Among all heroes in the world,
Facing lion's son Semtay,
He has not had a rival in the world till now.

"Karamark troops marched there,
Attacked his Sire Korgan city secretly,
Those warriors and heroes,
He cut all their heads off mercilessly.

"He defeated countless invaders,
Took soldier prisoners as slaves,
Warriors who fought against him face to face,
He never let them off easily.

"Kara Kirgiz and Kazakh,
Under Manas's rule in the past,
They were in the prime time.
Now, under Semtay's administration,
Arashi fellow people,
Have a happy life now.
"You are currently drunk with your wealth and power,
Kid, Do not make a trouble ignorantly!
Kid, please take the advice,
Kid, please be reasonable and change your mind.
Your wealth and power are great now,
Please be contented with it!"

Elder Alteng Khan persuaded him,
Although offering weighty advice,

Wumaitoy did not take the advice at all.
He was stubborn,
He still planned to launch an attack to Semtay.
He ordered Kazakh troops to set out immediately,
The troops swarmed toward Talas.

Wumaitoy Armed Rebellion and Courted His Own Ruin

Arrogant and pride Wumaitoy,
Tightened his belt and made up his mind,
Drove five thousand elite soldiers,
Climbed over countless mountains,
Crossed numerous rapids,
Through all kinds of hardships,
Finally they arrived in fertile Kankoler.

In Alkemutash of Kankoler,
In swamps of Yuchykoshaoyi,
At downstream of Bokso river,
Elder Sarihan saw numerous people.
He talked first without a reason:
"What happens?
I see numerous people coming,
I cannot distinguish who they are,
It will be so good if I can distinguish them.

"If they are invading enemies,
Let's fight.
If they are soldiers who come and surrender,
Let's negotiate with them."

When Sarihan said these,
Bakay Khan agreed on him.
Hero Krichorao said at the moment:
"I will go and scout in person!"

Surkoyun steed raised the head and waved mane,

Iron hooves kicked up clouds of dust.
He galloped toward the troops,
Aimed at the mountain in the front.

Famous hero Krichorao,
Was a Chorao in Ayinla,
He equals one thousand Choraos in battle.
If he met strong enemies,
He became a ferocious lion.

He was there where there was a danger,
Krichorao climbed over the mountain first,
When they met a mountain.
Where there was a strong enemy,
Krichorao must be the first one to march ahead.

The hero galloped his steed,
Toward the massive coming troops,
He rushed forward in a hurry.
His steed sweated all over,
The steed got its body hot,
Farocious lion Krichorao,
Approached the troops.

With extraordinary spirit,
He asked aggressively:
"If you lose your way,
I will treat you warmly.
If you are invaders,
If you are bandits that come and fight against us,
If you are hoodlums that come and make troubles,
I will give you no chance to go back,
Let you receive punishment.

"I cannot distinguish who you are,
I do not know what your intentions are.
You look the same to me,

I really cannot tell.

"Who is your leader?
You should listen to me carefully:
The face is like a burned pine tree,
Who are you with a cold face?
Shout and make gestures in the front,
Who are you with a ferocious looking?
Drive a massive troop,
Who are you coming overwhelmingly?

"Wear a shining armor,
Ride on a fine steed,
Who are you, the mountain-size warrior?
Look like a ferocious lion,
With a murderous look,
Have a pair of sharp eyes,
Who are you, the lion hero?

"Wear iron armor,
Make people frightened.
No fear of death and never retreat,
Roar immediately once meet dissatisfied issue,
Who are you, the lion?

"Wear brocade and silk,
Ride on a running horse.
I have not seen you before,
You wear a beautiful mink hat,
Suritang, you are like a king, who are you?

"Wave a long spear fiercely,
Face strong enemies fearlessly.
Cover a sharp iron spear on the spearhead,
Drive massive troops,
Who are you, great general?

"Never let the enemy pursued off,
Swallow everything even stand still,
But make people witnessing miserable.
Never let rivals stay alive,
Who are you, giant?

"Go on your way if you are travellers,
You do not like travellers to me,
You look like enemies who come and provoke.
Who are you on earth?
Tell me the truth now!"

Krichorao talked straightly,
Questioned them strictly.

Wore a sleek mink coat,
Wore a shiny otter hat.
Extraordinary and beaming in spirits,
People's eyes were confused,
Wumaitoy talked arrogantly:

"Go to your father's grave, you damned Kanchorao,
Go away, you bastard!
You stupid Chorao,
Are we the same like travelers?

"Do not guess wildly,
We are not travelers.
I go around and look for the enemy,
I look for rivals who can challenge me,
I do not find a strong enemy to compete!

"My father's name is Kokcher,
My name is Wumaitoy.
My father died because of Manas,
I am coming to make you pay the blood debt!
"If you are over-confident and behave badly,

If you offend in words incautiously,
If you do not listen to me sincerely,
I will level your city to ground.
I will rob of your treasures and livestock,
I will take your throne of Khan,
I will take your crown off!

"I will let your people cry to heaven,
I will spare none of your people,
I will test your skills in fight.
To your respected big brother,
Report to him who I am!

"Ask Semtay to come to me,
I do not need his livestock and money,
Only want him to kneel down to me and cry,
Put her hands on chest and beg me!

"I will think about retreat if he accepts the condition,
With aunt Kanikai's family love,
With elder Bakay's instruction,
Maybe I will forgive him!"
Wumaitoy talked like this.

Almanbet's son Krichorao,
Was a great hero,
Facing the arrogant enemy,
He was equal to one thousand Choraos.

He was with quick mind and sharp language,
Anyone that became his enemy would go to an end.
When he met strong enemy,
He had an expression of hungry lion.
Seeing Krichorao's graceful bearing,
Everyone would cheer for him.
Krichorao said at the moment:
"Wumaitoy, stop now!

I just know your name,
Listen to your complaints,
I have known your hatred and worry.

"Kokcher and Manas were brothers-in-law,
They were friends following each other like shadow,
They were companions sailing in the same boat.
They were heroes going through thick and thin,
They were warriors appreciating each other's thought,
They had their own rules and secrets.

"From when they were teenagers,
They resisted Karamark enemies together,
After they grew up,
They were the closest friends.

"After lion Kokcher mounted the throne,
He always visited hero Manas.
He and Ayikoler Manas discussed important issues together,
They achieved many great things together.

"For many years,
No matter where the leopard went,
He would follow.
If they got war trophies,
They always divided equally.

"If they got fat livestock,
If they got gold and silver,
Kokcher was the first one to pick.
Trophies Kokcher did not pick,
Could be divided to others.

"In Kangkoer Manas time,
This is Khan Kokcher's situation.
Khan Kokcher was free,
No one ever forced him or controlled him.

"Facing spreading Kangayi people,
Manas always marched in the front,
Kokcher also fought against enemies bravely.

"He lost his life unfortunately in battle like many others,
Whom you can blame?
In that fierce battle,
My father Almanbet,
Heroes Chuwak and Sirak,
Also sacrificed their lives.
Even Khan Manas,
Also lost his life in this battle.

"All these hatred and blood debt,
Can you get them paid back?

"Ayikoler's son Semtay,
How can you compare with him?

"Since come back in disgrace,
From Timir Khan's city,
There are many bad boys like you jumping out.
Look for excuses and make troubles,
Shout everywhere for the revenge.

"So many ignorant heroes,
Boast to challenge the lion alone.
When the real battle starts,
They are frightened with cold sweat.
When the lion is really enraged,
It is the time for the shameless traitors,
To shed their blood.

"Till the death waves to them,
These crazy clamoring guys,
Will regret for provoking him,

They will awaken to the truth till then.

"Let dogs listen to your nonsense,
Wumaitoy, stop now!
You and Semtay are cousins,
Wumaitoy,
Do not mix the lion with other ordinaries.

"He always understands you on everything,
You do not know good from bad.
If you really enrage him,
Your life will be in danger!

"You are young and aggressive,
Stop speaking daggers.
Your crazy words,
I will not return and report.

"Let me stop this in advance,
Let me be the mediator between you two.
Let me discuss with elder Bakay,
Let aunt Kanikai know this,
Let Sari Khan know this too.

"For your ardent wish,
How about I calling Semtay to come?
Your mothers are sisters,
If Semtay takes you as a relative,
You will be warmly treated.

"Let me go back to my big brother soon,
Let me report everything.
If Semtay takes you as a relative,
He will come here soon.
If he does not listen to the advice and takes you as an enemy,
I will report you the news immediately."

Krichorao persuaded him sincerely,
He wanted to resolve disputes between family members.
Wumaitoy was likely to be haunted by ghosts,
He did not take the advice at all.

Cherished the memory of his father Kokcher,
Wumaitoy was extremely grieved,
Suddenly his fierce features thoroughly exposed,
Facing Krichorao in front of him,
He shouted unscrupulously:
"Slave, go away now!
If you do not follow my order,
I will punish you severely!

"Before I take action,
You go to see Semtay soon,
Report to him everything here!
If Semtay wants to make peace,
Let him come on foot with tears.
Go back now, do not delay,
Do not make me wait too long!"

Wumaitoy was pushy and overbearing,
He roared with rage.
He made threatening gestures like leopards,
Threatened Krichorao furiously,
Started his challenge crazily.

Hero Krichorao considered the overall situation,
Agreed to report to the lion and turned round.
To the steed under him,
He gave a merciless whip.
He was burning with impatience,
Galloped toward where Semtay was.
He came to the lion in an instant,
Krichorao reported to his brother breathlessly:
"The person who comes to see you is not other people,

He is your cousin Wumaitoy,
It seems something unpredictable has happened.

"He does not come for family reunion,
He is coming for asking you to pay the blood debt.

"He is Kokcher's son,
I stopped him and asked who he was,
I stopped him and persuaded him sincerely.
No matter how hard I try,
Your cousin does no give up!

"I explain patiently from the Beyginning,
Tell him cousins should understand and trust each other.
I suggested him not to make trouble,
I tell him you will deal with it properly,
Caution him not to make trouble out of nothing.

"I persuade him to stay and have a rest today,
If anything he cannot understand,
He'd better discuss with you in a calm mood.
He'd better retreat tomorrow,
I even remind him about this.

"No matter how hard I tried,
Wumaitoy is still stubborn.
He does not change his mind at all,
He said he must act as he says.

"He is like a piece of iron,
He is a stubborn guy.
Dear brother, if there is any glimmer of chance,
Please do not bother yourself arguing with him.

"Big brother, better to get rid of an enmity than keep it alive,
If you turn against your relatives,
If you become your relative's enemy,

Bit brother, it is pointless to you.

"Let's mount and go now,
When we get close,
We can dismount,
Then greet him sincerely.

"Then you invite him to live in your palace,
Treat him with delicious food.
Talk about your old days sincerely,
Let the misunderstanding between them be removed.

"Then present gifts to him,
Soothe his heart through it.
In order to keep the relationship with your relatives,
Just greet him sincerely this time.
Big brother, it does not spoil your majestic image,
Dismount your horse for the whole situation.
Big brother, it does not spoil your heroic manner,
Let us stop him,
Give him a chance to turn over a new leaf."

When Krichorao said this,
Semtay offered weighty advice:
"Hero Krichorao, my good brother,
You are a good Chorao that can be trusted!
You wear iron coat armor,
You ride on fine steed,
Who I, Semtay, am and who you are,
You can go there for me.

"Did I tell you several days ago?
I have given the power to you.
Only hero can understand the greatness of hero,
Who can understand me except you?

"Let me go to see Wumaitoy,

To my cousin who heads a massive troops,
I dismount and beg for compromise,
Others will laugh at me:
I hear Semtay dismount and greet the traitor,
Rumors around will bury us."

When Semtay talked like this,
Krichorao talked again:
"Forget it, big brother, do not say anything more!
Do you doubt me cherishing evil thoughts?
Do you test what I would say?
So you say like this to me!

"Ride on Buruler and go by yourself,
You've got a glib tongue,
Let traitors laugh at you.
When you get close to them,
You can dismount immediately.

"You should say sweet words by yourself.
Do not alienate with your fellow people,
Do not battle fiercely like enemies,
Do not hurt harmony between relatives.

Kazakh and Kirgiz are brothers,
Do not compete each other,
Do not fight against each other like bandits.
Do not fight alone and destroy each other,
Big brother, go, please mount your steed now!"

Krichorao held on to his own views,
Semtay had made up his mind and did not change at all.
Although Krichorao persuaded in every possible way,
Semtay did not yield at all:
"My dear Krichorao,
You are my good luck if you are in front of me,
You are like thousands of troops if you are behind me.

It is his excuse to ask for paying the blood debt,
Wumaitoy harbors evil designs,
You will understand when you look at his eyes.

"Do not press me, Chorao, you go there,
If he listens to your advice,
You just bring him here.
If he continues to run wild,
You just cut his head off,
My Chorao, set out now!"

Khan shook head and hands and did not agree,
Chorao had no choice but whipped Surkoyun steed.
Turned the steed round and lifted the whip,
Galloped like a white deer,
Clouds of dust rose up behind him.

Surkoyun steed galloped forward,
Hot sweat ran down the chest.
In order not to let the Khan wait too long,
Krichorao whipped the steed hard,
He arrived in a hurry.

As soon as he saw Krichorao,
Wumaitoy roared like a hungry lion,
He shouted like a male camel in heat.
Fire in his heart burned him,
He lost his mind and shouted:
"Chorao, do you go back to call your troops?
Because you are scared.
All Kirgiz people,
Do you call them here?

"Ayikoler's son Semtay,
Does he accept my term?
Is he willing to kneel down and hold my legs?
Has he already come to me?

"You go back and return to here,
Are you only the messenger between us?
I do not accept your livestock and money,
If Semtay does not kneel down to me,
If he does not hold my legs,
I, Wumaitoy, will never return!"

When Wumaitoy flew into a rage,
Krichorao persuaded him:
"Hey, hero Wumaitoy,
Please change your mind.
I followed your order and went to my big brother,
Semtay does not have any evil intentions,
He asks me to take you to his palace,
He will treat you warmly in person,
He is willing to get along with you.

"Someone casts a bone between you in the back,
Talk nonsense for the sake of evil purpose,
Semtay is framed up as a miser.

"My big brother is not that kind of person,
He is a broad-minded hero,
He is a kind family full of love.
He is a kind and honest Khan,
Like a weathered pine tree.

"Once he is enraged,
Numerous strong enemies will be crashed.
When he is really enraged,
There is nothing in the world that could stop him.
Even his grandfather Jagurp,
Was more miserable than enemies in his hands.
We will shake hands if you still consider the family love,
Your cousin will feast you."

Krichorao persuaded repeatedly,
Wumaitoy still insisted on his thinking.
He turned furious,
His face turned pale.
His sharp iron spear,
Was grasped tight in his hand.

He roared with full of his strength,
It made people witnessing frightened.
Wumaitoy was like he got mad,
Roared and abused:

"You such a mean and incapable slave,
Look at what a stupid thing you have done!
You, Chorao, a slave,
If you can compete with me,
Fight with me if you are a hero,
Attacking chance is mine,
Chance of attacking back is yours.

"Come to fight with me immediately!
If you can keep you alive,
You will have chance to fight back, cunning guy.
In case you slave lose your life,
Then you will dry in your grave here.
It is impossible for you to stay alive,
I swear I will kill you!"

Wumaitoy talked wildly,
Krichorao agreed immediately:
"You are not a hero superior to me,
You are not a warrior who could knock me down in one spear poke.
Roaring Wumaitoy,
How you can be well-matched to me!"
Krichorao weighed himself,
He stood there still.

Roaring Wumaitoy,
Grasped the long spear in the hand,
Toward the violent steed,
He gave a severe whip,
And galloped toward Krichorao.

Wumaitoy calculated in his heart,
I would say how you could dodge this.
With full of his strength,
He pricked to Krichorao.

Steady and high like mountains,
Krichorao did not move at all.
"You have got your chance,
You already have no regrets.
Now it's my time to attack,
Arrogant Wumaitoy,
I cannot bear to kill you,
But you deserve it!"

Wumaitoy felt frightened suddenly,
He knew the death was waiting for him on the way,
For the face of a man,
He still stood there aggressively.

Almanbet's son Krichorao,
Makes his beloved steed,
Gallop at its top speed,
Rushed out like a shooting star and poked his spear.

When the long spear got him,
Aggressive Wumaitoy,
He fell off his steed,
His head stuck in mud.

Semtay Walked into a Trap and Lost His Beloved Steed Buruler

Seeing the master had died,
Numerous Kazakh soldiers behind him,
Begged Krichorao immediately:
"We really have no bad intentions,
We are not willing to come and fight,
We are forced to come."

When numerous enemy soldiers begged together,
Krichorao thought about what I should do to them,
He had to stay there and look around.

Sari Khan, Bakay, and Kanikai,
Had known what had happened,
Had predicted spears and guns were lifted.
They thought these two cousins should be separated immediately,
Did not want them to fight against each other.

They discussed immediately,
Mounted their horses and galloped,
Toward the mountain passing where troops stationed,
They galloped at the top speed.

When they galloped on the big road,
Wumaitoy had stretched his arms and legs,
Lay on the ground and lost his life.
Hot-tempered Krichorao,
Had pricked him on the ground,

It did not help even if they came.

No one could change God's arrangement,
The brutal guy had got his deserved punishment.

Khan Bakay came in a hurry and said:
"You should not come here,
Do Kirgiz and Kazakh,
Hate each other from this time on?"

They discussed in details,
Hoped both sides become reconciled:
"We must find Semtay as soon as possible,
And bury Wumaitoy.
To numerous Kazakh people,
We need to present gifts and apologize,
Let them live together in peace,
Let them feel comfortable."

Led massive Kazakh people,
Carried Wumaitoy's body back.

In crowded city,
Khan Bakay said:
"Oh, god, my kid Semtay!
What the hell happened to you?

"Hot-tempered Krichorao,
Has killed Wumaitoy,
Makes his blood shed.
Wumaitoy has rested in peace forever,
He has disappeared forever."

Krichorao argued at the moment:
"Uncle, let me tell you the truth,
I have negotiated and persuaded them repeatedly,
They did not make mutual concussions at all,
Neither of them listened to my advice.
I followed my big brother's advice,

I returned there in a hurry.

"Wumaitoy was arrogant and stubborn,
He galloped the horse and challenged me.
So I had to fight against him,
He started the fierce attack first,
I had no choice but to fight back.

"Uncle, how I can know,
The whistling spear cut his belly open?
I thought he has no regret,
I thought he has no complaints.
It is he who makes the trouble out of nothing,
It is he who rebels and brings the destruction on himself.

"I persuaded big brother to compromise,
He ordered me to take Wumaitoy back.
He said if Wumaitoy did not take the advice,
Still insisted on his plan,
Asked me to take his head back.
So I dared to lift the spear and attack him back."

Kanikai came with great sorrow,
She cried and sang funeral songs,
She accused Semtay sadly,
She said with tears:
"Oh, Semtay, my kid,
Wumaitoy is your cousin,
My kid, what on earth are you doing?

"When my sister is still alive,
You bring him the misery.
Poor sister Acairkaichy,
Is thrown into an abyss.

"You kill your cousin Wumaitoy,
You stain your spear point with his blood,

When your aunt gets old,
She will have a harder time in Kazakh place!"

Kanikai led people present,
People burst into loud sobs together.
According to the tradition and custom of funeral,
People sang mourning songs sadly,
Held a grand and solemn funeral.

In order not to let Kazakh bear a grudge,
Khans discussed to make the coming troops satisfied,
Everyone fully agreed with it.

Numerous livestock were driven there,
Large amount of gold, silver, and silk were collected,
In order to pay back,
They prepared everything.

Semtay personally directed the operation,
To every male,
He presented a fine horse.
He presented them with strong camels,
For them to carry gold, silver, and silk.

Kanchorao came and said at the moment:
"Oh, my dear brother,
Please listen to me.
Big brother, what's wrong with you today?
Where is your wisdom?

"We go though thick and thin,
We help each other in hardships.
Kazakh is our good neighbor,
Their Khan's status and power,
Are really well-matched to you.

"Your mother Kanikai,

Is Acairkaichy's sister.
Big brother, with your lion-like manner,
You must wash the sadness in your heart away.

"Acairkaichy lost his Khan son,
Do not make her too sad,
You should present her with the most valuable gift.

"Only Tayibruler steed,
Can match her identity.
Only presenting your Tayibruler steed to her,
Can show your majesty as a Khan."

Semtay heard what Kanchorao said,
He did not consider the result in the future,
He thought Kanchorao's words were reasonable:
"Let Acairkaichy feel better,
Present Tayibruler to her,
Let her soothe the sadness in her heart.

"Do not let Krichorao chop logic,
I will ride Surkoyun steed from now on.
If the enemy comes and challenges me,
Let me fight bravely."

Semtay calculated in his heart,
Then he presented his Tayibruler steed.
Kazakh people were satisfied,
They went back home happily.

Semtay lost his fine steed,
He lost his mind completely.
"Lose his Tayibruler,
Lion's son Semtay,
It shows his death is on the way."
The saying left in the world since then.

Cunning Kanchorao,
He had full of tricks,
Separated the hero from his steed Tayibruler,
He was happy and satisfied.

Let us put this aside,
Talk about how respected hero Semtay,
Left the world regretfully.

Kanchorao Betrayed and Semtay Disappeared Mysteriously

The Plot between Kanchorao and Chachykai

Hero Semtay's wife,
Shatimir's granddaughter Chachykai,
Was a spoiled woman.
When he puffed up with pride leisurely,
When Ayichulek became Khatun,
Chachykai turned into her husband's curse.

The licentious bitch,
Twirled and flattered like a grey snake.
Evil-minded Kanchorao,
Was lured and roped by her.

Her artificial and lustful smile,
Finally lured him.
Kanchorao was like to be haunted by ghosts,
He was instigated to be an evil murderer.

They plotted secretly,
Put their heads together and discussed,
In order to usurp Khan's power,
They gnashed their teeth and became ready to make troubles.

Tried hard to kill Semtay,
Turned Ayichulek into their slave,
Kanchorao and Chachykai,
Dreamed to be Khan and Khatun[①].

1 Khatun: The Normads in the north of our country called their emperor Khan, and Khan's wife was called Khatun.

In order to lead a luxurious and dissipated life,
They hatched a sinister plot secretly.
They tried their best to make troubles,
Looked for the chance to stage a coup.

They listed charges and found excuses,
Tried to send Khan Semtay to the hell.
To achieve the hidden purpose,
Kanchorao advised Chachykai:
"Toltoy's son Keyaz Khan,
Is a hero like raging waves,
He is irresistible if he makes up his mind,
He is a dragon that could turn rivers and seas.

"When conquered Jedigair in the past,
Jezkanpire's seven sons were set up as Khans.
Did not obey seven Khan' administration,
Keyaz took his horse rein back.
Jedigair people,
Elected Keyaz as their Khan again.

"Let me write to Khan Keyaz,
For his father's blood debt,
He will join us for the sake of vanity,
I think we can use him.

"Jezkanpire's seven sons,
Let him wipe them out,
Let him drive,
His massive troops to me.

"I go and welcome him on his way,
I will stop at nothing to cheat him,
On the morning we have agreed on,
We will send out troops and stage a coup.

"We will kill the tyrant first,

I have made him send his Buruler away with my tactic,
Semtay loses his mount,
He will have no power to compete with us.

"Once I uproot Semtay,
I will capture Krichorao.
Then we two together,
Mount the throne of Khan and Khatun!"

Kanchorao was pleased with himself,
After he schemed with Chachykai,
From his close partisans,
He called one without other partisans,
Sent him to send a letter to Khan Keyaz.

He wrote in the letter:
"You have kept the throne of Khan for three generations,
No one will overturn your throne of Khan,
No one will descend a disaster to your throne.
Manas was the ringleader in the troubled times,
Although he did not hurt you,
He did not give you any benefits either.

"Bloodsucker Semtay is a madman,
He did not value Khans' majesty,
He killed your father.
He let crazy slave Krichorao,
Administer your sad people.

"I tried my best to stop him at that time,
He did not listen to me at all.
You were too young and weak in force,
You surely could not compete with force.

"Jezkanpire's seven sons,
Became your Khans.
Semtay repressed and neglected you,

Did not give you the power to administer your own territory.

"The blood debt of killing hero Toltoy,
Do you want to get it paid, Keyaz?
The blood your father shed,
Do you still remember it?

"If you are really a hero's son,
Please listen to me patiently:
Keyaz, I appreciate you very much,
Especially your courage and honesty,
Jezkanpire's seven sons,
You must try to kill them all.

"I write this letter to you specially,
I hope you take the throne of Khan back.
Semtay's relatives and companions,
You should send all of them to the hell.

"I have made the tyrant lose his fine steed,
Without his Tayibruler steed,
He is incapable to resist us.
If you still have dignity and backbone,
Do it bravely!

"You know now my time has come back,
All powers are in my hands.
Because your Khan father is not alive,
You suffered a lot when you were young.

"When people move from summer pasture,
Right in Ayakona[1] month,
I hope you meet me on the way.
As long as I am still alive in this world,
Between Tashkent and Namangan,

1 Ayakona: It refers to August in Kirgiz traditional calendar.

At the place called Oyidong,
I will wait for you there.

"There is no empty talk in my words,
As long as you can meet me on time,
We will have no regret!
If there is anything not true in my words,
Let me die a violent death immediately!
Let Ackelty's bullet shoot me,
Let Akmilerty burn me!
Let your father Toltoy's spirit,
Punish me again!

"If you do not listen to my advice,
Keyaz, you will suffer from crowning calamity.
If I break my promise,
Let the limitless sky punish me,
Let earth mother punish me,
Let sacred gods punish me,
Let the souls in tombs punish me,
Let burning black dirt punish me,
Let the sun in the sky burn me to death,
Let the night with no moon swallow me,
Let the bright moon in the sky punish me!"

Promised and swore in the letter,
He thought the other side would not doubt at all.
The scheme in the letter was in detail,
He gave the messenger a detailed order.

He warned the messenger before he set out:
"You must go directly to Khan Keyaz,
Give him the letter personally,
You will get a generous reward.

"If you can deliver my letter to him safely,
Deliver my worry to him,

I will not forget your credit forever,
You will live a much better life from now on.

It is a confidential issue,
You will become a hero after you accomplish the mission,
I will make you famous in the world!

"Hero, wish you good luck,
Wish you a speedy success.
Let the guys go against us,
Turn into the dirt and mud under your feet!

"Wish your ancestors' spirits last forever,
Wish you a bright future.
You should gallop your steed day and night,
Do not wander and delay the important thing,
Please go and come back quickly.

"Bring it back if Keyaz replies,
Do not let anyone notice.
Do not come back during daytime, come back at night,
Do not let anyone find you.

"Remember, come to my house directly,
Do not shout the secret.
Do not ask people on the way,
Whether Kanchorao is at home or not,
You just bring me the reliable news!

"Do not make yourself exposed,
Do not give up halfway,
Hero, do you understand?
I always keep my words,
I, Kanchorao, am a lion!"

Kanchorao warned repeatedly,
Asked Janis to set out soon.

Janis took the letter over,
Came to Keyaz without a stop,
Kanchorao's letter,
He put it in front of him.

Keyaz was an upright man,
He called educated Molerdo in,
Led his trusted followers,
To a private corner.

He asked Molerdo to read and explain to him repeatedly,
He fully understood the meaning of the letter,
Understood the purpose of Kanchorao thoroughly.
He asked Molerdo to write a reply right away,
Handed it to Janis,
Asked him to return immediately.

"Hey, great Kanchorao,
You are a powerful hero,
As long as you can keep your words,
I must devote every effort to help you succeed!

"Your words are like gold,
In Ayakona month,
I must head a hundred thousand troops,
Arrive at the appointed place on time.

"I will wait for you for fifteen days there,
If you cannot get there in fifteen days,
I will return home immediately.
If you cooperate with me sincerely,
I will work in with you regardless of my life.

"You light my angry flames up,
I must ask arrogant Semtay,
To pay my father's blood debt back,
Kill him to soothe my hatred!"

Wrote a lot in the letter,
Keyaz vented his anger,
Wrote more swear and promises,
With more heroic and proud words:

"Kanchorao, please completely trust me,
I will be on stand at all times!
If I cannot arrive on time,
Let the earth in Jetsu punish me,
Let fairy faster than wind punish me,
Let Jedigair make his presence and punish me.

"Let currents and surge sweep me away,
Let tin and lead poison me to death,
Let hammer with iron head smash me,
Let Akbolt sword cut me!

"Let the poison of fluid gold choke me to death,
Let white paper and black words curse me,
Let God bring me to justice mercilessly!

"Let my Khan father Toltoy's blood punish me,
Let the raft in river punish me,
Let boundless wilderness dry me,
Let abysmal ocean swallow me,
Let birds and animals' gods eat me!
Let the elder called Olya god,
And Oboler ancestors curse me!

"Let dense forest punish me,
Let sacred palace punish me,
Let venomous snake and scorpion bite me,
Let all animals punish me!

"Become friends before we meet each other,
Let our promise punish me!

Facing numerous fellow people,
Let their curse and blood punish me!

"Let numerous spirits in tombs,
And countless ghosts punish me!
If I go back on my word,
Let dusts on the road bury me!

"If I forget your words,
Let your ancestors punish me!
This is my promise,
Hope you wait for me at the appointed place!"

Keyaz was so excited,
He swore and promised in the letter,
Then he stayed at home.
The busy messenger,
Went back home under the cover of night.

Kanchorao took the letter over hurriedly,
He could not wait to open it,
When he read the letter,
He did not sleep the whole night.

He was excited the whole night,
The sky turned white soon in his excitement,
When the dawn came,
Till people all got up.

He mounted his steed in a hurry,
Galloped to Khan Krichorao's home,
Kanchorao said:
"Hey, my Khan Krichorao,
Poplar trees and willow trees were luxuriantly green,
The earth was green.

"Larks sing and flowers give fragrance,

Birds twitter in the sky,
Flowers blossom in brilliant colors,
Grass grows luxuriantly.

"In Ayinla at the foot of mountains,
Yurts spread,
People tie horses and milk their horses.
Summer seems to come at any second,
Why do we still stay at home?

"Let's mount, hero Krichorao!
Let's bring a few servants,
Go and tour in summer pastures.
Hunt argali and blue sheep in mountains,
Let us go out and have fun.
If we get many blue sheep,
Let's bring them to the old,
Do Shiralga[1] to show our hearts!"
Kanchorao said a lot to him,
Krichorao agreed immediately.

Brought the steed and saddled it,
Tied the food bag behind the saddle,
Took enough bullets,
Took six servants and horsemen,
They set out together from Ayinla.

They went upward along Ayinla,
Went directly to the top of Ayinla,
Climbed up on the huge rock platform,
They talked happily.

Cedar trees grew crookedly,
Vines twined on the trees and spread,

1 Shiralga: It is Kirgiz language. It refers to hunters divide their games to their people after they come back from hunting.

Green grass had spread all over the earth,
Flowers bloomed in brilliant colors.

They could not stop praising facing beautiful mountains,
Hunted argali and blue sheep in mountains,
They talked and laughed,
It seemed the earth was dwelled in joy.

It was more beautiful when they entered the deep mountain,
Wild flowers spread over mountains like a colorful blanket,
Green grass and colorful flowers were everywhere,
Like the splendid embroidery girls made.

A wide river ran slowly between two mountains,
On both banks there were fertile pastures.
The whole Kankoler looked full of vigor,
It was as beautiful as a wonderland.

They stopped at Susamur,
Set horses free to eat and drink.
They settled down there,
Planed to patrol mountains,
Saw where grass grew better,
Where grass grew not well,
Observed the environment carefully.
They discussed they would take a look around,
So they spent ten days there.

Malan flowers and green wheatgrass were everywhere,
They waved in breeze freely,
Fescue grass and dense silver spike grass,
Are herdsmen's favorite forage grass.

There was green grass down the hill,
As high as people's waist,
Like colorful embroidery,
Waved in summer breeze.

Luxuriant grass grew well,
Made people's eyes confused.

Stream ran in valley,
Like girls giggled.
Everywhere in Kankoler,
Shined under the sunshine.

Various insects flew in the sky,
People's eyes confused.
Butterflies danced among flowers,
Larks sang happily.

Grass was luxuriant in summer pastures,
Summer came in a blink of an eye,
The season of moving had come,
Herdsmen discussed to move.

Black-hearted Kanchorao,
Suggested people to move,
Then he turned his horse round and left happily.
They whipped their steeds,
Silver-made saddle,
Shined in the sunshine.

They came to Ayinla down Kankoler mountain,
Mobilized fellow people,
Urged them to move quickly,
They lied up as long as a dragon,
Moved to beautiful summer pastures.

People all moved to summer pastures,
Steeds were all tied on ropes,
Tied mares and milked,
Picked mares with empty embryo and butchered.

In order to celebrate the moving,

All kinds of games started,
Girls and boys gathered,
People played Kumuz,
Singers played and sang as much as they liked.

Colts were butchered everyday,
Lamb were butchered everyday too.
Kirgiz people were happy,
Weddings and banquets were everywhere.

Kids disliked fat,
Young married ladies even did not touch butter.
Wore colorful silk and brocade,
Young men all looked up proudly.

People gathered in groups,
Handsome boys and beautiful girls,
Gathered and played to their content,
Played all kinds of games and romance.

Uncles and aunts separated,
Came to the edge of Ayinla and gathered,
Mixed honey with horse milk wine,
Kirgiz people reveled in the joy.

They moved to summer pastures in early summer,
Autumn came soon after it,
Colorful flowers withered and fell,
It was golden over the mountains.

Kanchorao always did not forget,
The promise he gave to Keyaz.
The time of their appointment,
Was approaching soon.

Cunning Kanchorao,
Came to Krichorao's home one day suddenly:

"My noble Krichorao,
Do you notice one thing?

"All horses are plump and sturdy now,
All warriors laugh and grow fat.
Girls and boys have grown up,
Wedding age is coming.

"I have stayed at home too long,
I do not go out and patrol around.
Please lend your steed to me,
Please let me wear your Burum coat armor,
Let me go and patrol,
Let my horse keep on patrolling.

"It is a lofty mountain at the upstream of Tashkent,
The boundary of Samarkand is there.
Let me go and patrol there,
Let me watch through the telescope,
Let me scout the situation there.

"Although the roads there are difficult,
There is still pass can go through.
We do not set alert there,
Do not leave sentries there either.

"If there is no danger there,
If I am still happy then,
I will go to Namangan plain,
And platform above Hohan.

"I will climb up to the top,
Observe with the telescope.
To the direction of Yisfahan and Iran,
From Hohan and Kashgar,
I hope there is no enemy that attacks us surprisingly.

"Let me observe all passes carefully,
If there are people that live in mountains,
I can fish for news there.
If there are invaders that come from afar,
Let me shout and drive them away.

"Manas is our ancestor,
How can we fear and stop marching ahead?
Let me patrol everywhere,
Then come and report to you in detail!"

Kanchorao spoke eloquently about his thoughts,
He told lies like it was true,
It was flawless,
How could simple and honest Krichorao,
See through the tricks?

Kanchorao prepared and set out,
He cheated Krichorao out of his steed and coat armor,
Carried enough food,
Like a vulture opened its wings,
Galloped toward Tashkent.

Rounded peaks in Samarkand,
Climbed over mountains in Tashkent,
He stood on the high platform,
Held the telescope and watched.

He did not find any people,
He did not find Jedigair troops either.
He thought Keyaz did not come,
Suddenly he felt disappointed.

He stayed there helplessly,
He puzzled his brains about it.
He loosed the horse rein,
Looked at Namangan and Hohan,

He thought he should get there.

He lifted the whip and lashed the steed hard,
Poor steed sweated all over,
Kanchorao calculated in his mind,
How he could wipe Semtay out.

He came to the edge of Namangan,
Crossed boundless Hohan,
Climbed up on the high hill,
He sat there leisurely.

He sat on the black rock,
Lifted the telescope,
Prayed to the sky,
He watched down the hill.

He watched every pass carefully,
He did not find anything suspicious.
Keyaz failed to keep the appointment,
It made Kanchorao burst into anger suddenly.

He guessed the promise breaker,
He failed to come.
He worried whether the guy informed against him,
Whether his end was right in front of him?

He dropped onto the ground and did not know what to do,
Suddenly he heard a loud noise,
A noise of gunshot came from the foot of the mountains.

The noise of gunshot resounded in mountains,
Kanchorao had sunshine on his face immediately.
He whipped Surkoyun steed,
Galloped toward the foot of the mountains.

He arrived at the mountain foot in an instant,

He saw hundreds of thousands of troops there.
Khan Keyaz headed the massive troops,
He stood in the middle of the troops.

He thought Keyaz finally came on time,
The pressure removed from Kanchorao heart.
Keyaz guessed Kanchorao must have come,
He shot guns and sent signals.

Khan Keyaz worried their plan would be exposed,
He pretended he was hunting.
When he saw Kanchorao,
Khan Keyaz's face lit up with happiness.

He went up in person immediately and held the horse rein,
Greeted Kanchorao warmly.
Like they did not see each other for a long time,
They hugged and kissed each other on neck.

They spread the tablecloth after greeting,
They enjoyed a good meal,
Then they began to talk about their grievance,
They poured out their troubles to each other sincerely.

In order to become sworn friends,
They swore to be life-and-death friends.
They calculated to kill Semtay,
Dreamed to dominate the world.

They put their heads together and plotted,
They were after each other like shadows.
Even one went to pee,
The other one would follow.

For these two heroes' secret movements,
All generals and soldiers were all surprised,
They sensed something miserable would happen,

Everyone was filled with fear.

"I sent a messenger secretly,
Keyaz Khan, I consider you as my backbone,
I was worried after I sent the letter,
I felt eased after I got your reply.

"I thought you would not miss the appointed time,
I came early to welcome you.
I use scouting information as an excuse,
Make an inspection tour on searching enemies,
Cheat the stupid guy with his steed and coat armor.
I gallop my steed impatiently,
Whip my steed hard to look for you.

"It seems my good luck has come,
I am lucky to cooperate with a hero like you.
I have admired you for a long time,
Today we finally get together.

"Lion Keyaz, wish you safe,
Hope you fight against enemies mercilessly.
To make sure we two do not break up,
Please listen to me carefully.

"I promise to you:
If you abandon me halfway,
If I betray you halfway,
Let torn cloth[1] punish us,
Let green grass punish us!
Let strong enemies in the world kill us,
Let all promises punish us!
Let random spears and bullets punish us,
Let Akmiler iron burn us!

1 Ancient Kirgiz people tore cloth to show the breaking relationship.

"Do not be a coward, Khan Keyaz,
I feel secured when I see you,
Our success is definitely settled,
I have nothing to say except this.

"I will step on returning journey soon,
Go to summer pastures immediately,
Report them everything here is good.
Let Semtay notice nothing,
Let Krichorao be in the dark.

"I will deceive them by fair means,
Make them comply with my arrangements.
Make every possible effort to deceive them,
Guide them to Manas' tomb.

"Set the time to fifteenth this month,
You should wait for the day patiently!
I must deceive them into going there.
Khan Keyaz, on the appointed day,
We will start in Talas!"

Keyaz was touched with his words,
Considered him as his friend in misfortune.
To make sure their coup successful,
Keyaz said again:

"My valuable friend Kanchorao,
You are as agile as a leopard,
Let Semtay notice nothing.
If you can guide him to the appointed place,
I will head my troops and wait there.

"I will wait for you there for three days,
If you do not come in three days,
I will turn round and go back home,
Everything between us will be ended.

"I become angrier when I think more about it,
It is Semtay who makes me burn with anger.

"He killed giant Chinkogeo,
He killed my Khan father Toltoy,
He killed many other heroes!
He took my crown as a Khan away,
He trampled my dignity underfoot!
He made Jezkanpire's seven sons,
Be Khan of Jedigair!

"The tyrant was as greedy as a wolf,
He extorted much more wealth,
Drove away many livestock every year,
He offended my interest at will!

"My Khan father was really a hero,
He was like a black-eared lion,
But he was a hero more brave than wise,
He was a rash man with a simple mind.

"He once rode Surkoyun steed,
Chinkogeo was his companion.
He was like an eagle that flew in the sky arrogantly,
But cunning hunter took his life away.

"I remember the hatred deep in my heart,
Semtay instigated his lackeys,
It was Krichorao cut my father's head off.
The steed you ride now is my father's steed,
Such hatred and humiliation,
How I can bear it!"

As long as he saw Surkoyun steed,
Keyaz felt as if needles pricked his heart.
He became very tearful,

Like the surging flood.

He approached Surkoyun steed slowly,
Touched its bottom gently.
He could not control himself from crying,
He complained with tears:

"My dear Surkoyun,
Do I have chance to ride on you?
Get rid of tyrant Semtay,
Can you be set free one day?

"Kill Krichorao,
Do I have one day to laugh?
Mount the throne of Khan of my father,
Can I be happy one day?"

Keyaz felt as if a knife were being twisted in his heart,
He could not control his feeling.
When he hugged the steed and cried,
Kanchorao beat around the bush:
"I thought you were a leopard hero,
So you only can cry helplessly!
If not for freeing you from the tyrant's talons,
Why do I risk my life and come here?

"I thought you were Tolie Keyaz,
So you are such a coward!
If not for turning the tyrant over,
Why do I come here?

"I will help you get the fine steed back,
Help you avenge your father.
I will let you get the wealth and power,
Let you remount the throne!

"You should brace up yourself firmly,

You should keep the promise.
If you do not arrive on time,
I will level your territory to ground!"

He said goodbye and wished himself safe,
Then rode on Surkoyun steed and left.
Colluded with Khan Keyaz,
Kanchorao enjoyed ease of mind.

Kanchorao Colluded with Keyaz and Rose in Rebellion

Kanchorao could not hold his calmness,
He galloped the steed day and night,
He showed no mercy to exhausted Surkoyun steed,
Whipped it as hard as he could.

He had a guilty conscience,
Under the cover of the night,
He tied the steed at a distant place,
And sneaked into the palace.

The shameless guy,
Was proud like he made a great achievement,
In order to flatter and report the news,
He sneaked into Chachykai's room.

He slipped into her bed eagerly,
He slept beside her in peace,
These two adulterers had a love affair.

From when he left to when he returned,
Kanchorao described vividly:
"On fifteen this month,
I will humiliate your tyrant husband Semtay,
I will take him to Talas tomb,
I will dispose of him.

"Chachykai, you need prepare in your mind,
Do not leak our plan,
Do not gossip among ladies,

Wait to be my dear Khatun!"

When the dawn came,
He sneaked out.
Kanchorao left Chachykai's palace quietly,
Mounted the steed and returned to his yurt secretly.

Till noon,
Kanchorao rode on Surkoyun steed,
Arrived at Khan's yurt wearily.

He burst into laughter,
Confused others with his laughter,
Hid his sinister and cunning face,
Deep in his evil belly.

Kanchorao was inhumane,
He was a cunning and sinister traitor.
Old Bakay and Sari Khan,
Praised him for his great achievement,
They were very satisfied with his movement.

Kanchorao started his endless talk immediately:
"I have patrolled the boundary,
As far as the border of Samarkand,
And vast mountains of Tashkent.

"I climbed up the hill and watched through telescope,
I even did not see an animal.
The earth was desolate and silent,
I felt surprised about it.

"At the lower part of Namangan,
At the vast upper part of Hohan,
I climbed up a rock hill,
Watched to the direction of Kashgar.
"When I lifted my telescope,

Even a crow did not fly.
In my opinion, in the world,
There is no enemy who can resist us.

"I saw on our vast pastures,
Grass is luxuriant and livestock and people are prosperous,
Summer pastures have beautiful scenery.
Fellow people all look forward to,
Holding weddings and ceremonies,
People have prepared enough livestock.

"Golden crops show a rich harvest in prospect,
Red apples have bent branches,
The harvest season is coming.
People will be busier in harvest season,
Now it is the best time.

"Big brother, if you think it is proper,
Please listen to my assumption:
We come here happily in early summer,
Now it is autumn,
We have not worshiped our ancestors.

"Time flies like water,
Full moon time is coming,
The season of birds singing and flowers blooming has gone,
Cuckoos are tired and stop singing.

"Go to the tomb and worship ancestors,
It is the best time now.
Let us lead a white mare,
Go to father's white tomb.

"Let us get there on time,
Butchered the horses and worshiped and then returned.
"If we do not go in these two or three days,
It will conflict with the wedding and funeral,

Then the cold winter will come soon,
We will lose the chance to worship.

"If we do not go and worship our ancestor,
How ancestors' spirit rests peaceful!
If we do not go and worship ancestor,
How we can avoid our fellow people's criticism!"
Kanchorao talked with a glib tongue,
He tried his best to persuade Semtay.

Heard what Kanchorao said patiently,
Semtay agreed on his suggestion immediately:
"Find a white mare right now,
Your words are reasonable,
I have not considered this issue."

When Semtay was ready to set out,
Kanikai got the news.
To Semtay's home,
She went in a hurry,
Stopped Semtay seriously.

Kanikai said to him:
"My kid, listen to me, do not go,
Please listen to my words carefully.
You should stay here honestly,
You cannot go anywhere now!

"I have a strange dream,
Today is not your lucky day to go out.
Your saddle cushion is abandoned in my dream,
Surkoyun steed loses its saddle.

"Your white-leathered scripture is left at home,
You do not open it and read.
The barrel of Ackelty gun has rusted,
Sire spear is broken in the middle.

"You take off your Akorlbok coat armor,
Your crescent axe's blade has curled up.
Numerous enemies swarmed to you from a distance,
You are caught in my dream.

"An orphan like you, my poor kid!
It is not the right time to visit the tomb.
I did not dream a fortunate thing,
My colt, please do not go!"

Kanikai persuaded in earnest words,
Bloody tears ran out of the mother's eyes,
Tears ran down her cheeks like rain.

Ayichulek came in a hurry at the moment and said:
"Please listen to your mother's suggestion carefully,
You must listen to your mother,
You should change your mind.

"People will move in ten days,
After our people move to autumn pastures,
You can inform all our people,
Let people hold Tulie ceremony.

"Then you worship ancestors together with them,
Let us go there together,
Worship father's spirit,
We return after it."

After she persuaded,
Semtay was going to change his mind,
Almost decided not to go to ancestor's tomb.
Kanchorao jumped out at the moment,
He said in a harsh tone:
"My respected big brother, what's wrong with you?
How you can regret after you mount,

How you are inconsistent in your words.

"Ayichulek takes the trouble to do it,
She stops you synthetically,
It is men's business,
Women do not talk rubbish over it.

"Have you ever showed understanding for my brother,
You come and go freely and act on your own will,
For the sake of your own interest,
Have you ever discussed with my big brother?
Big brother, let's go now!
How can a man listen to a woman's words?"

Kanchorao burst into anger,
Whipped his horse hard,
Reined the horse and turned round right away.

Semtay had mounted his horse,
So he could not dismount.
He was in a dilemma.
Under Kanchorao's instigation,
Semtay was ready to leave on his own.

Kanikai persuaded him again:
"Listen to me, my dear colt!
You did not listen to your wife's advice,
You did not change your mind,
But now you should remember what your mother tells you!

"You are a passionate young man,
In recent days,
You will move to Kankoler,
Why do you act so rashly now?

"With your white mare as the lead,
Add more livestock for Tulie ceremony,

Your father's spirit will forgive you,
God will forgive you too.

"I have told you before,
But you did not believe my dream.
It is not your lucky day to go out today,
My kid, listen to your mother.

"Stars tonight are reversal,
My kid, since the time of your father Manas,
The rule passed down like this:
Calculate the revolving of stars carefully before taking action.

"As long as stars are not in right order,
It is not good to set out,
No one should step out of home.
If you act on your own will against ancestors' words,
There is absolutely no good result for you!

"Before your father set out in the past,
He must try how lucky he was on Tolugotash[1].
He rode on Achura steed,
Galloped forward,
He would lift millstone-size black rock Tolugo,
To test whether he had a good luck or not.

"If he could lift it smoothly and throw it,
He would go on his journey directly.
If he could not lift Tolugotash,
He would come back home quietly.

"This is the rule your father left,
At least, my dear,
You should go to see Tolugotash!

1 Tolugotash: It means the rock used for testing the luck in Kirgiz language. It is the certain rock Kirgiz people use to test luck and disaster. It is popular among people to arrange and combine forty-one little pebbles to test luck and disaster for the future.

Try to lift rock Tolugo,
To test your luck.
If you realize the bad luck from Tolugo,
You should come back home immediately!"

Kanchorao got angrier after he heard this,
He shouted and rebuked Kanikai:
"You are old but you still interfere,
Khans' issues,
You are nagging at them endlessly!

"Krichorao is by his side,
I, Kanchorao, stand behind him,
Who dares to come and challenge,
They are digging their own tomb!

"My big brother is mounting and going out today,
You come and obstruct in every possible way,
It seems you are old and shaky,
You are talking rubbish here,
Does not it mean you are too old?
How do you see the death is coming?

"The death is coming,
Does it mean you have seen it?
The devil in hell has come,
Does it mean you have seen it?

"Aunt, please think about it carefully,
With your own milk,
You give my big brother infinite power.
No matter what happens,
Everyone pulls together in times of trouble,
It is we, Choraos who accompany each other,
How you dare say doubting words,
How you can stop my big brother.

"Kanikai and Ayichulek,
Let dogs listen to your words,
Who will believe in your words except dogs?
Let the merciless and sleeping earth listen to you,
Let the black earth under foot listen to you!
Let's go, big brother, ignore them,
No one would stop for them!"

Facing Kanchorao's crazy shouting,
Kanikai had to tell the truth:
"My dear son,
I tell you the truth.
Since Kanchorao was born,
I have found he must make troubles in the future.
I thought of killing him at that time,
But I was not hardhearted enough to kill an infant.

"I thought how a baby could be guilty,
Let God decide everything.
When I put my nipple in his mouth,
There was no milk but blood in my breast.

"I felt it was unlucky,
I guessed he would plot to murder you in the future.

"Kanchorao, you are in such a hurry,
Do not let your Khan stay at home,
What do you want to do?
You must have other purposes this time,
Or why are you so crazy and in such a hurry?"

When Kanikai unmasked Kanchorao mercilessly,
Kanchorao grumbled the injustice for himself hysterically:
"I never ride on Buruler steed,
I never wear Burum coat armor.
No matter when and where,
My big brother and you correct the justice,

You never treat me like you treat Krichorao.

"The spirit we are going to worship is your husband's,
What is wrong with us to have Tulie ceremony?
Why do you rebuke me like this?

"What you said is full of holes,
I am inferior to Krichorao in your eyes,
You have bias on me from I was born,
I cannot change this through my whole life!

"Now I miss my father more,
How cannot I worship them?
Fine, if you do not want to go,
I must go and worship them alone!"

He turned round angrily,
His face was as pale as a dead person.
He shouted in sharp words,
He flew into a rage.

When crazy Kanchorao was leaving,
He gave a hard whip to Semtay's mount,
Surkoyun steed galloped its hooves forward.
Peerless hero Krichorao,
Had to follow tight.

Kanikai watched and stood there still,
She had nothing to do with it.
She followed his son going with her eyes,
Tears poured down her face and her heart was broken!

Kanchorao Cheated Semtay

They went out of Ayinla under the lead of the devil,
Damned Kanchorao cheated him,
Hero Semtay lost his mind at the moment.

"We did not listen to mother Kanikai,
We mounted and left Ayinla,
We go to Tolugotash directly."
Semtay told himself like this,
He would go and test on Tolugotash for his luck.

Galloped toward the hill in the front,
They climbed on the hill in a blink of an eye.
Semtay leapt off,
From the back of Surkoyun steed.

The outstanding heroic man,
Did not put in his eyes at all,
The millstone-size black rock.
He reached his arms and held it tight,
Wanted to lift the rock.

The rock did not move at all,
He began to cough when he tried to lift it.
He felt ashamed when he faced Kanchorao,
He thought his power was inferior to Kanchorao.

He could not draw back for his face,
So he took off his coat and threw it by the side.
Then he braced himself up,

Held the rock again with full of his strength.

He could not lift the rock either this time,
His face turned pale suddenly,
The rock was still there.

All courage made achievements through power,
Nothing would be achieved without power.
A gush of clotted blood,
Poured out of his nose.

Krichorao was born extraordinarily,
He knew it was not right,
He said: "Big brother, let me do it!"
He dismounted and ran to Semtay.

He tried his best but the rock did not move at all,
Krichorao was suddenly shocked.
He tried again and again,
Wanted to lift the rock.
Although he used full of his energy,
He still could not lift the rock.

"You both get away!"
Kanchorao walked to them proudly,
He did not use both arms,
He just grabbed the rock with one hand,
Like an apple,
The black rock was thrown far away.

"Big brother, our luck is coming!
Look, I accompany you,
I lift the rock easily which you cannot lift,
It means I have a good luck.

"It belongs not only to me but also to you,
The luck descends on me,

It belongs not only to me and but also to you and Kristan.
Let's go now, heroes,
Let's get to the tomb as early as we can!"

Kanchorao said to them proudly,
He mounted his steed happily.
He felt shy to say no,
He did not want to dent young man's digity,
Semtay went with him.

"Let us whip our steeds and go faster,
To butcher livestock and worship ancestors,
Then we can come back early."
Suggested Semtay like this,
They whipped their steeds hard.

Along the hill in the front,
They climbed it and galloped to its lower part.
They let their steeds gallop,
Clouds of dust rose up behind them,
They arrived at the tomb in an instant.

Drove livestock they brought on purpose,
And the white mare for the worship.
"Warriors, stop dawdling,
Butcher these animals quickly!
Semtay pressed the young men,

"It is near the dusk,
We must go back home as early as we can,
Mother Kanikai has warned us,
Do not stay the night in wilderness."

Semtay ordered them,
They brought the white mare,
Put it down and killed it.
Toward Manas' tomb,

They recited and prayed.
They dug the stove on earth after they prayed,
Put the big pot,
On the stove.

Damned bastard Kanchorao,
Asked to light the fire,
When the big fire burned,
The pot boiled immediately.

Young and energetic tiger Semtay,
He stared at the boiling pot,
He noticed the meat and soup turned black.
There was no hole on the pot bottom,
But the black soup in the pot disappeared,
And the pot turned upside down to the ground suddenly.

Semtay asked:
"What on earth does he boil in the pot?
The pot boils and turns black,
Then it turns upside down mysteriously,
There is nothing left in the pot.
Let this Tulie ceremony go to hell!
Fellows, let's go, let's go home quickly!"

Semtay had turned limp as he talked,
He staggered and could not stand up,
He felt dizzy and sick.
Toward his father's tomb,
He prayed solemnly.

Kanchorao cherished evil ideas,
He pretended he was busy adding charcoals,
But he thought: "God should punish Keyaz,
Why does not he come yet?"
In a blink of an eye,
The sky was covered with clouds of dust.

From the Yuchykoshaoyi slope,
Earth-shaking noise came,
The massive troops,
Swarmed coming with waving flags.

When he saw the massive troops,
Semtay murmured:
"Mother's prediction comes true,
The death comes so fast,
You guys take a look by yourselves."

Clearly known it was Keyaz's troops,
Extremely cruel Kanchorao said affectedly:
"Let us mount our steeds proudly,
They are not strong enemies,
Let us wipe them out.
Hope they are not innocent travelers,
Let me go and scout first!"

"They have been close enough,
We can see them clearly,
They are obviously Jedigair troops,
Khan Keyaz is here."
Krichorao blurted out the truth:
"Warriors, go and get the steeds soon,
We should press them with our vigor,
Let's mount and get ready to fight!
Go and stop them in the front,
You should fight with full of your strength!"

Warrior Krichorao was in a hurry,
He ran and grabbed Surkoyun steed,
Although Krichorao grabbed the steed,
He felt hopeless for their situation.
It had happened as he expected,
Cunning Kanchorao continued his plot:
"Kanikai has talked a lot,

We did not take any of her suggestions,
We do not need to be worried about the massive troops,
We do not need to complain here.

"We went to Tolugotash together,
My big brother is as strong as a dragon,
And hero Krichorao,
They both could not lift it.

"When I lifted Tolugotash,
They were astonished.
Please do not doubt my power,
I will wipe them out.

"We accompanied each other for many years before today,
We went through thick and thin,
We climbed mountains and crossed deserts,
We assisted each other in danger.

"We have killed countless strong enemies,
Any enemies who resisted us with spear,
We killed every of them.

"I patrolled and did not see anything suspicious,
It is less than five days till today,
Keyaz comes and challenges,
It is strange!

"My dear big brother,
You never let me ride on Buruler steed before,
I have never had chance to ride on Surkoyun steed either.
You do not let me ride your steed,
But as the compensation to Wumaitoy,
You present it to your aunt!

"When Buruler steed was in hand,
I did not ride it to kill enemies.

Kariala steed had been shot dead,
I had no steed to ride since then.

"Krichorao always rides your steed,
He also wears your Burum coat armor.
Therefore when he faces strong enemies,
He could fight against them bravely.

"It seems the chance is coming today,
Does God descend the luck to me?
I lift Tolugotash rock easily,
But you could not move it even an inch.

"Big brother, you do not notice me,
I am a peerless warrior too!
Please let me ride Surkoyun steed,
Let me gallop it and fight against enemies.

"Please give me your Sire spear,
Let me grasp it and wave it in the hand.
Please present your Ackelty firelock to me,
Let me put it on my shoulder.
With Achalbaris sword,
I will fight against the invading enemies,
I will drive them away like sheep flocks!

"It seems it is my lucky day today,
How I can look on and do nothing?
Big brother, please appreciate,
What I will do today!
Let me go and fight against enemies,
The honor will be under your name.

"Today I will talk about my bosom words,
Since I was born,
We two are raised up under your love,
Display skills in all occasions,

It is only Krichorao,
You trust him and you favor him.

"I cannot get your trust and appreciation,
I feel regretful till now.
Today I get a chance to display my skills,
Please give the chance to work for you!"
Kanchorao begged like this,
He complained to the big brother.

"Kanchorao, the steed you want to ride is here,
Do not be sad and lose confidence.
I see everything goes well on you today,
Sire spear you want is here.

"You should grasp the crescent axe tight in the hand,
You are a hero,
You are a respected man.
I will give you my steed and equipment,
Do not be a coward and fight against enemies bravely!"

Khan Semtay gave his mount,
His coat armor, weapons, and his trust,
To evil-hearted traitor Kanchorao,
What was the fate waiting for him?

Kanchorao and Keyaz Rose in Rebellion and Khan Semtay Changed and Disappeared

When Semtay gave him the chance,
When he got the chance,
When he mounted Surkoyun steed,
When Sire spear was in his hand,
When he lifted the crescent axe,
When he carried Achalbaris sword on his waist.

He said thanks to his big brother!
When he turned round and was ready to leave,
He reined the horse and looked back,
Told his heart to them:

"Semtay, I finally get it,
Surkoyun steed and weapons.
Semtay, I tell you,
I will cooperate with Khan Keyaz.

"I sent a messenger secretly,
Invited him to come here.
When people were moving to summer pastures,
I pretended to patrol the border.

"I entered into alliance with him secretly,
I hugged him and allied with him,
I promised him to kill you in the tomb,
I made many promises to him.

"Semtay, I consider you as my support,
But I did not get any benefits.

Thank you for giving me such a good chance,
Then my dream can come true.

"Semtay, you are stupid,
You did not take any of Kanikai's advices,
You deserve to have this end now,
Look, your death is on the way!

"Look, you can do nothing now!
Every chance is mine.
You rely on Krichorao,
I will see how powerful he is.

"Let me cut his head off,
Let me fulfill my dream,
Let me mount the throne of Khan,
Let me get the crown of Khan.

"Those numerous Kara Kirgiz,
Let me be Khan and administer them!
I must marry Chachykai,
Let her be my dear Khatun.

"I will send Ayichulek to hell.
I must deal with Sari Khan,
I will make Bakay a sheep herdsman.

"I will make Kanikai a slave,
I will torture her mercilessly,
Otherwise I, Kanchorao, will not be a man,
I must humiliate her!"

Kanchorao talked directly,
Then he galloped away proudly.

"You should be punished by the vows,
You just do as what you think.

I never think you have evil thoughts since little,
You are such a bastard!

"You dare to pour abuses to me,
You make me lose my Buruler steed,
You cheat me of Surkoyun steed,
You also take my weapons.

"You prepared for a long time carefully,
You plotted and cheated me,
You make me regret and cannot close my eyes!

"Bastard, you should be punished by vows,
Let Kanikai's milk punish you,
Let numerous Nuoyi's salt punish you,
Let my father's spirit punish you!

"I will see what tricks you have,
You, evil-hearted Kanchorao.
Had milk of the same mother like brothers,
Krichorao is like your sibling,
You are so malicious to him too.

"You rather die than marry Chachykai,
You such a bastard!
I do not want to see you, bastard,
Let you die in the wilderness!"

Cursed sadly and loudly,
Semtay stood there dreadfully.
Kanchorao was blinded by lust,
He challenged the king swaggeringly.

Made Surkoyun steed gallop forward,
Swung Sire spear high in the hand,
Ackelty firelock shined on his shoulder,
Silver coat armor shined on him.

Jedigair troops waited for the order,
Pitched their camps along the slope.
Kanchorao galloped ahead suddenly,
Appeared in front of Keyaz:

"My leopard Keyaz Khan,
You are a Khan administering your people.
You should listen to me carefully now,
I will pour out my bosom words to you.

"The promise we made several days ago,
Do you still keep them?
I have kept my words,
You also made great efforts.

"I consider you as my support,
I am very satisfied, Khan Keyaz.
I let Semtay lose his beloved steed smartly,
I let him lose all his weapons too.

"I make Semtay and Krichorao,
Turn into empty-handed trash!
Semtay stands there and can do nothing,
He is empty-handed and he has nothing now.

"He has no Ackelty firelock when he wants to shoot,
He has no crescent axe when he wants to cut,
He has no Sire spear when he wants to fight,
He has no steed when he wants to run.

"He has to shed blood,
He has no choice but to die.
I have gained his horse and weapons by cheating,
He has nothing left in his hands!"

When Kanchorao said this,

Khan Keyaz suggested him:
"My tiger, hero Kanchorao,
Wish God bless you.
Agile tiger Semtay,
Let us stop annoying him.

"Do not kill people in a hurry,
Do not challenge him face to face.
His father Manas Ayikoler's spirit,
Please do not punish us here.

"His father Manas is a lion in the world,
If anyone annoys him unreasonably,
He would never have a good end,
Semtay is also a peerless hero in the world!

"You wrote a letter to me,
Because I cannot refuse your invitation,
So I head my massive troops,
But I do not feel at ease all the time.

"Forget it, my tiger Kanchorao!
He is a ferocious hero,
He is a strong-willed man.
For Kara Kirgiz and Kazakh,
He is a reliable support.

"Because they fear hero Semtay,
Karamark never dare act blindly,
Do not dare annoy their people.
Under Semtay's protection,
People live a happy life.

"Does a person live forever once he comes to the world?
Who can live forever in the world?
My father Toltoy did not die at home,
He invited troubles and lost his life.

"What harm is there in his death, Kanchorao?
Maybe it is all God's will,
What he can do if it is his fate!

"Listen to me, let's not go,
Go and say good words to him respectully.
Let's take harmony as the most important thing,
We are still Semtay's good fellows.

"Let's go and make peace,
With that born-brave guy.
I will not challenge him,
Hero, it is not my business if you want to do it!

"I will not lift the knife and cut,
Hero Semtay is very agile.
Ayikoler Manas' offspring,
I really fear his father's spirit!

"Bakay is our elder,
We are his offspring.
All generals and soldiers here,
They all respect and admire him.

"Old hero Sari Khan,
He always upholds justice.
We explain everything to him,
They must forgive us.

"Neck stretched out to plead guilty,
Even a knife out of sheath would not cut it,
Let us plead guilty actively,
They must forgive us!"

After hearing what Keyaz said,
Jedigair troops clamored:

"Good hero, you are reasonable,
It accords with our minds.
He is a great hero,
Semtay once wiped the enemies invading us out,
You are correct, Khan Keyaz,
Do not provoke hero Semtay!

"We all go to see him,
Let us console his heart!
We will say Kanchorao does wrong,
Plead guilty to hero Semtay.

"He must forgive us if we apologize,
Good hero Khan Keyaz,
Your words win all our hearts,
We'd better not offend him!"

People present shouted together,
Like they were praying
They all opened their hands and lifted high.

Kanchorao fumed with rage,
He shouted abuse:
"Damned Keyaz!
Go and die!

"Let dogs listen to your words,
Who else will listen to you except dogs?
Let dark night listen to you,
Let numerous vows punish you!

"When seeing Semtay's majesty,
You are scared out of your wits!
It is without reason.
It is always tyrant Semtay,
He tramples your dignity underfoot,
He brings you disasters.

"Do not be scared and go bravely,
Let us revenge and then come back!

"Manas has died,
You are so scared of him.
A hero like me,
Is standing in front of you.
Why do not you feel scared?

"Khan Keyaz, you should be careful,
Do not let him wipe Jedigair out,
All your people in Jetsu,
He will kill them all.
You should keep your promise,
Remember the promise you made!"

Kanchorao abused,
Shouted like a mad dog.
He was in a towering rage,
Carried the knife and was ready to fight,
He was ready to gallop and fight:

"Keyaz, you are in bad faith,
I will kill all your people.
I will tell him what I said was a joke,
I must let him believe,
I kill you to protect him,
Otherwise I will go to hell!

"I must achieve my aim!
I will kill you first if I cannot kill him.
Kill the tyrant with me together,
This is your only choice.

"My heroic Khan Keyaz,
Head your troops and set out now,

You should fully display your skills,
You must wipe Semtay out completely!

"What's wrong with you?
Where is your dignity going?
You have been a Khan for a year,
You should make the best use of this lucky chance!"

Kanchorao threatened him,
Sharp spear had approached Keyaz's chest.
Jedigair troops all turned out,
Waved knives and marched ahead.
Kanchorao made the deal with his glib tongue and sharp spear,
Keyaz Khan finally became his accomplice.

They climbed over the ridge in the front,
Nothing could stop them,
They arrived at Manas' tomb,
Besieged hero Semtay in the middle.

Facing the sudden munity,
Khan Semtay was in extreme anger,
His face was pale and he was quivering.
His steed and weapons were cheated,
He had to fight with empty hands.

He mounted Archatoru steed,
Waited for the enemy's attack.
He had a horsewhip in the hand,
He did not have any sharp weapons.
Although he had no weapon,
He was not going to retreat.

Kanchorao marched ahead violently,
He pricked toward the hero's ribs fiercely.
When the hero reached his hand to grab the spear pole,
Kanchorao drew the spear back fast.

When the rival passed by as fast as a lightning,
He reached to grab the rival's clothes edge,
His mount did not cooperate smartly,
His hand did not reach it unfortunately.

When he whipped the horse to chase,
Archatoru steed,
Was reluctant to run.
When Kanchorao galloped past him fast,
He gave a hard whip suddenly,
Damned evil-hearted Kanchorao,
Almost fell off to the ground,
From Surkoyun steed's back.

Right at this crucial moment,
Keyaz grasped the crescent axe,
Galloped forward,
Cut with full of his strength toward Semtay.

Facing the approaching huge axe,
Semtay urged his steed,
But the damned animal did not move at all.

When he saw the mount do this,
Semtay regret dimidiately:
"I have many fine horses,
An inferior horse like Archatoru,
How I can consider it a fine steed,
How it can compare with Tayibruler!

"I have recruited many heroes and warriors,
And many true and strong men,
An evil-hearted bastard like Kanchorao,
How he can compare with hero Krichorao!

"Has my majesty and dignity lost?

Has the death descended over my head?
Die in the wilderness,
It seems it will be my end today!

"I have never failed and been humiliated,
Now Kanchorao is trampling over me.
Under Kanchorao's instigation,
I presented my Tayibruler,
Why my Surkoyun steed,
Now is his mount?

"Just because the traitor asked for it,
I also gave him all my weapons.
It was I who equipped him perfectly,
It was I who gave him the power.

"It serves me right, I make the trouble!
I deserve it.
If I lose my life here in vain,
It is really wrong for Krichorao!"

Semtay did not consider his own safety,
He still cared for Krichorao's safety.
When he gnashed his teeth and reproached himself,
Excited bastard Kanchorao,
Launched a fierce attack again.

Like losing his wits,
Almanbet's son Krichorao,
Was in panic and did not know what to say:
"Hey, Please, Kanchorao,
Hero Chorao with giant strength,
We were born together and grew up together,
We chased after colts together,
We endured hardships together,
We encouraged each other,
We played together and laughed together,

We fought against enemies together,
We enjoyed victories together,
We also experienced the failure.

"We wandered since we were little,
Semtay cared us and raised us,
Now we are strong grown-ups,
No matter the beauty or the evil,
We have experienced in person.

"Our king does not do anything wrong to you,
You have no regret,
You are not pushed aside and desolated,
You are also a famous Khan in the world!"

Krichorao stood by the side,
Talked incoherently:
"We all made mistakes,
Big brother Semtay also made mistakes.
We three ate same mother's milk,
We grow up together.

"Brothers as close as us,
Can you find more in the world?
What issues cannot be discussed?
What faults cannot be forgiven?

"Do not deceive yourself and others,
Do not fight against your own men,
Do not sadden friends and gladden enemies,
Do not take big brother Semtay as an enemy!

"Do not take me as your enemy,
Do not trample on us,
Kanchorao, do not do stupid things,
Do not make us wander again!"

Krichorao suggested,
And begged him sincerely.
Kanchorao stamped with rage:
"Kristan, I do not listen to you,
I do not want to see you for whole of my life,
I will kill you,
I will gouge your eyes out!
I will act on my own will,
Everything is in my hand today!"

When Kanchorao poured bad words and turned round,
Krichorao fell out immediately:
"Damned guy, you are haunted by ghosts!
I suggested you sincerely,
But you did not change your mind,
You wasted my kind thoughts!

"When did you Beygin the plot?
You did it secretly.
You damned guy, wait and see,
I will not let you off one day!

"Oh, my God!
I am willing to accept the fate,
As long as I am still alive,
I swear I will deal with you!

"We fought over the milk in the Beyginning,
Mother Kanikai raised us with her milk,
When was your conscience eaten?
When did you Beygin the plot?

"As long as I am still alive in the world,
I must punish you, the damned bastard.
Semtay is a great hero,
Krichorao is a peerless warrior,
What skills do you have to kill us?

"Once the chance turns to us,
It will be your end.
Gave you the steed, weapons, and the coat armor,
It is our fault,
It is up to you to deal with us.

"Evil Kankeldi,
You are not a Chorao anymore from now on.
If Keyaz has become your accomplice,
And shameless Chachykai,
You will all be punished one day."

Krichorao felt aggrieved,
Kanchorao's eyes flamed with anger,
He stamped on rage,
He gnashed his teeth and looked ferociously.

He had full of evil thoughts in his mind,
He swung his long spear suddenly,
Toward hero Semtay,
He launched a crazy attack.

When he charged toward Manas' offspring,
The spear point was going to pierce through the hero's ribs,
Fearless hero Semtay,
Still stood there still.

The hero lost his steed and weapons,
Although he had no condition to defeat the rival,
He still did not retreat and fear at all,
The black mane wolf raised his head high proudly.

The hero did not spare a glance,
For the approaching death.
When the traitor's spear pricked toward him,
His arrogant eyes did not blink at all:

"Do what you want to do,
I do not want to see your ugly face again,
You such a frantic devil, Kanchorao!"
He turned his face to the side as he talked.

With a big noise,
The hero's blood had soaked the spear.
Unfortunately, hero Semtay,
By his own Chorao,
With Sire spear his father left,
Had his belly pierced,
Tragedy happened again in the human world.

Before he drew the spear back,
Toltoy's son Keyaz,
Charged toward him fiercely,
Lifted the crescent axe,
Toward the back of Semtay's head,
Gave a hard blow with the axe back.
Blood spouted out of hero's mouth and nose,
Leopard hero Semtay,
Fell off on the ground!

Evil-hearted devil Kanchorao,
Turned the steed round again,
Carried Manas' Albaris sword,
He was going to cut the hero's head off,
Keyaz came and stopped him:
"Stop, do not cut the hero's head off,
You finally have killed the tyrant,
Do not make him beheaded.
The hero has been killed,
But we must keep his dignity.

"Let us bury him with his head solemnly,
Do not destroy his face.
Even if cut the hero's head off,

Do not take his crown off."

Before Keyaz Khan finished his words,
Semtay's body began to shine suddenly.
Like the melting lead,
Suddenly it disappeared.

Soldiers searched around but could not find him,
They did not know whether he was alive or dead at all!
People could not find Semtay's body,
They could not bury him.

Soldiers and generals were shocked,
They all clamored:
Hero Khan Semtay,
Where did he go?

Krichorao Was Crippled and Hero Sari Khan Sacrificed Himself for Fighting against Enemy

Rampant bloodsucker,
Kanchorao's eyes turned red,
He carried the bloody knife,
Galloped toward Krichorao crazily,
Shouted that he must kill Krichorao!

Mountain-size Khan Keyaz,
Grasped his horse rein immediately,
He persuaded the devil:
"Forget it, hero, stop now!
Semtay has died,
You have wiped your rival out,
You should not have regrets now!

"Krichorao does not do anything wrong,
We do not need to kill him!
If you are too brutal,
The tyrant's spirit,
Will come and take our lives away.
Please grant my request!
I come to you in a hurry,
Just for stopping you."

When Keyaz Khan persuaded him,
Kanchorao answered back sarcastically:
"Keyaz, you are too naive,
I have no time to listen to you talk rubbish.
The person you protect,
Killed your father!

Semtay did not kill your father,
It was Krichorao who killed,
Toltoy and his group.

"He is iron-hearted and merciless,
If we let him live in this world,
You will have no good end,
He will let you suffer enough.
I cannot let him live in the world,
I must kill him no matter how hard it is!"

He swung the spear in his hand violently,
Roared and charged forward,
His face was like a burned pine tree.
Evil-hearted bastard Kanchorao,
Exposed his ferocious looking immediately.

Krichorao felt limp,
He sweated and his arms and legs jerked.

Facing this situation,
Khan Keyaz persuaded again:
"Hey, hero Kanchorao!
I only asked one life from you.
I have fulfilled my promise,
If you do not take my request,
I feel sorry about it!

"Hero will not hurt a powerless hero,
Krichorao is at death's door,
I would rather let you kill me,
Than you kill him mercilessly!

"You should think again and again,
We need to consider for our future.
If you do not save my face on this,
Why do I ally with you?

"It is a life you do not give me,
Forget it, I am leaving!
As long as you have conscience,
You will not kill him.

"Look at him, his eyes flame,
His face glows with health,
He is strong,
He is handsome.
No one in the world does not love him,
If you do not give him to me,
You will regret forever for this!

"We would rather destroy his future,
Than kill him.
We'd better knock him out,
Let him become a useless person."

Keyaz did not yield at all,
Kanchorao had nothing to do about it,
Facing Krichorao lying on the ground,
This shameless hustler could not cut hero's head off.

Numerous Jedigair people,
Swarmed up like flood,
Massive troops crowded tightly.
People came up and bustled,
Tied Krichorao up.

He was exhausted and passed out,
He sweated all over,
He had no power to resist at all,
Clotted black blood spouted out of his mouth and nose.

He had no energy to move,
It was hard to tell whether he was alive or dead.
Krichorao lied on the ground unconsciously,

He waited for the torture of fate.

Krichorao had passed out,
Soldiers took Krichorao's clothes off,
On his broad shoulder,
They found a pot-size mole.

On his thick back,
There was a row of dense and black hair,
They watched his bottom,
They found something more magical:

No one could compete with him in the world,
Fairy in the human world,
His protector Almanbet,
Left a mark of five fingers,
When he fondled him.

Tiger hero Krichorao,
His condition was so mysterious,
Ahter being tortured of a demon.
He held a last breath,
His eyelids moved gently.

Almanbet's son Krichorao,
Was thrown into the wilderness mercilessly.
Heartless devil Kanchorao,
He was iron-hearted,
He did harm to his fellow people cruelly,
He would suffer from a disaster one day.

Devil Kanchorao led the way in the front,
Keyaz Khan followed him tight,
Others mounted their horses,
Jedigair people set out immediately.

Khan Keyaz sighed at the moment:

"Hey, Kanchorao, Kanchorao!
You have done what the world never did.

"You cheated Semtay of his steed and weapons,
You made him lose his power.
We did not compete with him fairly,
We defeated him skillfully,
But we leave a laughing stock to future generations.

"Heart is also a piece of flesh,
We cannot be without conscience.
We did not collect his body,
We did not wash his body and wrap him,
We did not cry and bury him,
We did not find him.

"Let's go to the place he died,
We must find his corpse.
If we find his body,
Let us call all Nuoyi people to come,
Let them dig a deep tomb,
Hold a grand funeral for him.
Let's stop humiliating his corpse,
Let's make an end of it!"

Keyaz Khan said these words,
Headed his troops and went there.
All soldiers searched together,
There was no corpse and blood,
There was no footmark either.

It became a secret where Semtay went,
No one heard of his news.
He disappeared from the human world,
No one saw him!

People all felt surprised about it,

They all reined horses and turned round,
Whipped and galloped away,
Climbed over mountains and marched toward the city.

When they set out,
Krichorao raised his head difficultly,
He felt limp.
He braced all his strength and stood up,
He wanted to wave but he could not lift his arm,
His arms draped.

"Why do not you kill me?"
Facing malicious Kanchorao,
Krichorao shouted furiously:
"You destroy me, Kankeldiler,
Why do you torture me like this?

"My big brother Semtay does not die,
No one in the world witnessed his death.
He is surrounded by sage Kirkchylitan,
We just do not know where he went.

"You trampled the salt you eat,
You must get punishment from the salt.
As long as I still have a breath,
I will defeat you one day.

"I refuse to live in the same world with you,
Damn, get away from me!
Wish God punish you,
You will not have a good end!

When he heard the abuse,
Kanchorao stamped with rage,
Facing defenseless Krichorao,
He used the back of the crescent axe,
Pounded to Krichorao's back fiercely.

Krichorao got such a heavy blow,
He fell down immediately.
Mud came into his nostrils,
Blood spouted out of his mouth.

Marched toward the city,
Jedigair people was like tides,
Like flood in early spring,
They swarmed toward Sire city.

Devil Kanchorao and Keyaz,
Swept past Karashar city,
Like a storm.
Kara Kirgiz people's capital city,
Was leveled to the ground.

Sari Khan witnessed the radical change,
Worry and fear rose in his mind:
"This world makes people regret.
I have no troops to call in now,
Our numerous people are in summer pastures,
I am not able to assemble them now.
People are far away from here,
What should we do?

"Krichorao is born brave,
It seems he has suffered from disaster,
Damned bastard Kanchorao,
It seems he has had enough of the hero's blood!

"The only son of the lion,
Seems has fallen like the moon.
Kanchorao should be punished by vows,
It seems he has killed hero Semtay.
They head massive troops to us,
It seems their plots have come true!"

Facing such a sudden disaster,
He did not know what to do,
No one could answer his call.
He could not get to the side of his fellow people,
He could not call his people in either,
Sari Khan braced himself up,
Whipped his horse and charged to the battlefield:

"Damned mad dog Kanchorao!
You are such a heartless traitor,
Go to the hell you choose!
You turn into a giant from a fly,
You once defeated many heroes and warriors,
Now you become Keyaz's support,
And become my enemy.

"Kanchorao, you are the winner for now,
You king it over with your bloody hands.
The dark world is abysmal,
Before my head is not buried,
And my knees do not touch the ground,
I will fight it out with you,
We will fight it out.
Hero Manas' wife and offspring,
I will protect them with my life!"

Swung the silver spear in the hand,
Sari Khan braced up and galloped ahead,
Swept enemies in rows,
Old hero Sari Khan had gone from strength to strength.

In the battle,
Spears clanged and guns shot,
It lasted for ten days and nights.

Did not let enemies pitch camps,
Made the invading enemies not able to move a single step,

Old but vigorous Sari Khan,
Did not let any generals challenge him off.

Bastard Kanchorao creamed,
He was not able to hold his own,
Kanchorao galloped his steed,
Toward Keyaz with full of his strength.

Sari Khan chased after him tight:
"Do not panic, it is not over!
Kanchorao, if you are a true hero,
Come out and fight alone.
Your uncle has been old and weak,
But after Semtay died,
He still can send you to the hell!

"Kanchorao, if you are really powerful,
Come out of the troops,
Come and fight with me alone.
You such a hypocritical bastard,
I can deal with you by myself!"

Sari Khan did not yield an inch and challenged the devil,
Carried the spear and approached Kanchorao.
When the spear point was going to prick on him,
Surkoyun steed was a great horse,
It dodged and leapt agilely,
Like hare in the wilderness,
It pranced to left, right, front, and back.
It was as fast as it was flying,
It left old Sari Khan far behind.

Shameless Kanchorao,
Roared at the top of his voice,
Fled toward Keyaz,
He complained to Keyaz:
"Keyaz, it is more than I can bear,

Sari Khan almost kills all your people.
He is sweeping your troops in rows,
Countless soldiers have died and injured.

"He almost kills me,
He almost pokes me off the steed.
Thanks to the great steed,
I come to you after all the troubles!

"If I do not ride Surkoyun steed,
He might have killed me.
We cannot defeat him if fight against him alone,
Let us find other tactics to deal with him.

"On his coming way,
Let us dig deep ditch and set a trap.
In the ditch,
I will set the trap in person.

"Put up Ackelty firelock,
Let's shoot on his forehead.
Only when we kill giant Sari Khan,
We can eliminate the scourge and keep safety!"

Damned guy Kanchorao,
He should be punished by Kanikai's milk.
Heartless bastard Kanchorao,
Ordered to dig the ditch immediately.

He covered the ditch smartly,
Ackelty firelock had been loaded,
He hid in the ditch and waited for the old hero!

Angry old hero Sari Khan,
Filled with rage,
Whipped his steed and galloped ahead.
He wanted to pick,

Kanchorao and Keyaz,
Out of the countless soldiers.

He did not notice the covered ditch at all,
Still galloped forward with full of his strength.
Sari Khan had approached the ditch,
He galloped the steed defenselessly.

Kanchorao hid in the ditch,
Shot the evil bullets ferociously.
The wooden bowl-size lead bullet,
Shot into the old hero's forehead.
Sari Khan fell immediately,
Off the horseback.

Blood spouted out of his forehead,
Sarikhan died immediately.
The devil used every means in his power,
Finally he killed Sari Khan,
The damned traitor reached his goal.

Uncle Sari Khan left the human world,
People once lived happily and peacefully,
Now Kanchorao destroyed them completely,
No one sent the news,
People who lived in mountains,
Did not know what had happened at all.

Guards who served in the palace,
People living in the city,
Soldiers led by Keyaz and Kanchorao,
Besieged them in the city tight.

The troops surrounded all people,
Dark clouds covered the sky in an instant,
Heartless devil Kanchorao,
Rode on the winged steed,

Swung the knife and rushed into the crowd.
Three heroes had sacrificed their lives,
People realized it suddenly.

All people cried in the dark,
They could do nothing but gnashed their teeth,
Many innocent people were tortured.

Kanchorao and Keyaz were two devils,
They occupied Sire Korgan city by force,
They took over the palace and the throne,
People all complained.
Darkness descended to the world,
Kara Kirgiz fellow people,
Had lost the happy birds over their heads.

Damned bastard Kanchorao,
Forcibly occupied,
Fine steeds the lion left,
And Khan's palace and throne!

Those strong and powerful warriors,
They were outstanding elites,
They were the kings of giants,
They were leaders of their fellows,
They were elites among knife grinders,
They were leaders among sharp weapons,
Because they lost their heroic Khan,
They had to be trampled upon at will.

They never broke others' hearts,
They were magical steeds among fine steeds,
They were eagles among falcons,
They were enemies' mortal malady,
They were fellows' good luck,
They were peerless heroes like tigers,
Because they lost their heroic general,

They had to be trampled upon at will.

They never let the enemies they chased off,
They had majesty like Alpakala birds,
They were like dragons when they faced strong enemies,
Those heroes with strong waists,
Were killed in secret places,
Because the throne was taken over!

Kanikai's milk should punish him,
Kirgiz ancestors' spirits should punish him,
The salt should punish him,
Damned devil Kanchorao,
Administered the kind people cruelly.

Achalbaris sword hung on his waist,
Sire spear held tight in his hand,
He colluded with Keyaz in Jedigair,
Called him to come shamelessly,
Into sacred Sire Korgan city,
Exposed his evil intentions completely!

Lost their Khan Semtay,
Kirgiz eagles had no wings to fly,
Kirgiz eagles wings were broken mercilessly.
Look at those poor ordinary people,
Shameless bastards trampled on them!

Luxuriant forests,
Had turned withered.
Kirgiz splendid big trees,
The ferocious and shameless traitors uprooted them!

Lost their lion,
The dam built years ago was flooded.
The drought went rampant,
Fertile fields and pastures had turned withered.

Bridges collapsed and roads blocked,
Lives were hard to be kept,
Was prosperous Talas destroyed like this?
They lost Khan Semtay suddenly,
The world was changing all the time!

Respected elder Bakay Khan,
He was a holy elder.
He was wise and agile,
He was advisor of Khans.
He was a sage everyone respected,
He was the luck of Kirgiz people,
Did traitors kill him?

Damned devil Kanchorao,
Could he stop trampling upon innocent people?
Could he let poor people off?
As long as old Khan Bakay still lived in the world,
Could he save his people?

Kara Khan's princess Kanikai,
She was an outstanding heroine,
She was the collar of Kamuka coat,
She was the mother of white felt hat people,
She was the sleeve of Akorlbok coat armor,
She was Kirgiz people's backbone,
She was the treasure of wisdom.

Kanchorao should be punished by mother's milk,
He once had her milk,
Could he repent and start anew?
Could he let mother Kanikai off?

Ayichulek was a beautiful fairy,
She was a swan flying in the sky,
She was a beauty in the human world,

She was the frame falcon rested,
She was Semtay's wife.
She was Akun Khan's princess,
No one in the world dare say to marry her.

Kanchorao was no match for her at all,
Did not mention they stayed together day and night,
It was impossible even to take a glance at her.
Frantic devil Kanchorao,
Could he let Ayichulek off?

Was Ayichulek flying at the moment?
Was she looking for a way out for Kirgiz people?
Did not think about she had no son?
She did not need to bow to anyone,
Did she think Kirgiz was not her business?
Did she miss Akun Khan's palace?
Did she want to fly back her home?

Devil Kanchorao should be destroyed,
Together with cruel Keyaz,
Would they only be willing to let it go,
If they kill elder Khan Bakay,
Kill hero Krichorao,
Kill kind mother Kanikai,
Kill virtuous sister-in-law Ayichulek,
Kill all friends and neighbors?

Kirgiz people of white felt hat,
Would God really punish them?
Vast Talas lost its master,
The earth was as silent as death.

Numerous fellow people,
Were tortured and humiliated!
Evil and wicked Kanchorao,
He would be punished one day!

People besieged in the city,
Thought about this day and night.
Their faces turned waxen,
They groaned and sighed in pain and panic.
Fertile and beautiful Talas,
Became lifeless!

Uncle Sari Khan's wife,
Royal aunt Wulbikai,
Was murdered at home suddenly,
Kanchorao found her,
And killed her mercilessly!

Suffered from a sudden persecution,
Became disabled in an instant,
The hero suffered from regret and pain,
Krichorao's shoulder was still bleeding.
The earth also did not feel satisfied,
It still swallowed everything.
The poor leopard shed too much blood,
He only had one breath left in his chest.

Monstrous gale blew,
Cursed the malicious traitors.
The earth had withered before the fall,
Leaves fell and everything looked miserable.

Krichorao finally raised his head,
Groaned gently in pain.
Heavily injured tiger,
The earth carried him.

Although he looked at Sire city,
He could not move his body at all.
When he looked desperately,
Kanchorao's crazy lackeys,

Came suddenly,
Tied him up and dragged him away mercilessly.

People looked painfully,
At the astonishing crime that happened in the world.

Let us put this aside,
Start from hero Semtay's offspring,
Seytek's story.

Postscript

At the very beginning when we planned to edit and publish the Chinese version of Semtay-Book Two of Manas, it was decided to use the early Chinese translation version of it by late Fajun Liu, who was a famous translator and was the former director of Manas Research Section under Literary Federation of Xinjiang Uygur Autonomous Region. However, when we were checking and making contrastive reviewing between his version and the published Kirgiz language version, we found some differences between them. Mr Liu's version was based on the Kirgiz language version of Semtay (Volume One, Volume Two and Volume Three) which were published by Xinjiang People's Publishing House respectively in 1984 and 1990. And he later made some sorting-out and abridgments of the version. But this time the translation version of Kirgiz language is based on Semtay-Book Two of Manas (Volume One to Three), published by Xinjiang People's Publishing House in 2004.

There were some differences in contents between the 1984 Kirgiz language version and 2004 Kirgiz language version, although both of them were from the recordings of Jusurp Mamay. As epics are a live form of folk literature, it is a matter of course that the contents and styles vary among different singers singing an epic in live performance. Even the same singer would sing it differently at different times and different places. This is a greatest feature of epics. For this reason, we should not only recover some abridgments, but also add the new contents the singer had not sung before. As Fajun Liu passed away, we have to let comrade from Mr. Manas Research Section under Literary Federation of Xinjiang Uygur Autonomous Region, to replenish Liu's Chinese translation version of Volume One and Two by referring to the Kirgiz version published in 2004. At the same time, Mr.Bahet Amanbek, a renown translator from Legal Affairs Office of the Standing Committee of People's Congress of Xinjiang Uygur Autonomous Region started to translate Volume Three again. So the translators of the Chinese version of Semtay-Book Two of Manas are Fajun Liu, Bahet Amanbek and etc.

Zhumak Kader, Aishan Simayi and Mohtar Juma revised the translation scripts word by word by referring to the Kirgiz language version.

Then Zhumak Kader and Jihong He read over the translation scripts and made detailed collating remarks. Later after this Then Jihong He, Minjie Guo, and Ruizhou Li, who are experts of Kirgiz history, culture, and customs and have good professional skills of Chinese language, were invited to collate and edit the scripts again.

Since Volume One to Three were translated by three translators, the language styles are quite different, and some translated parts even follow the forms of classic Chinese metrical poems. The eight epics of Manas can be regarded as separate books, but they are closely connected in terms of a complete story of one person (Manas) that spread from generation to generation. As a masterpiece handed down for generations, these eight books of Manas should have a unified style on narrative structure, character modelling, artistic characteristics, and ethnic traits. It is required that the translation of Manas should not only keep the style displayed by Manasqi while they were singing them but also keep the features of Kirgiz language and the style of literary modification. At the same time, it is required that the translation should meet the characteristics of Chinese language and literary modification and keep the unity of the translation style of these eight books of Manas. Thus, we were facing great difficulties in collating and editing the Chinese version.

To ensure that the publishing of Chinese version of Semtay-Book Two of Manas (Volume One to Three) could be going on wheels, the editors of the publishing house were involved in the work when the Chinese translation was still in the collating and reviewing phase. The editors needed to know the translation process so that they could discuss and identify the problems that needed to be solved in translating and editing of the epic together with the translators according to the publishing management system and regulations. After their discussions, the editors and translators reached the following consensuses through discussions for several times:

1. The methods of transliteration with annotation should be used in translating proper nouns such as names of people, places, animals, and plants. And for some special cases, the method of free translation should be used according to the rhymic feature of the epic lines.

2. The method of sectioning and paragraphing of epic poems should be used in the condition that this should not affect the epic structure. And based on the storylines, the epic are divided into parts, and at the same time, first level headings and secondary headings should be added.

3. Some individual plots should be handled carefully: this refers to deal with some descriptions of overly bloody battlefield scenes and direct sexual descriptions. The plots that are contradictory and inconsistent with Book One are specially processed. One or two lines are added to the sections contextual incoherent and even one or two finishing touches are added occasionally. Paragraphs lack of unity and coherence have been rearranged as appropriate.

4. In collating and revising the Chinese version, while we should take great efforts to retain Kirgiz cultural characteristics in the epic, we should also do best to meet the reading habit of Chinese readers. So necessary modifications are made for some expressions and poetic lines that may be hard for the readers to understand.

5. Refining, scrutinizing, and polishing words should be the most important steps in collating and editing the Chinese version so as to ensure the language of the translated epic to be more accurate, refined, and vivid. Meanwhile rhyme and rhythm of lines must be concerned simultaneously, as poems cannot be poems without rhythm. After t Jihong He's careful work of compilation, the Chinese version was sent to Zhumak Kader for him to organize reviewing.

On May 4th, 2011, the reviewing meeting of the Chinese version of Semtay was held in Artux, the capital city of Kizilsu Kirgiz Autonomous Prefecture. Many officials, researchers and editors participated in the meeting, including Xianyi Xu, Zhumak Kader, Yingfu Luo, Lang Ying, Adili Jumaturdi, Haichun Lu, Jihong He, Maklek Yumirbye, Bahet Amanbek, Wurhalicha Hederbye, Minjie Guo, Mingfang Xia, Amantur Abduresul, Tursun Niyaz, Guangli Chen, Chiguang, Aishan Simayi, Zhayir Jumashi, Aishan Aisha.

In the reviewing meeting, briefings about the completion of the Chinese version of Semtay-Book Two of Manas and the version itself were presented to the participants, who were invited to give their ideas on the major issues concerning the version and to exchange their opinions on how to improve it. The participants highly appreciated the success of the translated version while they gave their objective and specific suggestions on further revision.

After the meeting, Zhumak Kader made another contrastive reading of the translated version and Kirgiz language version. Based on the revision opinions from the participants, Jihong He exchanged views with Zhumak Kader for the revision work before he revised it and handed it over to the publishing house.

Then Xinjiang People's Publishing House reviewed

the translated version and gave some feedbacks. Jihong He and Zhumak Kader made further revision based on the feedbacks before they presented it to the publishing house again. After the editors of the publishing house edited, reviewed, and proofread, Zhumak Kader read over the final version before it was published.

On the occasion of the publication of this book, we would like to express our sincere appreciation to the people who participated in the work of translating, collating, editing and publishing of Manas and we would like to thank the leaders and scholars concerned who were concerned with and help the research work and publication of the great epic.
