Jusurp Mamay
(1918—2014)

Jusurp Mamay, Kirgiz, born in Aheqi County of Xinjiang China, was the honorary Chairman and the researcher of Literary Federation of Xinjiang Uygur Autonomous Region, and the member of the Standing Committee of the Chinese People's Political Consultative Conference of Xinjiang. He was a famous singer of Manas, the inheritor of national intangible cultural heritage of China and referred to as the "Modern Homer" in the epic field at home and abroad. Chinese state leaders describe him as the "National Treasure"of China, who was once the only inheritor, singer and researcher in the world who can sing eight books, i.e. more than 235 thousand lines of heroic epic Manas. He had contributed so much for inheriting, protecting, and developing the epic Manas, thus he garnered many honors and praise from the Chinese central government and Xinjiang Uygur Autonomous Region government. He was invited to visit Kyrgyzstan on three occasions, and was granted the gold medal and the title of "Kyrgyzstan People's Actor".

Preface

Manas is a heroic epic of Kirgiz folk literature. It is widely circulated among and treasured by Kirgiz people and has been handed down from generation to generation. It is not only one of the three great epics in China, but also a bright gem in the world literature and art.

Manas is the general name of the whole set of the epic, as well as the name of the first epic and the name of the hero. This epic, which originated from ancient tribal battle time, is a masterwork of folk art in the hero-worshiped period. Handed down orally for thousand years, like a running river, this epic is the spiritual pillar and cultural symbol of Kirgiz people and integratedly embodies their knowledge of society, nature, and life. The abundant stories in the epic modeled the ethnic spirit and soul of Kirgiz, and showed an epic spirit of patriotism, bravery, wisdom, unity, and inclusiveness.

The epic is voluminous and rich in content, telling the stories over a long period with many different versions. Only the version from Jusurp Mamay contains 235 thousand lines. The epic presents a moving stories of Manas and his following seven generations, highly eulogizes their extremely hard and bitter battles on defending their people and homeland, and their struggling and heroic spirit in fighting against external invaders, striving for freedom of the Kirgiz people, and for pursuit of their happy lives, and building their beautiful homeland.

The structure of the epic is that of typical ancestry hero saga. From the hero Manas to his later generations, the romantic but moving and tragic feat can be seen in the whole epic. The epic is a masterwork of folk literature with magnificent and exciting contents, like a dazzling star that has a profound artistic influences. The epic brings the reader into the ancient Kirgiz life with its poetic language and impressive stories. The characters appearing in the stories are of rich varieties, such as wise Khans, brave and wise generals, grand old ministers, eloquent emissaries, heroines, wizards, workers, traitors, and villains. No matter whether they are the heroes or the villains, they are all portrayed vividly and magically with lively characteristics. The hero Manas is brave, valiant, and without a rival in power, like a brave tiger or lion in the battles, as strong as a dragon and as agile as an eagle. When he goes to battle, he is accompanied by fierce tigers in his front, cheetahs behind him, and with great dragons flying over guarding him. He wears the iron helmet and battle gown, with the battle-axe on his shoulder, the long spear in his hand, and the sword on his waist. He fights in the battlefield elegantly. Through the characterization of the epic heroes headed by Manas, the epic presents a folk picture of the ancient Kirgiz life, covering the scenes of weddings, recreation, and various ceremonies.

The epic is a treasure trove of the art of language. Varieties of rhetoric devices, such as comparisons, exaggerations and personifications, are commonplaces in this epic. The brave heroes are symbolized with the images of tiger, black mane wolf, and male camel. The epic lines follow strict poetic rhythm, and as a result, it has a strong sense of tempo. Rhymes are almost in every line, and many of the lines are based on both alliteration and end rhymes, which makes the epic lines catchy when a Manasqi sings them sounding pleasant and beautiful. Each volume of the epic is independent of one another and at the same time the volumes connect closely with one another. This makes the epic a integrated work which are structurally cohesive and integrative in creating its characters, designing its plots and narration of the stories. The epic manifests the Kirgiz peoples' brilliant art skills and It also fully shows their unique literature expressive capacity and their aesthetic tastes through the depicting images of the characters and animals and the plot narration. Manas is a classical work of infinite vitality, and it is a great peak of Kirgiz literature as well as a classic that is handed down for thousand years. It is deeply rooted in the rich Chinese civilization from the beginning and is a great achievement of Chinese culture through communication and exchanges.

Since the founding of the People's Republic of China, especially since the Reform and Opening up in 1978, Kirgiz hero epic Manas has been listed as one of the three great national epics of the country with the high value and support of the Communist Party of China and the central government of China, and it was successively listed in China's National and World Intangible Cultural Heritage of Humanity. Since the Eighteenth National Congress, the CPC Central Committee with General Secretary Xi Jinping at its core accords great importance to the heritage and development of epic Manas. On the Central Ethnic Work Conference, Forum of Art and Literature, the Thirteenth National People's Congress and on the signed article published before he visited Kyrgyzstan, Xi Jinping highly emphasized the epic's historical status and the value of its heritage and development. He said Manas is a great heart-shaking epic. It does not only provide rich nourishment for the Chinese Nation, but also contributes a splendid chapter to the world civilization. In 2006, the State Council approved epic Manas to be listed in the first National Intangible Cultural Heritages. In 2009, it was listed in the Representative List of the Intangible Cultural Heritage of Humanity of UNESCO. In 2015, the State Administration of Press, Publication, Radio, Film and Television (SARFT) recommended epic Manas as one of the popularizing books of the excellent traditional Chinese culture. In 2018, the Publicity Department of the CPC and China Federation of Literary and Art Circles (CFLAC) listed Manas as one of the selected books in National Library and Xinjiang Volume of the Epics of Chinese Folk Literature. The cultural authorities of the country offer special funds for supporting the protection and continuity of Manas, especially for the translation and publication of this epic. In 2013, under the aid of the National Publication Fund, Xinjiang People's Publishing House published Manas Book One (Volume One to Volume Four) in Chinese, Kirgiz, and English. The Chinese and English versions of Manas Book Two Semtay, Book Three Seytek, and Book Four Kenainym were selected in the list of National Publication Fund in 2017.

The CPC Committee and the people's government of Xinjiang Uygur Autonomous Region have always valued the investigating, recording, collating, translating, and publishing of Manas. The leaders of the Committee and government and the leaders of various departments in charge of culture affairs of Xinjiang Uygur Autonomous Region have made instructions on how to put more efforts in the protection and continuity of Manas. The Region's Cultural Department has given strong backing on protection plans, applying for projects from the country's authorities concerned and it has also provided special funds for the work.

Since Kizilsu Kirgiz Autonomous Prefecture (K Prefecture for short) was founded, its CPC Committee and government have paid special importance to the protection, continuity and development of excellent Kirgiz traditional culture, the protection of the cultural heritages in particular. As the inheritance place of epic Manas and the applicant place for World Intangible Cultural Heritage Program, K Prefecture has made great contributions in filing, preserving, inheriting, publicizing, publishing, researching, and developing Manas.

Since the founding of the People's Republic of China, the national government and Xinjiang government have made many instructions to the related departments for collecting, surveying, recording, collating, translating, and publishing epic Manas. From 1955 to 1957, CASS Research Center for Ethnic Minority Languages, Central College for Nationalities in Beijing, and the region's Commission for Language Reform co-organized a Xinjiang ethnic minority language surveying team. The team did investigations of Kirgiz language in the areas where Kirgiz people lived and recorded many lines of epic Manas but treated them as the dialect data. It was the first time that the written form of Manas entered the National Archives of China. In the autumn of 1960, Fajun Liu, Jiaqi Liu and others from Xinjiang Writers Association heard folk artists sing Manas when they were soliciting contributions in Kizilsu Prefecture. At that time, the teachers and students from Central College for Nationalities, who were teaching and majoring in Kirgiz language, were doing their language practice there. Under Professor Zhenhua Hu, the teachers and students together recorded some lines of Semtay and Ayichulek from Timur, a famous Manasqi in Wuqia county. And what they collected were one part of Semtay of Manas. Later, they translated the lines into Chinese and Uygur language, and the translated versions were published in literature magazines Tianshan (in Chinese) and Tarim (in Uygur language) respectively.

In May 1964, the Manas Research Group was founded under the direction of Folk Literature Research Association of China, Literary Federation of Xinjiang Autonomous Region, and CPC Committee of Kizilsu Kirgiz Autonomous Prefecture. it was headed by Yang Tao, a researcher of Folk Literature Research Association of China, and Fajun Liu, a researcher of Literary Federation of Xinjiang Uygur Autonomous Region, and they led the group to carry out interviews in the areas of Kizilsu Kirgiz Autonomous Prefecture, recording the lines of epic Manas. In 1978, a project leading group was established again by the above three units, and it began to record and translate the lines of the epic in Beijing. Zhenhua Hu, a professor from Minzu University of China, and Fajun Liu from Literary Federation of Xinjiang Uygur Autonomous Region, were the directors of this group. In June of 1982, Xinjiang Manas Project Leading Group was established and the main leaders of the Standing Committee of People's Congress of Xinjiang Uygur Autonomous Region, Literary Federation of Xinjiang Uygur Autonomous Region, and Kizilsu Kirgiz Autonomous Prefecture were the group leader and vice leaders. In November of 1989, approved by the CPC Committee of Xinjiang Uygur Autonomous Region, certain personal adjustments of the Group was made.

The collecting and research of the epic went through a difficult process. From 1960, with the great support from the departments at all levels, under the guiding principle of overall collecting, key sorting, all-out popularizing, research strengthening, and faithful recording, the researchers started general surveys. As long as there was a singer, and even he could only sing one or two sections, the researchers recorded them carefully. The researchers were divided into three groups. They went to villages and herding sites by camels and yaks, crossing mountains and rivers to look for local epic singers (Manasqi). In three months, they visited many remote villages and lots of places where Kirgiz people lived in Xinjiang. As a result, they collected more than 200 thousand lines of the epic and some other folk literature works. In their surveys in the villages, they found Jusurp Mamay, a great master of Manas. Later, It took Jusurp Mamay eight months to sing the first five volumes of the epic–Manas, Semtay, Seytek, Kenainym, and Saiyit and what he sang was totaling more than 110 thousand lines, and the researchers recorded them carefully.

From August 1964 to October 1966, the Xinjiang Manas Project Leading Group spent more than two years in making surveys of what might not be collected in their previous work in the four counties of Kizilsu Kirgiz

Autonomous Prefecture. This time, they recorded Koktoy's Fiesta, Sent Letters to Seven Khans, Expedition, and other chapters of Manas, which contained 124 thousand lines. They also collected 21 manuscript books of Manas with about 90 thousand lines. Jusurp Mamay supplemented the content of Manas Book One from 38 thousand lines to 59 thousand lines; Book Two Semtay from 27 thousand lines to 32 thousand lines; Book Three Seytek from 18 thousand lines to 24 thousand lines; Book Four Kenainym from 16 thousand lines to 34 thousand lines; Book Five Saiyit from 28 hundred lines to 10 thousand lines and then later to 24 thousand lines. During that time, he also sang Book Six Aslebacha and Bekbacha which is 45 thousand lines long. It is quite a misfortune that the recording transcripts and the translation copies that dozens of people had worked hard on for more than two years were lost.

In 1978, Jusurp Mamay re-sang the first six books in Beijing, besides, he also sang Book Seven Sombilek and Book Eight Chigetai for the first time. All of which were carefully recorded.

After the researchers' and Manasqis' hard work for collection and research of epic Manas for several decades, the great epic began to take shape. Different versions of more than 80 Manasqi were collected, and the Kirgiz language version of Jusurp Mamay was published in 1995. In 2004, the revised edition was published, and what is more, the edition of the Slavic-letter transliterated version of the epic was published, which evoked a strong and positive responses in Kyrgyzstan, Russia, and other countries.

In order to draw more readers' attention on epic Manas, many folk writers and artists took great efforts to publicize it in newspapers, magazines, and books. With their efforts, many well-chosen passages were published. At the same time, Xinjiang People's Publishing House published the Chinese version of Manas (Volume One) , the translation work was organized by Fajun Liu. And it also published some other books of Chinese version that related with the epic, such as Kirgiz Folk Literary Classics-Best Parts of Epic Manas, which were selected and edited by the History and Annals Office of Kizilsu Kirgiz Autonomous Prefecture and Xinjiang Association of Folk Artist. However, due to certain reasons, the translation work of Manas from Kirgiz language to Chinese language was not processed systematically.

In 2004, with the advent of China's Cultural Heritage Protection Program, the translation of Manas from Kirgiz language to Chinese language embraced an unprecedented opportunity. Under the concern and support of the main leaders from the CPC Committee and the government of Kizilsu Kirgiz Autonomous Prefecture, Kizilsu Kirgiz Autonomous Prefecture and Xinjiang Literary Federation organized a Manas Chinese Translating Group, which was later renamed to Manas Chinese Translation Committee, and it was an efficient working group whose members came from Sereral ethnic groups.

At this time, the translation work from Kirgiz language to Chinese language began and it was coordinated, and directed by the Chinese government. The Autonomous Prefecture government and Xinjiang Folk Artists Association organized experts proficient in both Kirgiz language and Chinese language to do the work of translating, compiling checking and approving.

First, the Chinese edition of Manas was based on the Manas version sung by Jusurp Mamay that was republished by Xinjiang People's Publishing House in 2004.

There are three teams under the group: the translating, collating, and annotating team, the editing and compiling team as well as the checking and approving team. The three teams understood their responsibilities and the need for cooperating with each other to accurately translate, compare Kirgiz-Chinese versions, collate, review, validate, and revise the transcripts. Some basic principles were set up special for the translation work.

Translation: The translation should be strictly in accordance with the characteristics of folk literature. They should stick to the translation principles of faithfulness, expressiveness, and elegance. The translation verses are corresponded up and down. It is coherent and complete in meaning from sentence to sentence, section to section, and paragraph to paragraph. The translation of each word and each sentence should be expressed accurately and appropriately.

Contrasting in both Chinese language and Kirgiz language: this aims to correct the mistakes, errors, and omissions in the translated versions. It also modifies the unclear translation and inaccurate wording. It specifies some unique folk adages and proverbs, describing the sentences with word meaning extension and reverse extension for the usage of adding references and annotations in editing.

Collation: Under the guideline of taking its essence and removing its dross in collating excellent traditional culture, words should be processed precisely on the basis of respecting the original epic. It should meet the code of language, reading habit and taste of Chinese readers, and keep the language features, artistic characteristics, and national traits of the original epic. The wording should be concise, accurate, affluent, vivid and with epic's lingering charm. It should keep the rhythm of Kirgiz folk epic, and not apply the rules and forms of Chinese poems mechanically.

Validation: It also can be called overall proofreading. It is the last process before the translation draft is submitted to the publishing house with the purpose of reviewing the first three rules, especially checking the translation quality, literary expression, and wording. The ethnic relations, region concepts, customs, and beliefs involved in the translation draft should realize the goal of respecting the history and being in line with harmonious development.

Second, at the beginning of translating Manas to Chinese language, the leading group had already instructed the related experts that they should strictly follow the translating principles of "being faithful to the original version, preserving the style, and being common and smooth in its words". It is to achieve the goal of appealing to all by keeping the original flavor of the contents and the characteristic of folk artists' improvisational singing style, and taking into account the majority of Han Chinese readers' tastes. Moreover, Manas is a cultural treasure handed down for thousands of years. So the translation not only needs to represent the charm of the epic, but also need to handle appropriately the problems in transferring the vocal songs to written words.

The Character orders were clear in the original language of the recorded version, but some need to have a subject and some need to be marked off with punctuation in translating them into Chinese language. In the scenes of people's dialogues in the epic, some happened in the yurt and some happened out of yurt, so it should be expressed clearly in the words.

Transliteration and annotation are used in translating names of people, horses, places, plants, animals, and tribes. Free translation is used only in very few of them with the purpose of rhyming. The translated words of some places names are the same as that of some current places, but the positions of them are not necessarily the same as the current ones.

The epic does not have sections itself. Sometimes singers could sing dozens of lines in high spirits and rhyme all the way to the end. So the translated Chinese versions of the epic should be paragraphed according to the plot development and for the sake of readers' convenience without affecting the epic structure. According to the collating plan of Kirgiz language version, first level headings were divided out under major events in each book. There were several second level headings under each first level headings, which made it clear and distinct for the readers.

Translating the epic into Chinese language is also a process of doing research of the epic. After careful studies, the time when Manas epic originated was clarified based on the epic contents and the historical records. Therefore, in the Chinese versions, the terms that frequently appeared in the epic and the experts and scholars showed great concern to were defined more accurately. For instance, Karamak is the name of a part of Mongolians, also translated as Karmek, Karmark, etc. It is not correct to simply be translated as Mongolia. In addition, the meaning of theword Beygin was debatable in Manas. It was translated as "北京" (Beijing) in some parts of the epic. It actually refers to the capital city of Khitan. And some scholars believe it was Linhuang (Shangjing is the name of the upper capital of Liao Dynasty). In the 2010 edition of Cihai (Mini-print) defined Beijing as Shangjing Linhuang which was renamed Beijing in the first year of Tianjuan of Jin Dynasty (Year 1138)and the name was revoked in the second year of Tiande (Year 1150). Its site is southeast to Boluo in Left Bailin Banner of Inner Mongolia. Some scholars believe Beygin in Manas refers to Beiting in history. Beiting is in today's Jimsar county of Xinjiang Uygur Autonomous Region. It was the office site of Beiting Administration Office of Tang Dynasty. Western Liao once built a new city here in Yemili to recruit troops, and later it built a capital in Husordo. Some people mistakenly take Beygin for today's Beijing (北京) which does not match what the word means in Manas. And today's Beijing was called Yanjing in Liao Dynasty. Therefore, in translating the epic into Chinese language, the transliterated word Beygin (别依京) was adopted, meanwhile Shangjing or Kangayi were used for certain sentences.

In order to be faithful to the original epic, translators of the first draft are all Kirgiz people who are proficient in Chinese. For this, about ten Kirgiz experts and scholars were invited to participate in all sections of Chinese translation, especially in the contrast phase between Kirgiz version and Chinese version. They compared Book One twice to make sure the translation to be more precise and accurate.

Under the substantial support of various circles of society and the unremitting endeavor of our epic researchers, the Chinese version will meet the readers in succession. It is still to be discussed whether some Chinese expressions and the understanding of some uncommon words and sentences in the epic are appropriate or not because of the different comprehensive levels of the translating and validating staff members.

Manas is a great cultural heritage created by the whole Kirgiz people. The surveying, recording, collating, translating, and publishing of Manas is also the fruit of many people who had been working together. At the time of publishing this book, we want to express our great homage to those who inherited and passed down Manas from generation to generation. We would like to show our sincere appreciations to the people participating in the surveying, recording, collating, translating, and publishing of the epic and to the Party leaders and experts who devoted their time to Manas for decades.

Kanchorao Usurped the Throne

Setertayi Contended with Kanchorao

Hero Ayikoler[1] Manas,
United all Kirgiz tribes,
Expelled strong enemies and revived their tribes,
Created another brilliant time in their history.

Khan Manas was negligent for a while,
And he fell into Kunwuerbayi's plot and was killed.
Family internal conflict broke out,
Sought usurper and persecuted the orphan and the widow.

Courageous and wise mother Kanikai,
Took the orphan Semtay and fled away.
Twelve-year-old hero Semtay,
Retook the throne and rebuilt the glory.

When the tribes became more and more prosperous,
Kanchorao traited and pushed the tribes into abyss.
Khan Semtay disappeared and no one knew he was dead or not,
Now let me sing the story happened after that.

Daredevil Kanchorao and Keyaz,
Rode their horses and marched toward Sire city[2].
Young man Setertayi,
Opened the city gate immediately.

1 Ayikoler: Ayi in Kirgiz language means the moon. Koler means lakes. In the epic, the term "wide as lakes and bright as the moon" is used to refer hero Manas as a broad-minded, virtuous and great hero. Later it becomes a byword of Manas.

2 Sire city: Sire means shining in Kirgiz language. Because the city was built gloriously with beautiful and shining decorations. It was a shining city. So they named it Sire city.

Flames of rage burned in his heart,
But he showed them a smiling face.
He led Kuyuntayi[1] steed,
Lowered his head and hung the rein over his neck[2],
Facing Kanchorao and Keyaz,
He bowed and waited for their orders.

Kanchorao was a congenital show-off person,
He shouted to Setertayi:
"You bring the steed to me,
Bow to me and greet me.
You feel happy when you see us,
We see you are a hero!
From today on in this city,
You will replace Saritaz,
You will be the official to guard the city gate!"

Setertayi was rewarded,
But he replied:
"I have a request I must raise now,
I will gallop my steed to Chachykai now,
If you allow me to go,
I will report her what happened here.
And report Kanikai, Bakay and Ayichulek too,
About what happened here.
I will test what they are thinking,
Through my report.
I must come back to you,
Before the dusk of the day after tomorrow.
Then I will ask you, my uncle:
In front of thirty generals and forty warriors,
Fulfill your promise to me,

1 Kuyuntayi: it is the name of a steed. It means a two-year-old colt which is as fast as whirlwind.

2 Hang the rein over his neck: When Kirgiz people ask for punishment or claim the allegiance, they will hang rein over neck. It is the same as bearing the rod and willingly taking the punishment.

I can accept the award as an official contentedly then."

Kanchorao judged in his mind:
"Setertayi is a hero knows the rule,
He is loyal to me and has no evil motives,
He must maintain my status and dignity."
So he told Setertayi:
"I will not stop you if you want to go,
But there are a lot things need you to do.
You'd better come back before the day after tomorrow,
You must return and meet me in the city."

Setertayi fished Kanchorao's thought,
He knew he could do more things.
He saddled Kuyuntayi steed immediately,
Mounted the steed in a hurry.

Giant Keyaz entered the city,
Mounted Semtay's throne,
His heavy body sat on the Khan's seat.
Guards of and palace,
And their wives and children,
When they saw Kanchorao and Keyaz,
Walked in front of them,
They pouted,
And felt worried and angry.

Old people always stayed at home and did not want to go out,
Infants were forgotten in cradles with belts buckled up.
Men and women,
The old and the young,
Everyone was worried and frightened.

Look, in Kankoler[①],
Colorful flowers wilted suddenly,

① Kankoler: It is the name of a place.

Green grass withered suddenly.
Streams started to freeze,
No sound of water running appeared anymore.
All animals seemed to go to winter sleep,
You could not see any of them outside.
Larks' tongues were like to be broken,
They could not sing again.

Wild goats did not eat grass in pastures,
They hid behind rocks.
Happy swallows people loved,
Had no mood to stretch their wings,
Had no mood to catch insects,
To feed their hungry babies.

Lost its brave master,
Talas looked empty.
The king of birds,
Eagles with sharp eyes and talons did not fly again.

Female argali did not wander on hills,
Male argali crouched on rocks and did not move at all.
Male goats stood on rocks dumbly,
Female goats stood on the edge of cliff dumbly.
Male deer hid behind mountains,
Female deer were stranded on a small island in river.
Smart animals did not want to step in pastures,
It seemed they were blocked in bushes.
No zebras ran in desert,
No clouds of dust were risen up.

The air had been stagnant for three days,
The sun did not want to show its sunny face.
The sky was completely dark at night,
Smiling stars were nowhere to be found.

It seemed stars thought secretly:

"Semtay and Kris[1] are not here,
Whom do we Smile for?
Ayichulek does not look up,
Kanikai does not stare at us,
Whom do we shine for?"

It seemed the sun asked with a gloomy face:
"Khan Bakay and Kris are sad now,
I do not know where Khan Semtay is.
Why do I shine?
Whom do I send warmness to?"

Animals in the fields and mountains disappeared,
The shining sun disappeared,
In Kankolerata, Talas plains,
In human world, among livestock, in rivers and on the earth,
The prosperous scene in the past was impossible to see again!

Uncle Bakay and mother Kanikai were wild with anxiety,
Moon-like sister-in-law Ayichulek missed:
"Hero Semtay went to visit father's tomb,
It has been three days but he is not back,
We do not know what happened there?"
The mother and the daughter-in-law could not sleep,
They felt worried.
It was like a big disaster was coming,
They did not have mood to finish their work.

"It has been gloomy for three days,
We do not see the sunshine,
What is the naughty world doing?"
People felt more and more anxious.

People lived in Jetitor[2] prairie,

1 Kris: It is a respected and close name of Krichorao.

2 Jetitor: It is the name of a place. It means seven hills.

Discussed ill omens,
No one knew what would happen.
Ajibayi's son Kermanbayi,
Said sadly:
"How strange it is, it has been three days,
Horse milk in leather bags and yogurt in pots,
We do not know why they do not ferment.
I have asked milk-women,
They said dairy stock does not have milk.
I boil my meat and it cannot be boiled well,
How about your meat?"

There were many people present,
They discussed:
"What Kermanbayi said is true,
We do not drink fermented horse milk,
We do not have fermented yogurt either,
We do not eat boiled horse meat,
Our pots cannot make water boiled either.
It has been three days,
This world,
Begins to turn bad!
Everyone has a grey face,
No flowers blossom!"
The whole Ayinla① discussed,
They all felt scared of this strange phenomenon,
Without exception.

The white female camel father Manas left,
Lived in the hill all the time,
It had a leisure time since spring,
It got fat like it was blown up.
Right after the noon,
It rushed to Ayichulek's door.

① Ayinla: The pasture or the settlement of one tribe.

The female camel lowered its head,
Like its calf was eaten by wolf,
It wailed miserably.
It faced west,
Pillowed Ayichulek's threshold,
Crouched there and quivered.

Hero Semtay's white hunting dog,
Once hunted ten wolves in one day.
Flocks of wild sheep met it,
None of them could escape.
It once captured a lion,
In remote Gobi Desert.
When a group of leopards attacked animal pens,
It bit three down even before they got close.

People called bear as Masitan,
It bit seven down in a row.
The cute white hunting dog,
Chased fleeing beasts tight,
If the master did not wave to it,
It bit the prey hard and never turned round.

Look, now the hunting dog,
Tucked its tail between its legs,
It cried loudly for a while and then sobbed in low voice,
Made circuits of the white yurt.

It opened the bloody-red eyes wide,
It barked as loud as thunders,
It gnashed the teeth with big noise,
It wished it could dash forward.

It wailed mournfully,
Came to Ayichulek.
It was only three days,
It was like it swallowed a steel needle,

It was too bony to be recognized.

The lion hero left an eagle,
It was a good help for the hero.
Its old feathers fell in the first ten days,
Then the new feathers grew in next ten days.
Its wings became hard in fifteen days,
It could fly in twenty days.
It was released and went to hunt in sixty days,
The white eagle was always like this.
It never let the prey out of sight,
Even the cunning fox could not escape from its talons.

It was time of wild willows' blossom,
The white eagle was fed in the cage.
It was full-feathered and strong,
But it felt flustered.

It had been three days,
It ruffled its feather and did not eat and drink at all.
It looked up to the sky and creamed.
It fluttered its wings unstoppably,
Dragged the rope on its talon with its beak,
It did not go to sleep at night.
Its sharp eyes were covered with shadow,
It groaned miserably sometimes.
The white eagle worried and annoyed in the cage,
It became bony and small in three days!

"Why do such a thing happen?"
Ayichulek felt worried.
Mother-in-law Kanikai came to her at the moment:

"Hey,
My colt[1] Chulek,

1 Colt: It is the nickname Kanikai gives to Ayichulek.

I am nervous and flustered.
Semtay has left home for three days,
Why hasn't he come back yet?

"I cannot eat,
I cannot go to sleep either,
I am worried every second.
I did not allow Semtay to go,
But he did not take my advice.
My kid,
Did he tell you,
The exact place he would go?"

"Ah! Dear mother,
You wisdom is the luck of our home.
He said to me when he was ready to go:
He would go to father's tomb to worship.
I persuaded him not to go,
But Kanchorao added fuel to the flame on purpose.
Semtay said when he walked out,
'He would return that night'.

"The noon when your son went out,
The white female camel came back.
The poor giant,
Crouches in front of my door all these days.

"The white hunting dog barks all the time,
And refuses to eat anything.
The white eagle your son raised,
Creamed to the sky,
Like it hears its fellows.
It drags the rope on its talon,
It does not sleep at all."

"Dear Ayichulek,
In Kokotoy's ceremony,

In front of the crowd,
A prophet predicted my fate this way:
'Her hair back on her neck is fine and soft,
From the time when she is young,
Her good days will be fewer and fewer,
Tough days will be more and more.
Her hair on back head is fine and soft,
The wealth and honor she can enjoy,
Will be way less than the misery she will suffer.'
My kid, isn't it the prediction come true today?

"Since your father-in-law passed away,
We have suffered greatly.
It just begins to turn good,
It seems it is ominous for Semtay this time,
We are facing serious disaster!"

Let us put this aside,
Let us talk about Setertayi,
After he set out of the city.

Setertayi mounted Kuyuntayi steed,
Set out of the city immediately.
He went toward Kankoler,
He thought the ways of how to test Chachykai.
He thought he should observe him face to face,
He had heard the gossip from women.
Kanchorao and Chachykai,
They flirted with each other.

"I will turn the steed round to her home first,
I will test the truth of her,
I will test whether the gossip is true or not.
Then I will go to the upstream quickly,
Find the families that suffer from disaster."

Setertayi calculated,

Turned his steed round on the road.
Whipped and galloped,
Arrived at the door of Chachykai.
People in ancient time,
Had hidden mystery in their remarks.
Setertayi had prepared well,
What he would say to Chachykai.

My Saikaimi[①] did not dismount,
He called loudly at the door:
"Shatimir's granddaughter Chachykai,
My charming sister-in-law, are you well?
I have come to your door,
Please listen to the news I bring to you.

Sire city has collapsed,
The spring dried and streams stopped,
Semtay died.
Your brother Krichorao is in big trouble,
He becomes disabled although he is alive.
People in all places are assembled,
Now they are all under Kanchorao's administration."

What Setertayi said,
Made Chachykai smile.
She joggled out of the door,
She began to talk with Setertayi:

"Oh, my naughty Setertayi,
You are young and in your prime time.
Poor boy, I suggest you think more before you talk!
What is wrong with Semtay's death!
Kirgiz never lacks Khans in administration.
What is wrong with Krichorao's disability!
Kirgiz never lacks capable and brave generals!

① Saikaimi: It is the nickname of Setertayi.

"Kanchorao is there if Semtay dies,
He can take the chance and take over the throne.
Krichorao became disabled,
It is Kanchorao's time to show off."

Heard Chachykai's rubbish talking,
Setertayi burst into rage immediately, thinking to himsecf:
"Look,
She talks nonsense!
I want to grab her plait,
Drag her to death!
I have no regret if I drag her to death!"

Setertayi wanted to get angry with her,
Fought her to death.
He advised himself then:
"I need go and visit elder Bakay and Kanikai,
And I need visit sister-in-law Ayichulek.
Listen to their advice carefully,
It is not late to deal with her then."

Setertayi calculated in his mind,
He praised Chachykai on the surface:
"My charming sister-in-law Chachykai,
I am pleased with what you said.
You said Semtay's position,
Is taken over by Kanchorao.
When Saritaz was killed,
Big brother Kanchorao said,
Saritaz's position will be mine.
If big brother forgets to fulfill his promise,
Sister-in-law, you cannot forget it."

Arrogant Chachykai replied,
She talked wildly:

"You come and report me the good news in person,
Kanchorao must hand Sire city to you.
Ajibayi's son Kermanbayi,
Was once a Began[1] administered numerous people.
Semtay and Krichorao,
Firmly believed he is an offspring of eloquent people,
Put him in the important position and made him proud.
You can replace him too,
This is a reward I give you.
You must tell Kanchorao what I said,
When you go back."

Setertayi replied her:
"My charming sister-in-law Chachykai,
I am so happy with what you said.
If you really make me be a leader,
I cannot return to Khan Kanchorao now.
I need gallop my steed,
Go to Kanikai, Bakay and Chulek's villages.
I will tell them the truth directly,
Let them worry like they are burning,
Let them feel the darkness covers the earth.

"Maybe they will burn houses in desperation,
Maybe they will destroy their property in desperation.
The property and houses should belong to you and Khan Kanchorao,
I must protect the property and houses!"

Chachykai said happily:
"Setertayi, You come to me,
And brought me good news.
You have been a smart young man,
You have a perfect plan on it!"

When they talked with each other,

1 Began: It is the Kirgiz name of local officials.

The leading lackey Alkai,
Pawn Satikai,
Were sent there from Sire city.
They came to pick Chachykai by order,
They would escort her to the palace in city.

Two hundred cavalrymen galloped,
Rapid hoof clops resounded to the skies.
These lackeys of Kanchorao and Keyaz,
Arrived in a hurry.

They came to Ayinla,
Dismounted their horses immediately.
They all put their hands on their chests,
Ran to Chachykai.
Competed to bend over and greet her.

Female scoundrel Chachykai,
Felt only blue sky was above her,
She was proud.
She showed off in front of them,
From folded bedding stuff,
She dragged five silk formal attires out.
"People who visit queen cannot go back empty-handed,
This is the reward for your good news."

Young man Setertayi,
Accepted the valuable gifts,
He was sure in his heart.
He rode on Kuyuntayi steed,
Stepped on Bozsaik[①] way.

He left the hill with a flattop behind,
When he just arrived at the mountain pass,
He saw worried elder Bakay,

① Bozsaik: It is the name of a place. It means grey and white hill.

Bakay had met Kanikai and Chulek.

When he saw these three castaways,
Kind-hearted Setertayi,
Was stabbed to the heart!
He could not help from wailing,
Sad tears ran down his cheeks.

He did not have heart,
To tell them Semtay's death,
So he descried indirectly:
"Wise mother Kanikai,
Intelligent elder Bakay,
Moon-like sister-in-law Ayichulek,
We are lucky to get together today.

"The sky has rain fallen,
In order not to let the earth dry.
We are arranged to die,
In order not to let the earth too crowded.
The gold throne the lion left,
Is buried underground unfortunately.
The impenetrable white battle gown,
Has been torn and cut in two.
I almost cry my eyeballs out,
Do you see my bloody tears running?

"The moon hides behind cliffs,
Elites the lions left,
Have been destroyed by evil devil Kanchorao!
The sun sets from the sky,
Almanbet's son Krichorao,
His arms were twisted off,
He is suffering from hideous disaster!
Once I ate the food you provided,
Let me tell you the truth as gratitude."

Khan Bakay felt extremely painful,
Kanikai cried sadly,
Ayichulek stood there dumbly,
These three people were like jackstraws,
They stood there rigidly.

Setertayi looked back,
He saw Alkai and Satikai.
They followed Kanchorao's order,
Escorted Chachykai carefully.
They headed more than two hundred cavalries,
Came in a threatening manner.

Setertayi felt worried suddenly,
He said to the three people:
"The mad lackeys are coming,
They must rob your Ayinla.
Please do not act so dumbly,
Find a place and hide immediately!"

Kanikai said in a hurry,
"My girl Ayichulek,
Where is my sharp black sword?
Please hand it to me now.
These Kanchorao's flunkeys,
No matter how many they have,
I will kill them all here!"

Bakay shouted at the moment,
He called the name Manas:
"My hero,
Why do not you take me with you,
To that black earth."

Ayichulek opened her mouth and said,
It made Kanikai and Bakay sadder:
"Wise elders,

You can retie all broken wires,
You can mend all damages,
You can sew all splits.
You can consider carefully before making a decision,
You can make steel with ironstones,
You can call nomads back home.
Please listen to me.

"If we challenge them face to face today,
Include Kanchorao and Keyaz,
I have enough power to deal with all of them.
I have helmet and armor,
I have a marital uniform patched up with iron sheets.
My father is Akun Khan,
He invited blacksmith Bolikbay,
Presented him a thousands two-year-old colts and a thousands camels,
He made me sword Aktinti[1].
I have the courage to charge and kill enemies,
I can cut enemy generals with my sword.

"We have lost our heroes,
Two things make me worried.
These guys cut Kris' scapula,
Made him disabled forever.
They threw him in the wilderness,
Tortured our hero mercilessly.
Once we make them angry,
Maybe they will kill Kris,
Maybe they will send him on the way of death,
Maybe they will smash him to piece!"

When Ayichulek talked to them,
Setertayi chipped in:
"Elders present here,
I have something to tell you.

1 Aktinti: It is the name of steel sword.

They only know they knocked my big brother down,
But they do not know whether he is alive or not.
I heard Keyaz said once like this:
When they set out from Tokmakjal,
People said Semtay would not die an unnatural death.
For Khan Semtay's death,
He is still confused now."

Ayichulek continued:
"I was thin and walked with light steps in past years,
But I am heavy and hard to move this year."

Hero Bakay said at the moment:
"Two queens,
Let us contain our rage and do not reisit,
Follow their order to act.
Chulek is heavy and cannot move,
Is it a sign that she is pregnant?

"We should wait patiently for a year,
If God does not do as we wish,
Old people like us,
Will go and fight them,
If our end is coming,
It is not late to die then."

Kanikai said after him:
"I will go and fight them,
As long as I can protect and keep Chulek well,
I am willing to die!"

Ayichulek said emotionally:
"Mother, your words make me sad,
Don't we care Krichorao's life?
Bronze and gold is not equal,
But Semtay and Krichorao,
They are equal.

What Setertayi has mentioned,
Gives me courage and confidence.
My father-in-law hero black mane wolf's only son,
Although he was knocked down on the ground,
But they could not bury him,
They even do not know where he is now.

"Mother, you are the source of wisdom,
When my father-in-law was alive,
You were in charge of everything.

"When my father-in-law passed away,
Relied on two mares strength,
Relied on two leather bags of milk,
You overcome the three-month hardships on the way,
For the sake of keeping single son Semtay's life.

"Here is prophet Ayashata[①],
We cannot let the pain overpower us.
In order to keep Semtay's baby well,
I am willing to live in disgrace.
Two elders, please hand in hand,
Pray for our safety."

Kaniaki cried sadly,
Khan Bakay shed sad tears too,
Setertayi was anxious,
Tried to leave before those people came to them.

Kanikai said to Chulek:
"If the truth is like what you said,
It gives me courage.
We hope it is still a fair world,
Let us fulfill our dream."

1 Ayashata: It is a respectful call of father or father-in-law's friend. It also has the meaning of godfather. Here it refers to Bakay.

Ayichulek said to them:
"Dear elders,
You are wise sages with crafty plans,
I beg you brace up and deal with enemies.
The result of good and bad,
We need consider both through.
If we can keep the unborn baby safe,
It will give us courage and energy.
If I lose the baby,
It will make it worse for us,
It will make us lose face completely!
If such losing-face situation happens,
We cannot live in this world anymore.
If there is hope for curing secret anxiety,
We need act for safety,
Wait patiently for twelve years.

"My good brother Setertayi,
I take you as my family and do not hide anything.
We have said a lot just now,
You have heard what we talked,
You have known all details.

"You cannot go back empty-handed from the lucky family,
This is a clothes your big brother loves to wear in the past,
Please take it back as a souvenir."
Ayichulek carried the precious sleeveless Suputar fabric long gown,
To the front of Setertayi.

Setertayi loved it as he saw it,
He could not wait to wear it,
He was too happy and did not know what to say:
"I will protect it well,
I will show it to my big brother one day,
The gift he left to me.
When the heaven let us fulfill our dreams,

Please do not forget to take care of each other."

When he said goodbye to them,
His tears shed like spring water.

Begmjan Sacrificed Her Life to Save Her Reputation

Kanikai, Bakay and Ayichulek,
Said goodbye to each other,
And left separately.
Setertayi rode on Kuyuntayi,
Toward Krichorao's Ayinla,
Whipped his steed and galloped.

Khan's daughter Kaliman,
Chapak's daughter Ackoyun,
These two beauties died at the same time,
They had disappeared.

Hero Krichorao,
Married Akbala then.
She was Acberita's granddaughter,
She was well-matched with the hero.

She looked out of the open door,
She did not know what disaster had come,
Her heart was filled with anxiety.
Setertayi, at the moment,
Appeared in her sight suddenly.
Setertayi whipped the steed and rose clouds of dust,
Came to her in a hurry.
Before Akbala asked,
He said to her:
"Ayikoler hero's only baby,
Enemies sent him to the death.

Your husband Krichorao,
They cut his arm.
Sister-in-law,
Your relative Kanchorao,
Makes heroes sad and hurt!
Now he fully shows his courage,
After long time plans,
He finally sends noble heroes into hell!

"The lion's son Semtay,
Almanbet's son Krichorao,
He knocked them off one by one,
Descended disaster over their heads.

"You and Kanchorao are cousins,
I do not come empty-handed.
Your cousin has mounted the throne,
Sister-in-law,
I come to tell the good news and get reward!"

Hearing what Setertayi said,
Akbala's face clouded and she got indignant:
"Bastard Kanchorao should not live in the world,
He lost my uncle Chuwak's face completely!
He made a merciless move on my Kris,
He will get a severe punishment from God!"

She bent over and reached out,
Picking a long stick up.
Setertayi felt worried immediately,
He would not be alive if the stick pounded on him,
So he fled to the road before she made a move.

He galloped in a hurry,
Came to Begmjan's yurt:
"Bejan's daughter Begmjan,
Are you safe and healthy?

In order to report the good news to you,
I come to you unstoppably.

"Kanchorao is without equal in strength,
He buried Semtay and Kris,
One by one.
He sent servants,
Welcomed Chachykai into the splendid palace.
He intended to get her for his concubine,
I confirmed it through my observation.
You are his wife,
And you will be the new master of the city!"

Hearing what Setertayi told her,
Begmjan questioned closely:
"Is what you said true?
Young man, you should tell the truth."

"I witnessed everything that happened there,
Everything I told you is true,
Nothing is false.
I do not joke on the death,
I am not stupid."

"Young man, if what you said is true,
I will thank you,
Please follow me."
Begmjan turned round and walked into the house,
Setertayi followed her in.

Look, it was a new leopard skin coat,
Coat collar and sleeves were stiff,
The fur on the surface was splendid,
She presented it to Setertayi:
"Chachykai may remarry,
Am I willing to be her maid?
Setertayi, listen to me,

I do not want to pour hand-washing water for Chachykai,
I will not cook and clean kitchen for her.

"I do not want people to discuss behind me,
Do not let them say I was Ayichulek's maid,
But now I serve Chachykai.
Please ride and leave now,
Do not hope to find any weak point in my words.

"To Ayikoler hero's son,
To hero Krichorao,
He does not show mercy at all,
How can he show mercy to others?
Chachykai fools around with Kanchorao,
She will have no good end.

"The naughty boy,
People will joke on them.
People will mock them,
Their names will live in infamy after they die!

"I do not want people to discuss,
'Begmjan came first with Ayichulek's,
As her maid.
Now she follows Chachykai,
Serve her and flatter her.'
I do not want to live in the world like this.

"If shameless Kanchorao,
Gets into bed my Khan brother-in-law leaves,
Then he wants to sleep with me,
I would rather die with those heroes,
Than be humiliated like this!"

After she finished her words,
She jumped into the rock lake the lion hero built.
Begmjan died for the chastity,

This heroic faithful woman,
Her good name spread far and wide among Kirgiz.

Setertayi came out of Ayinla,
Galloped his steed along the hill.
Kelmanbayi's Ayinla,
Appeared in his sight gradually.

Many old and young men sat in a circle outside of the yurt,
Kermanbayi sat in the middle of them.

Setertayi rode on Kuyuntayi,
Approached the edge of Ayinla.
He turned Kuyuntayi's head,
To the direction of gathered people.
Whipped his steed and came directly to them,
Reined the horse and stood in front of them.

A person present shouted:
"Your horse will pee here,
Get away from us!"

Setertayi said to them at the moment:
"What skills do you have?
How dare you dislike horse urine?
I have no time to dismount,
I have news to tell you!
Brothers, do you know?
Why is the sky so gloomy?
Why does the sky,
Always have a grey cover like flower Kukun[①]?

"The moon leans from hills,
The lion's son, my big brother,
Walked to another world!

1 Kukun: It is a kind of wild grass that has little grey flowers.

The sun leans from hills,
Almanbet Khan's son Krichorao,
Is suffering from great disaster,
His arm is torn broken from the scapula!

"As soon as Kanchorao and Keyaz arrived,
Giant Sari[①] guarded the palace,
Had sacrificed his life.
Setertayi, I,
Am a young man far better than a lot of people.
Now as easy as blowing off dust,
I get Kerman Baybi's position!
Kanchorao has sent people,
To Chachykai's place,
He will marry her and let her enjoy the life in the palace."
Setertayi described what had happened subtly,
To Kermanbayi.

Setertayi's father,
Was Ajibayi's attendant.
When Ajibayi's son Kermanbayi went around neighbors,
He always took Setertayi with him,
They always played together and acted together.

Setertayi worried that,
Kermanbayi would suffer from their persecution,
If he revenged impulsively,
So he said to him straightforwardly:
"Kermanbayi, my big brother,
I played with you in the past,
Took ox saddle as my mount and imitated the race,
I played with you since I was little.

"I delivered news to Bakay,
I delivered the news to Kanikai and Chulek too.

1 Sari: It is the abbreviation of Saritaz.

They cried sadly,
And made correct judgment for the future,
They calmed down facing the disaster.
They think we are in a very difficult situation now,
Once there is a favorable turn,
We must be lucky in the future."

As Setertayi explained this way,
Kermanbayi understood completely:
Ayichulek was pregnant.

In order to prevent others from doubting,
He pretended he got angry and rebuked:
"Let your rubbish talk go to hell!
Leave now, go away!"

The most beautiful woman Ayichulek,
Lost her beloved lion,
She was filled with anxiety and sorrow.
From white female camel's nose,
The bronze nose ring was pulled out.
From the female camel's neck,
The precious amulet was dragged off.

"Do not expect Kanchorao, the slave,
Gives you any reward.
Protect your life, poor animal,
He will rub your back off with the saddle."

The poor white female camel,
Was a royal creature to Khans of two generations,
It understood what Ayichulek said.
Before enemies came,
It ran off to pathless Gobi Desert.
The smart female camel,
Came back once every three months from then on,
Visting lion Manas' tomb.

From the white hunting dog's neck,
Ayichulek took the exquisite collar.
She dipped half of naan in salt water,
Then put it to the dog's mouth:
"I want you to wait for twenty years,
Then you wait by the side of the road of Talasha."

When Ayichulek said like this,
The hunting dog tucked its tail and sighed.
The white hunting dog set out,
Ran to Timirto mountain straightly.

Ayichulek turned round and walked back into her room,
She came to the white eagle.
Untied the rope on its talon,
And loosed the ribbon on its neck,
From the white eagle's tail,
She pulled one lucky feather off.
"If I give birth to a boy,
Let this feather be his amulet."
She released the white eagle into sky,
But the white eagle screamed and did not want to leave,
It stared at the ribbon and the rope.

As seeing the white eagle did not want to leave,
Uncle Bakay said:
"My dear kid Chulek,
The white eagle does not want to leave,
It is a good sign.
Please tie the ribbon on its neck,
And tie the rope on its talon again.

"Ayikoler hero's single son,
Our Semtay Khan,
He is most likely to be rescued by some fairies,
Maybe he is resting in a mountain.

It seems the white eagle is thinking,
About how it can fly and land in Semtay's palm."

The white eagle passed human nature though it is a bird,
When it heard what Bakay said,
It could not help from screaming.
Virtuous sister-in-law Chulek,
Retied the rope on its talon,
And retied the ribbon on its neck.

The white eagle made a leap,
And stood on uncle Bakay's arm.
Fluttered its wings and screamed,
Then it flew.
Over Semtay's palace,
Over walls of the splendid palace,
It fluttered its shining wings,
Circled three times,
Then it flew to the direction of Kaypuchy.

The prophets then guessed,
Respected Semtay Khan,
Maybe rested in Kaypuchy mountain.

When they took movements,
Leading lackey Alkai,
Pawn Satikai,
Followed Kanchorao's order,
Headed more than two hundred cavalrymen,
Beat drums loudly.
They shot to the sky,
Whipped and galloped,
Without stopping,
And appeared in front of them suddenly,
They swarmed up toward Ayinla.
They surrounded like wolves,
Laid postures and flaunted,

Waved their whipps and sticks,
Lashed herdsmen and cooking ladies.

Brought a saddled horse to Ayichulek,
Brought a bare horse to Kanikai,
And brought a bare camel to Bakay Khan,
They were going to take them back for rewards.

Ayichulek stepped forward bravely at the moment:
"Alkai and Satikai,
You two are here now,
You cannot humiliate captured people,
It is a customary rule.
I will bring my eloquent tongue,
Go and have it out with your headman!
You need prepare a steady steed,
For my aged mother-in-law.
You need pick a fine steed,
For my uncle, the elite of Kirgiz.
If you do not do as what I tell you,
If you make me angry,
I will kill each of you one by one!"

From the folding of her dress,
She tore the double-layered pocket seam,
Drew a short sword out.
The short sword in her hand,
Was a twelve-fold sword,
She swung the sword,
It turned into a twelve span long sword.
The sword point spouted flames,
And the sword blade burned with fire.

Alkai and Satikai,
Felt frightened,
As they saw this strange situation,
They could not help themselves from quivering.

"We have heard Akun Khan's daughter is fierce and brutal,
She can fly to the sky,
She can go fast at night,
She can hide herself in clouds.
We can only agree to her condition,
Otherwise she will fly into sky,
Kanchorao and Keyaz will not let us off if it happens."

They calculated,
Picked a steady steed for Kanikai,
Chose the best saddle,
Put saddle cushion made of Manat fabric,
Tightened the belly belt,
They brought a fine steed to Bakay too.

They were afraid of Ayichulek,
They circled her to say what order she had for them.
Facing these lacheys,
Ayichulek showed her power:
"They do not have many skills."
But sister-in-law had no choice,
Her life in palace in the past left her,
Her family in the past had disappeared!

Kanikai, Bakay and Chulek,
Were taken away,
Left their homeland,
Separated them from each other,
Forbade them to communicate with each other.

Kanchorao usurped the throne,
He sent messengers to everywhere.
People once was a leader of Ayinla,
All of them were called in.
All people followed the order and came,

Gathered in Tortikoler[1] city.
Two Begans Kermanbayi and Malay,
They took good care of the coming people.

Heralds shouted loudly,
Ceremony masters carried their heads high,
Shouted and gave out orders,
Proud and self-satisfied.

"Ah, hey!
Respected people,
Please come to this hall!"
They ran back and forth,
People gathered there,
Were all guided into Chachykai's palace.

The messenger came back at the moment:
"Begmjan died suddenly."
Sister-in-law Ayichulek as pretty as the moon,
Heard this bad news,
She came to Kanchorao in person:
"Since you married Begmjan,
She made your life smooth and well..."

Kanchorao did not care what Ayichulek said,
He had no patience to listen,
So he interrupted her rudely:
"It is alright Begmjan died,
Send four people to bury her.
I am going to butcher seven mares with empty embryo,
I will let Chachykai be my wife!"

Chachykai walked in from outside:
"Hey, Kanchorao, listen,
Your woman called Begmjan,

1 Tortikoler: It is the name of a place. It means four lakes.

Has drowned herself in the lake !
I will order to drag the corpse to the bottom of the cliff,
Then press rocks on her corpse!"

Facing his wife's death,
Kanchorao should have followed Kirgiz rule,
Dug a tomb and bury his wife gracefully.
But when Chachykai talked wildly,
Kanchorao dare not speak his opinion out.

Sister-in-law Ayichulek as pretty as the moon,
Came to Keyaz's palace:
"Jedigair hero Keyaz,
Now you have the power of administering people.
Beck's daughter Begmjan,
Accompanied me and came here.
The evil death descended,
She died unfortunately.
It is said people call other's name when he gets angry,
Forgive me for speaking straightly.

"Chachykai gave out the order just now,
She does not allow the dead to be buried in the tomb.
She asks to drag the body to cliff bottom and press with rocks,
What she does is harm to the customs.
Begmjan has died,
There is no person,
Could compete with Chachykai!"

Keyaz heard these words,
He called Kanchorao in and discussed,
Asked him to send people to dig a tomb,
And bury Begmjan's body gracefully.

Depressed Kanchorao,
Married Chachykai in a hurry,
Butchered seven mares and held the wedding.

People who knew the truth,
Did not come to eat the meat.

"People do not see snake would eat it by mistake,
People do not know the truth would drink poison."
There were some people did not knew the truth,
They enjoyed the wedding happily.

Ayichulek was isolated in one room,
Kanikai and Bakay were closed off in other places separately.
Kanchorao and Keyaz colluded with each other,
They got together and plotted secretly.

In order to fawn on big Keyaz,
Kanchorao said to him eagerly:
"Keyaz, you took trouble and came from afar,
Keyaz, you bring me in good luck!

"People here have two Begans,
We must replace them with others.
Let people submit to Semtay,
Lose their power.

"Kermanbayi's position,
I would like Setertayi to take it over.
Setertayi has a big brother,
His name is Yelikbayi,
I want him to administer Sire city."

They discussed over these issues,
Keyaz thought what Kanchorao said was reasonable,
They let Malaybi keep his position.
From people submitted to Semtay and Krichorao,
They took their power over.

Kanchorao said to Keyaz:
"Please move to Talas,

Let's follow the example of Manas.
Let us put hand in hand,
Administer the famous Arashi people.

"Old generations left teachings:
'If the old brother passes away,
Leave the sister-in-law to younger brother.'
Chinkogeo and Toltoy died,
Because they wanted to marry beautiful Chulek.
You have witnessed,
Chachykai and I have married.
Keyaz, please accept my advice,
Now only you can marry Chulek.

"I will make Manas' advisor Bakay,
Herd my camels lonely,
Make him skinny as a withered pine tree.
Do not allow him to ride camels, do not give him a mount,
Force him rush in camel flocks on foot.

"I will let old Kanikai,
Herd my calves.
If she let calves suck milk,
I will lash her hard.

"Krichorao's wife Akbala,
She is my relative.
As long as she does not change her mind,
As long as she does not beg Chachykai,
As long as she does not confess,
I will let her milk mares.
She will figure it out eventually,
It will bring her nothing good if she resists.

"You should let Almanbet's son Krichorao,
Go to forest of Jetisu to cut wood.
If we let Kanikai, Bakay, Krichorao,

And Ayichulek get together,
We cannot imagine what trouble they will make."

Hearing what Kanchorao said,
Keyaz said:
"I cannot leave my homeland,
Move to Talas from Jetisu.
Otherwise, in front of all over the world,
I will lose my face completely.
People will laugh at me and say,
I give up my Jedigair,
Move to Talas,
And go to Kanchorao for help.

"Akun Khan's daughter Chulek,
Is a woman makes trouble all over the world,
What is the point I marry her?
Even if I marry Chulek reluctantly,
What a high goal can I achieve in the future?

"You have married Chachykai,
If I marry Ayichulek,
Don't I make an enemy with Manas' spirit on purpose?

"I have enough people to cut wood,
I have enough slaves,
What benefits can I have if I treat Krichorao like this?
Let him cut wood and carry hays,
Can it bring me more money?

"My good friend,
Please allow me,
To go back home on Saturday.
It is Wednesday today,
There are still a few days before I leave."
Kanchorao felt worried,
He frowned and kept a straight face:

"My god! Keyaz,
You misunderstand me.
I know,
It is clear now,
You will not move to Talas.

"Take Ayichulek with you if you go,
Take Krichorao away with you together,
Leave Kanikai and Bakay to me.
You know, hero Keyaz,
If this lackey stays in Talas,
He will not remain in his proper sphere.
Old and young Kirgiz people here,
Will not refuse Krichorao's idea!

"I rely on your power and become a hero,
Become the master of Talas today.
You should recommend me to Kirgiz,
Let me mount the dreaming mount of Khan."
Shameless lackey Kanchorao,
Exchanged his brother Semtay's life,
And sister-in-law Chulek's charms,
For the position of Khan.

Keyaz agreed to his request,
Asked him to bring a black female camel.
Butchered the five-year-old black female camel,
Announced in front of all Kirgiz people:
"Kanchorao is Khan's offspring,
Now he is Khan of Talas."

Let Kanchorao sat on white felt carpet,
Let people carry him onto the throne.
Kanchorao became Khan of Sire city,
He felt proud and arrogant.
Let us put Kanchorao's evil crimes aside,
Start from the story how giant Keyaz married Chulek.

Ayichulek Fought Two Ferocious Enemies Bravely

Ayichulek Fought Kanchorao of Wits and Courage

Kanchorao carried out his plot and became Khan,
He gave out orders aggressively:
"All Kirgiz bow to me and listen!
There are two Begans in Talas,
Malay is Began under my administration.
Kermanbayi stands there,
Was under Krichorao's administration.
From now on,
Setertayi takes over Kermanbayi's position.
Yelikbayi replaces Saritaz,
He will be the leading steward of the palace,
You all should follow the steward's order.

"Let Bakay herd camels from today on,
Do not give him camel or horse to ride,
Let this lonely white-beard old man herd on foot!
Let Kanikai herd calves from today on,
If she allows calves suck milk,
Master of the calf can punish her with sticks!

"Let Akbala milk mares everyday,
Akbala must figure out:
Only when she makes my beloved wife Chachykai happy,
She can have a stable and comfortable life.
If she neglects Chachykai,
Her poor life must wither!
Akbala is my close relative,
But she is Krichorao's wife,
I will not show mercy to such person at all.

"Bring Ayichulek to me now,
In front of everyone present,
I will persuade her straightly!
If she does not obey my will,
I will never let her live a peaceful life!"

When Kanchorao talked wildly,
People put heads together and discussed.
They all spat on the ground:
"Damned bastard, he is not qualified to be Khan!
It is just ok,
When he competes with Semtay and Krichorao.
But hero Bakay is venerable and sainted.
Kanikai's white milk once raised him,
She washed his mother's body clean,
Wrapped with white cloth and buried gracefully.
And his close relative,
His only family Akbala,
Bloodsucking Kanchorao,
How can he let her suffer too?

"Bloodsucker,
Let your fleas listen to your rubbish talk!
Let barking dogs listen to your rubbish talk!
How can people listen to your rubbish talk?
Let Manas' spirit in heaven,
Punish this bastard's evil act!
There must be one day,
Arashi salt will punish him severely!"

Numerous fellow people cursed him secretly,
They shed bitter tears.
Poor ordinaries had no choice,
But smiled with fear.

Two servants got his order and rushed,
They called Ayichulek to come.

Ayichulek stayed in the room,
But she heard everything they said,
Such a thought flashed by her mind:
"On the occasion today,
If I declare war on them,
I will leave no regret.

"I was not pregnant in any year,
Why am I pregnant this year?
The baby in my belly is created by God,
Why do they impose on me?
Can I try to take the risk ravely?
Can I try to fight them bravely?"

Ayichulek as pretty as the moon,
Was in danger,
She was extremely painful,
It tortured her and she felt hard to make a decision.
"Let me go to the new important people,
To watch the situation and play to the score!"

Ayichulek made up her mind,
Like a burning charcoal,
She walked out and came to them.

There was a plane tree in the yard,
A tall tower was beside the tree.
When Ayikoler hero was alive,
He always stepped in the tower and hosted meetings,
Now clown Kanchorao stood there as Khan!

Bitch Chachykai,
Stood by Kanchorao's side shamelessly.
Big gold earrings,
Shined over her collarbones.
Long silver hair decoration,
Continually knocked her bottom.

She joggled like she was drunk,
Giggled and flirted by the side of Kanchorao.
She clung Kanchorao and twisted slightly,
Wiped his face and flattered!

Seeing this disgusting situation,
Ayichulek, Bakay and Kanikai,
They all felt the sky would collapse,
How the earth could bear it.
But the hardships in the world,
Chose them and clung them tight.

The crowd of onlookers,
None of them raised their heads.
Gosh, what an evil world!
It was changeable and helpless!

When Ayichulek walked by,
Kanikai took a look at her.
Bakay stared at her,
Ayichulek asked silently with a clue:
"Is it time to draw the steel sword out?"

Bakay gestured her immediately,
He reached his right hand and turned the palm downward.
Then stuck out two fingers,
Hinted her to wait for twenty years patiently.

Outstanding mother Kanikai,
Had her two plaits twisted together,
Twined over her neck,
She reminded Ayichulek directly:
"If you give birth to a boy,
I will hold him up as a flag.
If it is a girl,
I will hang myself with my plait."

Ayichulek came and stood still,
Chachykai slandered her viciously:
"When a woman rises to power,
It is like forty lights shine together.
You were a favored woman in the past,
You grasped your husband in your hand.
In the past days,
How I can compare with your glory!

"Now I marry Kanchorao,
You must marry hero Keyaz.
No matter in the daytime or at night,
You should drive your dead husband,
Out of your life and your dream!
You should enjoy your life happily,
In the time of hero Keyaz!"

Ayichulek heard what Chachykai said,
She felt the sky was falling and the life was ending,
She was quivering from the head to toe.
She was too angry that all her hair stood,
Her sleeves and dress hemline shook.
With anger and broken heart,
She almost fell on to her face.

She braced herself up again,
Judged the situation rationally:
"Ayashata and mother-in-law,
Have hinted me to not act rashly!
Even if I care these cold words,
And act rashly,
I can predict this changeable and false world,
Will not be in my charge!"
Ayichulek was full of thoughts in her mind,
Stepped on the steps of the tower slowly.

Chachykai was swollen with insufferable arrogance,
She thought she and Ayichulek became sisters-in-law.
By the side of giant Keyaz,
She arranged a seat for Ayichulek.

But Ayichulek said:
"My hero abandoned you when he was alive,
You were a bitch lived a life like a widow.
Semtay died under a plot,
Now I become a widow.
We both are widows,
You are not qualified to be my matchmaker!

"I, Chulek, am not a virgin girl,
I do not need you to help me.
I, Ayichulek, am not young,
I do not need to avoid the man who is making a proposal.
I know how I can talk with him,
Bitch, stay away from me!
I do not need you to welcome me,
Go and wipe Kanchorao's smelly sweat!"

Ayichulek swept Chahcykai's prestige away,
She walked to Keyaz calmly.
When Chulek approached,
Keyaz dare not order her to sit,
But he stood up in a hurry.

There were still countless people,
Did not see Ayichulek moon-like face till now.
Akun Khan's daughter Ayichulek,
Never unveiled and showed her face in public.
Ayichulek still wore the veil,
Walked to the side of hero Keyaz,
Talked to him calmly:
"Keyaz, you are as tall as a mountain,
I, Chulek was like a full moon.

You pushed my backbone down,
You want to take me as a trophy.
I, Chulek, as a trophy,
Am forced to come to you.
It is easy to show your manly glory,
But I, Chulek, am humiliated and lose my dignity!

"Hero Keyaz, if you are reasonable and fair,
Please propose to me in person and hold a formal wedding.
Do not be ashamed of me, the widow,
You should invite guests and butcher livestock,
Hold a grand and credible wedding.
I will leave a good name in the world,
Let everyone take my wedding as a beautiful legend.

"Not only people in Jedigair,
But also Kirgiz people of white felt hat,
Uzbek people and Tajik people,
Juda people and Jurjut people,
Let everyone of them know it,
Spread the news of Keyaz force Chulek to marry him,
You can make your name more famous!

"People who have nothing to do and feel lonely for years,
Will all attend the wedding,
At that moment,
Chulek will lift the mysterious veil.

"Do not think I brag for it,
People will be infatuated with my face as they see it.
Then your honor as a hero,
Will be known by the world.

"If you force me here and today,
If I act shamelessly like that lady,
Come actively and serve you,
People will not only jeer at Chulek's shamelessness,

People will also sneer at your lack of etiquette.

"I do not care if you say I am old and not pretty,
But you cannot say I, Chulek, have no dignity.
If people say the woman is shameless,
How I can accept such vicious slander!
We will become life partners,
It gives us no benefit if it is forced,
Keyaz, you should weigh the pros and cons!"

Hearing what Ayichulek said,
The strong man Keyaz was lost in thought:
"Although she is a woman,
She has infinite wisdom and charms.
What she said to me just now,
Is from the bottom of her heart.
If I can marry her,
It will make me happy.
No wonder my father Toltoy and Chinkogeo,
Died in fighting Semtay for Chulek!"

Giant Keyaz said after much deliberation:
"Hey, my friend Kanchorao,
You should send me on the way home,
Before this Saturday.

"Akun Khan's daughter Chulek,
Is a fine medicine to cure a broken heart.
I will go back home and rest,
And prepare for the wedding as soon as possible!

"I will invite sixty tribes of Arashi people,
None of them will be left.
Everyone as long as he can ride a horse,
Will be invited,
I will marry her in front of all of them.

"Akun Khan's princess Chulek,
She is bright and noble like the moon,
Who dare do things stealthily?
I cannot force her to marry me here and today!"

Hero Keyaz finished his words,
People served Chulek back to the palace.
Numerous maidservants waited there for orders,
Fifteen of them walked up,
Circled Ayichulek in the center,
Escorted her to the palace.

Hero Keyaz went back to the room,
He was full of thoughts:
"What Ayichulek said to me,
Is meaningful,
It is invaluable advice.
Semtay achieved success and won fame among Kirgiz,
It was all on Chulek's ability.
Semtay could call for wind and rain among Kirgiz,
It was all on Chulek's wisdom!

"Does Chulek cheat me with sweet words,
Will it descend disaster in the future?
I dare she was afriad to do harm to me,
Her support has left this world."
Many thoughts rolled in Keyaz's mind,
It was like his heart was filled with flames.

Kanchorao stood on the tower,
He bent his arm over Chachykai's shoulder,
He announced to the public:
"Choose a hundred Khan's single-hump camels,
Carry shining gold, silver and jewelry,
Carry full of precious treasures in the world,
Present all to hero Keyaz!
Choose one thousand fine steeds,

Present to hero Keyaz together!

"Pick fifty fine young women,
Pick fifty young men,
Totally one hundred young people,
Present them all to hero Keyaz!

"Kulidur's son Albayi,
He became famous in Manas' time.
Albayi's daughter Aksherbeti,
Ajibayi's daughter susarbek,
Majik's daughter Akbermaiti,
Sirak's daughter Almukang,
Kobesh's daughter Korpuko,
Together with their husbands,
All move with Keyaz!
These people are free today,
They are out of control.
There are seventeen people in these five families,
Together with their pastures as trophies,
All present to hero Keyaz!

"Keyaz has made great contribution to us,
We cannot neglect him.
Do not be fussy on property presents to him,
If he is not satisfied with what he has got,
We should give him more."

Hearing what Kanchorao had said,
Fellow people felt angry:
"Damned Kanchorao, you are not quailed to be Khan!
You present one hundred and twenty live people as slaves.
Present him one hundred fat single-hump camels,
Carry full of precious gifts like gold, silver and jewelry,
And present about one thousand steeds too.

"It is evil-hearted woman Chachykai,

She plotted heartlessly,
She acts at shameless Kanchorao's beck and call.
'Unlucky people lose livestock first,
Then their families would be ruined.'
Ancestor's saying will come true here!

"When Semtay was on the throne,
When Krichorao was with him,
Population flourished and profits poured,
Treasures filled the warehouse.
Fat single-hump camels,
Famous fine steeds,
Outstanding eagles,
Brilliant hunting dogs,
Spread all over Talas mountains.

"Now Semtay and Krichorao are gone,
Bad Kanchorao has nothing to fear,
Carves livestock and property up recklessly!"
The fellow people frowned and discussed angrily,
They were all lost into hatred and rage,
Everyone carried extreme fear on the back.

Kanchorao invited Keyaz to come,
Shouted to everyone present again:
"It is Wednesday today,
It only has two days left,
Till the day hero Keyaz returns.

"On Saturday morning,
Everyone presenting here now must be here then,
Even old people in bed must come.
You are lucky enough to get pardon of Keyaz,
No matter the old or the young must pray for him,
Wish him a long and peaceful life!

"Do not put your mounts back to pastures,

You all should ride your horse to the city gate.
After seeing Keyaz off,
You all can return to your home!"
People all felt disgusted with his words,
They worried about the disaster the devil made,
The old stroked beard and left angrily.

Kanchorao ordered the lackeys around him,
To catch one hundred single-hump camels.
Ayichulek knew the number of single-hump camels,
She estimated there were about forty camels out in pastures:
"Alkai and Satikai,
You two have become my brothers,
Drive the rest camels to me."
Chulek prepared for the move secretly.

She put up the white yurt in person,
Now she ordered to take all felts and wood frames down,
Folded and wrapped carefully,
Let forty one camels over loaded it.

Krichorao watched by the side applied,
To go with Chulek to Jedigair.
He took the leading camel and was ready to set out,
Ayichulek had her own plan in her mind,
So she pretended to get angry to Krichorao:
"Hey, Krichorao, stop,
Step back and do not touch the camel!
Among Jedigair people,
No one will give you free benefits.
Do you know the hatred you bury?
Do you know the crime you commit?
You should examine yourself deeply and start anew!

"I have achieved my goal,
I will not know you from now on,
Krichorao, do not pester me endlessly,

Keep staying in your place in Talas!"
She rebuked him with harsh words,
But hinted Krichorao to go with her.

Kanchorao came up at the moment,
He persuaded Ayichulek with smile:
"Oh, madam Ayichulek,
Please take this slave and move together!"
Chulek responded:
"You are a great man among men,
Please keep him and push him around!
I do not want Krichorao to stay with me.
His smile is tinged with cruelty,
I have no way to wash his evil thoughts clean.
No one knows him better than me.

"If he casts a sidelong glance,
If he makes impertinent remarks,
Keyaz was brought in the lap of luxury,
He will feel his dignity and prestige is damaged,
Then if he blames me to take Krichorao with me,
It is hard for me to take such a responsibility.
I tell the truth at anytime,
I never tell lies."

Keyaz chipped in hurriedly:
"Chulek, do not do this,
Kanchorao will not let him stay,
I have known their situation.
Let him move with our moving group,
We can send people to monitor him,
I do not think he dare make trouble."
For what Keyaz had said,
Chulek reminded him deliberately:
"I will not let him eat full,
I will not give him any benefit,
Keyaz, do not plead for mercy for him."

Chachykai came and said:
"Ayichulek, if you do not want to take him,
Then take your mother-in-law with you,
Let homeless Krichorao stay here,
So as not to make you feel bad."

"My gosh, Chachy[1], what are you saying?
Do not let the old woman go with me.
The elderly old widow,
How can I take her with me?
It seems dreg Krichorao is homeless,
I would rather take him with me!"

For Ayichulek's decision,
People knew the secret felt lucky,
People did not know the secret discussed:
"Woman is like this!"
They cursed with bad words,
And spat to the ground.

Ayichulek and Krichorao,
Kutubayi whom Keyaz asked for,
Headed one hundred and twenty people,
Lead a long group of single-hump camels,
Drove endless line of horses,
Galloped away along the big road.

People followed Kanchorao's order,
Came from far and wide,
All gathered together,
Sat in a shape of an ox horn.
Kanchorao stood in the center and shouted:
"Fellows, now I am your Khan,
You all listen to me, I have something to tell you!

1 Chachy: It is Chachykai's nickname.

In order to improve my fame as a Khan,
There must be enough lifestock and property.

"So you should give eighty white mares as a tribute,
I do not want old horses,
They should be between two to four years old,
Mares and colts must match on colors!

"Chachykai need drink fresh milk all year round,
So I need forty cows.
You must get them together within three days,
Bring them to my palace.
Who dare disobey my order,
Who will have no good end!
Who does not give himself a way out,
He will embrace the dirt and go to the death!"

Kanchorao finished his words arrogantly,
Fellow people all kept silent and no one responded.

"Do not you understand what I said?
Why do not you respond?
I will punish you all severely!
You have witnessed with your own eyes,
I even did not let Semtay and Krichorao off,
If you do not obey my order,
Prepare to accept my rage!"

Kanchorao bawled at them angrily,
Squatted furiously,
Took off his hat and threw it on the ground,
Made dust risen up.

A young man came to send message at the moment:
"Queen has something to discuss with Khan."
Kanchorao stood up immediately,
Ran back to Chachykai in a hurry.

People present discussed:
"Since Manas became our Khan,
Kirgiz became more and more prosperous in Talas.
We are never humiliated,
We never see a Khan like him!

"Why do we still live here?
Let's go. Let's run away.
Let's go without turning back,
Toward the direction of Jetikayit.
Let's agree on this,
In vast Talas,
Let Kanchorao be a Khan without his subjects!

"In Aweikai and Kobosh time,
They only cared their own livestock and property.
No matter to the rich or to the poor,
They did not care at all.
They did not collect fabric and livestock,
They did not apportion anything to their people.

"In the time of Khan Semtay,
There were full of fine steeds tied on posts.
We herded and moved freely,
We are the master of our livestock and property.
There were no poor people in those days,
We had everything we need."

Now under the oppression of this beast,
Life got worse and worse.
People shed bitter tears,
Complained and burned with rage.
When they mentioned their tragic experience,
They were all overwhelmed by grief.

Livestock held herdsmen's life,

They connected herdsmen's arms on one side,
And connected herdsmen's heart on the other side.
People worried their livestock all cursed Kanchorao,
They became eloquent and talkative.

Kanchorao came to Chachykai,
Reported all information at the gathering.

Chachykai sent messenger immediately,
Called all Begans in.
Begans yielded surrender to Kanchorao,
Their henchmen all came to the palace.

Ajibayi's son Kermanbayi,
Said to people present after they left:
"Our fellows here,
Experienced and knowledgeable elders,
Please listen to me,
Let me open my heart to you.

"Kanchorao becomes our Khan now,
He wants some of our livestock.
Even if we contribute all our livestock,
We still do not need to leave our homeland.
What can we do in Jetikayit?
Can we fulfill our dream there?

"Since Manas became our Khan,
Numerous people lived in Altay,
Kirgiz scattered everywhere,
All moved to Talas gradually.
From then till now,
We are not apportioned.
We cannot move to Jetikayit to wander,
Just because of the harsh levies.
If we give up Talas and wander everywhere,
We only can discredit Kirgiz.

No matter poor or rich,
No matter happy or sad,
We cannot blame Talas.

"Ayichulek actually does not want to leave,
She does not want others to dominate her as a trophy.
I think she must have untold difficulties,
I guess she is pregnant but dare not make it public.

"I have witnessed the scene,
Ayichulek to Krichorao,
Scolded on the surface and pretended to feel disgust.
Actually she wants to cure his injury,
So she takes him with her.
The lion's scapula must be cured,
This is my second presentiment.
Before he returns to Talas,
I am willing to wait him for ten years here.

"People all say Semtay has died,
But no one saw his corpse.
It is said he was born after the prayer,
My big brother will not die an untimely death,
He will not be gone easily.
It is said it is hero Ayikoler Manas,
He makes friends all over even with fairy.
Perhaps those fairies took Semtay away,
Prehaps he will come back one day,
Perhaps God will bestow grace again,
Perhaps Ayichulek will give birth to a boy.

"My sister-in-law takes good care of him,
Maybe Krichorao will take him back to his homeland!
It is not a guess and it is reasonable I say so,
Let us not give up the hope of them three.
Do not resist blindly for the benefits at present,
Do not move to suffer from meaningless sacrifice.

"Ferocious Kanchorao,
He is powerful and of great martial skills.
We do not have a well-matched warrior,
He will kill us all easily!"

After Kermanbayi's persuasion,
Fellow people calmed down and discussed:
"What Kermanbayi said is reasonable,
What Kanchorao wants is our livestock,
We have no way to refuse him.
We only can save our little fly-like life,
We cannot lose our land.
We have lost many of our lions,
We depended on their protection in the past.
Let's pray to God solemnly,
Wait for the hero to be born to save us."
Fellow people reached an agreement,
They stepped on the way home with a hope.

Kanchorao and Chachykai,
Discussed with Begans and then announced:
"Eighty cows,
They all should be cows with empty embryo,
Butcher them all to be the food for winter.
One hundred and sixty horses should be butchered for winter too,
It should be in full number.

"You should act ruthlessly from now on,
Make all Bayis[①] lose their property completely.
Collect taxes from them every month,
Apportion all kinds of burdens to them everyday.
Threaten them with taxes and apportionment,
It will make them frightened like cat and mouse.
We will turn the poor into born slaves,

① Bayis: Kirgiz language. It means rich people.

Let them have no time to put Kantuman down.
We will build a black castle,
We need form a giant group as soon as possible.
Name it Sixty Giants,
Let them only protect the palace.

"Namangan, Tashkent and Samarkand,
Andijan, Kokand and Margalan,
Once they feared Semtay,
Now they dare resist us!

"People in Altay, Kapal, Alma-Ata,
Wuchykarkla, two Kaimins[1],
Lake Issyk, Terks and Yili,
Do they submit to our power?

"Places like Chambulibel, Bukhara, Badak mountain,
Dushanbe and Yurganchy,
Do people there acknowledge us?

"Let people in those places have two-year happy life,
Till I form a sixty-giant group,
Till I make my troops well-trained and well-equipped,
Till I become famous in the world,
I will conquer those places one by one!"

When Kanchorao expressed his opinion,
Setertayi suggested courageously:
"Our supreme Khan,
Please think carefully before you make a decision,
You intend to attack your neighbors,
Push normal people into the abyss of war,
We have no chance to win.
If you want to ask for Jedigair's help,
They will not easily agree to help you.

1 Kaimin: It is the name of place. Two Kaimins refer to big Kaimin and small Kaimin.

"Leaders and ordinaries out of Talas,
You do not try to make peace with them,
But you want to make enemy with them and fight them.

"Do not hurt normal people's feeling,
You should care and protect them carefully.
Do not let them suffer from injustice,
You need placate them.
Among Kara Kirgiz people,
You can be worthy of the name Khan.

"If you make Kirgiz people downhearted,
If they leave fro every place,
To Kangayi and Khitan in the east,
To Wurum and Iran in the west.
To Chambulibel and Bukhara,
To Balk, Khurasan and Badak mountain,
You will regret till then,
It is like all your sheep run away!

"They run to Dushanbe, Yukainichy and Afghanistan,
Khotan, Kashgar and Yarkand,
How we can drive them back home!
They will make trouble if they get angry,
If they launch an attack angrily,
They will wipe Talas out!

"To Kirgiz people,
You apportion too much Alman[①],
Maybe they will leave you tomorrow,
Your people do not acknowledge your power.
Fellow people are forced to leave their hometown,
You will become a lonely Khan!"

① Alman: It refers to the burden of taxes and levies.

Kanchorao heard the persuasion,
Sighed and did not know what to do.
The stupid guy did not talk for a while,
Then he said hesitantly:
"We cannot change what have been decided,
We will not collect taxes from now on."

People present discussed together,
According to his promise.
They only collected horses and cows they announced first time,
They remitted the rest the asked.

If Kermanbayi did not persuaded,
If Setertayi did not dare suggest,
Kirgiz people been plundered,
Almost left Talas and wandered everywhere.

The bloodsucking bastard,
Built a black castle and wall.
He chose sixty giants,
Formed his armed force.

The guy concocted all kinds of excuses,
Forced ordinary people every year,
To contribute livestock for meat and milk.
Bayis had troubles,
The poor were more miserable.
Kanchorao extorted taxed ruthless,
People were scared and every day was a year long.
Their happy life in the past,
Had nothing left.

Keyaz Intended to Marry Ayichulek

Jedigair bully Keyaz,
Occupied famous Talas,
Killed famous lion Semtay secretly,
Occupied the palace with red outside and white inside,
Took beautiful Ayichulek away.
He got one hundred and forty single-hump camels,
He got one thousand fine steeds,
He took one hundred and twenty slaves and servants,
Went back to his territory Jedigair proudly.

When he arrived in Jedigair,
He sent thirty five messengers to deliver his letter:
"I invite you to attend my wedding,
I will marry Ayichulek.
I have let Semtay disappeared,
I have made Krichorao caught alive,
And cut gristle on his shoulder off.
I recommend Kanchorao to be Khan,
Let him achieve his dream.
Now I am the master of Arashi,
I have the same power like Ayikoler.
I will marry Ayichulek and mount the throne,
Two happy events come to me at the same time.
You must come to Jetisu on time,
To attend the ceremony."
It was like this,
Keyaz delivered the news to everyone.
All places there were Arashi people,
He sent invitations to tell them the time of ceremony.

In order to watch the great ceremony,
Many people set out.
Koshaoyi Khan's son Jalgezack thought:
"How ridiculous it is!
I must go and watch in person,
I will ask persons in the know carefully,
What on earth happens there?"

So he set out from Atbash,
Took thirty companions with him.
Carried all kinds of weapons,
Took his hunting dog and eagle.
Carried sheathless sword,
Rode Jalmanboz steed.

There was a place called Tuyungeol[1],
It was called "the edge of Chylpildak".
Shakur tribe lives there,
Seven generations multiplied there.
Elder Kashika was the leader of the tribe,
He held his ground to this land all the time.
Jalgezack came to accommodate at his home,
Chatted with elder Kashika.

Kashika was a Bayi,
He had countless four domestic animals.
He was over eighty years old,
But he talked fluently with a clear mind.
He once attended Kokotoy's ceremony,
He still remembered the scene of the time.
They two got to the bottom of things,
They dug out new topics,
Jalgezack explained what he had come for:
"Kashikabayi, I feel very honored,

1 Tuyungeol: Kirgiz language. It means fort and thoroughfare.

To meet you here on the way to the ceremony.
Keyaz Khan sent me an invitation,
He says he will marry Ayichulek.
I will go and make trouble,
Stop him from marrying Ayichulek.
I am Koshaoyi's son Jalgezack,
This is my purpose of this journey."

Kashika was old,
He did not hear clearly what Jalgezack said,
He thought Koshaoyi's son,
Was going to attend the wedding happily and sincerely,
So he rebuked Jalgezack sadly,
Like a plaintive eagle creamed:
"You damned Jalgezack,
You are so stupid!
How can you leave your hometown,
For Jetisu to attend such a wedding?
You are like an outcast follow the moving group on the way,
Waggle the tail to please the master!"

Elder Kashikai become more and more excited,
He blamed Jalgezack severely:
"In Kokotoy's ceremony in the past,
Countless guests came from all around.
I was young and in my prime time,
Hero Manas hosted the ceremony,
Uncle Koshaoyi was by his side.

"When your father Koshaoyi and Oronko started to wrestle,
Unfortunately he did not have a pair of fitted leather pants to wear.
It seemed your mother was not good at needlework,
It made him embarrassed.
I was standing opposite to him,
Stared at him to see what he could do.

"Manas was a lion of great wisdom,

He had a pair of leather pants under his bedding.
He took out a leather pants immediately,
Carried it to your father.
Your father was a strong and tall giant,
The leather pants Manas presented to him,
The legs were shown very short on him.
They took it and pulled and dragged,
Then let your father try it again,
And it fitted your father perfectly.

"Your wise father at the moment,
Asked carefully the origin of the leather pants.
It was Khan Manas' spouse,
Beautiful Kanikai did very skillfully needlework.
Your father was born with power thgouht:
'I see she is a barren woman,
I will pray for her to have a baby sincerely,
I will concentrate and bless her!'

"When wise people raise hands and give bless,
Guess what hero Manas did!
He hung horsewhip over his neck,
He could not help shedding tears on his face!

"People led horses hung reins over their necks,
Many people untied their belts and hung over necks,
Even Kangayi people stood up,
Raised their hands and prayed to god.
All people opened their palms and prayed for Kanikai,
I also sent my good wishes to her.

"The prayer for Kanikai was answered,
The god gave her a son Semtay.
He followed his father and administered Arashi,
He will never die an untimely death easily.
Now Keyaz will marry Semtay's wife,
What is your purpose of attending the wedding?

"Kashgar, Khotan, Yarkand,
Lop Nur and Turpan,
No one of these places will attend the ceremony.
Kangayi is close to them,
It is easy for them to climb over and get to Turpan.
If they get the news of Semtay's death,
They will conquer these places immediately.

"At Kurpuldaik river outlet,
Kazakh people's scum,
Invited one-eyed man Mardhan,
He rode a wild male rhino and challenged rampantly.
Giant Kerzilwuyouk from Jafan,
Talked wildly and wanted to challenge Semtay.
Semtay defeated these two arrogant giants,
His fame spread all over the world.

"Especially hero Krichorao,
He was brave and skillful and everyone praised him.
Lebatay and Kalatay,
Wusangan from Karamark,
All stretched their evil hands to Talas,
They were wiped out and none of them went back alive.
Semtay and Krichorao,
Fought from strength to strength.

"Bakay's son Bayitaylak,
Got shot from arrows in battle,
Bakay was regardless of his injured son,
He charged in the front,
In order to protect his people from getting enemy's slaughter.

"When Kunwuerbayi invaded Talas,
Stretched his evil hands to Arashi,
Leopard Bakay came forward courageously,
Led young hero Semtay,

Young and strong Krichorao,
Fought together with numerous heroes,
Finally they killed Muradler,
Wushan, Niskara and Orokger.

"Kunwuerbayi was full of craft and cunning,
He cheated five tribes of Khitan and Kangayi.
They mustered in Kerzilkya and Saha,
Then invaded Kirigiz.
He made a world-shocking war,
But finally he reaped what he had sown and died.

"Semtay got an axe cut,
But it was said his body disappeared mysteriously,
They could not dig the tomb and bury him,
Keyaz reported it as what it had happened.
I conclude he did not tell lie in public,
I do not believe it at all,
Semtay will not die like this.
Giant Koshaoyi's son Jalgezack,
It is ridiculous you go to attend Ayichulek's wedding.

"The career of sage Manas,
Does not come to the point of without a successor.
Karamark has a Molodo,
He is a diviner all Karamark bow in worship.
He is a companion of the devil,
His prediction never fails.

"Erankuduk's son Jurgulik,
Came and accommodated at my home secretly last summer,
He is a Molodo like his father,
He is a famous diviner in Karamark too,
He is of a silver tongue and able to foresee,
His skills are almost better than his father's.
He opened the scripture he carried with him,
He divined for me like this:

From Manas to his eighth generation offspring,
They are ever-victorious and all heroes.
There is a Death named Sarik[1],
He is Mardkuler's posthumous son,
He is not born yet,
But he steps everything flat wherever his horse steps.

"Seven famous giants in west world,
Horses cannot bear them,
They gather and challenge him,
They all die and no one will be alive.

"Talas now,
Is in difficulty for a short time.
People outside dare not invade recklessly,
But there are people inside betray it,
This is Jurgulik's prediction.

"Keyaz and Kanchorao,
Finally will die in Krichorao's hands,
Wait for fourteen years,
Semtay must return to the world,
I heard these words with my own ears,
The prediction must come true in the future.

"Jalgezack, listen to me,
I have found from sheep scapula long time ago,
I know you will accommodate at my home.
I admire your father's spirit,
Butcher baby camel and treat you,
This is the reason.

"Here are the cross roads,
Here is Chylpildak grassland,

1 The Death Sarik: It means the Death with yellow skin. Here it refers to Seytek's son Kenainim.

You should stay here for three more days,
Persuade with reasons and good words,
People who go to attend the wedding,
Heroes who lead others.
Stop them from going to the wedding,
Let them change their minds and go back home.
You need force Keyaz secretly,
Make him isolated and deserted by his followers.

"If Semtay returns to vast Talas,
Return to Kirgiz people he has left long,
You should support and assist him with all your effort.
You need assist Semtay to achieve the great cause,
Then your name will pass among Arashi from generation to generation."

Jalgezack accepted the elder's lesson,
He was completely convinced.
He stayed in Kashikabayi's house for three days,
He followed the elder's orders humbly.

Right during these three days,
From Yurbi Khan's people,
From numerous famous Kazakh heroes,
Muzburchak's son Ackubak,
Wumaitoy's son maiditibek,
Kokboru's only son,
Young man Koyunali,
Dabitay's son Tatakai,
Murzhakmart's son Mulat,
They all came in a hurry.

From Kashgar, Khotan, Yarkand,
From Lop Nur, Turpan,
Many famous heroes came from these places too.

Arashi people with fame and prestige,

Khans' sons and Bayis' sons,
Warriors protected people from enemies,
Heroes respected by people,
Totally forty six,
Gathered in the cross roads.

Ackubak was in his prime time:
"Sage Koshaoyi's only son,
Big brother Jalgezack, why are you here?
Are you guarding the roads here?"

Ackubak's question,
Like the food was sent to the mouth,
Was exactly what Jalgezack wanted,
He made an issue of it and persuaded:
"So many people come here,
There are Khans and heroes,
Everyone among you,
Can administer at least five cities.
You come from the south, the east and Kashgar,
Come from Yarkand, Khotan and Turpan,
Some even comes from Hami,
You do not imagine seeing each other again here.

"So many heroes come from the south,
So many heroes come from the north too,
Where are you going and what will you do there?

"I come here,
From my hometown Aksay of Atbash,
Keyaz invited me to come,
He said he is going to marry Ayichulek,
Invited me to attend his wedding.
I changed my mind when I arrived here,
So I wait here for you for three days patiently.

"Rely on people's strength to fight invaders,

Do not be afraid of the depth of water when cross a river.
I will return to my hometown after I meet you,
I decide not to attend Keyaz's wedding,
I give you the same suggestion.
Before I go back,
I will explain to you clearly.

"The greatest hero Manas,
You had seen him or heard of him.
His only son Semtay,
Inherited his will.
Semtay was young,
But he became the support of Arashi.

"He protected Kirgiz people,
He protected others tribes from sufferings too,
He even did not allow mice to eat his people's bran,
Did not allow invaders stretch their evil hands out either.
He took two young warriors with him,
Fought battles here and there,
He never felt isolated and helpless.

"When Manas closed his eyes and passed away,
Invaders made troubles around us.
It was Semtay who let heroes and stood out bravely,
Defended the safety of Arashi.
They made Manas' fame spread in the world forever,
It is still passed in the world now.

"When they mounted the set out for battles,
They did not ask for others' help,
They did not ask anyone to contribute.
You hunted argali for fun then,
Played and flied eagles by the river.
Everyone was happy,
Because hero Semtay was backbone.
You were carefree and happy,

Because hero Semtay took everything in hand!

"Kanchorao betrayed Semtay,
Keyaz occupied Sire city of Kankoler,
Lion Semtay fell into enemies' trap and was murdered,
But no one saw he was buried.
When he disappeared mysteriously,
When Almanbet's son Krichorao's scapula,
Was cut and he became disabled,
Keyaz took Ayichulek away as a trophy.

"I received the invitation from Keyaz,
I come here without thinking of anything,
I forgot the kindness the hero did to me.
I have decided to return from here,
Do not attend Keyaz's wedding ceremony.
I would rather be buried,
Than attend the wedding,
And be Keyaz's guest.
I want to tell you this,
So I wait you here."

Jalgezack persuaded sincerely,
Forty six heroes listened carefully.
Young and aggressive Ackubak,
Shouted with rage:
"Keyaz is shameless!
He murdered Ayikoler Manas' only son,
Damaged white felt hats' reputation,
Destroyed Kirgiz Arashi's happiness,
Ruined our luck.
They intended to wipe Arashi people out,
Destroy Kirgiz people's bright future!

"I also decide to return from here,
Let Keyaz's wedding go to hell!
If I go to attend this evil wedding,

My father's spirit in the heaven will punish me!"

Kokboru's son,
Cute young man Koyunali,
Was exasperated:
"Since we forty six heroes gather together here,
How about we go to Jedigair and attack Keyaz,
Kill Kanchorao who occupied Talas,
Then go and worship Manas' majestic spirit!"

Jalgezack persuaded again:
"If we go and attack Keyaz,
If we take Talas back,
It will destroy our reputation,
It will let evil people have chance to attack us,
It will make us lose Arashi forever!"

They agreed on what Jalgezack said:
"We cannot go to Keyaz's place,
Let's turn our horses round and return."
They spat on and cursed Keyaz,
Tied horsetails and mounted their horses,
Did not go and attend Keyaz's wedding,
Returned to their own homes.

Keyaz thought Khans would come to the ceremony,
So he prepared busily.
He asked to drive many baby camels,
And many fat mares to butcher together.
Destines, bellies and necks were boiled,
They expected guests to come.
They decorated more than fifty guest rooms,
To entertain Khans from all places.

Tea was boiling in pots,
All kinds of delicious food spread on tablecloth.
He thought guests would come,

Appointed people specially to take care of guests' horses,
He would show off to guests from all places:
Keyaz was very rich.

"Jedigair people in Jetisu,
All of them must come here!
The old should come and taste the delicious food,
The young should come and help,
Receive and treat guests from all places well!"

Followed Keyaz's order,
Jedigair people rode on mares and led colts,
Rode on camels and bulls,
Came on foot if they did not have a mount,
No one was left at home.

When Bagersh was alive,
He built a tall tower,
The tower stairs twisted up fifty six circles,
When people stood around the tower,
The news passed to Keyaz:
"At the important cross roads,
At the edge of Chylpildak,
All Khans have returned to their hometown from there."

It was Shakurkashka,
Who came and delivered the bad news,
Keyaz groaned inwardly:
"Are these Khans fearful of being cheated?
Are they fearful of being killed like Semtay?
So they dare not come and attend my wedding.
Or the thing I want to marry Ayichulek and hold a wedding,
Goes against Kirgiz people's,
Even all Arashi people's will?"
Keyaz turned the problem over for thirty two times in his mind painfully,
Countless thoughts went through his mind.

Keyaz asked elder Kashika:
"You are knowledgeable and experienced,
You have sent countless days and many years away,
What have happened now,
You have experienced a lot like this.
Why do they return to their homes?
Do you know it? Do you hear anything about it?
Please tell me!"

Elder Kashika answered him:
"You ask me about it now,
You want to know what I have known.
I stood by their sides at the moment,
I heard what they discussed.
They discussed with each other,
So I heard what they said.

"Kara Kirgiz person Jalgezack said,
He should not act like a little kid,
Should not come to your wedding.
He said you betrayed Ayikoler Manas' spirit,
You must be cursed and rebuked when you offend his people.
He said you force Ayichulek to marry you,
He said how he can attend such a wedding!
He said people who want to go can go,
He said he would go back and could not go with others to the wedding!

"Hearing what Jalgezack said,
Muzburchak's son Ackubak,
He was lit with rage immediately,
He poured his hearted toward you.

"Brave young man Koyunali,
He was even more excited and angrier,
If Jalgezack did not persuade him,

They may have come and robbed you.

"They want to rob Talas,
They will knock Kanchorao and you to the ground,
Then they will go back home!

"Jalgezack stopped them again at the moment:
'If you go and pluander Jedigair people,
If you go and attack Talas,
Other invaders are watching,
They will launch attacks from all directions.
Semtay and Krichorao,
Are not with people anymore.
If all Kangayi turn out,
Who are capable of turning their horses round?
Who are capable of fighting them?'

"They took what Jalgezack told them,
So they cursed your wedding,
They spat on the ground.
Tied horsetails up and returned to their homes,
This is the detail you want to know.

"Keyaz, what did you say?
They returned because of fear.
That is what you deceive yourself!"
For Keyaz's questions,
Kashika answered him with satire and rebuke.

Jedigair people gathered and tasted the meat,
They congratulated Keyaz:
"Congratulate you on your marriage!
You finally marry Ayichulek.
In order to marry Akun Khan's daughter Chulek,
So many heroes fought against each other.
So many heroes shed blood and died,
But finally you make it.

You should let Chulek come out,
Let us witness her beautiful face."

Keyaz granted their request,
Asked servants to invite Chulek to the tower top.
Lifted the veil on her face,
Let everyone see her clearly.

All Jedigair people ,
The young and the old,
All witnessed Chulek's beauty,
They felt itchy in their hearts.
When they saw Chulek's bright eyes,
They all became besotted.

When Chulek swallowed food,
The food was visible in her transparent throat.
In front of Chulek's charm,
Shining mirror was cast into the shade,
Because Chulek had a supreme elegance!
Look, Chulek's slim figure,
Swung like weeping willow.
Look, Chulek's pretty braids,
Was glossy black like otter hair.
People who had seen with their eyes,
Could not help from thinking,
They had forgotten everything in the world.

People came from Talas,
Cursed the evil world,
They were discontented,
Vented their grudges:
"Poor swan falls into falcon's hand,
Compare with hero Semtay,
Keyaz is just a falcon!
Does the world go this way?
God will punish the evil people one day."

Ayichulek Cheated Keyaz with the Substituted Fake

Keyaz let Ayichulek,
Wear a noble and rich dress,
Sent a servant to invite Molodo as marriage witness,
From one-day-long distance.

This Molodo was cunning and foreseeing,
He could divine with sheep scapula.
He was discontented with the marriage,
So he had a magic thought:
"Ayichulek's bed,
Cannot be trampled by Keyaz recklessly.
I can read a secret curse,
Let it fits in exactly with Chulek's wish,
Let her thank me with gold."

Molodo married them with his idea:
"Angtak, Mentak,
You two are like two Manaplant Alhagi,
Hero Keyaz, bless you,
You can sleep with the woman others cannot see!"

Chulek got the hint in his words,
He knew Molodo's purpose.
She gave him a female camel as he married them,
And gave him a brocade robe.

Sixty two magic skills,
And seventy two spells,
Ayichulek had recited them very well,

No one could break her magic spells!

She called invisible fairies,
There was one evil spirit,
Came to Ayichulek timidly.

"Your are an evil spirit,
I am famous Chulek,
Now I want you to transfer to me,
You do everything Keyaz asks you to do!
Put your hair not the breasts on his body,
You must make him sleep more and sober less!

"If you let him see through you,
I will drive all you fairies out of the world.
No matter the old or the young,
No matter the evil spirits or the devils,
All will be driven out,
You will have no place to hide."

Ayichulek threatened them,
Called their devil king in,
Asked him to order that evil spirit,
Transfer to Chulek and go to sleep with Keyaz.
Ayichulek met trick with trick,
Made Keyaz eat the honeyed words.

Chulek's belly,
Turned bigger and bigger.
The baby was almost too big to stay in the belly.
Wise sister-in-law Chulek,
Had such an idea:
"Cunning and suspicious Keyaz,
He will not leave the matter at that,
The old are exiled in the wilderness of Talas,
They are in very difficult situation,
They are living a miserable life.

If I let Keyaz persecute my son,
It will be a crying shame to me!"

Ayichulek took medicine Agezma,
Kept the baby's bones and drained the baby's flesh.
Protected the baby's bones,
Kept it more than one year.

She ate many kinds of magic medicines,
She ate dried yellow Barpu grass.
Day after day, she kept eating the medicine,
The medicine made of by Kunu grass roots.

According the customs, Ayichulek asked food,
From one thousand homes to meet her pregnant appetite.
She ate wheat grains soaked in butter,
Ate cut horse belly and neck fat.
She ate horse belly fat mixed with honey,
Ate braised meat and horse belly.
In order to get the nutrition,
To nourish herself, she ate the soup medicine,
Boiled with Arkar grass and Mamir grass,

When the baby moved in her belly,
Chulek came to strong Keyaz,
Sat on his lap:
"Keyaz, do you want a child?
You take best care of me,
No one can compare with you.

"When I was with Semtay in the past,
I never had what woman should have,
I was not pregnant all the time.
But when I pass the right year,
I am lucky enough to have your baby.

"If you do not find me elephant meat,

If I do not taste elephant meat,
I will vomit yellow acid,
I will be tortured greatly, I will die miserably.
I only want to eat elephant meat when I have morning sickness,
It is in my dream when I sleep,
It is in my mind when I wake up."

When Ayichulek said this,
Keyaz felt surprised:
"Does Chulek really have my baby?
Is the baby she is having mine?
Does it Semtay's baby?

"And she takes it here and deliver?
Ayichulek is a complex woman,
Does she use tricks to keep baby's bones and drain flesh?
And let it grow later.
Does she hide plots from me?
Pretend to flatter me but to test my opinion,
It may be an excuse to let me find elephant meat!

"I will send turtle meat as elephant meat to her,
I will make her abortion,
It only can clear up my doubts this way.
Or maybe I should continue to observe,
Look how does she deliver.
If Ayichulek gives birth to a girl,
I will hold ceremony for her and put the girl in the cradle.
If Ayichulek gives birth to a boy,
I will kill him and bury him.
She insists on eating elephant meat,
This is the doubtful point."

Sixty ways and forty plots,
Keyaz searched them in his mind one by one:
"My dear wife Chulek,
I hear the good news you are pregnant,

My heart is warm as fire.

"I cannot find elephant here,
In order to find elephant meat,
I need set out to Yindistan[①].

"If you want me to go,
I will go in person,
If you want me to serve you at home,
I will send others to go immediately."

Ayichulek responded this way:
"Since you do not have an elephant in hand,
Even if you go to Yindistan,
You may not find it.
If you use one year on the way,
I have already had the baby delivered.

"I beg you not complain,
I will put indigo in water and drink it,
Let the baby in my belly congeal.
You are with me,
So I am not afraid even I get lifelong disease.

"Please give me one-month time,
Deal with the sting in our hearts.
I hear magic doctor Momingjan in Baghdad,
He can cure all diseases, he has great skills,
I will invite him to do a laparotomy,
Let the baby in my belly drain completely.
If Momingjan has elephant meat,
I will eat elephant meat to make me satisfied."
Ayichulek did not comment,
On Keyaz's going in person,
She just tested him.

① Yindistan: It refers to India.

Keyaz stood up impatiently,
He did not look back,
Walked out of the door.
When he was almost stepped out,
Ayichulek called him:
"Wait, Keyaz,
Wait!
You killed my husband!
You take me as a trophy,
Now you are my husband.
Be your wife as a trophy,
I would rather die!
I would rather finish my life, than be under your roof,
And linger on with my last breath of life!
I suffer a lot from morning sickness, vomit acid,
Suffer too much, I am an unlucky woman!

"I will die if my time is coming,
If God does not give the order to let me die,
I will suffer and wait till the baby is born!
Then I will leave my son to you,
And I will wear the swan dress,
Fly to the sky.
I have experienced outstanding you,
I will never return to the human world again!"

Cunning Keyaz heard what Ayichulek said,
He pretended to be surprised:
"Ah, Ayichulek,
What you said is not correct!
I have never said,
You are my war trophy.
You call yourself a trophy and jeer at me,
I feel too shamed to be in front of you,
You break my heart!

"I have agreed on you silently,
I allowed you to invite the doctor from Baghdad.
I would have told Totoru steed,
It can finish the one-month journey to Baghdad in one day.
Stay in Baghdad for three days to deal with the issue,
Then return home the dame day.
I am going to arrange it,
But you call me and jeer at me."

Ayichulek had figured out at the moment:
"The cunning loathsome creature,
He wants to test me,
From Totoru steed."
Before they finished their talk,
Krichorao opened the door and came in:
"Sister-in-law, please give me something to eat!"

She feared Keyaz would doubt,
Ayichulek opened her eyes wide,
Scolded Krichorao, to his face:
"In the barrel of making paste,
There are fermented yogurt and Jarma[1] you can eat.
There is no warm naan for you everyday!

"At the back of the kitchen,
There are some unshelled barley,
Here are some cooked grains in the pot,
You cannot eat them all at one time!

"Do not talk rubbish,
Do I have the wish to be your sister-in-law?
You always linger around me,
Cannot I get rid of you?

"There is barley in the big white bowl,

1 Jarma: It is a beverage Kirgiz people made from barley flour.

Go get it and feed Torbok[1],
Do not eat your meal if you do not feed it well!
Be fast when cutting grass and firewood,
Do not dawdle till the evening comes!"

Krichorao said to himself:
"Does God punish Chulek?
Cannot I free myself forever?
Will the disaster on my shoulder last forever?
Kanchorao grew up together with me,
But he cut my scapula off mercilessly.
I hope Ayichulek support and help me,
But she asks me to eat fermented paste,
Isn't it my way is cut off?"

When he thought about it,
Torbok Ayichulek said to him,
Echoed around his ears.

"Elowuent Chulek,
Cannot she say Tuorbok?
Does she hint me?
Let me feed Totoru steed as soon as possible?

"Keyaz was turning to the door at the moment,
Smart sister-in-law Ayichulek may predict,
Keyaz was going to ask Totoru steed,
She must be anxious, and feel terrible.
In such an embarrassing day,
It is normal for her to scold me!"

Krichorao figured it out when he thought this,
He carried the white bowl with full of barley,
He ran with prance,

1 Torbok: It is Kirgiz language. Tuorbok means cow calf. Torbok is an inflection of Totoru steed.

Came to Totoru steed quickly.
He held the bowl and fed the steed,
Went back to Chulek's room after he fed the steed.

Ayichulek asked before he could say a word:
"Hey, did you feed it with barley?"

"I have fed Toronkay[①],
It centralizes grains with its mouth,
And then eats in one mouth."

Ayichulek figured out clearly,
He had fed Totoru steed.
"If Krichorao did not get the hint,
And gives barley to the calf,
He would answer me that it eats with its tongue.
But he says it centralizes grains and eats in one mouth,
That means he has fed Totoru steed."

Ayichulek and Krichorao,
Why were they so anxious?
Because Totoru could speak human language.
Although it could not predict what would happen the next day,
It was sensitive to what happened on the very day.

Chulek warned Krichorao:
"In the black barrel with handle,
There is some Jarma stirred with yogurt,
Take it now, do not be silly.
Go and stay away from people,
Do not get close to my yurt.
When you get full,
Pour the rest to a clean place."

Krichorao pretended he was not happy,

① Toronkay: It is the nickname of Totoru.

Lfited the black barrel suddenly.
"She said it is fermented paste,
Maybe it is other delicious food in the barrel!"

Keyaz was usually careless, but he was quite sharp at times.
He doubted,
Stretched his neck and casted a glance to the barrel.

Ayichulek had sharp eyes and agile hands,
She grabbed the handle of the barrel immediately:
"I know I am not a reliable wife,
Keyaz, I will let you see the bottom of the barrel!"
When Keyaz tried to smell it,
A gust of stink reached him instantly.
What made him feel more disgusted,
Was worms crawled in the barrel.

Keyaz witnessed the disgusting food in the barrel,
He blamed Chulek for she was stingy:
"Chulek,
If you continue acting like this,
You will ruin your reputation.
In the fermented paste,
Don't you see?
Worms are crawling in it.
Do not you smell?
The stink sends out!
How can you let him eat it as a meal?
Give a poor person a good meal,
Cannot we afford it!"
The wealth this family saved,
Piled up like a mountain.

"We hire six people every year,
To cut and carry firewood for this family,
We supply them food and clothes and treat them well.
They exhaust themselves and get the firewood,

But it is always short in use, we have no way to solve it.

"Although he has no scapula gristle,
He goes to mountains and cuts firewood everyday,
The firewood piles up like a mountain in my back yard.
It is hard to find someone stupid as he is in the world,
Cannot you pardon him?
Cannot you let him eat to his content?
You and him lived in one family for years,
You are his sister-in-law, and he is your younger brother.

"'One thousand times of greetings,
Are not as good as some food.'
This is the saying spread in the world,
You should understand its meaning."

Seeing Chulek keeping silent,
Keyaz thought she had appreciated his kindness.
Ayichulek's pregnant condition and the baby,
He could not test more from her.
Ayichulek and Krichorao,
They could not reveal him the truth!

Keyaz went to ask Totoru,
The steed did not hint him at all.
The barley fed to Totoru steed,
Had made its tongue numb,
It was unable to talk anymore,
It was the spell Ayichulek cast.
The truth of the baby in her belly,
Information of hero Krichorao,
The steed could not tell in ten years.
Smart fairy Ayichulek,
Sealed Totoru steed's tongue up with a spell.

"Totoru steed does not give me a bad hint,
Is she really having my baby?"

Keyaz thought about it for a while,
He still could not eliminate the doubts.
He dare not believe,
He doubted there was hidden secret he did not know.

When Krichorao took the barrel over,
When he was going to step out,
When Ayichulek held the handle of the barrel,
And was going to hand it over to him,
She lifted the barrel on purpose,
Then she pressed it down and let it go.

Krichorao carried the barrel in one hand,
Held a reel of wool rope and walked out.
He wanted to find a private place,
And pour everything in the barrel out.
Then he could take the empty barrel back,
When he was going to pour it out,
What happened just now appeared in his mind:
"Sister-in-law Ayichulek is like the moon,
She lifted and pressed the barrel,
Maybe she hinted me something,
She just guarded against cunning Keyaz."
He poured the paste,
And yogurt out carefully.
A small barrel showed up in the big barrel,
A lid covered it tight.
He dragged the small barrel out,
Washed it in a stream and opened it.
There were full of delicious food in it,
Krichorao was overjoyed with it.

Many pieces of horse belly fat and neck fat,
Twelve delicious good were all there.
The fat mixed with honey,
It made him drool.
Fried wheat and meat,

Filled the other two jars full,
Sugar and honey,
Whole piece of butter was cut into pieces.
There was another jar,
With full of sweetened black tea.
The black tea was called Horse-Temper-Smoother,
People had the tea would feel comfortable.

Wise sister-in-law Chulek,
Confused Keyaz with her sweet words.
Twelve delicious food,
Were cleverly put in the small barrel.
To keep Krichorao safe,
Ayichulek would not give up.
She blamed Krichorao on the surface,
Actually she jeered at Keyaz.
Let us put this aside,
Sing from Ayichulek gave birth to Seytek.

The Birth of Seytek

The Orphan Was Born after Being Conceived for Three Years

Ayichulek made Keyaz impossible to refuse,
He rode on Totoru steed and left home,
He galloped in mountains and plains,
Drove Totoru steed for fifteen days,
Finally he found elephant meat and returned.

"You went through hardships and bring me elephant meat,
You save your baby's life,
I am grateful to you for what you have done!"
Ayichulek lay there and ate elephant meat happily.

Day after day,
Month after month,
Nine months and nine days passed,
Chulek suffered from the contraction.
Ayichulek,
In an appropriate day,
Revealed the secret she kept,
To Almanbet's son Krichorao:

"Dear royal young man,
My contraction time is coming,
All my joints become limp.
I fear Keyaz and I am cautious,
So I drain the flesh of the baby off,
And kept the baby's bones in my belly for one year.
I took all kinds of medicine,
And kept the baby in my belly for one more year,
It actually has been three years,

Since I get pregnant!

"Now it is not necessary,
To hide your brother's only baby.
As long as the baby is a boy,
I will have no regret.
But I have been exhausted,
I only worry whether I can deliver the baby safely.

"Keyaz does not change his natural instincts,
He must try all ways to persecute the baby,
If we cannot find a good solution in two days,
We have to follow the arrangement of the fate!

"Among people moved from Talas,
There is a Kara Kirgiz person,
His name is Kutubayi.
I have observed him for a long time,
He is kind and reliable.
We should tell all the truth,
To Kutubayi.

"I have a maid cook,
Her name is Ayisalken,
I will send her to look for Kutubayi.
The tools like Kantuman and shovels,
You as a real man can prepare them."

Sent news to Kutubayi,
Ayisalken came back safely.
The moon still hung in the sky,
The sky was still dark,
Kutubayi got up gently,
Came to the appointed place.

Ayichulek was in deep distress,
Took the night as a huge cloak,

Took raindrops as gorgeous earrings,
Took dim clouds as light veil.
She wore long skirt and wide pants,
Skirt bottom and pants bottom swept on the floor.
Ayichulek was weighed down with care,
She was anxious to meet Krichorao.

Stars in the sky showed their smiling faces,
Welcomed sad people to meet and talk.
Then dark clouds covered the earth,
Jackals searched food at night,
Lost their way.
The sky provided them the best hiding condition,
Kutubayi, Chulek and krichorao,
Met at the appointed place.

The sky cared them especially that night,
Dark clouds rolled and fierce wind howled.
It rained and was pitch dark,
No one could know where they were.

Kutubayi met Ayichulek,
He cried and complained:
"It has been three days,
I see Keyaz having a worried and anxious face.
I figured it out,
Sister-in-law, it is the time for you to deliver the baby.

"I also know a lot inside stories,
I have a lot to talk to you.
Keyaz asked many people,
He chose twelve witches and Bubi,
They are a group of extremely cruel women,
They are merciless when they drag a baby out of the uterus.
Their uterus recede and old,
They are unable to have babies anymore.
Although their jawbones disjoint,

They are still eloquent and talkative.
I have a six-year-old daughter,
I asked her to follow them and listen secretly.
She only found they acted strangely,
But did not hear clearly what they said."

Krichorao talked at the moment:
"My Kutubayi,
Please listen carefully,
We call you here to talk about this,
We do not waste time here,
Let's act together.
Let's go to sister-in-law's room,
Dig a big hole beneath the room!"

Ayichulek added:
"As long as they come to my room,
As long as I still have one last breath,
They will have no way to go out of my room."

Kutubayi had great skills,
He went to battle with empty hands every time.
Even if there were more than thirty people,
He could tie them up easily.

Kutubayi wiped the sweat on his forehead,
Dug a big hole in a short time,
The size of the hole was decided before,
It could hold twenty women.

Ayisalken opened bags,
Krichorao threw dirt in it with shovel,
He filled fifty one bags full,
Tied them up with four wool ropes.
Almanbet's son lion Krichorao,
Lifted them gently and held them on his shoulder,
Walked out of the room easily,

Arrived at the river and poured the dirt into river.
Then stepped the piled dirt flat,
Hid the dirt smartly.
No power could stop the running river,
The river washed the dirt away before the dawn.

The pain of labor came stronger and stronger,
Five days had passed.
Keyaz came with a bristly unshaven chin:
"Chulek, how are you doing?
I see women rush here and there,
I am coming specially to see you.
I prick up my ears and wait for the news,
I wish you call me any time,
Let me, Keyaz, be with you.
But there is no news from you,
I expect someone to give me good news,
I feel anxious and worried."

Ayichulek knew it clearly,
Keyaz was trying to find a chance,
To send witches in her room.
What Kutubayi told her last night,
Was lingering in Ayichulek's mind.
Chulek said to him:
"My Khan Keyaz,
You are an upright man.
I am you wife and am going to deliver a baby.
If you stay and serve me,
It is against the custom.
Won't women laugh at me?
Won't others jeer at me?

"When every woman gives birth to a baby,
Husband should wait for the news outside the house.
If you stay with me and do not leave,
If you really want to see the delivering process,

Don't your people jeer at you?
They will say you eat Chulek's first milk!
Every time when a woman gives birth after it,
People will remember this!"

After Ayichulek persuaded him,
Hero Keyaz turned round and left,
Witches he called in,
Were all there.

Keyaz broght them in his room,
Taught them and plotted:
"All of you here today,
Act as what I tell you.
If you complete the task,
You will get what you dream to have.
I have boxes of gold,
My livestock spread all over the pasture.
I am fabulously wealthy,
I will spare no expense to do it!

"You go together and do not come back,
Go to Ayichulek's room,
Use your spells,
Use your witchcraft.
Adjust it if it is malposition,
Kill him if the baby is a boy.

"You should be happy if Chulek has a girl,
Then come and tell me the good news.
I will grant you brocade robes as reward,
I will grant you fine steeds.

"If Chulek has a boy,
You should pull his navel off,
Be sure to kill him,
You must remember this!

If the boy she delivers does not die,
All of you must die.
Not only you but also your families,
Your uncles and aunts,
And your cousins,
I will kill them all mercilessly."

Keyaz warned them again and again,
Sent the witches to Ayichulek's room.

Ayichulek asked Ayisalken,
To move a box to her.
She took out one medicine out of it,
Put it in the horse milk alcohol in the leather bag.
She tied the bag and hung it by the door,
Prepared big bowl for drinking it.
"I estimate these witches,
Will wear tall Alichek[1],
Walk in my room arrogantly.
Old bony witches,
Will swing their plaits and come to us.

"When they ask you,
Do we have beverage to drink?
You can walk to the door.
Let them see you open the leather bag,
Pour each of them a bowl of horse milk alcohol.
Do not miss anyone and do not pour half of bowl either,
You must pour the bowl full.
Bowls full with horse milk alcohol,
Should be put on the big tray,
And you carry it to me first.

"The bowl I take,

1 Alichek: Kirgiz women use white fabric or white silk twist over their heads and make tall hats.

You should hint me secretly.
As long as the witches take and drink the milk alcohol,
They must pass out.
Then we can throw them into the big hole,
We just turn his trick to his own use."

They planed like this,
Shook the poison and waited the best chance.
They would make witches taken by surprise,
Like peeling the onions,
None of those witches,
Would know the secret of the room!

The group of witches came into the room noisily:
"People are ready to move,
Chulek, you should be quick!"
Some shouted like crows:
"Some people come with forty horses,
Wait for engaging with your newborn girl."

None of them mentioned,
What would happen if she had a boy.
Ayichulek figured out from their words,
They were going to have evil doings.
Ayichulek was worried,
Her contraction got stronger and stronger.
Witches had sinister motives,
Took the chance and approached her.

"Respected mothers,
Dear sisters,
You come in time,
I need you the most now.
Ayisalken, come, bring the drink,
Good family never neglects guests!"

Ayisalken walked away,

Untied the leather bag hung on the wall.
Rolled the edge of the bag down,
Poured milk into thirteen painted bowls,
Put these bowls into a big tray,
Brought to them respectfully.

Ayichulek said first:
"The drink treats the guests,
Should let the host taste first.
I am thirsty now,
Give me a bowl and let me taste first!"

Hearing what she said,
The witches shouted noisily,
Like dogs barking:
"The slave, God should punish you,
Don't you see she cannot bear the pain,
Give the milk alcohol to Chulek first."

When they fussed and made noise,
Chulek watched the bowl on the tray carefully.
She found on the edge of one bowl,
There was a light black spot,
She reached her hand to this bowl.

"Let's drink now,
My baby is coming!"
Chulek urged them to drink quickly.

The witches were in a hurry,
They tossed off the bowls,
Some had no time to drink all,
The bowls were still in their hands,
Then fell and passed out.

Ayichulek stood up immediately,
Rolled the bedding to the side.

The black hole opened its big mouth,
Appeared under her bedding.

Ayisalken dragged the witched over,
Threw them into the hole one by one.
Then covered the hole and put the bedding back,
Ayichulek lied on it and rested calmly.

When the evening came,
She ordered Kutubayi and Krichorao,
To carry dirt and fill the hole up,
Buried the witches deep in to the hole.

Chulek's contraction became stronger and stronger,
She finally gave birth to a boy.
Ayisalken wanted to carry her up from the ground,
She gritted the teeth and almost bit her lip.
She felt strenuous,
Every of her hair sweated.
She could not lift the infant,
The infant was still on the ground.

Ayichulek cut the umbilical cord in person,
Wrapped the baby in a blanket.
What happened in the room ,
No one outside of the room noticed.
No one reported to Keyaz for the reward.

Till the next morning,
Ayichulek sent Ayiaslken,
Let her tell Keyaz:
"Chulek gives birth to a boy."
Asked her to watch Keyaz's expression carefully.

Ayisalken came to Keyaz,
Told him the news Chulek had a boy.
She opened her eyes wide and watched carefully,

Watched whether Keyaz was happy or not.

Keyaz hid the anger in his heart,
He pretended he was happy for the news.
His throat twitched affectedly,
It seemed he was so happy that he would cry.

But his beard pricked up one by one,
His anger showed through his beard.
Ayisalken found Keyaz's secret,
She reported it to Chulek,
With sharp and angry words:
"Let your husband go to hell!
Let your Keyaz live in infamy!
Sister, you would rather die,
Than marry such a man!

"My sister, I report the good news to him,
He pretended he was happy and he almost cried.
But his beard stuck up one by one,
He was filled with rage.
I watched Keyaz carefully,
He glared at me angrily.
His face turned deathly pale,
Like dark clouds covered the sky.
Seeing Keyaz's false affection,
I miss my fellow people's true affection!
Sister, do you understand me clearly?
He acted strangely."

All Ayisalken's words,
Ayichulek understood them very well.
Lived well or not in the world,
It was the Creature's arrangement,
God decided your fate,
Who can resist it and who can change it!
Ayichulek's father Akun Khan,

Once used sixty colts and one thousand camels,
Bought a green snake sword,
Now she ringed the sword belt on her wrist.

What Keyaz had done,
Froze in her heart like ice.
She pressed the hatred in her heart,
Her face was like frozen ice.
What Keyaz had said,
Like she swallowed dry salt,
Pricked her heart hurt.

Ayichulek made good preparation,
She had already had the plan:
"Keyaz may come now,
He will let me take the baby to him.
It is impossible to refuse,
The baby will be in danger if I give him!

"I should be cautious all the time,
If he raises the baby up,
I should reach my hands and ask the baby back.
If he does not stop,
I will stab the sword to his heart,
Then I am willing to die.
Anyway I need protect the hero's only son well,
Never let anyone hurt him!"

Ayichulek talked to herself,
Took the baby to her side.
The baby had thick blankets on him,
Only had his cute face showed out.

Right at the moment,
Black-hearted giant Keyaz,
Turned plots over in his mind:
"I should go to her room unhurriedly,

Ask her to put the baby in my hands,
As long as I get the baby,
I will have the chance,
I will press the baby's chest quietly,
I must make him suffocated to death."

Keyaz came leisurely,
Walked in with a smile:
"Chulek, you were afraid people would laugh at me,
You did not allow me to stay with you.
Now it is great, you deliver the son,
I want to see my son,
Kiss his little face."

The infant was wrapped in blankets,
Lay beside Ayichulek,
Keyaz bent over and tried to hold the baby,
Ayichulek held the baby up in a hurry,
"Look, this is your son!"
Ayichulek said and showed him the baby's face.

But the cunning guy did not reach his hands to the baby,
He spread his clothes hem,
Chulek had to put the baby on his clothes.
The baby was too heavy,
Keyaz could not straighten up.

Keyaz twisted his legs and feet,
His eyes were dim as evening light,
His heart beat hard,
He felt the baby was as heavy as a hill.

Keyaz lifted the clothes hem,
Tried to press the baby on his chest.
Ayichulek stood up immediately:
"A man holds a baby,
The man always acts with confusion,

Especially you, Keyaz,
How do you make me relieved?

"Look, your son's body is showing,
If he gets a cold and cough,
I will feel miserable."

Ayichulek said and took the baby back,
Held him and wrapped well again,
Put her nipple into the baby's mouth.

Cunning Keyaz did not complete his plot,
He pretended he was treated wrong,
He complained:
"Ah, what's wrong with you, Ayichulek?
Do you only love and care the baby?
Will I make my only son get a cold?
Will I make trouble for you on purpose?
I thought you are a sweet Chulek,
But you are so rude and impolite.
You take the baby from my hands,
You hurt my dignity badly!
You drag the baby out of my hands,
It seems I was going to throw the baby out of the room!

"Fortunately there is no other person,
I can keep my dignity.
In case others see what happens here,
Rumors will spread wide and fast!
Don't I look by my eyes,
At my son's moon-like face?
You give me the baby,
Let me kiss his penis,
To make my dream come true!"

"You, Keyaz, blame me so much,
You blame me for spoiling my baby,

You blame me for not giving you the baby,
You resent me for this!

"How do you know my pain of ten-month pregnancy?
My bones pain like needles stick in.
Especially when the contraction started,
All my bones were like to fall apart.
My poor life was suffering,
I groaned painfully.
When I need help,
You did not send anyone to come and help me.
Do you really need a son today?
I remember your action of treachery,
How I can give you the baby!

"You are a native here,
I, Chulek, left my hometown and come here,
I am alone and lonely here.
Keyaz, you make me understand,
I am still a trophy you won.

"When I was going to deliver the baby,
You did not invite any midwife for me,
Poor Ayisalken from Talas,
Only she was with me and rushed around for me.
I had to cut the baby's umbilical cord by myself,
I realized clearly till then,
How humble I am in your heart!

"I will never forget,
I left my hometown,
I am under other's roof unfortunately.
No one helps me,
And no one misses me.
This changeable world,
Is horrible and merciless from the beginning."
Ayichulek vented her dissatisfaction,

Frowned and kept a poker face,
Her face was pale,
It was like prepare to die together.
She moved her hand gently,
She touched the interlayer of her bedding,
She drew the old Aktingti sword out suddenly,
Held it in her hand:
"I will let you see your son,
Being cut his belly open,
Then I will stab it into my heart!

"A woman will face the death twice in her life,
Dystocia is definitely one.
When I almost died in giving birth to your son,
You did not send any midwife to me.
I would rather die,
Than live such a humble and degrading life!"

"If Ayichulek cuts her belly and commits suicide,
I will lose my face in the world.
She kills the baby with anger,
I do not want to stop her.
But she will die too,
It is so hard for me to choose."
Such thought flashed over his mind,
Keyaz, in a hurry,
Grabbed Chulek's wrist.

Keyaz persuaded Chulek:
"Chulek, how can you be so stubborn?
I intended to stay with you,
But you drove me out of your room,
Now you begin to grumble at me.
It is you who want to kill the baby and commit suicide,
You raise the sword mercilessly!

"From withches and Bubi,

Once I chose twelve of them.
I called them in from all places,
To help you have the baby.
Where did those witches go?
You said they did not come to your room.
I will find those damned women,
I must cut their heads off!"

Giant Keyaz finished his words,
Turned round and walked out angrily.
He murmured to himself,
He thought it over and over on the way:
"Those twelve useless women,
She must have killed them.
She has doubted me,
So she does not allow me to hold the baby.

"It seemed she had prepared,
To fight me over it,
I begged her hard,
Finally held the baby in my hands.
But she held Aktingti sword tight,
She said she would stab it into her heart,
But actually she wanted to stab it into my heart.

"If I talk too harsh to her,
If this woman with wings,
Fly away from me,
No matter who sees her moon-like face,
Will chase after her.
People must say I tortured Chulek,
If the whole Arashi challenge me,
How I can wind it up?
Years ago, Koshaoyi's son Jalgezack,
Persuaded people not to come to my wedding,
Numerous guests returned home on their way here.

"Young Koyunali at that time,
Wanted to attack me.
Muzburchak's son Ackubak is frightful,
Like the dark clouds covered the blue sky.

"Wumaitoy's son Meditbek,
Akairkaichy and Kanikai,
As long as they are still alive,
They will not look on and do nothing.
Kanchorao and I are outnumbered,
We cannot turn the whole thing back.
I should pretend to be confused and watch secretly,
Till the opportunity gets ripe,
I must make them shed blood everywhere."

Earthshaking Ceremony of Going into the Cradle

Keyaz left with sinister motives,
Ayichulek was cautious,
What she did and said was blameless,
Three years passed like this.
She raised the boy to three years old,
She did not hold birth ceremony for the baby,
Did not hold ceremony of going into the cradle either,
She even did not give the boy a name.

The baby grew too slow,
He could not walk till he was three years old,
His legs were weak,
They could not hold his strong body up.

When people saw him,
They thought he was like a six-year-old kid.
Anyway, he was a different kid,
He was in his mother's tummy for three yeas.
He was already three years old when he was born,
So it had been six years.

The kid was fussy one day and wanted to go out.
Suddenly, Ayichulek heard,
Keyaz was coming.
The strong guy,
Earth was shaking when he walked.

Ayihculek was worried and did not know what to do,
An idea occurred to her mind at the moment,

She lost her temper at the kid:
"You are like your father Keyaz,
You are unable to walk.
Your father do not recognize you as his son,
He doubts about it.

"You are not obedient to me,
Your father does not discipline you,
The father tortures the son,
Let fire of the hell burn me.

"If the boy is Semtay's son,
I have already knocked his bones broken,
To get rid of the hard times I endure.
I have already gone everywhere with Keyaz from long time ago,
Follow him happily and gently,
Enjoy our happy life together.

"I give birth to the boy after three years of our marriage,
But Keyaz doubted it,
It is all because of Semtay.
If I abuse this damned boy,
It equals I abuse Keyaz,
How I can be so coldblooded and do it!

"Now you are three years old,
Your father does not like you at all,
He does not hold ceremony of going into the cradle for you.
God allowed the poor boy to be born,
God does not call him back to the heaven!"

Ayichulek complained in the room,
Keyaz came quietly.
He listened secretly outside of the room,
He weighed Chulek's words carefully:
"She curses her own son mercilessly,
She pours her complaints onto the boy,

But she does not say he has no father.

"She does not mention that information,
She worries me, Keyaz, would lose my son,
She finally considers for me!
She has no need to say it on purpose,
She cannot hear I am coming!"

The cunning guy stepped backwards,
He left Ayichulek's door.
Ayichulek sat in the room,
Watched him leaving.

Ayichulek then stood up,
She gave a hard beat to the left palm with her right palm,
Then she held the boy and pinched his nose hard,
They boy cried immediately.

Keyaz heard the boy's crying,
He walked in with dry coughs:
"You are such a merciless woman, Ayichulek,
Why do you allow the boy cry so sad?
Do you do the housework and neglect him?
Do you make him hungry?"
Ayichulek stared at Keyaz with a smile,
But her words made Keyaz worried:

"There are many kids in the world,
Never get a kiss from father
Never enjoy mother's milk,
This boy is one of them.
Because no one holds ceremony of going into the cradle for him,
Because he has no name even he is already three years old.
Others ask what his name is,
I feel ashamed and do not know what to say!

"You did not let fellow people pray for him,

You even did not give him a straight look.
Although I, Chulek, am famous,
I am a weak woman,
What I can do!
He is not a boy without father,
Do we let him live like an orphan?
He moves here and there all day everyday,
He makes me exhausted.
Look at your little animal,
He is born naughty,
He even cannot walk till now.

"The chance of holding cradle ceremony for him,
Has gone and will never come back,
I wish God not allow his people,
To become merciless like you!

"Numerous fellow people from Talas,
Hold cradle ceremony for their kids generously,
They send people to invite me specially,
I reclined to go because I feel ashamed.
I lose my face in front of everyone,
I did not go and give gifts to their newborn babies.
'She is a stingy woman,
She presses a flea to death and licks its blood,
Her hands are harder than rocks.
Neglect Ayichulek,
Keyaz actually is not stingy,
She is in charge of everything at home.'
Ladies talk about me behind me,
I do not blame them for the rumors,
I do not blame them for the unreasonable statement.
I only blame myself for becoming a slave,
Fall into inferior status and wait to be butchered.

"I see many suspicious people,
Hang out near Ayinla,

I do not dare go out even during the daytime.
Ok, Keyaz, please let me go,
Please cut fourteen twigs off,
Dissolute our marriage and return my freedom!

"Your son has grown,
He does not eat milk anymore although he does not walk well,
At least he begins to walk,
Your son's future raising,
Will under you, his Khan father's arrangement!"

Keyaz stared at her at the moment:
"I want to kiss the boy but you stop me,
Now you want me to raise the boy,
You ask me to dissolute the marriage,
You will leave for your hometown.
What are you talking about?
How can you speak carelessly?
I do not know why you act like this.

"I am waiting for you to talk to me,
Talk about how to hold ceremony for our son.
Even if I make the decision and tell all people,
I must get your permission to hold the ceremony!
If I make a decision and you do not agree,
Doesn't that make me lose face in front of my people!
I watch you silently,
I wait for your response,
I did not expect my good intention makes you unhappy!
Please do not knit your brows,
Please give me clear direction with a smile,
When do we hold ceremony for our son?

"Jedigair people live in Jetisu,
Please send the good news to them.
We will hold a grand ceremony to give him a name,
Let the baby's name spread all over the world.

Although it is a little late to give him a name,
No one dare say it is late!"

Chulek let Keyaz make the decision by himself,
She left Keyaz,
Keyaz came up shoulder to shoulder with her,
Reached his hand to Chulek's plump breasts,
Clever Ayichulek guarded against it in advance,
She got rid of it undetectedly,
The smelly goblin,
Turn into Chulek's stunt,
Stood in front of Keyaz affectively.
Keyaz nipped and played like a naughty kid,
The goblin worked in with him tenderly.
Keyaz's lust desire was aroused with blurred eyes,
It was shaking under his long robe,
The feeling of the lust was like a dream.

"Chulek has become completely obedient to me,
She thinks I am all-powerful,
She is sincerely convinced and obedient to me."
Keyaz walked out proudly,
Walked into his palace aggressively.

He called in his servants in haste,
Gave them all the orders:
"You seven messengers gallop your horses,
Go to Jetisu people,
Send my invitations,
To seven Khans of Jezkanpire.
Invite all of the men in their houses,
To attend the ceremony of giving name to my son.

"Let the good news spread everywhere,
Do not leave anyone out of knowing.
Especially invite white-beard old man to sit on honor seat,
Let us inherit and develop ancestors' rules.

Let those eloquent people,
Let those people good at telling stories,
Let those knowledgeable people,
Leave none of them,
Let them all come for the ceremony.

"My only son has been three years old,
I have not held ceremony for giving him a name yet,
I am worried he is showy and bewitched,
I hide him and raise him till now.
I will hold the ceremony of cradle,
Let people give him a name solemnly,
Let people witness my son's handsome face.

"You seven messengers, do not delay,
Ride on your horses and set out now!
Go to Kumishibulak and Tuzkairu,
Go to our pastures to deliver my orders.
Choose seventy mares of empty embryo,
Choose seven one-year-old baby camels,
Choose forty cows and one thousand ewes,
Drive them here and butcher in the ceremony.

"Tell herdsmen and sheepherders,
And people herd camels and cows,
Ask them to attend the ceremony.
When they come for the ceremony,
Let Kutubayi's son giant Kalado,
Take care of the livestock carefully.

"I believe giant Kalado,
He is reliable and brave.
I have not inspected the pastures for three years,
Have not checked the number of livestock either."

Messengers whipped and galloped their horses,
Delivered invitations to all places.

Jedigair people in Jetisu,
All turned out,
Clouds of dust rose on the roads.

Kutubayi called Kalado and opened his heart to him,
"Come here, clumsy,
I have to remind you something.
Keyaz made a big display to hold the ceremony,
But he always doubts about the baby's father.
The boy is three years old now,
But he does not celebrate and give him a name,
There must be secret in it.
The ins and outs of the matter,
You have to get it from me.

"When Ayichulek was going to deliver the baby,
Keyaz sent twelve witches to persecute her.
Akun Khan's daughter Ayichulek,
She is wise and decisive.
She asked me to dig a big hole in her room,
Krichorao moved the dirt out of the room.
Chulek ordered us,
To throw twelve witches into the hole and bury them.

"In my body,
I have the blood of Nuoyi Kirgiz,
My mother is a Jedigair woman,
You should remember this.

"It is said Keyaz will give a name to the boy,
I am worried he cannot give a good name,
I am worried he destroys the boy's nimbus!
I want to risk my life and stand out,
Speak the name loudly in front of everyone,
I will not change my mind even if I suffer from it.
My son, I discuss with you,
If you think it is proper,

I will go and congratulate him."

Kalado wore his helmet and armor,
His tall and strong figure erected like a peak.
He asked his father thoroughly and thoughtfully:
"You say that,
Keyaz always has doubt about his son,
He does not hold the ceremony for him for three years.
What on earth is it?
Please tell me from the beginning.
Tell me the ins and outs of it,
Let me understand the details of it."

"Ok, my son, listen to me."
Kutubayi told the story of his family:
"We were dismissed to this place as war trophies,
Our hometown was Talas,
Semtay and us are the cognation.
The kid Semtay left,
Will become our backbone."

"My dear father, I see,
I am going to prepare Surchabar steed ready for you.
You go and talk with Ayichulek,
Bring me back her words.
I suggest Ayichulek to do everything possible,
To let Krichorao stay at our home.
I only know he is Almanbet's son today,
He was a famous lion.
Now we are rich and powerful,
If we do not pick him back and heal his wounds,
Ancestors' spirits must punish us!"

The father and the son discussed,
They chose a man from Talas,
Let him be the temporary leader of the herdsmen.
Kutubayi was satisfied with his son's outstanding performance,

He rode on Surchabar steed and went to the ceremony.

In a city called Burkuti,
Hero Bageshi's palace was located there.
There was a high tower,
Steps to the top were of fifty six circles.
Powerful hero Keyaz,
Lived there and ruled as a Khan.

Keyaz entertained guests from everywhere,
Delicious meat was spread all over the tablecloth.
He made adult steeds and three-year-old stallions,
Attend horserace separately,
Asked giants to poke each other on horsebacks.
Giants threw the rival to the ground and warriors poked the rival down,
Won rich prizes and people's respect.

Riders chased hard in the catching sheep arena,
They grabbed and twisted,
Shouted loudly from time to time.
The horns sounded at the moment,
Keyaz was calling his people.
People crowded in front of the high tower,
Keyaz climbed on the top of the tower slowly:
"Let Ayichulek come,
Ask her to bring the boy to me.
Let her choose a brocade long robe and bring it here.
Who can give the boy a name,
We will appreciate the person and present the robe as a gift."
The messenger came to Ayichulek's room,
Delivered Keyaz's order truthfully.

"Before this time,
Keyaz has never seen the boy.
The boy looks a lot like Semtay,
He looks almost the same like Semtay.
If he sees the boy today,

He must find an excuse and hold him in his arms,
Then pretend he does not hold him well,
Throw the boy to the ground on purpose.
I will cry my heart out if that happens,
It will make me, the poor unlucky woman, more miserable."

Ayichulek turned her problem in her mind,
Took out the splendid brocade long robe,
The gold edge of the robe was shining.
She held her son and stepped on the high tower,
The sword without the sheath hidden in her clothes.
She doubted and worried,
It tortured desperate Ayichulek very much.

Keyaz said to Ayichulek:
"Chulek, give my son to me,
I will hold him with both my hands.
I will show his face to everyone,
Receive their good wishes.
Listen to what names they will suggest,
I will ask fellow people for the opinion."

Chulek pressed the shock in her heart,
Like an otter was trapped in an iron trap,
Stared at Keyaz but did not lift her eyelids:
"You are a brave Khan,
You should receive the respect and admiration.
Some of your requests,
I cannot agree blindly.
Sometimes you do not consider carefully,
Do you blame me of not respecting you?

"My father-in-law has gone to the other world,
He was a wise and fair Khan.
He was not only supreme among Kirgiz people,
His name but also spread to everywhere.
When he went on expedition to Begin city,

My mother-in-law held Semtay and saw him off.
She wanted the father to see his son,
Khan father burst into a fury immediately.
He thought it would lose the dignity to hold a baby in public,
Ordered my mother-in-law to carry Semtay back to the yurt.

"Keyaz, you are a famous hero,
I am your wife and I always look out for you.
If you hold the baby and let the public see,
You may lose your face in front of the public.
Please do not be disappointed,
When you hear my honest advice.
To all your fellow people,
And all understanding Beks,
You tell them the truth,
You should be straightforward and loud.
I serve by your side gently,
With dazzling beauty and high spirit.
Your naughty boy is playing by your side,
His sweet laugh will make you happy.
Seeing our Jedigair people,
Will be touched and feel warm,
It will make them satisfied like lead melts."

Keyaz dare not reach out his hands after hearing this,
Took the boy over from Chulek's arms.
Since he had already been on the tower top,
Before the big crowd of people,
He dare not act recklessly.
He opened his mouth in public:
"Jedigair people in Jetisu,
People of seven Khans,
You all come by invitation.
Your giant Keyaz is holding a ceremony,
I will explain the reason of holding the ceremony.

"Akun Khan's daughter Ayichulek,

Chinkogeo and my father Toltoy in the past,
Loved her very much.
They fought Semtay over her,
Finally they sacrificed their lives for fairy Ayichulek,
Two heroes were killed and buried.

"Kanchorao and I entered into alliance,
We planed together and arranged carefully.
I knocked Semtay down on the ground,
I made Krichorao become my slave,
He swallows insult and cuts and carries firewood.
I made Kanikai and Bakay,
Live in the wilderness homelessly.
I let Kanchorao rule Talas,
Let him mount the throne like Semtay.
I made Semtay's wife Chachykai,
Remarry Kanchorao.

"Now Ayichulek is my wife,
She and I love each other very much,
And we have a boy.
Jedigair people, you know,
I, Keyaz, am generous all the time.
But the boy is three years old now,
I did not hold a cradle ceremony for my beloved son,
I am worried people from all places,
Do not look at him straightly,
And let my son get hurt.
I am worried their words bring disaster,
So I delay the ceremony of giving him a name till now.

"For the sake of my only son's safety and health,
I butcher animals and drive out evil spirits for him every month.
So I neglect all of you,
Please forgive me!

"Please give my son a name quickly,

His name should rhyme with my name,
I am eager to hear a great name of my son,
I beg for it even in sleep.

"Chulek, come quickly,
Let our son's moon face,
Shine our fellow people's hearts!"

Pure and noble Ayichulek,
Unfolded the gold-thread silk quilt,
Carried the quilt under her arm,
Showed her son to the public.

When people saw the boy's face,
Everyone was crazy for him.
People discussed:
"It is Semtay comes back to life!"

The kid's face and expression,
Was like the sun broke through clouds.
The kid was born like an experienced general,
He was like a white tiger stood on the mountaintop!

The kid shouted loudly suddenly,
The tower under his feet shook violently,
It almost collapsed.

People present were astonished,
Keyaz lost his mind speechlessly.
A sudden gale sprang up,
Rivers roared and surged.
Wind blew grass and made big noise,
Like the black earth was going to collapse,
Many strange celestial phenomena,
Occurred in a blink of an eye.

Moon-like Ayichulek,

Covered her face with the veil,
Wrapped her son in her coat,
Took light paces back to her palace.

The God Named the Orphan Seytek

Keyaz was likely to kill someone,
His face turned pale,
The damned guy got so exasperated:
"You all listen to me obediently,
Call Chulek back to me now!
I will take the boy's life now.
I will kill him in front of everyone,
To drive out evil spirit for everyone present!
Only when I kill the boy,
I can have good sleeps and have freedom!

"Before the boy gets three years old,
Ayichulek played tricks,
Prevent me from seeing the boy's face.
As the boy grows bigger,
Ayichulek is more and more daring.
You have already witnessed,
Please tell me the truth:
Whose son is he?"
Keyaz burst into a fury immediately,
All people were utterly quiet and dare say nothing.

Your Kutubayi uncle at the moment,
Raised his head and shook his body and said:
"My Khan, what's wrong with you?
Where is your wisdom?
You are Khan administer your people,
You should think carefully,
You are the unique hero in our hometown,

You are the great master of wisdom.

"Since Ayichulek married you,
It has been about six years.
If this is Semtay's son,
How can she hide an alive life,
In her belly for three years?
It is like you want to go to pee,
Can you hold it all the time?

"You are a wise general,
We should consider the ins and outs thoroughly.
After three years Chulek had married you,
She got pregnant and delivered this boy,
It is not proper you do not recognize him!

"The kid is as shining as you,
Maybe Chulek worries he would be bewitched,
So she does not let him show up!
Keyaz, do not doubt everything!

"You climb to fifty years old in a hurry,
Now you go on the declining road,
You will get to the bottom soon.
Without a choice,
Every of us will be chased by the Death.

"When people live a peaceful and happy life,
They like to boast and feel arrogant.
In order to earn a living,
People are kept on the run all the time.
When the Death grasps your collar,
You dare not say 'let me go!'
You are reluctant to part at your last minute,
Finally you will still say goodbye to the world.

"Wise people all say,

Experienced men and women spread hearsay:
'Mare walks with same side hooves can bear magical colt.'
Your wife is like a mare walks with same side hooves,
She bears a son to you,
The boy is as shining as her.

"Look at me, I am not tall but not short,
I am a medium-size man.
My son Kalado follows you,
Is a pillar of society.
His figure is like a single-hump camel,
But I am like a weak and small baby camel,
Dare anyone say he is not my son?
You know my information the best.

"The boy is absolutely your own son,
She delivered the boy after three years she married you,
How can the boy be a posthumous child?
You are ridiculous, Keyaz.
Listen carefully, Keyaz,
He is your son,
We love him very much.
When he leads troops for the battle,
We will admire him as a leading steed.

"Because his father is incomparable and powerful,
He will be our backbone.
We do not let his feet step on the ground,
Cherish him as a sacred present of God.
When he grows healthily and happily,
When you become old and weak,
Let us elect him to be the royal Khan!
Hope you raise and care your only son carefully,
Do not doubt anymore!"

Kutubayi stopped talking,
Keyaz seemed to understand:

"So, I invite you to give a name to my son please,
Please rhyme with my name,
Quickly, do not delay!"

People had seen the boy thought:
"He looks the same as Semtay,
It is hard to have a proper name."
Guests came for the ceremony were at a loss for words,
Eyed each other worriedly,
They could not find anything to say.

Hot-tempered Keyaz shouted:
"Jedigair people come for the ceremony,
I have treated you with delicious meat.
You have recognized Chulek's boy,
As my own son.
I have announced in the beginning,
Let you give a name to my son.
I will present a one-year-old colt as a gift,
To anyone who gives a good name,
I order you to say it now,
And carry the colt away right now!"

Keyaz's voice was like a thunder,
People could not figure out a proper name,
They felt anxious.
"We should not come to the ceremony,
Should not eat the delicious meat.
If we cannot give an ideal name,
We must suffer from Keyaz's humiliation,
We will be persecuted to death!"
Respected people all murmured,
They were scared to death.

There was a stir at the outer-ring of the crowd suddenly,
Young people pushed and shoved.
Young women elbowed their way through the crowd,

Reached their necks out and ran to the back.
Without knowing what had happened,
Everyone stretched their necks and watched.

A little beggar with red skin,
Came slowly through the curious crowd.
He was with bare feet and did not wear a hat,
His fluffy hair draped over his ears.
He was older than seven years old,
But he was no more than eight years old.
His cheeks were red like apples,
His eyes were hot like fire.
Did not know he was a fairy to human world or a spiritual master,
Or a heavenly fairy descended there.

He carried a cloth bag on his back,
Held a crutch with a bell in his hand.
His teeth shined when he opened his mouth,
When he started to talk,
His voice was like bronze Kumuz was played.
He started to shout when he stood firm,
His words were strict and with literary grace:
"Your Majesty, Keyaz,
A giant like an elephant, please listen,
Begans administer people,
You all listen to me,
Rich men are annoyed,
By the too much livestock in the stables,
You all listen to me,
Poor people travel on foot busily,
But get nothing, listen to me,
Boys and girls, listen to me,
Husbands and wives, listen to me,
The young and the old, listen to me,
Fellow people from all places,
Listen to me!
The boy's name is Seytek,

He will be incomparable and supremely fortunate,
No one can take his luck away!
He is your future wise Khan God bestows you,
You should double your care and respect to him.
Do not listen to your Khan Keyaz,
He talks rubbish!
Wish every of you healthy and safe,
Wish the boy's fame spread all over the world!"

The beggar left after he finished his words,
Keyaz heard it,
He gave the order angrily:
"Do not let the beggar run away,
Catch him! My guards!"
The beggar with red skin disappeared immediately,
Under the watchful eyes of the people,
He disappeared completely.

Mountain-size Keyaz,
Stamped with rage like a bull.
Keyaz stared his eyes wide,
He felt regret he could not catch the kid with red skin.

He made Jezkanpire's seven sons,
Alkai nad Satikai,
And Kutubayi stayed.
Asked others to leave,
He shouted and rushed down the high tower.

These ten strong giants,
Together with Keyaz,
Eleven people went into the meeting hall.
They did not know what orders Keyaz would have,
They looked at him.

Keyaz said excitedly:
"Jezkanpire's seven sons,

You are seven famous Khans.
Alkai and Satikai,
You are not inferior to Khan all the time.
Kutubayi, you are my nephew,
I take you here from Talas,
I do not have the heart to abandon you in a strange place.

"Kutubayi, you are lucky,
Your son is Kalado,
He is a real giant.
In the race two years ago,
In horseracing and wrestling,
He knocked forty eight giants down,
He will be the pillar I can rely on.

"The cross of twelve roads,
Is the vital strategic choke point,
Is where wolves and sheep deal with each other.
Kumish Burak hill there,
Was the best pasture to herd.
I arrange Kalado to this place,
Ask him to guard the crossroad and not to lie down,
He should guard and keep high alert,
Protect our land.

"Now I am invincible,
My guard is as solid as iron and steel walls.
Since I defeated Semtay,
My fame has spread in the world.

"Ayichulek's boy,
Is always a doubt in my mind,
I have let you test twice.
I butchered countless livestock,
I hold the earthshaking ceremony.
I asked you to give the boy a name,
But you were unable to do it.

"The beggar came mysteriously and gave the name,
It is very strange and doubtful.
The name he gave is Seytek,
This name is completely from mine.
Please think about this issue carefully,
It is unreasonable.
We should consider for the future,
We cannot give the kid the chance to live!"

Wise Ayichulek,
Had already planted a spy among them.
All what they did and said,
Had passed into Ayichulek's ears.

When Keyaz gave them confidential instructions,
Jezkanpire's seven sons,
Clear-minded Kutubayi,
Alkai and Satikai thought:
"Why does Keyaz always doubt,
This kid is as cute as a flower?
How does he have heart to abandon him?
If this news spreads over prairies,
If the news spreads to all tribes,
Everyone present will lose the prestige!"

They all shrank their heads,
Wrinkled their noses and frowned,
Felt injured and dare not say anything.

Right at the moment,
Ayichulek took the kid,
Walked in the hall with her head high,
Her face was as bright as a mirror.
She faced Keyaz and spoke with justice:
"You killed hero Semtay,
Took over his subjects,
You killed Khan Semtay,

Occupied his land and city.
Then you become powerful,
You make yourself equal to other Khans.
Because you doubt your son,
My contributions to you have flowed away,
I become a guilty witch in your eyes.

"There are such sayings among ordinary people:
'Do not forget the beard grows on your chin!'
My husband Keyaz, listen!
This is your son,
I give him to you and let you dispose of him,
Even if you suck his blood!

"Your elder Kutubayi,
Alkai and Satikai,
Jezkanpire's seven sons,
You all listen carefully!
Your silly Khan treats me so unfair,
He makes me, Ayichulek, unable to survive here.
If he does not give up evil ways and respect me,
I will not forgive him easily!
If I do not wear my feather dress of white swan,
If I do not fly away,
If I do not go willingly,
And marry sage Koshaoyi's son.
If today,
Do not pee,
On yurt-size Keyaz's salt.
If I do not lead,
Arashi people with Jalgezack as their leader,
And let them cut your belly open.
If I do not make you fight with each other,
If I do not let you die in misery,
If I do not fly in the sky,
If I do not transfer into grey pigeon and fly in the sky,
If I do not go to Kalakrimu Kangayi,

Go to Tatalang for shelter,
Report him the information here.
If I do not bring his massive troops here,
And turn your yurt posts into fire sticks,
Turn your wives into widows,
Turn your Khan into slave.
Turn your girls into maid slaves,
Abuse your boys.
Make you homeless,
Make you leave Jetisu,
Make you only dream it in dreams.
If I do not do it at my will,
Let you remember it forever,
I will be unworthy of the name Ayichulek.

"I have lost hero Semtay,
I serve you whole-heartedly,
I do not get any benefit from my hardworking.
I deliver a son for you, Keyaz,
But I have no place to survive in Jetisu.
You Proposed to me and marry me,
But you defame me!

"'You do not know in the bed,
Actually your wife is invincible.
You do not know when you have it in your hand,
Horsewhip is a powerful weapon.'
This is a saying from ancestors,
You need ponder the meaning of it!"

Ayichulek said excitedly,
She held Seytek's hand,
She pushed Seytek to Keyaz:
"Goodbye, Khans!"
She turned round and was going to leave,
Keyaz came up hurriedly to stop her.

Kutubayi felt terribly frightened as seeing it,
He worried Ayichulek to abandon herself to emotion and give up the plan.

When Keyaz reached his hand to her,
Chulek's body shook gently.

Keyaz begged at the moment:
"Ah, Ayichulek,
What are you doing? Where are you going?
How can you abandon poor me?
I thought you are fairy Chulek,
How do not you understand me?"

Kutubayi's spit flew,
He chipped in loud voice,
Interrupted Keyaz's topic:
"I thought in the past,
You are mountain-size Keyaz.
I thought in the past,
You are eloquent Keyaz,
But you actually are fumbled Keyaz!

"I have watched Ayichulek carefully,
She is not hostile at all and she is a good woman.
She is kindhearted and innocent,
She was born a perfect wife.
She is versatile and all-powerful,
She can achieve anything she wants.

"As long as Ayichulek wants to marry,
Everyone wants to marry her.
If Jalgezack comes here,
Not only Kanchorao and Keyaz,
But also massive troops,
He can smash you all easily!

"My kid Ayichulek,
Please calm your anger!
Do not do things bad to us,
Just because you are at odds with Keyaz.
I never see people burn their clothes,
To get rid of fleas.
My sister,
I become old and weak,
My only son Kalado,
Just cut a splendid figure,
Ayichulek,
Do not abandon us please!

"Ayichulek,
Khan Keyaz needs you to assist him,
Your son Seytek needs you to bring him up,
How can you abandon them!
There are seven Khans on your territory,
Alkai and Satikai,
Are your perfect big brothers,
Are heroes among Jedigair people.

"Ayichulek,
You are a fairy from the heaven,
You are our fellow people's support,
You are a noble woman,
Do not break off with our fellow people."

Ayichulek started to say,
Exposed her white teeth,
She wore a feather hat with a spire,
Long plait decorated with shining pearl.
"Respected big brother, Kutubayi,
Alkai and Satikai,
Seven Khans of Jedigair people,
Ten present listen carefully,
If I do not pour my complaints to you,

Who else can I complain to?

"Since I came from Talas and was married here,
To my mountain-size husband Keyaz,
I always talk all I know,
But he blames me wrong.
I have predicted what would happen,
I have figured out what is happening,
I tell him the ins and outs,
But he did not take any of my advice.

"Every time the chance was coming,
He did not do what I asked him to do.
He doubted his wife in his arms,
His doubts increased.

"Because a red-skin beggar appears,
Gives my boy a name in public,
So he calls in all you leaders,
Plots a hidden evil act.

"Useless father Keyaz,
Could not give his son a name,
The red-skin boy gives name Seytek to my son,
This is a great honor the god bestows.
We should follow the destiny and feel grateful,
But evil Keyaz has sinister motives,
His envy makes him plot evil act.

"You are good friends,
You are only different on ages,
But you are equal on career.
In front of you,
I need tell what I think,
Let me free myself from it and fly freely.

"If I keep the secret and leave,

Anyone witnesses will blame me.
They will say woman is like this,
This woman abandons Keyaz,
Leaves him quietly.
They will blame me of treason,
My fame will be destroyed.

"Ten officials present today,
Maybe you heard in the past.
But today you witness,
You hear what he says with your own ears,
Now you know the truth.

"Khans administer people,
Elders take care of your people,
Heading by Keyaz,
You gather and testify for me.
Pouring out what in your mind will dismiss the annoyance,
Will get rid of the pain in the heart.
How can people find,
Fair witnesses like you all."

Ayichulek's wording was tactful and relaxed,
She led the topic to Kutubayi,
She said she would go and find Jalgezack,
It made ten elephant-size giants,
Headed by Keyaz,
Sank into a dilemma.

Ayichulek just finished his words,
Heartless Keyaz started to excuse:
"Oh, gosh, Ayichulek,
How exaggerated your words are!
Do not put all blames over my head,
I am a cunning Keyaz in your words,
You make ten giants lead by Kutubayi,
Believe your so-called truth.

"I stained the boy's fame,
I lost my head for the moment and dropped a brick.
We sleep on the same bed,
We keep each other company.
Ayichulek, do not act like this,
Do not blame and doubt each other!
You said you will fly away,
You frighten us to death.
In front of these ten people,
You jump on my head,
Like I am a bare-backed horse.
I did not expect at all,
You would attack me without a reason!"

Keyaz pretended to laugh loudly,
Tried to hide his evil intentions:
"It is said that:
'Words without thinking,
Will bring endless disaster.'
These words come true on me.
I will accept my partner—
Ayichulek's precious advice.

"I will never doubt you without a reason again,
I will not hurt our family anymore,
Come on, give my son to me,
Let me kiss his chest. "

"Go, go to your father!"
Ayichulek took Seytek's hand,
Came to the side of Keyaz.
She tipped Kutubayi the wink,
Let him keep an eye on Keyaz.
Keyaz took the boy's hand over,
The boy had a different smell from others,
He had a special fragrance on him.

Keyaz blew his nose,
Kissed the kid's chest again.
The smell changed suddenly,
It became the smell of burned felt.
Keyaz was greatly surprised,
He shrank his head and felt frightened greatly.

Kutubayi bit his lip,
Cast a glance to Ayichulek.
He stroked his long beard,
Stood by the side without showing his feeling.

Alkai and Satikai,
Were like sloppy dogs had poor senses of smell,
They did not care and did nothing,
They found nothing.

Jezkanpire's seven sons,
Were able to penetrate deeply into the thing.
They hinted each other with eyes,
They turned wisdom on their heads.
They seven judged with clear heads:
"Keyaz cannot treat Seytek,
With kindness and his true love.
The kid Keyaz raised today,
Is a hungry tiger cub.
Keyaz knows it clearly,
It will be no end of trouble for the future if he keeps the boy.

"Kutubayi bites his lip,
Strokes his beard and watched quietly by the side.
Ayichulek and Kutubayi,
It seems they have contacted secretly.
Three years later,
Ayichulek will send her son,
To watch the livestock,

To prepare for the expedition.
We will hear such news in the near future,
Ayichulek,
Will send Krichorao to the horses.

"Till then, Surkoyun steed,
Build up energy in cool weather.
Wise Ayichulek,
Will try her best,
To cure Krichorao's injury on the scapula.

"Almanbet's son Krichorao,
Once went along with us,
He is an outstanding lion,
He raised his head proudly,
He is a hero fears nothing on earth.
If he revives his lost glory and goes to battles again,
Among famous and prestigious crowd,
No one dare compete him.

"If we side with Keyaz,
Make trouble for Ayichulek and her son.
Ayichulek will cast a spell,
She will take Seytek and Krichorao with her,
Make themselves invisible in the dark,
Disappear in front of everyone.

"Once it is time to strike,
There must be one day they will be lucky.
Ayichulek will make a comeback,
Till then we will have no place to survive.

"If we,
Are as sleek as horsehide,
Are as gentle as sheep's voice,
Pretend we know nothing,
Pretend we see nothing,

Pretend to be ignorant and return home.
When three years pass,
Seytek rides on Totoru steed,
At the day he comes back,
He will not ignore us.
If Seytek treats us unfairly,
Ayichulek will not let it go like that.

"If we go against her due to Keyaz's credit,
People who will clear us up in the future,
Will not only be Jalgezack she mentioned just now.
Mysterious woman Ayichulek,
She will call Tatalang in Kangayi in.
In order to marry Ayichulek,
Tatalang will head his massive troops,
Bring numerous powerful giants to fight.

"People have seen him spread:
He is strong and no more than thirty years old.
He makes journey to and fro Kangayi alone,
He carries gold bricks for Kunwuerbayi.
If there is no hero equal to him,
The troops Kanchorao and Keyaz formed forcibly,
Will be completely wiped out.
Till then,
If Seytek grows up and begins to display his talent,
Two giants of Arashi and Kangayi,
Will not fight for Kanchorao and Keyaz.
Monkeys disperse when the tree falls,
No one will help us when that day comes.
We should think carefully about the result,
Consider carefully before making a decision."

Jezkanpire's seven Khans,
Their hearts were as sleek as horsehides,
They used voice gently like sheep's voice,
Discussed their true thoughts quietly.

They pretended they saw nothing,
Pretended they knew nothing,
They returned to their homeland quietly.

This was Keyaz and Chulek's contest,
Face to face and sparked.
Let us put this aside,
Start from young Seytek,
Asked Ayichulek for the root of the matter.

Incessant Crises in the Process of Growing

Young Seytek Found His Mother's Secret

The stars changed in position and day came,
Day and night alternated and the moon waxed and waned.
Time passed and year after year,
Three years passed in a blink of an eye.

God blessed kid Seytek,
He grew up into a handsome young man soon.
His age was six in public,
Three years of pregnant ages were hidden.
He grew to six years old healthily,
He was like a python not a little snake,
He was like a majestic dragon, too.
He was like a lion and more powerful than a leopard,
He was as prestigious as a tiger.
His eyes were like the morning star,
His crescent ears were as big as shields.

Young boys between ten to fifteen years old,
Were all called in and gathered around him.
He gave them wood stick as long spears,
They took sheep manure as bullets.
He asked the young boys to fight each other with sticks,
Asked them to do pair bayonet practice.
Made bows and arrows with willow twigs,
Made bowstrings with finely picked yarn.
All the birds flew in the sky,
Were shot down to the ground.

Hares and foxed in the wilderness,

In the caves on cliffs,
Owls shrank there,
Animals appeared by the roads,
They killed them all.

Jedigair people Keyaz administered,
Paid tribute to Keyaz once a year.
The people paid the tribute could not go back for a while,
So they stayed there for more days.
On a regular basis,
Keyaz called them in,
Had meeting day and night.
Before the three-day meeting finished,
Keyaz did not go back home,
He lived with the people in meeting.

Krichorao herded cows at the moment,
He did not have to cut firewood in mountains.
It was Ayichulek who found an excuse,
Freed him from cutting firewood.

Moon-like Ayichulek,
Once entrusted someone to tell Krichorao:
"Count the months and count the days,
It is time for Keyaz to have meeting,
You should come the same day quickly."

During those three days,
Krichorao came and met Ayichulek.
Krichorao and Ayichulek,
Appreciated God for letting their wish come true.
The hero's posthumous child Seytek,
Had grown into a six-year-old kid.

"Ah, my brother-in-law,
Let me try to cure your scapula."
Ayichulek poured her heart out,

To Krichorao.

Seytek played outside and came back at the moment,
He heard the interesting topic in the room.
He halted his steps out of the room,
And listened carefully about their talk.

They made careful plans,
Ayichulek instructed Krichorao,
To go to the border of Tuzbulak,
In the middle of herdsmen in Kumishbulak hill.
Seytek would go to those herdsmen,
You must find him there.

Ayichulek would deliver the news,
To Momingjan in Baghdad.
Toktosart in Kashgar,
Was going to ask for his help.

Ayichulek and Krichorao,
Finished their discussion like this.
The six-year-old smart boy,
Remembered all their words in his heart.

When Seytek was listening secretly,
Keyaz's footsteps came closer and closer.
Seytek informed loudly and secretly,
To those two who were talking:
"Hey, sister[1],
Give me my bow and arrows quickly,
I will try and see this time,
Whether I can shoot the Death coming that way."

Damned beast Keyaz,
It was his time in the meeting,

1 Sister: It is a Krigiz custom. They can call young mother sister sometimes.

But his heart beat too fast,
It was like it was going to be dragged apart.
The beast guessed,
No one dare do anything bad to him,
He doubted it was Ayichulek who did something bad.
He stepped on the earth with loud noise,
Came close to Chulek's yurt doubtfully.

Seytek's voice of asking for bow and arrows,
Cunning Keyaz heard it clearly,
But the word "The Death" refered to him,
Keyaz did not hear it clearly.

When Seytek delivered them the message,
Said the Death was coming,
Smart and sensible Ayichulek,
Had figured out Keyaz's purpose of coming accurately.

She said to Krichorao,
Tried to patch holes that may leak:
"You go out from the left side,
I will go out from the right side,
If he sees you in my room,
He must doubt."
She took the bow and arrows in a hurry,
Shouted loudly in the room:
"Do not you come and fetch it by yourself?
You only know to play outside!
Do not you know I am busy,
You always give me additional troubles!"

She walked out and pretend to be angry,
Chulek opened the door.
She pushed the double doors open angrily,
Krichorao slipped away out of the door from the left.

When she turned round by the door,

She knocked Keyaz at the moment.
Keyaz had a pale face,
He had an angry impression on his face.

"Here it is, take it!"
Chulek threw the bow out.
She turned round and looked at Keyaz,
Pretended she felt sorry for him and became eagerly attentive:
"Ah, Keyaz, What's wrong with you?
Your face is pale and your hair sticks up,
It seems you catch a cold,
I will give you warm tea to expel your cole,
Come and lie on the bed quickly."

She said a lot of sweet words,
Charming Ayichulek got busy.
She put felt bedding for Keyaz,
Put the feather pillow carefully.

When she was busy around,
Keyaz watched her carefully,
He stared his eyes wide:
"How do I get a nervous sign?
It seems she does not have evil intentions to me."
Keyaz thought this way,
His anger went away gradually,
Chulek also noticed the change on his face.

When Keyaz walked into the yurt,
Almanbet's son Krichorao,
Was walking away around the yurt,
Seytek looked at him,
Showed him a gentle smile.
Krichorao bit his lip,
Nodded and passed him by.

Seytek fiddled with the bow and arrows,

What Ayichulek and the cow herdsman,
Had said just now,
Turned over in his mind again and again.
He was lost in thought from time to time,
He was a smart kid.

Two days had passed,
People came to pay the tribute,
Set out for their homeland in a hurry.
Chulek asked someone,
To take a message to Kutubayi.
On the appointed day,
Invited him to come to her house.
As Keyaz's honored guest,
Kutubayi stayed in the palace.

Keyaz showed off the Khan's great wealth,
Asked to butcher a fat colt.
Because the guest was a old man,
So he tasted well-boiled horse intestines.

At the breakfast on next morning,
Keyaz ordered his servants:
"Let the cow herdsman come!"
He called Krichorao to come in his house.

Pieces of horse belly,
Pieces of horse neck fat,
Delicious horse intestines and Naren,
Plates of food spread on the tablecloth.

Keyaz and Kutubayi,
Showed the politeness to each other,
Let the other one taste the food first.
Krichorao came in at the moment,
Appeared by their sides suddenly.
Before others started to talk,

Ayichulek pretended she got angry,
She shouted to Krichorao:
"Here is an elder and a Khan,
You burst in with your bony body,
How you dare treat Khan so rudely,
Who else you can admire and respect!
You are such a clumsy-handed fool,
You are like you live in your Talas,
You are like you ride on a tamed steed.

"You always appear at the place noble people gather,
At such critical time.
Get out of the hall, you smelly fool!
Look, flies are pooping on his rotten wound,
My gosh, do not mention his smelly shoulder!
It seems he has something important,
He bursts in like a thief,
You are such an annoying slave,
You are not qualified to be with us!
You such bad slave,
Get out of the living room now!"

Krichorao felt he was been wronged,
He stepped back to the door.
Seytek even did not wink,
He stared at Krichorao.
Seytek was lost in his thought,
He turned the matter over in his mind:
"Three days ago,
She sat beside him.
Plates of delicious food,
Were in front of him.
She said excitedly,
God made our dream come true.

"The cow herdsman comes in now,
But she gets angry with him.

Behind this,
There must be an opposite matter."
Smart kid Seytek,
Recalled his past experience,
Lost in his thought for the answer.

In front of Kutubayi,
Keyaz felt embarrassed to blame Ayichulek:
"Is there more food, Ayichulek?
The remains of the food,
Let the slaves and dogs eat!
Food has warmed twice,
No one will like it except them!"

Ayichulek,
Had put well-prepared food,
At the bottom of the black wood bowl.
She stared her eyes angrily as she heard Keyaz's words,
She refilled the bowls with meat soup:
"Oh, come, take it!
You always dangle around me,
I do not know! How did I offend God ? "

Krichorao reached his hand to the wood bowl,
Shrank to the corner of the yurt and sat down.
The black wood bowl shook accidentally,
The soup spilled out of the bowl.

"Look, your slave has no luck,
Even did not taste the food,
But you throw food everywhere!"
Chulek made an issue of it and blamed loudly.

Keyaz persuaded at the moment:
"Ah, Chulek,
You are so bored to say such words!
My wealth is more than enough,

Do not turn yourself into a stingy woman.
You are still young,
Do not be too fussy,
Even if we lose all our wealth!"

Ayichulek said relentlessly:
"You think you did not send him the food in person,
So I let him suffer from hunger.
Do not your slaves never eat full?
If you cannot eat because of him,
Why do not you give him the food by yourself?"

Hearty horse neck fat and horse belly fat,
He was too full to eat them all.
When hearing Chulek's rash words,
Keyaz pushed his plate suddenly,
Signed Krichorao to take the food.

Ayichulek stared her eyes wide,
It seemed she said: "take it, young man!"
Moved her eyebrow and hinted him.

"My sister-in-law let me and them,
Taste the food in one plate,
It is all her plan."
Krichorao thought about it,
Put the black bowl down,
Took the big plate full of meat over,
Began to eat with a small spoon.

Ayichulek kept a straight face and rebuked:
"Pour your food in the bowl to the plate,
Give my wood bowl to me.
You such a damned slave,
I will not say a word even if you eat the plate!"
In that big wood bowl,
There was full of horse intestines and horse neck fat,

And also horse belly fat.
If all meat were poured into the wood plate,
It would be big as a pregnant belly.
A one-year-old colt was butchered last night,
Half of the horse belly fat was in the plate,
Half of horse waist and neck meat was in the plate,
Half of the horse belly and intestines was in the plate too.
The hero the lion left,
Swallowed them all.

Ayichulek went even further at the moment,
She shouted angrily deliberately:
"Oh, Keyaz,
Oh, Keyaz,
Do not let your slave come to me.
I do not allow you,
The slave comes into my yurt,
Look, so much blood and pus,
Shed on the place he sat!"

When they argued with each other,
Kutubayi started to say:
"The flat pasture in Kumishbulak,
Was suitable to herd horses.
It has been two years without rain there,
No grass grows there now.
Hills died away without grass,
Hills dried without water,
It causes unprecedented disaster to horses.

"It is said in Elichek and Charen,
At the edge of Yilibin,
At the north side of Terks,
Grass was luxuriant with timely wind and rain.
Our people are really not familiar,
With scenes and roads in those places.
If we do not find new herding pastures,

Your horses will be hard to survive.

"Please let people know roads well be the guide,
Let people with knowledge administer the horses,
Please let them use camels,
Carry yurts and move!"

Keyaz promised Kutubayi's request:
"If it is like what you said,
Horses are having a hard time now.
If our livestock are weak and bony,
Herdsmen will fall into despair.
If we have people familiar with roads,
You can let him lead to move.
If there is not people familiar with roads,
You need send someone to go and check the roads first.

"No matter where the horses are,
Kalado will be the leader to protect the horses,
You must let him go with you.

"Kutubayi, you tell them,
Karamark person Tatalang occupies Kangayi,
Do not let them go down along Yili River,
Need prevent Tatalang from robbing our horses.
Choose young and strong men,
Let Kalado lead them and guard the roads.

"Maybe Kangayi people heard my legend,
It is me who defeated invincible hero Semtay.
If they know that's Keyaz's livestock,
Maybe Kangayi people dare not offend,
Because I have earthshaking power.
You go and tell herdsmen,
When you get there,
You just drive horses there to herd."

Kutubayi said at the moment again:
"Ah, Keyaz Khan, do you know,
Who is familiar with those places?
Who is familiar with those Dawans and ridges?
Who not only knows Yili,
But also knows Terks people,
And Kalakrim, Kangayi,
And customs of all places?
He is a slave to herd cows under your administration."

Keyaz ordered his people:
"Ask the herdsman to come here."
He asked when he saw Krichorao:
"You are an experienced slave,
Now I ask you a question.
It is said in Elichek and Charen,
At the edge of Yilibin,
Outside of the vast Terks,
Grass there is very luxuriant.

"Because our pasture is dry and has no grass,
Horses are in danger now.
I want to move our horses there,
But I cannot find a person knows the roads,
So we cannot move.
Do you know hills there?
Do you see pastures there?"

Krichorao thought for a while and answered:
"There is no place I have never been to,
There is no person I have never seen.
Kalakrim, Kangayi,
Are under Tatalang's administration.
There are thousands of Kalday leaders,
I know not only places they live,
But also their names.
Their contact letters,

I even can understand their words.
The languages they talk,
I am proficient in many languages.
When Semtay was alive in the past,
I followed him and went to many places,
Met many heroes."

Keyaz asked at the moment:
"Ayichulek,
If you think it is proper,
Let this slave follow Kutubayi,
How about letting them go to where the horses are?

Ayichulek answered without raising her eyelids:
"You do what you want to do!
You send your slave to go,
I do not care how you treat him."

Keyaz got Chulek's response,
Turned round and ordered Krichorao:
"Oh, Krichorao,
You just go,
There are sixty horses in one stable,
You can pick one from it.
There are six horses in the other stable,
Do not disturb those horses,
Saddle the horse and come to see me,
Act quickly and do not delay!"

Krichorao turned round and walked out.
Keyaz said to Ayichulek:
"There will be fur left at where horses roll,
There will be food left in the bowl after meal.
Rich master should bestow his slaves,
You need let him set out with clean clothes!

"Kutubayi, listen,

When the horses move,
You should tell herdsmen your suggestions,
Let this slave lead them to move.
He knows the roads and he is reasonable,
He is in distress now,
He leaves his hometown and drifts.
No one is equal to his knowledge."

Young Seytek,
Frowned sometimes and felt happy sometimes.
Everything had happened here,
All words had talked here,
He had heard and witnessed.
Everything he heard and saw,
He remembered them clearly in his heart.
The young man waited eagerly,
Once Ayichulek stayed in her room alone,
He must ask and get to the root of the matter.

Seytek Got to the Bottom and Found the Secret of His Birth

Ayichulek stood up from her seat,
There were no old clothes at home,
So she took out one new clothes:
"Let the slave wear it,
Where can we find old clothes?
Give to him as a charity to drive out evil spirits,
In the light of praying for Seytek!

"Kutubayi, here is another set of clothes,
Do not go back empty-handed from Khan's palace,
Kutubayi, please take it with you!"

Krichorao went as an attendant,
Followed Kutubayi and set out.

"I finally get rid of this slave,
Keyaz, you did me the big favor on it."
Ayichulek played coquetry to show her satisfaction.

When other people went out,
Seytek came and asked Ayichulek:
"My sister, please tell me the truth,
You cannot refuse to tell me.
The person with wound on his shoulder,
You always get angry with him,
But behind other people,
You are so kind to him.
You are very harsh to him in front of other people,

Sister, I do not know what secret is in it?

"One day, you two talked with each other,
You mentioned God's bless.
You mentioned the kid's growth,
And you mentioned a lot of other things,
Who is the kid you mentioned?
Do not hide the secret in your heart,
My lifeblood sister,
Please tell me the truth.

"At this place during these two days,
When you looked at Kutubayi,
You looked cheerful and shined with happiness.
When you looked at my father,
I do not know why you frowned and were not happy.
I am a baby eagle and my wings are not full yet,
How do I know the mystery in it!

"From what you have said,
I doubt that Keyaz is not my biological father.
I cannot calm down,
I feel anxious and preoccupied these days.

"Please do not hide it from your son,
I want to know the truth of it.
Please do not doubt me,
Do not think I am childish,
I will not put it on the treet.
In your heart there is a sacred secret,
I have noticed it for a long time.

"When Keyaz approached your room that day,
You and the disabled person's secret,
Would have exposed.
I asked you to give me my bow and arrows on purpose,
It was me that sent you the signal.

"I shouted loudly outside of your room,
You heard clearly in the room.
There must be other secrets in your heart,
I guess I have figured it out the other day.
My sister, from the beginning,
Please tell me the ins and outs.
If Keyaz is my father,
I cannot doubt it like this...."

When he said "Father Keyaz",
Ayichulek interrupted him:
"Ah, my naive son,
Keyaz is not fit to be your father,
When Keyaz is not present,
Do not call him father.
You should be patient today and tomorrow,
I will let Keyaz go to hunt,
Then I will satisfy your curiosity.

"When I gave the bow and arrows,
When Keyaz walked in the room,
What did that disabled person do to you?
What did you say to him?"

Seytek answered truthfully:
"When I saw that person,
I was happy and I smiled,
The person looked at me emotionally,
Tears appeared in his eyes,
He bit his lip and shook his head.
I found he looked very preoccupied,
From that matter,
I am considerate of his difficulties.

"From then on till now,
I always want to ask sister about it,

Everything you hide in your heart,
Please tell me all about it."

When Seytek said this,
Ayichulek let loose a long sigh.
Full of tears were in her eyes,
She started to talk sadly:
"Little guy, you do not allow me not to say,
You do not allow me to hide it anymore.
I planed to wait till you get twelve years old,
Tell you your homeland and your ancestors.
Your hometown is in Talas Kankoler,
Your fellow people are called Arashi Kirgiz.

"You came here when you were in my belly,
My poor boy,
I kept you in my belly for three years,
Your poor mother suffered a lot!
You have your splendid palace in Kankoler,
You have your big orchard in Tortikoler.
Your grandfather is Ayikoler Manas,
I cannot call his name directly,
People all call him the lion,
Your grandfather's name is famous in the world.

"And your uncle Bakay,
He is still in Kankoler now.
I do not know whether he has a good life now,
Your grandmother is there, too.
Your uncle Krichorao,
He is the poor man lost his scapula.
He is your support when you are alive,
He will take care of your funeral when you die.
In the past,
Your uncle Krichorao was the backbone for sixty tribes Arashi,
He was brave and strong as grand Arat mountains.
He lost his scapula and his arm is disabled,

Now he is humiliated and has a miserable life now!

"Your father's name is Semtay,
People saw he was knocked down,
But no one saw he was buried.
Your father's slave Kanchorao,
Colluded with Keyaz,
Cut your uncle's scapula gristle off.
And threw your grandmother Kanikai,
And elder Bakay into abyss of misery."

Ayichulek told him everything,
Happened to their family and tribe.
Seytek felt surprised as he heard it,
He stared his eyes wide and was absent-minded.
His teeth clenched and made big noise,
His eyes shot cold lights.
"If it is like that, sister,
As the son of a great hero,
How can I be humiliated like this?
Kanchorao and Keyaz,
Commit all sorts of crimes.
Your son knows the miserable truth now,
It is like the frost casts over my heart!"

Chulek started to say:
"My beloved baby, you cannot do it,
You should understand your mother and uncle's difficulty.
You bring the request to Keyaz now,
Tell him you want to see the horses,
You go there after he agrees,
You must be sure to get Kutubayi's help.

"Your uncle Krichorao is there,
You should take care of him carefully.
Your poor mother,
Will go and find magic doctor Momingjan.

Till your uncle's shoulder is cured,
You should make the damned beast,
Shed blood and lose their heads!

"Krichorao's father was from Begin city,
Almanbet is his great name,
He was a great hero,
He was an unparalleled hero in the world.
Almanbet's son Krichorao,
Is innocent and kind-heated.
He and your father ate your grandmother's milk,
He is the most reliable person.
If we do not cure his wound,
You cannot make dream come true."

They discussed and planed,
Decided to take decisive action,
Did not grudge livestock and gold and silver,
Tried their best to cure Krichorao's wound.
Ayichulek and Seytek,
Were busy rushing for it.

Krichorao and Kutubayi,
Galloped toward Kumishbulak.
They bent over on the horsebacks,
They wore round leather hats,
Which were one span and four fingers high.

About their stories on the way,
Let us tell you now.

Kutubayi jumped off Surchabar's back suddenly,
Blocked Krichorao's way in the front,
Started the shocking topic:
"My lion Krichorao, listen to me,
Let me pour out my miserable complaints out.

"Since we move to Kumishbulak,
Since I, Kutubayi, become famous,
I take a fancy to no treasure places here,
They are no comparable to Kankoler and Talas.
I take a fancy to no tribes here,
They are no comparable to Argen and Nuoyi.
I take a fancy to no heroes here,
They are no comparable to Khan Semtay.
I take a fancy to no steeds,
They are no comparable to Steed Buruler.
I take a fancy to no horse breeds,
They are no comparable to the red steed.
I take a fancy to no old people here,
They are no comparable to uncle Bakay.
I take a fancy to no mothers here,
They are no comparable to aunt Kanishi[①].
I take a fancy to no languages here,
They are no comparable to yours.
I take a fancy to no girls and married women,
They are no comparable to Chulek.
I take a fancy to no Begans,
They are no comparable to Kermanbayi.
I take a fancy to no young men,
They are no comparable to Setertayi.
Our tears has turned into a river,
How can any world be comparable to this?

"If I see Kankoler's beautiful scenery,
See Young people's glowing faces there,
See girls' pearl-like faces,
See my prince, you ride on Surkoyun steed,
See hero Khan Semtay,
Return to Kankoler Argen,
See Kankoler's vast territory,
See laughter fills the world,

① Kanishi: It is an honorific title for Kanikai.

I will be proud and self-satisfied,
I will have no regret to die,
I am looking forward it eagerly!

"I expect such scene to come:
Even if black mane wolf Semtay cannot return,
In order to welcome his son Seytek,
Male argali stand up-right and salute on hilltop,
Female argali dance in hills,
Wild male goats jump happily.
Goslings honk by the lake,
Wild ducks played in the lake,
Finches fly happily in the sky.

"Elder Bakay shine his silver beard,
Whip his white steed,
Lead fellow people and welcome,
Birds and beasts join the team to welcome.
Hope Kankoler is like it was in the past,
Tortikol grassland is vibrant.
Girls and young married ladies were beautiful,
Boys were playing happy games.
Middle-aged men got together,
Sat on hill slopes and talked.
If I see such a scene,
How I cannot thank god for it!

"I also miss such a scene:
If it is in Kalabula and Chatikal,
Rows of white yurts are set up,
Lines of poles are erected.
Groups of strong horses are driven,
Ride three-year-old colts and gallop on the plain.
Young men with red face,
Whip their horses and catch sheep in the pastures.
Girls are dressed like pretty flowers,
Big earrings draped over their necks,

Golden hair decorations draped over their bottoms.
Young married ladies are pretty and charming,
Beautiful sons are sweet.

"Geoktay and Maybulak,
Are my hometown with beautiful scenery.
Kantiskey and Jaylma,
Are vast and great pastures.
Buwulakujur and Aktash,
And Jelai's vast wilderness,
Live there happily and peacefully!"

Kutubayi poured out his heart,
He sobbed like a kid,
His snot ran like water,
He choked with sobs for a long time,
He could not say a word.
His tongue was stiff and out of control,
His voice was sad and hoarse.

He continued his topic difficultly,
His tears continued running:
"I curse Chachykai to become mad,
Do not know to eat her food,
But rob bones with wild dogs.
Do not wear Elichek hat,
Do not know the shame and hide her naked body,
Let Ayinla's fierce dog bite her to death,
I hope this day will come one day!

"I expect Kanchorao will be accused,
In front of numerous fellow people,
Tie his legs with thick wool rope.
Sentence him in front of the public,
Bakay will cut his head off.
I will drag his corpse to the side of the road,
Bury him in pebbles where rats live,

Becomes a wandering soul without a company,
Can I see this day coming?

"Expect Bakay to be people's leader,
Expect Kanikai to be the master of palace again,
Expect Seytek to make decisions for people,
Expect lion Krichorao to protect our people.
Let my dream come true,
Let me be happy and satisfied.
Let my wife and children and offspring,
Meet in homeland Talas.
Then I will die without a regret.
Do I have to see such a day coming?"

Poor Kutubayi sobbed sadly,
He led Surchabar steed to the front,
But he could not say "please mount".

His tears were like ten streams,
Ran down along his beard and wetted his clothes.
His face had changed many times,
He was filled with rage.

Krichorao recalled the past as he saw this,
Kanikai and Bakay's images,
Appeared in front of his eyes.
Krichorao would not care,
Even if the sky fell down,
But he was overwhelmed by grief at the moment.

He said with full of tears in his eyes:
"Kutukai[1], please do not say one more word,
Sadness will destroy a man's spirit.
People live in the world only for a short time,
There are too many hardships waiting in the front.

1 Kutukai: It is a courtesy title for Kutubayi.

Only those who live strongly and decisively,
Finally can taste the happiness with gold bowl.
Let's go, Kutubayi,
Let's set out happily!"
Krichorao galloped forward lightly.

Kutubayi cried sadly,
Stood there still and stared blankly.
After a long time,
Kutubayi recovered gradually and looked around,
He found he was in a nowhere.
He mounted Surchabar and galloped forward,
He was going to catch up with Krichorao.

Kutubayi looked ahead,
Krichorao gallioped forward,
In the boundless wilderness.
It seemed there were forty warriors followed him,
He watched carefully for their trace.

When Kutubayi saw this,
He grabbed his collar and felt surprised.
He praised the God quietly:
"Broad-minded hero left forty warriors,
It seems they are accompanying Krichorao.
It is like dead warriors all come to life,
And go shoulder to shoulder with Krichorao."
Kutubayi calculated in his mind,
He planed to butcher a colt to pay respect to god Babeding.
After a long journey,
They finally arrived at their village.

Servants came and welcomed them,
They led Kutubayi's steed away.
Kutubayi shouted in loud voice,
He called Kalado's name.
He stared his eyes like an old argali,

Did not hesitate to dress Kalado down:
"Why do not you wait outside the door?

"Why do not you come and carry the mount of the honored guest?
Why do not you wait out of the room?
Why do not you welcome the coming of the honored guest?

"Look at you, stare your eyes silently,
Hide when you see family people,
Look at your shabby-looking,
How can others appreciate you!

"Inform the respected people under you,
Inform the young and the old,
No later than tomorrow morning,
They all need come and gather here."
Kutubayi gave out his order,
Lifted the door curtain of the yurt in person,
Invited Krichorao to go in and have a seat.
Brought dried yogurt water and sugar mixed butter,
Invited Krichorao to eat and drink.

Kutubayi's wife Zubyeda,
Thanked God solemnly:
"It is the God who blesses us,
Let lion-like hero,
Step in our door,
This is invaluable bless!"
Silver-haired Zubyeda,
Mumbled and bent her body,
Took vigorous steps.
She was as hard-working as young ladies,
She tended on the guest warmly.

The sun just rose the next morning,
Their people gathered there.
Kutubayi announced to them,

Keyaz's decision of moving.
They made preparation in a hurry,
Let their forty-five households start to move.
People and livestock that moved,
Were all under lion Krichorao's administration.

Alkai and Satikai lived in adjacent pastures.
They sent a secret spy to keep watching on Kutubayi,
To see how he used Krichorao.
Kutubayi had noticed it,
When they began to move,
He warned Kalado again and again:
"My dear son Kalado,
Wait a second. I have more words to tell you,
Listen to your father's advice.
It is Keyaz who ordered me,
Let Krichorao come back,
And be the head of all people.
Alkai and Satikai,
Do not cherish good intentions,
Evil person will never turn to be nice.

"My dear son Kalado,
Do not care and do not panic,
Watch their movements.
When you get to the camp place,
You should follow Krichorao's arrangement.
Do not let him get water and cut firewood,
So as to avoid Keyaz's blame.
If you do not follow his order,
We do not know what disaster will fall to us."
Hearing what Kutubayi said,
Kalado understood it clearly.

All pastures in Elichek and Charen,
Yili and Terks,
Were fully occupied by livestock they drove,

Kalado led forty strong men,
Patrolled in mountains everyday,
Explored every hill and pass.

All people thought Kutubayi made his own decision,
No one followed Krichorao's order.
It could be excused that they did not listen to him,
Krichorao understood it clearly.
Krichorao did not have a mount,
He could not go out and make a living.
He always went household to household in Ayinla,
Lived on their leftover food.

The forty-five households moved there,
Admired the pasture very much.
They began to have overreaching thought,
They sat together and schemed:
"Let the disabled guy go to Keyaz,
Pass on our request.
If Khan Keyaz agrees,
We will live here and do not move for six years."

They sent Krichorao on a mission,
Sent him an old mare as his mount,
Gave him some tiny pieces of meat,
For him to eat when he got hungry.
Warned him not to wander everywhere,
They only gave him forty days for the mission.

Krichorao marched ahead with difficulties,
Finally he arrived at Keyaz's place.
He reported to Keyaz,
In details and nothing was left.
How did they set out and move,
How did they arrive there,
How did they live and herd,
How did the herding head Krichorao,

Lose his position and mount,
Keyaz listened to all these carefully.
To Keyaz's face,
Chulek brought Krichorao leftover food,
Offered him to stay but pretended she did not want to.

Krichorao lived there for ten days,
Giant Keyaz then asked him to return:
"Do not let them live there for six years,
Ask them to find other places to herd horses."

When Keyaz gave out his order,
Seytek played by the side interrupted suddenly:
"My heroic father,
You never trust your own son,
It makes me very sad.

"You let this slave take in charge of all livestock,
How do I feel good for it!
Please allow me to go to the pasture,
If it is a vast place suitable for herding,
I will drive horses there and herd by myself.
If it does not have a good condition,
I will drive our horses back,
Please let the disabled man follow me,
Let him take care of my mount specially.

"Father, please be at ease,
I will report you all the time.
If he gets lazy,
I will let him suffer from hardships.
I can achieve anything I want to,
I am really like you, my father."
Keyaz dare not agree,
But he dare not refuse him to go,
He was worried to displease Chulek.
Facing the mother and the son,

He was in a dilemma and did not say anything.
Seytek ordered Krichorao at the moment:
"You can go and saddle a steed for me,
Bring it to me now,
I will set out as soon as possible."

Chulek started to stop him:
"No! My naughty Seytek,
You are still flocky,
You are too young to herd horses."

"Promise me, my father,
My sister's words are not reasonable.
I am not a little naughty boy anymore,
I will not play childishness for trifles."

Keyaz pretended to be calm,
Actually in his mind,
Keyaz had full of thoughts turned:
"Can I let this kid,
Go with Krichorao?
Hansmay, Tumanbayi,
Will one of them,
Be taken away secretly?

"From the beginning,
I always doubt the boy's real identity.
I cannot let him go to Jalgezack,
Talk about his background and purpose.
I heard Jalgezack is a bloodsucker,
I cannot let him attack me with his troops.
If I do not allow him to go,
If he insists on going,
What can I do?"

Seeing Keyaz being deliberately bague,
Seytek begged Ayichulek:

"My father has no idea,
He obeys you without question.
As long as you do not turn round,
My father will not disagree on it!
With my father as my support,
And I have fine steed to ride,
I will go around the world and observe people's condition,
I will be the master of my own property.
I do not want you to spoil me,
Do not want you to care me excessively.
The place we herd horses this time,
I must go and set out immediately!
Go and saddle the steed, you disabled slave,
Saddle the steed, do not be lazy!"

Krichorao obeyed Seytek's order,
Saddled Koychabudar steed immediately.
The steed was from Talas,
It was saddled with Krichorao's exclusive saddle.

Ayichulek complained to Keyaz at the moment:
"You should teach your kid to be obedient,
Do not allow him to do things at his pleasure.
If it is in cold winter,
What can I do if he freezes his hands and feet?

"Mother gives baby the flesh body,
If the kid wears an abnormal nature,
The mother must be at a loss what to do.

"He is fickle and evil-minded,
He is exactly the same as you.
Your son is bigger and bigger,
I bear more and more burden!"

The naughty boy rode on Koychabudar steed,
Nine-year-old Seytek is young and thriving.

He did not look back,
Went shoulder to shoulder with Krichorao,
Rode away into the distance.
Because he was with his uncle Krichorao,
Ayichulek felt grateful for it.

When they rode on horses and set out,
Keyaz stood there and stared for a long time,
The places they passed,
Clouds of dust rose and dissipated.
Red fire appeared then,
It got bigger and turned into roaring flame.
Nine-year-old Seytek,
Became big and strong as Obol mountain.
His mount Koychabudar,
Was as strong as the leading steed.
There were many mysterious scenes,
Appeared in front of Keyaz.
Hero Keyaz felt hard to breathe,
He was upset and had confused thoughts in mind.
Giant Keyaz saw what happened,
Stared his eyes wide fiercely,
For Seytek's growth,
He did not know it was a blessing or a curse,
Keyaz felt deeply disturbed.

Young Seytek Grew up under His Mother and Others' Love

At the moment,
Ayichulek watched by the side quietly,
She worried Keyaz's evil eyes,
Brought the kid trouble.
She worried he would change his mind suddenly,
And asked her son to return.
Ayichulek hid her uneasiness,
Diverted Keyaz's attention deliberately:
"Let's go, Keyaz, go into the room,
I am afraid you keep close to your son all the time,
Your coddling will nourish his bad habit.
It is time to let him go out,
Experience the world to toughen him up."
She reached her hand and pulled Keyaz's sleeve gently,
Keyaz could not refuse her gentle pull,
Followed her back to the room like an obedient sheep.

Seytek went bridle to bridle with Krichorao:
"Uncle, let us not go to Charen,
Let's go to Kumishbulak.
Then we send people to Yili to see horses there.
Do not ask for trouble,
Do not ask for battle without a reason.
Let's not care the livestock,
We just get what will be left.
As long as our heads valued like gold are still here,
We do not worry horses will multiply.

"Uncle, in front of the public,

Especially in Keyaz's room,
I said a lot of immature opinions,
I offended you very much.
Because I am a kid and you are disabled,
Uncle, facing such a vicious environment,
We are incapable to change it.
As long as our glass-clear eyes,
Are still open,
We can tell white from black,
We can distinguish justice and evil.

"I know you have endured countless hard days,
Try your best to raise me.
If you see the day comes,
We will go to Kumishbulak pasture.
Two bastards Alkai and Satikai,
We will pull out their tendon and skin them off.

"We need find Kutubayi,
Ask him to put up yurt for us.
Butcher a mare every other day,
To nourish your body.
As long as God does not let you die,
Uncle, uncle Krichorao,
We must cure your injury.

"There are our suffering fellows in Talas,
We must get there as soon as possible.
I missed my grandmother for too long,
Ayashata is there and waits for me,
I will make sad clouds in their hearts disperse,
I will make their dreams come true.

"There are numerous fellow people,
They are worried about us,
We will let them live happily and peacefully,
In Talas and Kankoler.

Let their dreams come true,
Let them live happily and healthily."

Seytek kept talking on the way,
His words could melt rocks into magma.
Krichorao said to himself:
"Hope his words do not cause trouble,
Hope he becomes a new wise Khan."

Thinking of this, Krichorao started to talk:
"Hey, talkative young man,
You bring up my sadness.
Who leads you to all these places?
Who teaches you the wisdom and hope?
You call uncle all the time,
Who is your uncle?
Who is the grandmother you miss?
Who is the father you are eager to see?
Whose offspring are you?
Your ancestors,
Your family and your tribe,
Do you know clearly?
When did you go to Talas?
Or when,
Did you hear someone talk about Talas scenery?

"You do not look like a naive boy,
How old are you?
I am a disabled herdsman,
You are Khan Keyaz's son,
I just think it over and over,
I find your words are confused.
You complained the wrongs in your heart,
Who can understand your grief?
Who can understand your situation now?
I cannot understand what you mean,
I cannot figure out your complicated background."

Hearing Krichorao's questions,
Seytek answered him this way:
"Uncle, you pretend you do not understand,
You dig my background on purpose.
You make fun of your nephew,
Where is your sense of shame?
Uncle, please listen carefully,
I am your source of power, and I am Seytek,
My grandfather is broad-minded lion Manas,
Our hometown is Kankoler,
And big Talas.
My father is Semtay,
Rat Kanchorao betrayed my father,
He poked the spear point to my father,
Bastard Keyaz took the chance and raided the axe toward him.

"My poor uncle,
They cut your scapula gristle off,
They robbed all of our livestock and property.
Damned beast Kanchorao was cheerful and confident,
He usurped the throne of Kirgiz Khan,
Occupied Talas palace.

"Sage Bakay is a giant,
He is a man of decency.
But they beat him and torture him everyday,
They force him to herd camels.
The old man has no horse to ride,
He heads camels in Gobi Desert on foot!

"My grandmother is Kanikai,
She descends to a slave and herds calves.
Dark clouds hung over her head,
If she let calves have milk carelessly,
She will get stick beats as many as cow hair!

"Your wife Akbala,

It is said she is Kanchorao's relative,
Kanchorao disowns his close relatives,
Let her carry water with wood barrels everyday,
Let her give bath to Chachykai everyday,
Chachykai always turns water over to the ground.
Other fellow people in Talas,
Are suffering from similar humiliation!
Numerous Kirgiz people,
Kanchorao does not care their life,
And apportion taxes and levies to them,
He is shameless to do it!

"Because they cannot pay the taxes,
Begans were forced too hard and cried.
I always hear the news,
There is one Began called Setertayi,
He cries everyday,
His sad tears could not stop.

"Eloquent Ajibayi,
His fame is spreading around the world.
My father's bosom friend Kermanbayi,
Is his son.
Under Kermanbayi's administration,
I have Argen Kirgiz people's support.
I have my wise mother Chulek's protection,
I have my sage uncle Kris's support,
I can survive in the vicious environment,
I never bow to the lonely life.
My respected uncle Kris,
For your nephew born in misery,
Anything need doubt?
Do not you trust me?

"You suffer hardships and finally see,
Your offspring Seytek has been nine years old.
Please give me the advice,

Let your nephew be smarter.
My wise uncle,
Do you have more testing questions?
Do you have anything else to ask?"

The young boy finished his words,
He stared at Krichorao,
The tears were full in his eyes.

Krichorao wanted to laugh,
But he failed,
He began to cry loudly.
His life melted in the hell,
Was like being put in smokeless fire,
He put his life temporarily in the miserable world.
He stroked his beard and turned round excitedly,
Hugged the little boy tightly.

He hugged the boy,
Asked the boy to open his clothes,
On the boy's chest,
He gave a soul kiss,
Opened the gate of his heart:
"You are a magical colt from the heaven,
You are the offspring of my friend,
You are my eternal spirit,
You are my ever-burning light.

"When you hinted us that Keyaz was coming,
Replaced his name with the Death,
For a six-year-old kid,
You are very smart and cautious,
I am surprised of it.
Your hinted words,
I still can remember them clearly till now.

"When I met you behind the yurt,

I could not control my excitement,
I almost cried.
I bit my lip hard,
My kid, I only could shake to you.

"You looked at me and showed a smile,
It was exactly like my big brother,
I felt excited about it.

"It is impossible to find a steed like Surkoyun,
It is an outstanding magical steed.
Your father and I went to the battle in the past,
We made invaders' blood flow into rivers.
Now I have lost my past power,
My scapula gristles were cut off.
I listened to what your mother said,
We place our hope on you,
Guard around Keyaz's house.
As I heard what you said just now,
My heart is torn with anxiety,
Now it is getting better.

"Now let me tell you,
You should listen carefully.
When we get to Ayinla,
You cannot live with me.
I would rather you treat me cold-shoulderedly,
Do not treat me well,
To avoid causing bad people's suspicion.

"There are many people in Jedigair,
They are hostile to us secretly,
Alkai and Satikai are the most powerful persons among them,
You should be always cautious about them.

"Do not rely on the identity of Keyaz's son,
Whip anyone at your will.

If you are not satisfied with anyone,
You can use another way,
Send him to Alkai,
Or Satikai,
Or send him to Khan Keyaz.
Keyaz has the power of life and death,
He will make them lose their lives easily.

"Cunning Merchants,
Totosart will come soon,
This man has obvious dual character:
He can turn into a bosom friend,
He is also a dangerous enemy,
We must be clear-minded!
Smart Momingjan will come soon,
He is a famous doctor.
There will be all kinds of people from all places,
You should watch carefully with your own eyes.

"When I live there,
My kid, do not come and see me everyday.
If you give me to Toktosart directly,
Jedigair people see it,
They will think you act abnormally.
You should let Toktosart,
Ask them for me directly.

"My naughty boy, do not be childish,
Do not pour dust on your own body.
Alkai and Satikai's homes,
You need live in their homes in turn.
You need become their honored guest,
Enjoy their warm treat,
Confuse them and let them dig grave for themselves.

"Jezkanpire's seven sons,
Will not come here.

Even if they know what happen here,
They will pretend they do not know,
They will stay in their yurts safely.

"Kumishbulak pasture,
Is a good place with luxuriant grass.
Kutubayi lied deliberately,
He said the herding grass here all died,
In order to pick me here to heal my wounds.

"In order to cover up the story,
He drives horses to Yili to herd.
Actually the prairie in Yili,
Is not as big as the one in Kumishbulak.
Although the summer pasture in Yili is not small,
The one in Terks is better.

"Kutubayi is smart and kind-hearted,
No matter he is close or far from you,
Do not worry about it.

"You should master enigmatic language,
Do not forget them naively.
It is cold in mountains,
It is warm in plains.
Mountain refers to enemy,
Plain refers to relatives,
Left refers friend,
Right refers to alien.

"When you sit there face to face with them,
Your right side is the other's left side,
Your left side is the other's right side.
You should be cautious and grow up peacefully,
You must make enemies cry,
Let them regret their mistakes.

"Do not need to be polite to relatives,
But you need protect their fundamental interests.
Make enemies smile when talking to them,
Let them be proud and careless,
Let's weaken their foundation before they know it."

They had six nights outside on their journey,
They finally arrived at Kumishbulak prairie.
In order to greet uncle Kutubayi,
Seytek turned his horse round.
Getting his greetings,
Kutubayi made it hard for the kid:
"You come to look for your relatives and fellow people,
You come to Kumishbulak,
Disabled slave from Terks,
Why do you wander?"

Kutubayi raised his voice on purpose,
Let Keyaz's spies hear his voice,
Let them trust Kutubayi.
When he saw those two people,
He knew they talked on the way,
He felt happy for them.

Seytek and Krichorao,
Figured out Kutubayi's hint.

Alkai and Satikai,
Had got their news in advance.
But they did not know whose house Seytek would live,
They could not figure out his idea.
"On the wedding in the past,
Keyaz once doubted it.
It was Kutubayi retorted upon him,
Asked Keyaz to take the dissent back.

"If Seytek is Jedigair people's offspring,

He will miss his fellows and leave there,
And come to us.
If he has Argen people's blood,
He will claim them as family,
He will choose to live with them."
Alkai and Satikai,
Thought they were smart and powerful.

When they talked like this,
Seytek said goodbye to Kutubayi:
"Bye, uncle Kutubayi,
Alkai's Ayinla,
Is the place I need to go."

Seytek stood up and was going to leave,
He looked at Krichorao sideway and called loudly:
"Hey, clumsy-handed disabled slave,
This is the Ayinla of your Talas people,
You stay and live here!"
Then he turned round to Kutubayi,
Gave him his orders:
"Uncle Kutubayi,
You should send a messenger,
To Kalado immediately,
Tell him Kumishbulak has luxuriant grass,
Ask him to drive horses here as soon as possible.

"Do not think only Terks is a good herding place,
Stay there stubbornly.
I hear in Terks,
Horses eat frozen grass,
It is the worst for horses to grow.
A good mare there that is worth praising,
Has no more than ten pregnancies."

Alkai heard what Seytek said,
An enormous grin spread across his face.

He thought Seytek was very smart,
Did not need others to send news secretly,
He had known Talas people's secrets.

Satikai echoed him,
He praised Seytek for what he said.
He was filled with full of joy,
His sleeves waved in wind.
Alkai and Satikai,
Rushed about telling the news.

Seytek mounted and left Kutubayi,
Krichorao's earnest teachings,
Appeared in his mind on his way.
People said clearly:
"Wolf hunter's son,
At least can hunt a fox,
He will never pick up left preys."
Words not to the point,
Would never pass down to later generations.

Alkai and Satikai,
Prepared carefully and came to welcome him,
They helped Seytek off his steed.
Seytek greeted them generously,
He was so vital and full of life like an eagle.
The young boy was strong and tall,
Everyone saw him was surprised!

Jedigair women were busy,
They held water with little wood bowls,
Then poured to the ground,
To drive evil spirits out for Seytek,
They butchered baby goats,
Held Sadaha ceremony.
Alkai and Satikai,
Welcomed Seytek into the room,

Surrounded him warmly.
Put quilts on his seat,
Stood up when he stood up,
Put their hands on their chests,
Bowed and waited for the orders.

Jedigair people all praised the handsome young boy,
They praised him for his wisdom and long-term vision.
He asked Kutubayi to send people to drive horses back,
They thought he did not want to trouble Jedigair people.
Jedigair people came from all directions,
No matter men, women, the old or the young,
People gathered in Ayinla,
They were all excited,
Wanted to see Seytek's appearance.

Wise Kutubayi,
Led Krichorao,
Into his yurt,
Dressed Krichorao with clean shirt.
Butchered mares,
Put the delicious food,
In front of them,
Filled Krichorao's belly with meat every meal.

Kutubayi got up very early one day,
He called in all his neighbors and discussed:
"Seytek has given us an order,
Ask us to drive our horses back as soon as possible.
We must send a messenger to Terks,
Is there a suitable person in Ayinla?"

When he talked to them,
Krichorao offered himself:
"Kutukai, if you think it is proper,
Let me go to Terks,
Poor Surkoyun steed,

We cannot let herdsman catch it.

Surkoyun steed has been not in use for years,
We are afraid it has blood congestion in its liver,
Maybe it is hard to support its life,
We cannot let those bastards catch it.

"The steed has constrained for many years,
It will prance when it meets them.
We are afraid they will lift whips,
Lash it hard.
We are afraid the whip point will beat its ear,
It will make the steed depress.

"People there have a leisure life,
They sleep early and get up late,
They are lazy and dine together,
They are proud like a python.
They only give me fifteen days,
And warn me like this.
Hero Kalado was not there that day,
He did not know what happened there.

"Now I can go there leisurely,
I will say I will report Keyaz their request.
Deliver you, Kutubayi's message to Kalado,
Let him understand your intention.
I am afraid on the way Surkoyun is driven,
It will hurt it and leaves life-long injury to it.
I do not want Surkoyun steed to suffer,
Do not let others abuse it,
I will escort it and protect it along the journey."

Kutubayi said at the moment:
"Without Seytek's arrangement,
Do you think we have power to send you?
We cannot make trouble to decide by ourselves.

The childish young Seytek,
Will wave his whip over our heads.
The honor I have now,
Will completely lose in people!
He will gouge my eyes out,
I will have no time to cry out!

"For beautiful steed Surkoyun,
You feel disturbed.
Do not allow herdsman to catch it,
I will ask the messenger to deliver my order.
Let them take it to a walk,
Lead it carefully to here,
Tell them it is Seytek's order and ask them to do."

Krichorao suggested Kutubayi:
"What you said is reasonable,
The people we flatter carefully,
Make Seytek hot-headed and forget himself.
If you cannot make the decision, Kutukai,
You go and ask Seytek in person,
But you should come back and do not stay for a night."

Accepted Krichorao's advice,
Kutubayi mounted and set out right away.
Krichorao had become a disabled man,
Now let's see his situation.

Kutubayi's wife Zubyeda,
Was a white-haired old woman,
She did not let daughter-in-law, daughters,
And new married women,
Touch kitchen pots and pans.

She was busy all the time,
Served lion Krichorao in person,
There was always full of food on the tablecloth,

She did not allow others to go into the room to visit.
The tableware lion Krichorao used,
She avoided touching them with her bare hands,
She put clean mat under it.
Zubyeda took care of him carefully,
She hoped the miracle appeared on Krichorao,
She prayed to the only God.

Arrived at Ayinla where Seytek lived,
Kutubayi dismounted.
Alkai and Satikai came up slowly:
"Come on, Kutukai, come,
No matter it is in winter or in summer,
You never come over and visit us.
Now you come here,
What business have you come here for?"

Because eagle Seytek was there,
Kutubayi said in severe terms:
"Alkai and Satikai,
You are two Bayis with sheep pens together,
Kutubayi comes to your Ayinla,
Is not it allowed?

"Khan's son lives in your Ayinla,
I come and greet him.
Let aliens go to hell,
Look at your ferocious looking,
Are you examining my purpose?! "

Alkai was hot-tempered and rude,
He was pushy and overbearing,
As long as Satikai gave a sign,
He would attack like a mad dog.
Jedigair people were arrogant,
Walked wildly and had nothing to fear.
Alkai stamped with rage,

Satikai was ablaze with anger,
They bawled at Kutubayi angrily:
"Oh, Kutubayi,
What are you talking about?
Although you are our war trophy,
You are old so we are polite,
You do not feel grateful to us at all!
You get angry with us with no reason,
We ask your coming purpose,
You get angry to us.
Do you want us to welcome you halfway?
Do you want us to butcher yellow-haired baby goat,
Do Sadaha for you to drive out evil spirit?

"You and Seytek set out from the palace,
You stayed together for six nights.
You thought you stay with him and accompany him,
So you can talk to us casually.
You, a slave even dare not stride,
Come, catch Kutubayi,
Beat him, let him know my power!"

Alkai and Satikai were going to beat him,
Seytek came to them,
Asked Kutubayi directly:
"Hey, uncle Kutubayi,
Do you send people to the horse-herding place?
Wish you do it well and do not worry!"

Seeing Seytek and Kutubayi stood shoulder to shoulder,
Alkai's thugs,
Dare not grasp Kutubayi's shoulder.
Satikai's thugs,
Dare not grab Kutubayi's clothes edge,
They had to stand there and watch.
Kutubayi expressed his heart at the moment:
"Khan's son, you are my eyeball,

You are my spiritual pillar.
You are my blood and heart,
You are the source of my power.

"Slaves do not rest at all,
They are busy with their things.
I am afraid when the steed rests at night,
No one protects it,
I want to send slave Krichorao,
To drive horses to the original place."

Young Seytek knew it well:
"My uncle wants to nurse Surkoyun steed carefully,
Walk it slowly,
So he wants to send a slave to do it."

He pursed his lips,
Put on a satisfied smile.
The boy wore a veil over his face,
People could only see his face outline,
They could not see his face clearly at all.
To those two guys with threatening manner,
He did not fear at all and rebuked them:
"Alkai and Satikai, come here,
You two assume you are smart,
You get lost in too much excitement.
You instigate your thugs,
To beat Kutubayi hard.
Today, if you,
Beat Kutubayi,
If Kalado comes tomorrow and settles accounts,
What can you do?
Brave Kalado,
Cannot he die your arrogance out?! "

Alkai chipped in at the moment:
"Oh, Seytek!

Your father Keyaz warned me,
If Talas people show their discontent,
We can punish them severely.
Kalado is a giant,
But he dare not disobey us,
We are sure he dare not act recklessly.
Once he dare take actions,
In Kumishbulak,
We will not let him be the official here anymore.
No matter what I say is reasonable or not,
Keyaz will agree on what I say!"

Reckless Satikai became aggravated,
He shouted with his hoarse voice:
"What Alkai said is true,
Oh, the kid, do you know?
Our Khan is giant Keyaz,
He promised us,
We can do anything we want to do.

"When we attacked Talas in the past,
We two charged in the front bravely.
He and Kanchorao set up a trap for Semtay,
They cut mercilessly,
Krichorao's scapula gristles off,
Alkai and I,
Had given ourselves up to him.
Kanikai, Bakay and Chulek,
We sent them under guard.

"We are sharpshooters,
We can shoot the rival's eyeball.
We held the wedding,
We sent Chachykai into Kanchorao's arms.
Kanchorao and Chachykai,
Entrusted Khan Keyaz with us,
We took the honor back to the prairie."

Seytek stared his eyes and blamed:
"Shut up, do not talk nonsense,
How you robbed Talas in the past,
I have no interest to know,
It is useless,
To show off in front of me!

"Go, Kutubayi,
You go home first,
You can send that slave,
To Terks to the horses,
You deliver my order to him,
Give your son Kalado,
The horses and the mount to take care!

"Alkai and Satikai,
Will move there tomorrow,
Become your neighbors,
You can discuss everything you meets!
Alkai, you should set out tomorrow morning and move,
Bring Koychabudar steed to me now.
Satikai, bring me my whip and saddle cushion,
I will go first today,
Stay at your home.

"Kutukai if any of you disobey my order,
I will cut his head off ,
'That standing Seytek,
Is as merciless as Keyaz',
Your sister-in-law, my mother Chulek,
Has made such comment on me.

"You have long sticks in your hands,
Intend to beat our own people,
Your action is unacceptable!
Anyone who makes trouble without a reason,

Will suffer the consequence."

Seytek flew into a rage,
His voice was like surging waves,
The air came out of his mouth,
Could blow the cover and wall of yurt away.

Alkai and Satikai thought,
They must die if they played a dirty trick!
They felt they ran into a dead end.
Getting Seytek's sharp blame,
They felt they suffer from unbearable pressure,
They sweated and wetted their clothes.

Seytek rode on the steed and set out,
Kutubayi felt it was a great glory,
The hero stepped on the road back home.

When Alkai and Satikai,
Moved to pasture in summer,
Moved to winter pasture in winter,
All men and women in Talas,
Came and served them.

Men prepared cushions for camels,
Saddled his mount.
Women pulled yurts down,
Washed pots and bowls.
They packed felt and flower felt,
Tied them all on their livestock.

No matter how many people came,
They all moved together.
Every time they moved to a new place,
Women pitched yurts and milked mares and cows,
They also made tea and baked naan,
Then they could return to their yurts.

No one dare go back if he did not say yes,
No bedding stuff to use,
They had to lie on the ground to get over cold nights.

Men were busy too,
They cut firewood and tied mared tight,
They got up and counted sheep in the morning,
Clean front yards and back yards.
They were numerous people helped there,
They dare not rest and were busy all the time.
Alkai and Satikai,
Were the new royals enjoyed the leisured life.

Followed their usual rule,
To Talas people's Ayinla,
They delivered the news of moving.
Poor people from Talas,
Came together no matter men or women,
They crowded in the front yard when the dawn came.
Alkai and Satikai,
Their wives and children,
Managed to get up and pack.

Massive moving people,
Go to where Kutubayi lived,
Pitched their yurts and became his neighbor.
Nmerous people rushed here and there,
Put up the pots and carried water.
Seytek watched outside,
He saw everything happened there.

Kutubayi made good preparations,
Butchered fat mares,

Alkai and Satikai,
And their family members,
He invited them all to his home.

Poor Talas people,
Were busy here and there.

Horse milk wine filled the big bowl,
Kutubayi held it with both hands,
Toasted to Alkai.
The horse milk wine others brought,
Satikai did not accept,
People held the bowl waited.
Poor slave captured from Talas,
Suffered from humiliation here.
Young and aggressive Seytek ,
Got angry as he saw it.

He jumped up like an eagle,
Frowned and got angry,
Rebuked the person held the bowl:
"Since he does not know how to appreciate a favor,
Let's take the horse milk wine back!
Put them away!"

Right at the moment,
A messenger came to report:
"At the direction of Korosun hill,
We find two figures,
They seemed to be spies of other tribes."

Alkai and Satikai,
Had planned secretly:
"Once there is anything happens on border,
We can send Talas people to deal with it,
Let Kutubayi be the leader."

Seytek asked at the moment:
"Alkai and Satikai,
Which one are you going to,
Send to patrol borders toward Korosun direction?"

Alkai and Satikai,
Talked fine words with their glib tongues,
They talked an unceasing flow of words.
Explained why they let Kutubayi go in person,
And lead Talas people to the frontier.
Explained why any of Jedigair people,
Could not go to the dangerous border.

Seytek heard these nonsense talk,
Showed his power as a ruler:
"If Talas people all go there,
Who cut firewood and carry water for you?
Who bring food for you?
No one will help you put your baggage on camels!
No one will saddle your camel for you!
Let their men go and patrol the border,
Do you want to let their women cut firewood?
Do you want to let their girls make tea and cook?

"Jedigair people,
If your wives make tea and cook,
You are afraid they get dirty with ash!
Do your men and women relatives,
Once wash dishes?
Is what you have done,
For the God's love?
If you fill your bowl by yourself,
Does it disobey your discipline?

"Talas people has already have hard work,
But you still want to send them to the frontier.

"If they think they will die one day,
Set themselves against you on purpose,
Won't they drive their livestock,
Flee away with their whole tribe?

"Single-eyed man's son Sartbayi,
Has occupied every inch,
Of the places in Korosun,
Won't they go to him for a shelter?

"I have heard that arrogant guy,
He is about twenty years old now.
You hope Keyaz lose all his livestock,
Hope he gets angry and goes on expedition.
Fierce Sartbayi,
Will catch my father Keyaz alive.
Jedigair will be yours till then,
One of you will be Khan and the other will be the premier,
Don't you calculate in your hearts like this?
You give way to robbers deliberately,
Let hungry wolf guard sheep,
Let God punish you!

"Talas people, you must stay at home,
I do not allow you to go out.
If you disobey me,
I will pierce your eyelid with iron fire-tong,
Hang you upside-down on a willow tree!

"Alkai and Satikai,
Do not let people from Talas,
Include their women and children,
Step in your home.
They want to poison you to vent their hatred,
Who knows which one will poison you?
You will die immediately with stiff limbs!

"They rely on their brains,
Do not only say they wander everywhere,
They also have their backbone.

"Koshaoyi's son Jalgezack,
He is less than fifty years old.
He is strong and agile,
He is a skillful warrior.
He is brave as tiger and his arms are hard as jade,
He is a fearless guy.

"When my father and mother got married,
He went to Chylpildak,
Intercepted those Khans on the way.
No one dare ask why he acted against my father,
No one dare go against him!
Do not these Talas people go to him for a shelter?
Do not they ask him for help with tears,
In Manas' name?

"Once Jalgezack makes a firm decision,
He will not care you are rich or poor!
Talas people being oppressed,
Do not they take avenge on us?

"We cannot live here anymore,
We will go and patrol roads in Korosun.

"When you invaded Talas in the past,
Girls and boys you took as trophies,
Now are around ten years old,
But it does not make his heart satisfied.
The dirty clothes on him has not taken off,
Has not washed in water.
Steeds once entered for race,
Now still have not tasted the grass yet.

"You are in a crisis now,
Roads to Korosun,
And your brothers I will go and visit.
I am young but I am fearless,

I will not be panic if I meet scouts.

"Do not know where Koychabudar steed is,
Jedigair people do not have mind to saddle horses.
Talas people, come and lead it here,
You have lived here for twelve years,
Here is your hometown too and do not regard yourself as strangers,
'Sing his song if you live in his place',
The saying explains clearly.

"Talas people, from today on,
Do not fear people around you.
There is valley with luxuriant grass and broad pasture,
You should move to the south side.
Who is stranger and who is one of us,
You should distinguish clearly."

Seytek was quite emotional,
He talked strictly.
It was blame and it was suggestion too,
People present could not figure out what it was.
Not only Talas people,
Jedigair people were scared and began to shake.
Their beard and mustache,
Each of them shook and was clear to see.

Talas people came up together and began to move.
Alkai and Satikai,
Nodded and bowed,
Scared to death.
Kutubayi watched with a smile,
Even fleas on him,
All jumped out of his clothes happily.
Married ladies and girls in Talas,
Arashi men,
Did not understand it completely,
They were all happy,

Because they were going to leave Jedigair people's Ayinla.

Jedigair people got together,
Put their heads together and discussed:
"What he said is reasonable,
Who will notice if they poison you?
If Kutubayi's Kalado,
Makes use of patrolling the border,
But go and meet Koshaoyi's son Jalgezack,
Who will notice it?

"If they drive all livestock,
And go to the single-eyed man's son for a shelter,
Who will notice it?

"Seeing Alkai and Satikai,
Only knows eating meat and drinking alcohol,
They have nothing to do and just idle about Ayinla.
They get lost in too much excitement,
Seytek aimed at them,
All words were sincere and honest.

"He inherited Chulek's wisdom,
His ability exceeds his father Keyaz.
Although he is young in age,
He is decisive and clear-minded.
If we continue like the past,
There must be unforgettable regret.

"Alkai and Satikai,
Send those slaves as trophies,
To Korosun and patrol,
I thought they are two smart guys,
But they are two stupid beasts.

"Seytek is exactly the same like Keyaz,
He has strong limbs and broad shoulders.

Long legs and sturdy waist,
Wide chest and strong arms,
His muscle is as hard as iron.

"He is still growing,
He will become the strongest giant in the world.
His body is well-proportioned,
He is a perfect general.
When he gets eighteen years old,
Even monsters from unholy hell,
Dare not compete with him face to face."

Alkai and Satikai requested:
"Let us go, Seytek,
If we let you go and patrol,
Do you think we can keep our life?
We tell you the truth,
We are very much conceited,
What you said wakes us up."
They flattered,
Each of them took three assistants,
Whipped their horses and set out.

Seytek sent a messenger secretly,
To call Kutubayi in and instructed:
"Uncle Kutubayi,
You must follow my order.
You need pick four young men,
Let them change other clothes.
Let them take a shortcut skillfully,
Arrive and ambush at the cross of roads in Korosun.
Under the cover of the night,
Take action and attack eight patrolmen,
Make sure to stab one of them to death.
Do not attack their leader,
Alkai and Satikai.
Do not make them distinguish who you are,

Do not make them follow and trace you,
Do not make them doubt they are your people.
Ask your people to withdraw immediately after the task,
Go to bed and have a sound sleep.

"From today on, Kutukai,
Let you stay at home,
It is a special care for you.
You have already seen,
How I dig at them with biting words!"

Heard Seytek's instruction,
Kutubayi called in Talas people,
They got together and discussed:
"Keyaz's boy comes here,
It seems we meet sage Kerzil.
All helpers from yesterday.
Especially women and kids,
Finally get a chance to rest."
They discussed excitedly,
They stopped after they finished.

Kutubayi picked four young men,
Out from the crowd carefully.
Let me tell you,
The background of these four:
One young man is Sari Khan's grandson-in-law,
His name is Salimakai.
His grandfather Sari Khan,
Is an experienced hero.
Till now,
Salimakai should be twenty-two years old.

"Seytek is not Keyaz's biological son,
Keyaz doubted but could not prove it.
He is Semtay's son,
Otherwise he will not show sympathy for Talas people."

Salimakai calculated in his mind,
He did not doubt his judgment,
He believed it was the truth.
He did not talked with others with it,
He did not say anything till now.

There was a young man among these four people,
His name was Dunkonoy,
The other two called Chonoy and Chundolioy,
They were two brothers.

These four young men,
Were all between twenty years old and twenty-five years old.
They were in their prime time,
Their courage,
Could challenge any strong enemies.

Kutubayi picked these four young men,
Gave them the task:
"You go and scout roads in Korosun.
Alkai and Satikai,
They eight have already set out.
Do not let them find your trace,
When you get to the edge of Korosun,
Launch a surprising attack.
Be sure not to,
Hurt Alkai and Satikai.

"Try to kill two in your power,
Or kill one if you are not capable to kill two.

"Do not make them follow your horses' traces,
Do not let survivors find your track,
Get rid of them and return as soon as possible.
You all know Kalado,
I let him go with you together.
You ride on your horses,

You wear your robes,
In good spirit,
Go to do your task freely."

From Kutubayi's words,
Salimakai clearly figured out Seytek's purpose.
So he asked a question,
Tried to test the mystery:
"My respected uncle,
You are the treasury of wisdom.
Alkai and Satikai,
Go and patrol the roads,
Why do we follow them secretly,
Challenge and make trouble for them?
There must be people do not understand it,
Please explain it clearly here.

"Our fellows move here from Talas,
Cannot raise their heads day and night,
They are forced to listen to others' orders.
Jedigair people moved here six days ago,
Pitched camps by our side.

"Seytek finds fault from horse milk wine[1],
He makes Jedigair people stay,
Order us to move to the south side.
Does he want us to move to the south side,
Make us suffer from sunburn,
Or hint us he has other arrangement?
We are ordinary people being plundered,
Please explain it clearly and do not hide.

"Rivers flow here,
Have no waves for years,
It is dirty or clear under water,

1 Find fault from horse milk wine: It is a Kirgiz saying. It means pick holes on purpose.

Please tell us clearly and let us understand."

Kutubayi slapped his lap,
Frowned and raised his eyebrows,
Then he laughed brightly,
His laughter was bright and clear.

At the moment,
Salimakai get too excited and cried,
Tears rushed out of his eyes.

Dunkonoy and other two people,
Urged and set out immediately,
They started to take action of one mind.

"'Three people is one group,
As long as there is one leader,
They can have a good journey.
As long as they unite,
They can succeed.'
You should listen to Salimakai's command,
Do not disobey his order."
Kutubayi warned them,
Asked the young men to set out immediately.

Salimakai was a great warrior,
He was smart and had full of wicked ideas.
He was familiar with roads in Korosun,
He knew the roads very well there.

Alkai and Satikai,
Were confused and lost their way.
Salimakai passed them,
Arrived at the hill before them.
They ambushed in one place,
Stayed there for two days.

Alkai and Satikai,
Dismounted near the hill,
They stayed over night on a hill.

When they were sleeping,
Dunkonoy sneaked to their side.
He watched carefully,
They were all in sound sleep.
One of his personal enemies,
Was among Alkai's group.
The man thought he was brave,
So he lied beside them.

Dunkonoy sneaked to his side,
Stabbed through his heart.
They woke up and met the attack hurriedly.
One of them lifted a spear,
Dunkonoy gave him a severe poke,
His chest was cut open,
Those two persons died immediately.

When the other six people swarmed up,
He turned round and ran to his steed.
Untied the rein and mounted immediately.
He had no time to untie other horses,
Those six almost caught up with him.
Dunkonoy whipped his steed and left there,
He cried out at the same time:
"Panther, tiger, oh, dogs,
Where is leopard?
Look, Kirgiz people have come.
They only have six people,
We eight can attack them together!"

Three other people Salimakai headed,
Began to scream loudly.

Alkai and Satikai,
Six men mounted six steeds,
Ran to the opposite direction.
They abandoned one horse,
Their rival took away another dark brown horse.

Alkai thought his rivals were all powerful,
They were worthy of their reputation.
If the rivals caught up with them,
They would be killed.
Alkai insisted they made no noise,
And did not cross the river rapids,
But went on the dirt road and ran away.

To get rid of enemy's chasing,
Depends on wise head.
They agreed on Alkai's idea,
They ran away fast.

Four men including Salimakai,
Were all in high spirits,
They climbed up to the hilltops separately,
They shouted:
"Come, go and search in the river rapids!"

Alkai and Satikai thought:
"If they chase us to the river rapids,
They will cut our hearts open.
Leave the river rapids and climb up the hill,
The bastards chase after us,
Will not distinguish which way we run to.
Compare with enemy's wisdom,
We are smarter than them."

Four young men include Salimakai,
Scared Alkai away,
They four lived on the hilltop,

Butchered the dark brown horse and ate it.
The horse Alkai abandoned,
No one rode on it,
They planed to butcher it,
And presented the meat to Kutubayi secretly.

Alkai and Satikai,
Ran and lost their way,
They returned to their village after three days.
How they went and how they came back,
They reported everything in detail to the hero.
Hero Seytek said:
"Alkai and Satikai,
You go and patrol in the wilderness,
How you dare take off clothes and have no precaution.
You said some people jumped out,
Cut two of your people's belly open,
How you dare say such words!

"And allow him take Balaker steed and run away,
This should not happen!
Take off clothes and sleep in the wilderness,
It is not what a patrolman should do.
These names panther, tiger, leopard,
Black-eared lion,
Are not normal people's names.

"I think some people always act in the wilderness,
He is familiar with the terrain and full of tricks,
He called non-existed names deliberately.
He took the steed with tricks,
He fooled you with his wisdom,
He forced you to run away hurriedly.

"He stayed down the hill and shouted up the hill,
He stayed up the hill and shouted down the hill,
He raised his voice,

He mastered the way to deal with you.

"Kutubayi, you send four people now,
To the hill and explore the fact!"
Seytek added:
"They cannot cry wolf and come back empty-handed,
They must bring objects back to prove!"

The four people came back in triumph,
Were sent out by Kutubayi again.
Salimakai and Dunkonoy,
Climbed up to the top of the hill,
Reined their steeds and turned round.

They watched all around,
Found someone was driving horses.
There were more than thirty horses,
They saw the figure in distance.

They whipped their steeds,
Galloped forward.
Two people drove the horses,
Those four came up and caught them.
They questioned the thieves:
"Where did you get the horses?
Tell me your name!"
The thieves answered:
"We come from Korosun,
We live in this area for three years.
We come here every year,
We drive horses here out of the mountains!
No matter how many horses we take away,
We never meet a hamper!

"Three years ago,
We did not do it like this.
Do not say rob groups of horses,

Our horses even could not taste the herding grass.
A hero called Kalado was there,
He was the head of the sentry post.
He never took his clothes off when he stood sentry at night,
He did not sleep sound and kept awake.
He guarded the grass and tree here,
Never let others invade.

"We have not seen him for three years,
A man called Mento replaced him,
He is Alkaibi's nephew,
He becomes our friend quickly.

"Jedigair is a vast place,
There are Talas people among Jedigair people.
The tolerant world turns narrow to them especially,
These are all Talas people's livestock,
Mento let us take them and never ask.

"During these three years,
Our friend Mento allow us to drive flocks of horses,
He makes us satisfied and happy.
Pieces of coarse tabby fabric and brocade,
We send to them politely.
It seems Mento presented them to Alkai and Satikai,
So no one try to get the disappeared horses back."

Hearing what they said,
Salimakai beat them,
And sent them on the way under his guard.
They drove thirty one horses and two thieves,
Two thieves started obsessing,
Salimakai did not let anyone notice,
He let Seytek punish them.

Seytek saw the thieves,
Asked to drive the horses to the front of the door.

He sent someone to call Alkai, Satikai,
And Mento in to visit him.

Alkai came in a hurry,
Satikai came in low spirits,
Mento never saw Seytek before,
He slouched over,
A woman came together with him.
Her Elichek was in a mess,
There was no buttons and button loops on her clothes,
Her clothes were casually untied.

"My Alkai is still safe,
My Satikai is still with me and cares me.
Which is Keyaz's son?
Why can he send messenger at midnight,
And wake my son up deliberately?
Alkai's slaves,
I ask you to butcher a lamb,
To drive the evil spirits out for your Mento!"

She talked wildly and was afraid of nothing,
She almost walked to the side of Seytek.
Suddenly she heard "Let her stop!"
Raised his head and looked,
She saw Seytek's eyes flaming,
She was astonished and dare not go up.

Seytek asked to untie two thieves,
Escorted them to him:
"So, Mento, you answer me,
Which livestock group do you protect?
Hey, Alkai and Satikai!
When Kutubayi's son Kalado,
Went to Terks,
Why did you loose the horses?
Why did you drive horse flocks out?"

Alkai and Satikai answered hurriedly,
They had nothing to do with this.

Seytek stared at Mento and asked:
"Two giants say they do not know,
Do you steal what is entrusted in your care?"
Mento told the truth:
"I followed Alkai and Satikai's order,
Sent Talas people's livestock out.
Exchange brocade and tabby fabric for them,
This is the third time I send the horses out."

Wore huge Elichek on her head,
Black-faced woman chattered with her clothes unbuttoned:
"Hey! Khan Keyaz's son,
Why do you take so much pity on Talas people's livestock?
Talas people come down in the world of trophy,
When do they have their own livestock?
When the greatest hero Keyaz,
Married your mother Chulek,
He butchered eighty fat mares.
Those were all Talas people's horses,
He did not butcher any of his horses.

"Your father and I are the similar age,
We grew up together.
Your mother was a trophy,
You have no reason to be arrogant!"

She is Alkai's elder sister,
Her name is Chkerldak.
She talks sharply and endlessly,
Her slobber dropped off her mouth.

Alkai and Satikai,
Did not know what their end would be,

Their hearts beat hard and they felt scared.

Hero Seytek had a habit,
He would laugh suddenly when he got angry.
He burst into laughter,
It was the sign that he got angrier.
He gnashed his teeth in anger,
Mento and that mad woman,
Their end was coming to them.

"Go, Alkai, go home,
Take your sister and nephew back!"
His voice was scary.
Mento and his mother,
Were scared to death one after one!
Alkai and Satikai,
Had lost confidence to their lives.

Right at the moment,
Kalado headed the herdsmen and drove horses back.
Jedigair people welcomed them,
Kalado dismounted,
Bowed and greeted Seytek.

Seytek announced next morning:
"Kalado, listen,
Khan let me tell you,
You should hold your ground to the border.
Anyone who walk on the road of rebellion,
No matter Jedigair people or Talas people,
You must cut their heads off!
I need go to the palace,
You must guard against enemies invading!

"Jedigair people and Talas people,
Cannot live together in one herding place,
Do not allow their animal stables to connect.

Bayi should be like Bayi, and slave should be like slave,
Let them distinguish the borderline.

"Alkai and Satikai,
You ride on your horses.
I will go back to the palace to see my father,
You should go with me.
You are always busy and working hard,
Patrolled the hill and kept their clothes on.
Now Kalado has come here,
He will watch at the hill pass."

Alkai and Satikai,
Were too scared to speak,
Dare not say they did not want to go to palace either.
The two thieves,
Seytek escorted them to the palace.

Young hero sent someone before he left,
From horses drove from Terks,
Chose nine special grade mares of empty embryo.
Cut the horses' heads off like cut the sheep head off,
Cut horses' bellies open like cut melons' open,
Took them and presented to Keyaz.
The orphan reported what happened excitedly,
It removed the doubts in Keyaz's mind.

Seytek told in detail about Alkai and Satikai,
About two thieves from Korosun,
Everything happened from the beginning,
And Mento and his mother,
How did they two die at the same time.
Then he told how he made Jedigair and Talas people,
Divided into two Ayinlas,
The mad woman,
Alkai's sister talked nonsense,
She said his mother was a trophy,

She said when Keyaz held wedding,
He butchered others' eighty mares with empty embryo,
But did not butcher any of his horses,
He only loved money and was too stingy,
He reported everything.

Seytek finished all his words,
He consoled Keyaz:
"No matter livestock of Jedigair or Talas,
All livestock in Jetisu,
They all belong to my father,
This is what is in my mind."

When Seytek finished his words,
Keyaz told himself:
"It seems Seytek is the same like me,
He will be a smart and powerful ruler.
No words can baffle him,
He will be an eloquent Khan.
When people firmly believe he is my son,
Once I hated him.
But I cannot believe it easily,
I need keep watching cautiously."

Keyaz started to talk slowely:
"Alkai and Satikai,
You think you are Begans so you can disobey the order.
Now still live together with Talas people,
Livestock stables connect and do not want to separate.
When you need them,
You can call them.
When you are free,
Do not always call them to come.

"If you live with together with them,
They can master your information well.
Maybe one day, they will happily,

Lift your skirts and laugh at you!

"I, Keyaz, am kind-hearted and believe easily,
I thought you two could decide and do good deeds for people,
I did not expect you two collude,
Play the trick of stealing and selling horses.
You eight strong men went together,
And patrolled roads in Korosun,
But you were not as brave as those four young men!

"In public tomorrow morning,
I will cut you to pieces!
Even if I keep you alive,
I will make your flesh and bones separate.
If I do not punish you,
Let my, Keyaz's name go to hell!
I will let Kutubayi's son Kalado,
Chase and beat you like chasing stallions!

"You are my son Seytek,
You are reserved and not daring.
For that talkative and gossip woman,
Why do not you tear her mouth at that time!
That mean and sharp bitch,
How she dare slander Chulek!
Alkai and Satikai,
None of you stand out and stop her!
Two thieves there,
I will gouge their eyes out as a punishment!"

Seytek chipped in at the moment:
"Father, where does your wisdom go?
As the wise Khan's son,
How can you lower yourself to the same level as a mean bitch?
If I let people catch her,
I will become a joke in public.

"They only have such ability,
Why do you kill them?
If you kill them,
What is your purpose?

"Alkai and Satikai are your Begans,
I bring these two Begans here.
We can let them guard the roads,
Let them be cautious,
Guard our border!
If you kill them just for venting your hatred,
You will be deserted by your fellow people!

"Mento and his mother,
Have their corpses left in wilderness and not buried.
Let Alkai and Satikai,
Return to that place,
Plead the forgiveness of people attended the funeral.
Let them prepare well,
Get to the appointed border to garrison.
My father, the two thieves committed minor crimes,
Please forgive them,
Let them return to their hometown.
Let them know your braveness,
Let them know you are broad-minded.
Let those homeless people,
All of them will come and ask for your shelter."

Bad-luck Keyaz agreed on,
All Seytek's requests.
Ayichulek and Seytek,
Stayed together for one day.

Let us put this aside,
Sing from Ayichulek invited Momingjan,
To cure Almanbet's son Krichorao.

Ayichulek Invited the Highly Skilled Doctor Momingjan to Give Treatment to Krichorao

Ayichulek Made an Official Visit to Kanjekai and Saved Young Geodar

Ayichulek and Seytek,
Seldom had time to stay alone in the room.
The son asked the mother:
"Ah, my sister,
Why don't you meet your past promise?
Toktosart from Atux,
Momingjan from Baghdad,
I look forward to these two people's coming.
I am excited for many days,
I expect to see them as early as possible."

"Seytek, It's not that I break the promise,
Old people have a saying,
'Before milking the horse,
Prepare the leather bag of making milk wine.
Before threshing grain,
Dig a cellar for storing grain well.'
This is true, my kid.

"Let Alkai and Satikai,
Leave Kumishbulak prairie,
It equals you prepare a leather bag of making milk wine.
Separate Talas people from Jedigair people,
Equals you dig a cellar well to store grain.
You have made good preparation preparations,
Wait for Toktosart and Momingjan eagerly,
How can I forget to look for them?

"You stay here for ten days first,

Tell Keyaz your information,
Then return to the herding place.
You do not need worry about other things,
Your sister, I will provide support for you.
I cannot say only I am your mother,
There are numerous your mothers in vast Talas,
They are waiting for you to go back home."

It was Thursday the next day,
Akun Khan's daughter Ayichulek,
Washed herself clean and tied her belt tight,
Wore her swan dress,
Transferred into a swan,
Flew toward the direction of Atux.
Smelly evil witch with big breasts,
Transferred into Ayichulek's appearance,
Haunted Keyaz.

Ayichulek left beautiful Jetisu,
Went toward the direction of sunrise first and then to the south,
At the dark of the same day,
She had arrived in the sky over Atux.

Ayichulek circled in the air,
Watched the earth and searched around.
Suddenly she saw Tokun[1] held Dutar and sat in front of the yurt.
She spread her silver wings,
Flew over from his front,
Let Toktosart see her deliberately.

Seeing her wings,
Sensative relative Tokun,
Look, how smart he was,
"It is not the time migrant birds to come,
I see swan wings,

1 Tokun: It is the nickname of Toktosart.

It is so strange!"

He had all over whiskers,
He is a very handsome Sart[1] people,
He walked out of his yard leisurely.
Ayichulek transferred instantly,
She stood in front of him.
She dressed the same,
Like when she kept Toktorsart for three months.

When he saw Ayichulek,
Toktosart felt ashamed.
He was struck dumb with astonishment,
His tongue is out of control.

Toktosart felt nervous,
It seemed he was pressed between the sky and the earth.
He was like a middle-aged woman,
Bent his arms and bowed deeply.
He was like a young lady too,
Folded his hands and bowed frequently.

He was scared and quivered,
He felt desperate for his precious life.
He made a fake flattering manner,
Rushed around and got busy in hands.
Inner and outer walls of his house,
Were decorated with plaster.

He urged his family members,
Cleaned up the guest room quickly.
Asked them to spread the tablecloth,
Put all kinds of fruits on it,
And also the yellow crystal sugar.
Asked to put carrots and raisins,

1 Sart: Kirgiz language, it means merchant.

Into pot smartly,
Covered tight with lid and made a pot of pilau,
The inviting flavor pervaded the guest room.

Toktosart asked guests to lift hands and pray,
Butchered fat sheep.
Made shish kebab with sheep belly meat,
Sheep liver and tail fat,
Was cut into thin slices,
Let Chulek taste with a silver fork.
Sweet Hami melon and watermelon,
Red apples and pomegranates,
Pears, papayas, grapes,
Walnuts, pistachios and golden Russian olives,
Worm-like mulberries,
Brother Tokto put them all on the tablecloth.

There were noodles as thin as hair,
There were steamed thin-cover meat buns and wontons,
Thin and long hand-pulled noodles,
Samsa and baked cakes,
Flat naans and round naans made of flour,
They were available in all varieties.

Fine-made black tea was in teapot,
And mixed with honey.
Black pepper, Chinese prickly ash and clove powder,
Mixed with food and made food more delicious.
Kashgar red onion,
Its flavor penetrated all food,
There were more than sixty dishes,
There was no room left on the tablecloth.

Toktobay[1] swung the long Dutar,
Flattered himself and fiddled the strings.

1 Toktobay: It is the honorific title for Toktosart.

He played a mild tune,
Sang his sorrows:
"I act in bad faith,
I betrayed Ayikoler Manas' spirit.
Kunwuerbayi cheated me,
Descended disaster to the hero's son.

"I have damaged my reputation!
I hate myself,
I dare not go to Talas and visit my relatives.
Kunwuerbayi was defeated and fled away,
Brave hero Semtay,
Made me scared and could not sleep at night.

"I always hear a rumor,
Krichorao took a fresh leave of life.
I heard Chulek endured all hardships,
Gave birth to Seytek.
If I have chance to see relatives in Talas,
I will not have any regret.

"I heard Kanishi was humiliated,
I feel ashamed for bad things I have done,
I heard Bakay suffered from hardships,
I dare not go and greet him.

"My property in my hand,
I always wanted to present to Semtay.
Please let me cross your river,
Please let me cross your hill.
You are Semtay's wife,
I apologize to you now.
What reason drives you here,
I will not stay if I know the reason."

Ayichulek did not show a smile,
She even did not lift her eyes to take a look:

"My Ayashata Toktobayi[1],
Hero has his own way of dealing with affairs,
People once did evil things,
Also would do good things sometimes,
Semtay actually does not die,
His son Seytek will take over his position.

"There is younger brother if older brother dies,
Hero Krichorao is alive and safe in the world.
Ayashata,
Your Seytek is ten years old now.
Fellow people in Talas,
Give us courage and power,
Talas people have strong will.

"Almanbet's son Krichorao,
Has his two scapula gristles cut off.
I have not found a person to take care of him.
I am looking for the person who can cure him,
Ayashata Momingjan,
Will come and see you.
I, Ayichulek, for this reason,
Come to see you specially."

Hearing what Ayichulek said,
Toktosart cried out loudly,
He could not control his emotion:
"Akun Khan's daughter Ayichulek,
Your words are reasonable.
You said you want to cure Krichorao,
I am so excited.
It is not difficult,
To take care of Krichorao.
If you let me cross your river,
My heart will become as pure as milk.

1 Toktobayi: It is the honorific title for Toktosart.

If you let me climb over your hill,
I will arrive at Jetisu.

"I will pitch camps there,
Intelligent and courageous relative Krichorao,
I will try my best to make best arrangement for him.
If Momingjan needs help,
I will find zebra milk for him.
Even if he needs phoenix meat,
I will take the responsibility to do it.

"I want to go to see lion Kris with you,
Go to young hero Seytek,
Go to fairy Bakay,
Go to pretty Arashi Kanikai,
I will make apologies to them decently."

In front of Ayichulek,
He gave the order to the leader of camel group on purpose:
"I will give you three days,
You must prepare everything we need on the road well.
Arrange four hundred and eighty camels,
Set out toward Jetisu.
If you bring less salt,
I will cut your head off!

"I would rather sand wears camels' palms,
Drive camels forward day and night,
Meet in Jetisu as early as possible.

"Talas people's horses,
Are all tall and big horses with smooth hair,
Are all pure steeds,
Are all strong and fast steeds.
I could not get them from Semtay's hands,
I still miss them till now.

"Now none of the steeds are left,
They are all transferred to Jetisu.
No one cherished their value,
Many fine steeds are old and weak.
I will gallop ahead day and night,
Get to Jetisu as earlier.
I will get at least seven thousand fine steeds,
I will drive them back home.

"Then I send these horses,
To Lop Nur, Yarkant and Khotan.
Let those vain rich young men,
Buy their favorite horses.
Silk from Lop Nur, Yarkant and Khotan,
I buy all of them and leave them nothing.
Buy tea from Yindistan,
Carry them back with castrated male camels,
Transport to Baghdad, Misir, Istanbul,
Kudus, Kanan and Iraq,
We must get there and trade!

"Agates, gemstones, pearls,
Layil[①], mingzhu, Buru[②],
Tobarjat[③] and coral,
All these valuable gems,
I will purchase them all.
Then transport to where Khans live,
Sell them to Chin people!

"I will ask to make big vat with smoked hide,
Stir coal powder and wheat bran then pour into the vat,
Then fill the vat full with gold and silver to prevent them from rusting.
If I cannot achieve my goal of earning money,
How I can lie on bed willingly?

①②③ It is the name of valuable gem.

I will be famous till then,
My name must pass through seven Kerans[1]!"

He was so excited,
He considered himself terrific.
Toktosart presented Chulek generous gifts,
In all tribes' name.
Chulek declined with thanks,
She did not accept any of them.

Ayichulek left Atux,
Flied into the blue sky,
She transferred into a white swan and shined silver light,
She arrived at Eirtoshtuk's palace soon.
"The news I had been to Kashgar,
Must pass into Kanjekai's ears.
Maybe one day when we meet,
She will vent dissatisfaction toward me.
I will visit her this time,
To avoid her getting angry with me.
Her son Geodar Beshim lost his father when he was little,
He grew up in loneliness,
I will go and greet them warmly."

Ayichulek considered changing the direstion,
Folded her wings,
Began to land close by the towering poplar tree.
Hided her swan dress,
Transferred into a thirty-year-old lady.

Ayichulek strolled to the palace,
Kanjekai had found her.
She was saffering in Talas,
Kanjekai always missed and worried about it.
The news Ayichulek was caught,

1 Keran: It refers to seven big areas.

Had passed to Kanjekai.

Ayichulek gave birth to a boy,
There was a red-face young beggar,
Gave him the name Seytek,
Kanjekai heard the ins and outs of it.
The boy was not Keyaz's biological son,
Kanjekai knew it,
She calculated the days accurately:
"Lion Ayikoler has been in heaven,
On the way back from Begin city,
He did not return to his home in Talas directly.
He came to my home first,
Without reservation,
He told Toshtuk his will.

"I, Kanjekai, lost my husband and Geodar lost his father,
People around us tried to clear up with the past.
When I fell into difficulties,
Semtay came to me twice,
Gave us thoughtful attentions.
My Arashi daughter-in-law,
Followed her husband's trace,
Come to my palace today."
Kanjekai came out of her palace immediately,
Ayichulek saluted and greeted her.

"Chulek, wish you have everything you wish,
Wish your son loves and cares you forever!"
Kanjekai murmured the wishes to her,
Tears fell down and she was greatly touched.
One was an old woman,
One was a young and beautiful lady,
They two embraced each other tight.
Greeted each other warmly,
Kissed each other's fingers,
Kanjekai welcomed Chulek into the room:

"My kid, please come in quickly."

"I have never come here before,
I have never stepped over this threshold.
I just come and meet you,
My aunt, I cannot break ancestors' rules[①]."
Ayichulek explained to her sincerely.

Kanjekai saw she did not go into the room,
Had to spread the fur quilt and put tablecloth on it,
By the foot of the wall of the palace,
Invited Chulek to take a seat.
Chulek tasted the delicious food,
And explained in detail what happened in Talas.

"People cry their tears dry,
Tears are unstoppable when meeting good things."
It came true on Kanjekai this time.
"Ayichulek, if it is like this,
Your Ayashata Momingjan,
Is a good friend of broad-minded Manas,
I hear giant Toshtuk always mentioned it,
Momingjan is magic doctor Lokman's offspring,
He is his youngest son.

"Broad-minded Manas is a great hero in the world,
He is a great and brave lion.
He did not do anything evil to anyone,
He cared very much to numerous people.
He became Arashi people's support,
He protected Kirgiz people from suffering a loss.

"When he was alive,
His fame spread all over the world.

① According to Kirgiz traditional custom, when young generations get married, they need take gifts to visit elders and relatives of both families. Then they can contact with each other often, otherwise they cannot visit the elders on their will.

When he died unfortunately,
Kirgiz people wear white felt hats,
Worship his spirit,
Ask his bless till now.

"My dear Chulek,
Your father-in-law's rule,
Your Semtay's habit,
You do not forget their power and dignity.
You fly in the sky and land here,
Can I ask where you want to go?"

"I come from Atux,
I greet you, my respected aunt,
This is my purpose to come here.
My aunt,
My respected uncle's only son,
Why is not he at home today?"

"The devil once deceived his father,
Lured him to the underground kingdom.
The devil's son Wuljan,
Attacked suddenly and caused the disaster.
My son rode on Kerlkala steed and went to battle,
Finally he killed devil Wuljan.

"Tatalang from Kangayi,
Sent one thousand soldiers.
Karamark occupied Kashgar,
Alahong lost Kashgar city,
But he sent the news afterwards.
Geodar Beshim did not report it to me,
He made the decision and went on the journey.
Tatalang's one thousand soldiers,
Were beaten hard by my Geodar[①].

① Geodar: It is the nickname of Geodar Beshim.

Karamark leader fled away in a hurry,
The whereabouts of the leader was unknown.

"If we do not catch the leader,
They may come one day to make trouble,
I heard Geodar went to chase the leader.

"The Karamark did not run toward the north,
He went to the north and climbed over Agenek Dawan.
Geodar worried the Karamark,
Might attack Tumanbayi's city at night,
He was so anxious that he went and chased him."

Hearing Kanjekai's explanation,
Hearing the fleeing Karamark did not give up,
Climbed over Agenek Dawan,
Ayichulek decided to fly immediately.

Kanjekai warned her at the moment:
"Semtay's only son,
You should raise him carefully, Ayichulek.
Do not take him as a stranger, and tell the truth,
Do not say harsh words to him, Ayichulek.

"Almanbet's son Krichorao is a lion,
You do not let him feel aggrieved.
You should warn your son,
Listen to Krichorao's orders on everything.

"The reason why Manas became Ayikoler,
Is because wise elder Bakay was his bosom friend.
Sirak and Chuwak were close like brothers,
Wise Almanbet would devote every effort to help him.

"Semtay made the name of himself,
Because Krichorao helped him,
If Seytek wants to build a career and makes the name of himself,

He still needs Krichorao's help.

"When Semtay came here in the past,
Krichorao accompanied him.
His sweet words made people happy,
His glowing face is kind and loving.
He does not fear when he faces the death,
I have witnessed his heroic manner.

"As long as Momingjan can cure him,
He must make our people become the master of Talas,
Hope he can lasso Surkoyun steed like he did in the past,
Pull the horse mane and grab the rein,
Jump on the horseback without stepping on the stirrups.

"Semtay was born upon the prayers,
He would not die easily like this.
I expect he will come back one day,
I have infinite faith in it."
Gave Ayichulek the farewell words,
Kanjekai kept staying at her home.

Ayichulek spread her wings,
Flew into the sky.
Ayichulek got high in the sky,
Then she began to glide downward.
When she got to Wuchualarl hill,
Fleeing Karamark person Kutalark,
Appeared in her sight.

She watched Kutalark carefully,
He was strong and tall like a hill.
He had high cheekbones on his face,
Which were like peaks where eagle made nest.

Kutalark climbed up on Toboy Dawan,
He stood there and looked back.

He held Charbaran firelock in his hand,
Which was fully loaded with bullets.

Ayichulek looked to the front,
Steep cliffs were on both sides of the valley.
Young Geodar rode on Kerlkala steed,
Galloped upward along the valley hurriedly.

"There was a place called Totnim not far from there,
There was always the echo sound of camel's breath.
When the young man arrived there,
Kutalark would stare at the pass,
The bad guy would shoot there.

"The ill-fated only son,
Would fall into the ambush and be shot.
Then poor Kanjekai,
Would be desperately sad."

Ayichulek thought,
Transferred into a knight in white clothes and riding a white horse,
Landed on the way the young man went.
The young man saw her,
"Kutalark I am chasing,
Wears black clothes and rides a black horse.
Where does this knight in white clothes,
And on white horse come from?"

He did not have enough time to watch carefully,
He watched the person in white clothes and on white horse,
Turned into a secret place,
He could not see her clearly.

Geodar Beshim thought:
"It seems hero Ayikoler Manas sends this person,
It seems the person is one general of forty warriors.
I heard my father and them,

Are relatives and friends.

"Maybe they send someone,
To help me, an orphan.
I will go on the road she goes,
I will climb over the pass she climbs."

The young man turned the thoughts over and over in his mind,
Whipped and galloped Kerlkala steed,
Climbed up Achybelis Ridge.
He just arrived at the pass,
He saw a Karamark man,
Ambushed at the position.
Geodar appeared behind him suddenly,
It was only one woolen rope far.

Clumsy-handed Kutalark,
Heard the sound of coming horse clops,
He was going to turn his head round and watch.
Does Geodar Beshim watch again?
Before the Karamark seeing clearly,
Geodar waved the long spear,
Aimed at the Karamark's throat and gave a hard poke.

The sharp spear point pierced through his other ear,
Three-span-long spear point shined the blood.
Kutalark fell and died,
He lost his life on Toboy Dawan.

One the high beyond firelock's shooting range,
Ayichulek watched carefully.
Geodar looked for the person he saw just now,
He looked around and searched.
He believed his judgment,
He knew for sure Manas sent a warrior to help him.
When the young man turned round to leave,
Ayichulek appeared in front of him.

"Hey, man in white clothes and on white horse,
You should tell me your background,
You should tell me in detail.
Since I have the name Geodar,
Since I grow up to this age,
The scene like this today,
Has never showed up to me before."

Chulek answered at the moment:
"Do you know my hometown is Talas,
You should ask your mother for my background."
Ayichulek disappeared after she finished her words.

"Although he is young now,
He is a young man with a spine.
He is like a bullet shot out of a barrel,
He is like burning flames,
Among kids of his age,
He is much more naughty than them."
Ayichulek told herself when she flew in the sky.

Highly Skilled Doctor Momingjan Gave Treatment to Krichorao

Ayichulek had never been to Baghdad,
She only heard about its direction.
She flapped her wide wings,
Tried to fly toward Baghdad.

Chulek heard once when she was in Talas,
There was a white flag,
Waved in front of Arashi Momingjan's gate.
At the place far from crowded people,
By the side of silent river,
A white flag waved in wind.
A white-beard man sat there,
On his cotton-smooth face,
There was comfort and peace.

Ayichulek flew in the sky,
She firmly believed he was Momingjan.
She landed by the bank of the river,
Transferred into Chulek again.

She sweated all over when she flew,
Dust made her face dirty.
She washed herself clean in the river,
Wore a clean and tidy dress.

She was medium-sized,
She has long hair,
Her charming eyes below her black eyebrow,
Were shining like bright moon.

Her teeth was white and bridge of nose was high,
She was slim as an eagle.

She had a thin and slender waist,
Slim and graceful in high spirit.
It is true that some colts are better than steeds,
Some young married ladies are prettier than girls.

Ayichulek walked up to his side,
Stood there politely.
When Momingjan turned round,
According to the rule,
Ayichulek put her hands on the chest,
Bowed and greeted him.
Anyway,
He was her elder.

Momingjan thought when he saw her,
Where did the young lady come from?
Why did she greet me?
Who was she?
I must ask her for her background:

"Pretty young lady,
Where are you from?
From your behavior,
It seems you grow up in a noble family.

"Why do you bow to me?
You can tell me if you want to.
Everything I know,
I will tell you,
If I do not know,
I will not pretend I know.
My kid,
I will tell the truth,
I always talk straight."

Ayichulek looked cheerful,
She answered bravely:
"My name is Ayichulek,
Akun Khan is my father.
I come from a vast place,
My father-in-law's spirit has no equal in the world.
People call him hero Ayikoler,
His fame spread all over the world.

"My husband's name is Semtay,
I suffered hardships for him.
For these ten years,
I always worry and there is no second I am peaceful.
Depression makes my face sallow,
Like rusted bronze.
Please forgive my asking,
May I have your name please?"

Ayichulek stopped,
Momingjan was burning with anxiety.
Momingjan was tall and white,
He had a pair of dark brown eyes like sheep,
He answered Chulek's question:

"It is normal you want to know my name,
My name is Momingjan.
Jedigair's Keyaz,
Killed hero Semtay.
Occupied his wife forcibly,
Moved to Jetisu,
We once heard about it.

"My poor kid,
If you are Akun Khan's daughter Ayichulek,
Your father-in-law must be broad-minded Manas,
I am his bosom friend of life and afterlife.
Hero Manas is a great hero,

He is a lion known far and wide,
He is the glory of all Kirgiz,
He is the solid backbone for Kirgiz people.

"There was Chingirsh Khan[1] in the east,
He was born in a Karamark family.
He rallied the troops and headed by himself,
Marched to the west.
His troops fought their way into Misir,
And captured Baghdad too.

"Manas was born in Altay,
When he was ten years old,
He went on expedition to attack Kangayi.
Arokai, Shaorukai, Kalday,
Dohan and Banus were all defeated.

"Hero Manas poked fierce enemy Kontoy to death,
In Kookyidon.
They had no reinforcement come and help them,
So Karamark people scattered to many places.
In less than six years,
In places where Karamark fled to,
He gave heavy blows to them one after one.

"Karamark people ducked to walk,
Had been driven out.
The hero went on expedition to Begin and was framed,
The brave and powerful lion left the world.

"Many warriors fought to death there,
Almost all famous heroes sacrificed their lives.
Hero Ayikoler's only son Semtay,
Was suffered from relatives' humiliation.

1 Chingirsh Khan: It refers to Karamark Khan of Mongolian tribe in the epic. In some books it is translated as Genghis Khan.

Before he was twelve years old,
He never saw his hometown Talas.

"When lion Manas was alive,
Engaged for you and Semtay before you two were born.
In order to get you from hero Semtay,
Chinkogeo and Toltoy lost their lives.
Does it become a tradition from elder generation?
Must Semtay's son,
Experience the same condition?

"Kunwuerbayi is the evilest guy in the world,
He lost his life in Semtay's hand.
It is out of people's imagination,
That Kanchorao and Keyaz killed Semtay.

"The hero was killed and abandoned,
People did not see his corpse.
Kanchorao and Keyaz colluded,
Put Semtay to death,
Where was hero Krichorao at the moment?

"I did not witness but I heard,
He was outstanding among heroes,
The name Krichorao has been forgotten by the world,
People call him Kirgiz people's Krichorao.

"People say Kanchorao is Chuwak's son,
Chulek, is this true?
Whose son is Krichorao?
People have different opinions, each sticks to his own view.
Someone says he is Almanbet's son,
Someone says he is Gulidur's son.
I have never been together with them,
So I cannot tell."
Momingjan stopped when he said this,
The left words were for Ayichulek.

Akun Khan's daughter Ayichulek,
Smart and virtuous, mature and had common sense,
When she talked, she was eloquent:
"With my father-in-law's bless in heaven,
Invaders never defeated the lion.
Chuwak's son Kanchorao,
Is not qualified to be his father's son.

"He deceived Semtay,
He made Semtay lose the mount.
He asked Keyaz to lift axe and attack,
Warriors only saw he fell down.

"The devil tried to cut his head off,
But did not find his corpse.
So people say he was not buried,
It is true,
They did not tell lies.

"Krichorao is Almanbet's son,
He is a great hero, without equal in strength.
Ayashata,
What you said is true,
Arrogant Kunwuerbayi,
One-eyed Mardhan,
Kerzilwuyouk from Jafan,
Wushan's second brother Wusangan,
And third brother Lebatay,
Were all killed by lion Kris.

"He did not boast on his achievement,
Gave the credit to Semtay.
Now he loses his mount and herds livestock on foot,
If he mounts and goes out to battle,
Even if those giants and devils dare not fight against him.

"Kanchorao and Keyaz are bloodsuckers,
They caught Krichorao,
Cut the skin on his shoulder open,
Cut the scapula gristles off.
Made him disabled,
His two arms are incapable of lifting weights.
Although his arms are crippled,
At least he is alive.

"Semtay's wife Chachykai,
Colluded with slave Kanchorao and married him.
Keyaz took me as a trophy,
He forced me to marry him,
How can your daughter-in-law suffer from such humiliation?
I let a witch replace me.
Let her transfer into me,
Cast a spell and made Keyaz believe it.

"Three months before Semtay went on the journey,
I had been pregnant,
I hid the poor baby in my belly,
I let him stay in my belly for three years,
He and I suffer greatly from the hardships.

"When I delivered the baby,
Damned Keyaz had an evil thought.
He sent twelve witches to me,
It exposed his evil heart completely.

"I asked to dig a huge hole under my bed,
I killed those twelve witches.
Keyaz's heart was stained,
He did not give Semtay's son a name for three years.

"I played a trick on Keyaz,
For the sake of giving my son a formal name.
He held the ceremony to give a name after three years,

Keyaz requested,
My son's name must rhyme with his name.

"Keyaz insisted on doing it,
During the time of boiling a pot of meat,
It was completely silent,
No one made a noise.
A red-skinned beggar came up at the moment,
'The boy's name is Seytek'.
He disappeared immediately after he gave the name.

"Keyaz always doubts the boy is not his son,
Kind people all say:
'This is your son.'
People all prove for him.

"Seytek is ten years old,
And he is in Kumishbulak hill.
Damned Keyaz has no choice,
But let him administer the horses.

"Seytek has picked lion Krichorao,
To the pasture and take care.
I go on the journey this time,
I have invited Toktosart.

"For my father-in-law's spirit in heaven,
I stand here and plead you.
I will take you to Jetisu,
Cure our poor Kris,
We can set out now if you are willing to do it."

Momingjan stopped as if thinking of something:
"I am one hundred and eleven years old now,
My kid, I am so old now,
So I am easy to be exhausted,
How can I bear the long and hard journey to Jetisu?"

"Ayashata, do not refuse me like this,
Please take your wife with you.
Medicine, instruments and necessities you need,
I, Chulek, will take them for you.
For the sake of my father-in-law's spirit,
Please go to Jetisu with me.
To cure Almanbet's son Krichorao,
And let him recover."

Ayichulek requested like this,
Ayashata Momingjan asked for more details:
"My kid, I want to know,
How do you take me to that place?"

"My elder, as long as you are willing to go,
I will weave three flying carpets,
Take you and fly there.
Before dark,
We must get Jetisu safely."

"If it is like that, Ayihculek,
For the sake of Manas' spirit,
For the sake of master of Talas,
I will go and cure Kris even it risks my life.

"As long as I arrive there alive,
I can find a proper treatment.
I will not make trouble for you,
Let me set out by myself."
They appointed a limit time of forty days,
Then he sent Chulek off to return.

Got Moningjan's promise,
Appointed a limit time of forty days,
Ayichulek set out and flew into the sky.

Olus Khan of Urum,
He has twelve daughters,
He loved the youngest daughter the most.
She was perfect,
Slim,
Beautiful,
Chulek met the girl accidently.

In Olus Khan's city,
In Khan's garden,
A girl played there.
Forty maids accompanied her,
She was about twenty years old.
She had hair as black and sleek as beaver,
She had skin as tender and moist as butter,
Her face was red and glowing with health.

Chulek saw her in the sky,
She landed by the garden quietly.
Chulek transferred into a fifteen-year-old girl,
Her clothes did not look luxurious and flowery,
It was clean and tidy but not old and poor.

She pretended to be a girl strolled leisurely in the garden,
Walked to them in light steps.

They just heard and had never seen Chulek,
They never imagined Chulek would appear.
When Chulek walked close,
Girls all came up curiously.
The oldest one among them,
It was a pretty girl named Chorfan:
"This is Khan's garden,
Where are you from, strange fairy?
The girl in the middle of us,
Is Olus Khan's youngest daughter.
Her name is Gulinar."

Chorfan started to talk liberally and gracefully.

Ayichulek knew the name of the princess,
She wanted to know whether the princess engaged or not.
It was hard to ask such a question,
So she asked gently and tactfully:
"Khan's daughter, cute little princess,
Seems to get to the age of attracting boys.
People will send matchmakers to propose a marriage,
The time of it is coming,
Does it make Khan have a headache?"

Ayichulek said in a mild tone,
She smiled after she said it.

Chorfan started to talk about it:
"There are not a few come for it,
But the person can make the decision is not here,
So they cannot get a clear reply.
Olus Khan has twelve daughters,
The oldest one is called Kanjekai.
She married too far from here,
It is a long journey, so it is hard to communicate with her.

"'The elders make decisions for the younger generation,
The elder sister makes decision for the younger sister.'
Olus Khan's order could not be changed.
They need to discuss face to face,
But Kanjekai does not come back."

Ayichulek asked again:
"So what is Kanjekai's situation now?"
Chorfan answered:
"You ask about Kanjekai,
She is Eir Toshtuk's wife,
It is said her Ayinla is near Kashgar."

Ayichulek found when they talked,
Gulinar bit her lip gently,
And winked to Chorfan,
Hinted her to mind her speech.

Noises came from all directions suddenly,
It came from far to their ears.
Girls all scattered,
Ayichulek did not want to go with care.

"Olus Khan in Urum,
He was from Kirgiz tribe.
Kirgiz people from Urum,
Have yellow skin and blue eyes,
They have larger population than others.
There are numerous Kirgiz people,
Other tribes are all surprised about it,
They think Kirgiz people were flourishing as grass."

Ayichulek wanted to see whether she was lucky enough,
She wanted Seytek to marry Gulinar.
Ayichulek told herself and left there,
Spread her wings and flew into the sky.

When Ayichulek arrived at Jetisu,
It was already dark,
Seytek was very worried,
He expected his mother to come back earlier.
Keyaz held the witch in his arms,
Slept with her in the white yurt.

Ayichulek told Seytek,
All places she had been to,
From the first one to the last one,
She told him in detail:
"Toktosart in Kashgar,
Is leading male camels carried goods,

And heading toward Jetisu.
Momingjan in Baghdad,
Has stepped out of his city,
And heads toward here.

"There is no place I cannot go,
My kid, this is all for your future.
My kid, please prepare now and do not delay,
You should go to Kumishbulak directly and wait there.

"To persuade Keyaz to agree,
You should go to where horses are as soon as possible.
Kutubayi is there,
He must be your strong support.
My little kid, do not be childish,
Do not mention to others about the secret."

Brave young man Seytek,
Hearing his mother Ayichulek's warn,
He went to visit Keyaz immediately:
"You are as tall as a yurt,
You are my father,
You raise me carefully,
I am your son and I will inherit your property.

"I encountered a lot things,
At the place where I herded horses.
People all say you are super wise,
I have reported you everything I know.

"My father, if you think it is proper,
I will patrol between your city and herding place.
Father, I will go if you agree,
Go and look after our livestock,
I will draw bows and lease hunting dogs,
Play to my heart.

"It is the season wild beasts' fur get full,
I will go and hunt.
I will hunt wild goats on rocks,
Catch lynx and beaver,
I will hunt leopard and jackals.

"If I meet any warrior dare challenge me,
I must make him lose his life.
I will take his steed as trophy,
Report you and ask you for a reward.
I will bring the trophy to you,
Greet you and then return to herding place.

"My father, if you agree,
I will go to Korosun and patrol.
Aliens plundered our livestock two years in a row,
We caught them this year,
I will drive them all out."

Seytek stopped talking,
Keyaz told himself at the moment:
"He will be out of discipline if he goes,
He will acquire a habit of rashness.

"He just boasted,
He will wipe the beasts out.
If he goes to Korosun,
If he has something wrong by accident,
Will Chulek be resentful to me?
Will she fly away from me and disappear?"

There were so many plots,
Keyaz calculated in his mind.
"I do not let him go,
You will not listen to me,
Seytek, you will not be happy.
When I am safe and healthy now,

You go and play at your will.

"Bears have gone back to the caves,
But leopards, otters and lynx,
Foxes and jackals,
You do not let them run away.

"Wild deer with sixty antlers on the head,
Wild wolves haunt in hills,
Male and female argali,
Wild male goats and female goats climb up cliffs.
Does on the island in the river and tigers in the forest,
You should search carefully and chase tight.

"My dear, I order you,
To come back once a month to visit me.
Do not distribute games to others,
Let our fellow people ask me for the games.

"If someone challenges you and does against you,
I will let you deal with the disputes,
You need report to me,
Do not care what they think.
You can participate when it is the right time,
So as not to destroy your fame."

Keyaz agreed on his idea,
How Seytek could delay!
Seytek set out early the next morning,
Galloped toward the horses.

Alkai and Satikai discussed,
They dare not make Seytek angry.
Before Seytek came,
They had moved toward the appointed place with their families.

Led four hundred and eighty camels,

Toktosart came and pitched his camp.
Running spring water went under it,
Thorny bushes were full on the river rapids.
Grass was luxuriant on the gentle slopes of hills,
It was the best place to herd camels.

Each person managed five camels,
There were totally ninety six people.
There was one clerk and one man made tea,
Master and his bodyguard.
Plus all attendants and handy men,
There were no more than two hundred people.

Every five of them lived in one tent,
The clerk, guide and tea man lived in one tent.
Toktosart lived in one tent,
There were three empty tents.

Rich Toktobay,
Filled his pouch with money.
Brought oilpaper-wrapped tea,
Brought all kinds of silk,
Brought the clerk and the guide,
Came and met Seytek.

Seytek was a young man,
But he could deal with social life well.
He stared at Toktosart up and down,
Observed him with calm expression.
Seeing Seytek splashing flames in eyes,
Tokmu[1] was frightened out of his wits.

Toktosart thought:
"He is born dignified and majestic,
He must exceed his father Semtay's brearing.

1 Tokmu: It is the abbreviation of Toktosart.

If I hide something from him,
God must punish me severely!"

He explained clearly,
From the experience in the past,
To the purpose he came specially this time:
"I follow your mother's order,
Come here in a hurry.
Almanbet's son lion Krichorao,
I do not see him,
Is not he here?"

Seytek said to Toktosart:
"My uncle lion Krichorao,
He will not come here to meet you,
Just because you come here.

"You can go if you want to see him,
Greet him if you see him.
If my uncle does not want to see you,
You can just give up and return.
Whether he wants to see you or not,
My uncle's mind is hard to read."

Toktosart made a special visit,
In Kutubayi's room,
He met Krichorao.
He did evil things in the past,
He came specially to offer an apology,
Prayed for his safety in the future,
He returned immediately after he apologized.

Right at that night,
Momingjan arrived hurriedly.
There was a servant came with him,
Two horses carried the medicine.

Seytek got the news,
He went with Krichorao,
Asked Kutubayi to be the attendant,
Went to the intersection and welcome.
Toktosart did not agree at all,
On arranging Momingjan by his side.

Toktosart had made arrangements,
He put up extra three tents.
One let Momingjan live,
One used to store the medicine,
One was especially for Krichorao.
He stood there and smiled proudly,
Showed how smart he was.

Highly skilled doctor Momingjan,
Used the medicine six days in a row,
Ceaseless yellow water,
Pus mixed with blood,
None drop was left,
He cleared them all.

He calculated the age of Krichorao,
Measured the size of his scapula gristle wound.
He chose camel's scapula gristles,
They were the same size as Krichorao's.

He used yellow dog's gristles,
Pressed the gap of the wound well.
Then grounded Danakair[①] into powder,
Sprinkled it on the wound evenly.

There was an aquatic called Chubard,
Any animal got close to it,
It would twine the animal tight,

1 Danakair: It is the name of Kirgiz folk medicinal herb.

Momingjan took Chubard along with him.
All kinds of medicine to cure knife and gun wounds,
He had all that was necessary.

He mixed the medicine and made them into plaster,
Patched on the wounds.
Closed the wounds well,
White gauze was wrapped
Out of the wounds.

Momingjan let Krichorao eat Ebaifu[①] and Sebaifu[②],
Mairen[③] and Medaiti[④],
To nourish his liver.
He asked to butcher camel and get the gristles,
Asked to get fresh yellow dog gristle,
Asked to clean it with milk,
Mixed with Chubard and patched on the wounds.

Three months and nine days passed,
Krichorao's scapula gristles were completely recovered.

To avoid the wound cut,
He sprinkled Kala blaster.
Let him eat yellow Barfu,
Had Nushi with boiled water.
Butchered mare of empty embryo,
Wrapped Krichorao's wound with horse skin.
Toktosart did not make Jedigair people,
Lose any of their livestock in vain,
Toktosart paid for them.

Mares and camels,
Useful yellow dogs they butchered,
Were from the family wanted the money,
They sold to them everyday.

①②③④ They are names of folk medicine.

"Not only male camels and mares of empty embryo,
But also yellow dogs.
Toktosart buys them all,
What on earth is he doing?"
Someone was curious and guessed,
But no one knew what he was doing.

Another ninety days passed,
It was already six months,
Krichorao's scapula gristles,
Recovered like the original ones.

Lion hero Krichorao,
Had a way to measure his strength.
He found seven Andijan Kantuman,
Put them in a row.

Krichorao aimed at Kantuman and shot an arrow,
If the arrow pierced through all seven Kantuman,
It was a prove his wound had healed,
He would be energetic and powerful,
He would be full of confidence.

Ayashata Momingjan,
Young tiger Seytek,
Hero Krichorao led them.
Uncle Tokto with full beard,
Prepared the stuff they needed.
They four came to a place,
Put Kantuman there as target.

The distance between the target and the shooting position,
Was longer than the distance a fine steed went one day.
Krichorao would test his power of drawing a bow,
In such a distance.

When he exerted his strength and drew the bow,
His left and right shoulder put in energy.
Scapula gristles of both sides crossed,
Scapula of both sides overlapped each other.

Back of the bow made a cracking noise,
It was like it was going to break.
The string was drawn to its maximum,
The twisted steel string made great noise.
He exerted all his strength,
Drew the bow to its maximum and shot the arrow.

They worried the target was not steady and would influence the shooting,
They fixed Kantuman with rocks on the slope.
Hero Krichorao shot the sharp arrow,
Many people had never seen such a scene,
They heard the roar of flying arrow,
They were almost scared out of their wits.
Servants came with them,
Were scared and wetted their pants.

Blood rushed in Krichorao's face,
He shot the sharp arrow suddenly.
The arrow pierced through six Kantuman,
Stopped on the seventh Kantuman.
They thought his strength did not completely came back,
It was not the time to challenge Keyaz.
Butchered camels with humps and scapula cut off,
Momingjan had asked to cut the top of those humps off.
He found sheep tail fat he stored for a long time,
Mixed with camel hump fat and refined.

He ordered to wash wheat grains clean,
Dried them in the sunshine,
Then stir-fried in pans quickly.
Rubbed hard in hands,
Let the grains have the smell of human.

Till the grains turned white and smoked black spots appeared,
Then soaked the grains into oil.
Covered with quilt and let it cool down by itself,
Used as Krichorao's breakfast.

Let him drink strong black tea,
Horse belly fat and horse intestines he ate mixed with honey.
He drank soup boiled with wild rue and mugworts,
Let his muscle grow stronger.

Wine and fermented beverage,
He was forbidden to use.
All other food,
Was provided to him generously.

Three months passed,
He began to draw the bow again.
The sharp arrow pierced seven Kantuman,
Completely drilled into the rock.

They added two more Kantuman,
Put nine Kantuman on the high slope.
The arrow pierced through nine Kantuman,
Stuck in the rock behind it.

Krichorao felt his strength came back,
He discussed with Seytek,
He wanted to go back to Keyaz to revenge.

Let us put this aside,
Sing from Seytek married Gulinar.

The Marriage of Seytek and Gulinar

Seytek Chose Princess Gulinar from the Beauty Valley

There was always a legend in the grassland.
Keyaz's mount Totoru,
Was a magic steed and could speak.
Except this,
Keyaz's life,
Was Stored in a belly of a Black female argali in the wilderness.

Before this,
Seytek had journeyed to and fro there for three times.
He went there every three months,
All games he hunted,
He presented all to Keyaz.
Keyaz earned silver and filled his barrel,
He was proud and satisfied.

Seytek hunted in the wilderness,
He let no animals go,
But he did not find female argali and male argali.
When he came back the fourth time,
Keyaz asked him:
"Seytek, you kept your promise,
You release hunting dogs and eagles.
You draw bow and play spear,
You leave no animals alive on the hill.

"I do not know why you show your pity,
Why you only leave female and male argali?
Is the nutrition of female argali,
Inferior to sheep?"

Seytek answered unhappily:
"I have my reason to not hunt them.
My father, you reminded me,
I almost forget it.
I cannot say it outside,
Let's go inside and talk, my father."

Seytek led Keyaz into the room,
Explained his hardships:
"My father, I have presented you,
All games I hunted in the wilderness.
Female argali, male argali and white wild sheep,
I did not chase them at all.

"Elders once warned me:
'My father Keyaz's life,
Is stored in female argali's belly secretly.'
Once I hunt female argali,
I am afraid to hurt your life!
This is the reason,
Why I do not hunt female argali.

"I am your only son,
I always want to ask you,
Whether can I combine my life with yours?
And become immortal.

"My father, please tell me,
Where do you hide your life?
I yearn day and night,
Want to combine my life with yours."

Big Keyaz heard what he said,
His face turned pale immediately.
He kept silent for a while and said:
"Seytek, I cannot understand what you said,
How you can doubt me like this.

You are not old enough to combine your life with mine,
When you grow up,
When you get to the certain age,
Your father will arrange it for you.
You enjoy your playing,
Do not have a bee in your head!"

Ayichulek understood it immediately,
She thought she found the fatal point:
"Forget it, my kid Seytek,
You said you want to combine your life with his,
You do not know good from bad!

"Do not say he can combine your life with his,
He always doubts you.
I always want to hide but your father does not allow,
He forced me to tell you today.

"Three years after I married your father,
I endured hardships and have you.
He thought you are Semtay's posthumous child,
He doubts you.
It continues the topic just now,
Did not you notice,
Your father straighten up his neck and does not agree!"

Seytek persuaded at the moment:
"Do not say like this, my sister,
Even if my father said this,
Please do not hate him.
Father, do not mention other things,
Just answer me directly."

When Seytek said this,
Keyaz was shocked.
His throat shrank and he hesitated,
Braced himself and told him the truth:

"My kid, the questions you ask me,
I will not hide from you.
Since she came to this home,
Your mother is always unsatisfied with me.

"Kumishbulak and Tuzkairu,
Are where female argali live and grow.
Kumishbulak cannot get the sunshine,
There is a black female argali with a drooping belly,
Eats grass alone and wanders in the sand,
Other female argali do not go to that place.
There is a fist-size box,
Hides in the belly of the black female argali.
There are seven sparrows in the box,
That is my sorted life.

"My mount Totoru,
Is my most reliable creature,
Totoru steed also connects with my life.
My kid, you are less than twelve years old,
You are two years younger.
I do not tell you till now,
I hide it and I have my reason."

Seytek gave a hearty laugh:
"My sister, you hear it,
Did you ever blame my father?"
Ayichulek thanked God in her heart,
But she pretended she was ashamed to Keyaz:
"Woman has longer hair and shorter experience,
Hope you can forgive me."

The mother and the son figured out Keyaz's secret,
Stupid Keyaz did not notice anything.

When Keyaz was not there,
Seytek reported to Ayichulek:

"My uncle does well,
He has gradually recovered and he gains weight too.
His face becomes glowing,
He looks healthy and energetic.

"Surkoyun rises high in the sky,
Has a high spirit like in the past.
Can I send my uncle to go in person?
Let him scout the information of Talas?

"My Ayashata Momingjan said,
Uncle Kris's bones have recovered,
His muscle grows harder and stronger.
But he must take rest quietly within one year,
He cannot enter any kind of challenge.
Otherwise his ligament will be strained,
Everything he has achieved now will be in vain."

"If it is like that, Seytek ,
What you said is correct.
You go and discuss with your uncle,
Do not say it is your decision,
You cannot give orders to your uncle."

Seytek got his mother's advice,
He went to tell Keyaz his wish:
"I will go and see the horses.
I heard in Kaypuchy river valley,
There are full of wild animals.

"Among wild animals we have here,
We only have twelve-antler deer.
People who have been to Kaypuchy,
Have hunted sixty-antler deer.

"I will go and look for sixty-antler deer,
I must hunt and catch one of them.

Cut fresh deer antlers in time,
And deliver to my father as soon as possible.
If your only son does not go,
I will feel lonely."

Keyaz started to say at the moment:
"Seytek, listen,
If you are obedient,
Do not go to Kaypuchy.
My son Seytek, you should know,
How mysterious Kaypuchy is!
The cross of forty one roads,
Is right under it.
You do not go to that place,
Now it is my time to enjoy my life,
Do not make me suffer sudden disaster.

"At the cross of forty-one roads,
There are rows of luxurious inns.
These splendid inns,
Will confuse your eyes.

"There are many pretty and charming girls,
Their eyes are like crystal clear spring water.
Actually they are the portraits hang on walls,
People see them will be entranced.
Whoever courts them,
Will step on a miserable road."

Keyaz said and calculated in his mind:
"Once he go to that place and court someone,
He will be possessed by ghosts,
He will die painfully.
Then I will have a good sleep every night,
Then I will become happy everyday!"
Thought about this,
Cunning Keyaz changed his mind:

"Actually people send rumors about that,
You will figure it out how strange it is once you see it.

"My son, go if you want to,
But if you do not come back in two months,
I will miss you so much and feel upset!"
Keyaz said a lot of sweet words,
He wanted to blind Seytek.

Seytek continued their talk after Keyaz:
"You give advice to your son,
It is your right as a father.
Whether I come back early or late,
It is also my right as a son."

He burst into laughter after he finished talking,
Mounted Koychabudar steed and set out.
Seytek himself,
Was as happy as there were one hundred people:
"My uncle Krichorao recovers completely,
I am full of confidence now.
I am courageous and in high Spirits,
There are full of energy in my arms."

When the young man thought about it,
He was overjoyed.
It seemed he was going to Talas immediately,
It seemed he was going to make decision for Argen people.

"I will go to see my uncle first,
Listen to his advice,
I will scout the information of Talas.
In the one-year period Momingjan arranged,
I will try my best to wait for the chance.

"If I feel time everyday goes too slow,
If I feel time every month goes too slow,

I will go to Kaypuchy,
From girls Kirgiz people mention,
I will choose one to be my wife.
As long as the girl is after my heart,
I will find her no matter where she is."
He was lost in his thoughts.

He missed his uncle Krichorao,
He missed famous hometown Talas.
Except this,
He imagined pretty and charming young girl,
Imagined her willow-twig slim figure.

He whipped Koychabudar and let it go faster,
He looked around like an eagle was searching a prey,
He came swaggeringly,
To Kutubayi's village.

Before he returned,
He discussed with his uncle:
"My uncle, let's go together,
Go and take care of Talas.
Go and attack slave Kanchorao,
And try to kill him.

"On the way returning from Talas,
We should look for that black female argali.
We will taste its fresh meat,
We will cut Keyaz's head off,
We will plunder his people,
We will say they deserve it."

Krichorao said at the moment:
"Do not worry, do not hurry,
The cold winter is on the way coming,
It is not the right time to go to Talas.
If we do not kill Keyaz first,

How can we launch attack to Kanchorao?
It is ok if he does not notice,
Once he feels it in advance,
It will be bad to your Kirgiz people.

"Momingjan said it still has one year,
Till I can mount and fight,
I should spend this one year patiently,
Let my poor injured body recover and become strong.

"You want to go to Kaypuchy,
I went here once.
Between Krim and Urum,
There is a conspicuous place.
If pretty girls appeared among ordinary people,
Her portrait would hang there.
Seytek, you go ahead,
If you take a fancy to anyone's portrait,
I will find the girl for you.

"Your mother was forced to leave hometown as a trophy,
She can return to hometown Talas in the near future,
Let her son marry,
Do not we have good things come in pairs!"

Next morning,
Hero Krichorao mounted Surkoyun steed,
Let the young guy mount Koychabudar,
He led the way in the front.
They carried a lot of camels,
Headed toward Kaypuchy.

They came to the cross of forty-one roads,
They came to the edge of Janjurbes.
Rows of hanging portraits of pretty girls,
Appeared in front of them.

Olus Khan's daughter Gulinar,
Attracted him in the portrait.
Seytek saw the portrait,
He stared at it.
He asked himself:
"Is she a fairy or a human being?"

Krichorao pretended he saw nothing,
He watched the young man secretly.
In the time of boiling a lamb in a pot,
The young man did not move at all.

Hero Krichorao walked up to him,
The kid was still there without moving an inch.
He ignored Krichorao,
He was lost his mind in the portrait.

Krichorao observed carefully and found,
Everyone would stop and stare at her portrait.
Everyone would be lost mind in her,
Everyone would be fearless,
To fight to the death for her.

Krichorao watched carefully about her appearance,
Guessed about her background:
"Where is she from?
Is she from family of Khan, Bayi or poor people?
I need figure it out.

"She has yellow skin and blue eyes,
Is she Olus Khan's subject?
Is she originally a Kirgiz?
She does not look like a southerner.

"Her father is neither a Bayi nor a poor man,
Her temperament in the portrait,
Shows she is like from Khan's family.

Which Khan's family does she belong to?

"Eirtoshtuk's wife Kanjekai,
I have seen her twice.
The girl in the portrait,
Looks like Kanjekai.

"Once I heard,
Olus Khan has twelve daughters,
The youngest one is Gulinar,
Is this her portrait?"

Hero Krichorao calculated in his mind,
He turned round and told Seytek:
"Let's go, Seytek,
We should go,
We have been out for several days,
We should go back home."

Seytek said to him:
"Ok, uncle, let's go.
But we need come every ten days,
Watch the cross of forty-one roads.
We must know clearly,
The background of girls in the portraits."

Krichorao told him at the moment:
"Seytek, we should not do it,
You say the cross of forty-one roads,
We should come every ten days,
How can you say such words?

"If we chase girls wholeheartedly,
Who will avenge our heroes?
If we look for life partner clumsily,
Who will avenge our poor elders?
If we wander and do nothing,

Who will avenge our fellow people?"

Krichorao urged the youth began to undersetand love:
"Let's go, Seytek, let's go back home early."

In Kaypuchy valley,
All kinds of animals were easy to find,
Wild animals appeared there,
As long as they appeared in their sights,
All creatures they met,
They did not draw bows in a long time,
So they shot them all.

They knocked male argali down,
They knocked ibex down,
They shot leopard and jackals,
They shot tiger and lion,
They shot fox and wolf,
They shot buck and doe,
They shot otter and wild duck in the lake.

Eighty camels carried all games they got,
Camels went forward followed one after another.

Krichorao wrote a letter,
He did not give it to Seytek to deliver.
He sewed the letter into Seytek's collar,
He knew his sister-in-law would find it when she washed clothes.

Krichorao asked Seytek to go back home,
Helped him mount:
"Go and come back soon, Seytek,
Hope you come back safely,
I will take you to Talas to look for your father."
Krichorao saw Seytek off and he stayed there.

Ayichulek Proposed for His Son

Seytek urged camels on with their journey,
He wanted to go home with all games as soon as possible.
Keyaz saw it and could not tell he was happy or not,
Could not help pacing back and forth.

He suddenly stopped:
"Seytek is like a ball of fire since he was little,
It is hard to tell he is a luck or disaster to me in the future."
Keyaz fell into sorrow,
He brain stormed many plans of being free.

Ayichulek saw her son's clothes was dirty,
She took it over and was going to put it in water.
Chulek grabbed the collar of the shirt,
She felt the stitches were special,
She doubted something was sewed in it.

Ayichulek took out the stitches on the collar,
She found Krichorao's letter:
"My wise sister-in-law Chulek,
Krichorao report you the information here.
Seytek wanted to set out when he just arrived,
He wanted to go to the cross of forty-one roads,
Go to Kaypuchy to visit,
I had to go with him in a hurry.

"There are numerous girls' portraits,
Hang in conspicuous places.

I watched Seytek,
He stared at one of the portraits for a long time.
I told him about our fellow people,
Told him about our hometown,
Convinced him to come back.

"I found that portrait,
Looks exactly the same as Kanjekai,
She is not an ordinary girl.
Hope Seytek does not forget Talas,
Go and look for that pretty girl.

"I calculated in my mind,
It seems she is Urum people's girl.
I once heard such information:
Olus Khan has twelve daughters,
The youngest one called Gulinar,
I guess she is that girl.

"Before Seytek returns,
You need get information from Kanjekai.
If you can prove her idendity,
Please deliver a message to me.

"If you get an accurate news,
Let them marry as early as possible,
Then move to Talas.
We cannot make our kids disappointed,
Everyone will have such experience."

Ayichulek read the letter,
Flew into the sky secretly,
Flew to Kanjekai,
She explained her reason,
Of why she came.

Wise and virtuous Kanjekai,

Expressed her feeling:
"Last time you come to see me,
I have been very grateful to you,
You saved my son Geodar's life,
Secretly on the way.

"My father has no son,
He only has twelve daughters.
Now my father Olus is old,
His wisdom declines.
My youngest sister Gulinar,
Is thirteen years old.

"I have her portrait,
You take it, Chulek, if it is proper,
Let your son take a look,
If she is the girl Seytek likes,
I will let you take a letter with you.

"I cannot go to Urum,
My letter works the same like me,
Chulek, please believe its effect.
Eirtoshtuk and Ayikoler Manas,
Went through thick and thin.
Semtay came twice in the past,
Visited me and my son,
Took great care of us.

"As long as I can do everything in my power,
Does not God punish me if I shirk?
If Seytek likes Gulinar,
You just go ahead to Urum and propose for him.

"Olus Khan is my father,
If he reads my letter,
Maybe he thinks he is old,
He may present his subjects to you,

As his daughter's dowry.

"Maybe he presents his land to you generously too,
Only God knows it.
If God bestows luck to us,
Kirgiz people of east and west,
May stick together and make joint efforts."

Ayichulek parted with Kanjekai,
Stepped on her returning journey.
Seytek knew nothing about it.
Ayichulek did not allow him to delay,
Urged Seytek to return to see horses.
She gave him a special order,
Asked him to take a new shirt to uncle Krichorao.

Krichorao opened the shirt,
There was a letter and a portrait inside.
Ayichulek put her signature on the letter,
Krichorao read the letter carefully.

The girl's portrait,
He left it in Seytek's room on purpose.
Krichorao pretended he knew nothing,
But he watched secretly outside.

Seytek woke up suddenly,
Opened his eyes and tossed in the bed.
He saw the portrait suddenly,
He was astonished and stared at it:
"The portrait at the cross of forty-one roads,
How can it be here?
It seems it is God's arrangement."
He picked the portrait up immediately.

"She surely is the girl Seytek takes a fancy to."
Krichorao told himself.

He waited for half months,
Helped the boy stop the torture of love.

He told Seytek:
"You need go to Keyaz,
Tell him you have a lover in your heart,
She is Olus Khan's daughter Gulinar,
Let him ask Olus Khan for proposing for you.

"Keyaz cannot go to Urum,
He does not know the road to Urum.
No one knows the road except me,
None of others can lead the way.

"Tell him he does not need to go reluctantly if he does not want to,
Let the disabled slave go with you,
Let him be your guide.
You need let your mother Ayichulek go together,
You need mount Totoru steed and set out.
If you do not come on Totoru steed,
What we are doing now will have error occurred.

"Do not say you will marry the girl this time,
Just say you will come back after you engage.
Tell him Olus Khan does not agree,
How can you come back empty-handed?
Tell him you are hero Keyaz's son,
You must fall out with Olus Khan!"

Got Krichorao's advice,
Seytek figured out his uncle's plan.
He went back home again,
Keyaz calculated his purpose and felt worried.

Kutubayi came with him this time,
They came in and greeted Keyaz first,
Keyaz questioned them:

"Seytek you left yesterday,
But you come back today panted for breath,
It is less than one month,
Why do you come back in a hurry?"

He heard Keyaz questioned him,
Seytek turned round and went out,
Kutubayi came up and reported immediately:
"My Khan Keyaz,
He went on a journey last time,
He went to Daypuchy.
He saw the hanging portraits,
And he takes fancy to one of the girls.

"Seytek could not forget her since then,
He asked about her family background.
It is said she is a beauty from Urum,
She is Olus Khan's princess,
Gulinar is her name.

"Seytek wants to marry this girl,
He said while you are still alive,
He must marry her.
He feels shy to ask you about it,
Let me convey his intention to you.

"This is the reason,
Seytek went yesterday and come back today.
I come for this reason too,
I will not hide what you tell me,
I will pass it on to your son truthfully."

Keyaz opened his eyes wide and looked,
He turned his head round,
His face turned black with anger:
"Who can go on a long journey here?
Who can go to Urum to propose a marriage?

Why does Seytek want her?
Does he have to marry her?
Marry the girl with skin as yellow as butter!

"According to the news I got,
Nuoyi Bayi's two sons,
Had separated and each went his own way.
Because of the distribution of the heritage,
They had disputes.

"Nuoyibayi's elder son,
Was a young man with dark skin.
Nuoyibayi's younger son,
Was a young man with yellow skin and blue eyes,
They were called:
'Kara Nuoyi and Sart Nuoyi'[①],
They lost their original names since then.

"Kara Nuoyi left hometown first,
Moved from Ortok mountain,
To Yenisey river area.
Sart Nuoyi moved with his whole tribe,
And settled in Urum.
'Two Nuoyis part and go his own way',
Till now no one forgot it,
It becomes a famous song many Kumzchy sing.

"Sart Nuoyi—Olus Khan,
He belongs to one of Kirgiz tribes,
How can I take hardship of it?
Go on a long journey to Urum?

"If anyone knows the way to go there,
Kutubayi, you just send him to,

① Kara Nuoyi, means black Nuoyi, namely northern Nuoyi. Sart Nuoyi, means yellow Nuoyi, namely southern Nuoyi.

Ask clearly from Olus Khan,
Is he willing to marry her daughter to my son?"

Right at the moment,
One servant came in and reported,
Food had been ready.
Keyaz and Kutubayi together,
Came to Ayichulek's room.
Seytek walked back and forth,
He did not cross his legs and have a seat.

Chulek spread the tablecloth,
Full of delicious food was on the tablecloth.
Keyaz shouted angrily as he saw it:
"Oh, Seytek, you tell everybody you meet,
You will marry Olus Khan's daughter Gulinar.
No one has ever been to that place,
Who can go there?
Does not Olus Khan ask for betrothal gifts?
Will he give you his daughter for free?
You want to marry a girl you have never seen before,
But why are you in such a hurry?"

Seytek replied:
"My father Keyaz,
Your son marries a Urum girl,
To shine your reputation.

"You have Jedigair people,
Are you short of anything?
You have hero Kanchorao as your friend,
He will support you achieve your goal.
As long as I am still alive,
I will marry Gulinar.

"You have slave Krichorao,
He once traveled all over the world.

I have my mother Ayichulek,
She can fly in the sky.
I have father Keyaz and I am proud of you,
If I do not marry Gulinar,
How I can be satisfied.

"I will saddle Totoru steed,
Gallop hard on the way.
Within thirty days,
I will arrive in famous Urum.

"It is said: 'father's property after he dies,
Only leaves to his son to inherit.'
Go and saddle Totoru steed,
Carry it to me and I will ride."
Seytek ordered another servant when he talked,
Asked him to saddle Totoru steed.

At the moment he mentioned Totoru,
More than ninety dangerous situations,
Appeared in front of Keyaz's eyes.
He felt the sky and the earth were spinning round,
It was chilly,
It seemed heavy rain poured down.

He only felt smoke enveloped the earth,
It was completely dark in front of him.
He felt Arat mountain collapsed,
Mountains and the earth broke.
He felt wind and thunder roared,
Forest and grass made great noise.

Ayichulek chipped in:
"Ah, my son Seytek,
You listen to me, and let me explain.
Your father Keyaz will not give you his steed,
Even he agrees,

He will not be happy.

"Though your father is still alive, Seytek,
You are like an orphan and nothing goes smooth.
Though Keyaz married me,
I am living like a widow!

"Your father never takes you as his son,
You have no reliable support,
I ask you to forget Gulinar,
But you do not give up.

"You only can ride Koychabudar on your way,
Fill your pouch with full of solid food.
He is the groom I brought from Talas,
Take the disabled slave with you.

"If Olus Khan agrees to marry his daughter to you,
Why do you come back to Jetisu?
Look at your father's disgusting manner,
What good can you get when you come back?
I suggest you live there!

"He hates to share his horse with his son,
Do you think he will give his livestock as betrothal gifts?
I will go and be a servant to cook,
You go and do as a live-in son-in-law,
Let us compensate for the betrothal gifts.
We present slave Krichorao to them,
As Olus Khan's life-long slave.

"When Semtay was alive,
Krichorao grew dizzy with success.
He rode on Surkoyun steed and fought Olus,
Committed crime there.
If we present Krichorao as a slave,
I expect Olus Khan will be very happy."

Ayichulek turned round with pale face,
She was filled with rage.
She held the swan dress in her hand,
Made a pose of leaving:
"Keyaz, do not be disappointed with me,
Do not think we cannot meet anymore.
As long as I am alive,
I will return three years later."

Kutubayi watched and noticed,
Keyaz was in a dilemma.
He sweated unstoppably,
He murmured like he was going to cry,
He wanted to talk but his tongue was out of control.
He was afraid Ayichulek would fly away,
He felt anxious:

"Oh, Kutubayi, we are contemporaries,
You are a fair man and please talk fairly,
Who says my son cannot ride Totoru steed?
Did I say such words?

"What's wrong with you, moon-like Chulek?
Why are you angry for no reason?
Let Seytek take Totoru steed,
As his special mount,
I will leave it to him after I die.

"For the betrothal earrings to daughter-in-law,
Let's discuss in a calm mood,
Is not it ok if you present it?
Maybe you will lose your way,
Let slave Krichorao,
Go with you.

"Take Koktokoler[1] the herdsman rides as betrothal,
Tied cotton on the horse head,
You can go and present it,
Do not let the steed go with bare back,
Fill pouch full of gold,
Carry on the horseback and send together.

"Choose forty mares of empty embryo,
You can drive them there!
Kutubayi, as the head,
At least sixty people go together with you!"

Seytek said at the moment:
"I have never seen Gulinar before,
I only saw her portrait.
I take a fancy to the girl in the portrait,
It makes me want to marry her.

"Is she Olus Khan's princess,
Or is she from other family?
Is Olus Khan willing to marry her to me?
Is the girl willing to marry me?

"I suggest we figure out the truth,
Then let the group go and propose the marriage.
Take gold and horses to propose now,
Do you want me to go there and beg them?

"If the girl is after my heart,
I will tell them my identity,
Tell them my father is Keyaz,
Tell them Jedigair people are my backbones,
Tell them where my hometown is,
I will propose her and marry her.

1 Koktokoler: Kirgiz language. The name of the horse, refers to black horse with no horn.

"If they do not marry the girl to me,
I will level their city to the ground,
I will plunder their gold vaults,
I will make him lose his face completely.

"You are a respectful Khan,
Thank you for the protection of your reputation,
How can I be timid?
You ask me to present gold and horses,
Am I such a degrading person?
I am very angry about what you said!

"Come on, Kutubayi, mount now,
I am going to set out today."
Seytek finished his complaint,
Mounted Totoru steed,
Marched off without turning back.

Keyaz had used all his plots,
He had nothing to do but stood there with frustration.

Chulek told Seytek,
She washed clothes for Keyaz today,
And she would set out tomorrow and catch up with them.
She was pleased secretly,
They had held Keyaz's life in their hands.

Ayichulek warned the witch,
"You should listen to me carefully,
You should work for Keyaz as a tea servant,
Take good care of him.

"You should make his heart dirty,
Let him be dizzy and sleepy during the day,
Let him sleep and do not wake up during the night.
Make him have to lie in bed at home,
Make him impossible to care his horses."

On the appointed day,
Ayichulek spread her wings and flew into the sky,
Her wings shined in the sunshine.

Seytek and Krichorao,
Marched forward happily.
Totoru and Surkoyun,
Galloped ahead in high spirit.

They spent thirty days on their way,
Finally they approached the gate of Urum city.
The sentry of Urum saw and ran back,
Reported to Olus Khan:
"One person flies in the sky,
Two persons ride on horses,
One rides a maroon horse,
The other rides a white horse,
They have arrived at the gate.

"Since you, Olus Khan, mounted the throne,
Since you asked me to be the sentry,
People like them,
I have never seen even once.

"The one flies in the sky,
Is like born in sunglow.
She wears woman's clothes,
She is not an ordinary but a fairy,
It seems she loses her way and comes here mistakenly.

"It is a young man rides on the maroon horse,
He is about thirteen or fourteen years old.
Among people alive,
He is an outstanding man.

"The man beside him rides on a white horse,

He is more than forty years old.
He looks like a man of striking appearance,
He is a great hero in the world.
They act with noble manner and are not like ordinary people,
They are like fairies in the heaven descend to Urum!"
Olus Khan listened to the sentry's report carefully.

Well-informed Olus Khan,
Had already heard the hearsay:
"Kanchorao fell out and became enemy,
Hero Semtay Khan,
Was knocked down by Keyaz.

"Ayichulek became a trophy,
Keyaz forcibly occupied her.
Krichorao's scapula gristles,
Were cut off mercilessly.

"It is said Ayichulek was pregnant at the moment,
Is it Semtay's posthumous child coming?
Has he been a twelve-year-old young man?
Is he going to go back to Talas?
So he brings Krichorao and Chulek,
Come to me for a shelter.

"It might be Krichorao who rides the white steed,
It might be Seytek who rides the maroon steed.
It must be Ayichulek flies in the sky,
Who else can fly except her?
They come to me,
Probably ask for my help.

"One-eyed man Mardkuler in the past,
Wiped countless lives out,
Semtay came and killed him,
Saved people in Baran.
Semtay respected Urum people,

He asked them to come to me, Olus Khan, for a shelter.
Once he helped me,
Made my way marching forward broad.

"In Kerzil Keyashaha in the past,
When defeated Kunwuerbayi,
When went on expedition to fight Kangayi,
Lion's son Krichorao warned them:
Do not offend Kirgiz people!
There are Kirgiz people in the west,
Olus Khan is their lion commander.
He publicized it wherever he went,
He made me famous far and wide."

When Olus Khan recalled his memory,
He gave his ministers orders:
"One person rides a maroon steed,
One person rides a white steed,
One person does not ride a horse,
They three are honorable guests,
Go and welcome them now."

He sent luxury carriage,
His ministers went to welcome them in person.
Let Chulek take the luxury carriage,
She came to the Khan's palace soon.

They met in the palace,
Kissed each other's fingertips.
Greeted each other,
Sat and talked happily.

It had been three days,
Gulinar could not go to sleep the whole night.
Right on the day Seytek saw her portrait,
Gulinar had a dream at night,
She dreamed Seytek came to her.

She had such a dream,
Seytek promised her,
That they would meet again after three months.
Gulinar woke up suddenly,
She became silent since then.

She found a fortuneteller secretly,
He put the pebbles on the carpet and counted carefully,
Finally he congratulated her with all smiles:
"Pretty fortunate princess,
This is your blessed life-long marriage!"
Gulinar was filled with joy,
She waited for her lover to come day after day.

One day her mother Zulipukai came to her room,
She saw Gulinar was on the anxious bench,
She should have slept at the time before.
"My baby, my colt,
Please raise your head and be in good mood,
I cannot accompany you now,
I need prepare and welcome the guests.

"Three guests come to our home,
Two men and one woman.
The woman is with impressive appearance,
She must not be an ordinary woman,
I do not know where they come from yet.

"There is a young man among them,
He is about thirteen to fourteen years old,
He wears veil over his face,
I seem to feel he has an impressive appearance."

Gulinar listened,
What her mother said carefully.
She heard the young man with veil over his face,
His face was pretty like peach blossoms,

Her tears welled up and dropped like rain.

The young man with veil over his face,
She saw him clearly in her dream.
His name was Seytek,
She had carved his name in her heart.

Zulipukai had noticed,
Her daughter was pleased secretly.
"I will go back and figure out his identity,
I will find out his background.
Then I will use some smart ways,
Find out the secret of my daughter."

With such a thought,
Zulipukai returned to the hall.
According to the custom,
She sat by the side of Khan.

Olus Khan started to ask,
The information of the guests:
"One of you is a handsome young man,
One is a lion-like man,
One is a noble madam.
Where do you come from?
And why do you come to my place?

"'It will not do bad if you tell the truth.'
Please tell me clearly,
About your hometown and fellow people,
The master administers your people and all your matters.
Look at this true man,
He has a manner of a lion,
He has a prestige of a tiger.
Look at this young man,
He is exactly like a son of Khan.
No matter whose family has such a young man,

He will be fully satisfied and content.

"The young madam in front of me,
Are you a diamond on earrings?
I have never seen but I have heard,
Are you Akun Khan's daughter Chulek?
If you really are Chulek,
How can Keyaz agree on your coming?

"I once heard such a news:
The eagle caught the swan,
Slave Kanchorao usurped Semtay's throne of Khan.
Outside invaders reached their evil hands out,
Keyaz from Jedigair,
Captured Ayichulek.

"Almanbet's son Krichorao,
Had both of his shoulders torn,
He became disabled and useless.
Semtay's wife Chachykai,
Threw herself into Kanchorao's arms.
She is Shatimir's granddaughter,
She stained Kirgiz people's reputation.

"Once I got a news,
That Ayichulek was pregnant with a posthumous child at that time.
Keyaz once invited me to his wedding,
He said he was going to marry Ayichulek.

"So I set out from here,
I was going to attend the wedding.
When I arrived at the cross of nine roads,
At the grassland of Chylipilidak,
Jalgezack persuaded us not to attend the wedding,
Persuaded us to go back home halfway.

"What I tell you now,

Is what I heard last time on the way to the wedding.
I am thinking,
What is your purpose to come here"
Olus Khan finished his words in one breath.

Hero Krichorao burst into hearty laughter,
Exposed his front teeth happily.
His voice was nice as eagle's,
He talked from Manas.
No matter good things or bad things,
Nothing was faked.

He switched the conversation,
To Olus Khan at last:
"We come from afar,
Not for asking for a shelter, Olus Khan.

"On mountain in Kaypuchy,
At the cross of forty one roads,
There are many portrait hang there.
There is one girl in the portrait,
Seytek takes a fancy to her.

"We search and ask everywhere,
Follow the portraits,
From your eldest daughter Kanjekai,
We know the information of the girl.
The girl in the portrait,
We have known clearly about her.

"You have twelve daughters,
Gulinar we are looking for,
Is the youngest one among your twelve daughters.
She is the only servant of God,
She is the girl God cares with love.

"If the girl and the boy meet,

If they fall in love with each other,
We will have more to talk with you."

Olus Khan answered:
"Oh, kids, they will fall in love as they meet each other.
A young man like Seytek,
How can girls refuse him?
If Seytek sees Gulinar,
He will lose his head over her!

"If they love each other,
If Kanjekai cannot come back,
Who can make arrangement for Gulinar's wedding?
Once I gave Gulinar to Kanjekai,
Gave Kanjekai the power of making decision,
Now I am not senile,
I do not forget the promise."

Ayichulek started to talk,
Talked about what she did,
In detail and nothing was left out.
She told them the whole thing,
And took out Kanjekai's letter,
Placed it in front of Olus Khan.

Olus Khan opened the letter,
Held his daughter's letter and read silently:
"Father, do not trouble anyone,
Do not need to send anyone to me.
You are a Khan of foresight,
As long as Seytek meets your satisfaction,
You should present your people and cities,
To him as your daughter's dowry.

"Do not be stingy with your livestock,
Do not be stingy with your gold and silver,
Do not be stingy with your silk and brocade,

Do not be stingy with precious mink,
Do not be stingy with lynx and beaver pelt.

"If you can do it,
You can pick the stars and present together!
He is lion Ayikoler's offspring,
You should agree he and my sister's marriage happily."

Olus read Kanjekai's letter,
It seemed she talked with him face to face.
He accepted the suggestions in the letter in Silence,
He sought advice from his wife Zulipukai secretly:
"How do we let them meet each other?
How do they get to know each other?"

Olus Khan Held Wedding for His Daughter with Fantastic Dowry

Olus and his wife's whisper,
Still passed to Ayichulek's ears.
"Let's go, madam, go,
Let's go out and take a look."
Ayichulek supported the madam with her hand,
Walked out of the hall together.

On their way to the kitchen,
They met Gulinar.
On the returning journey from Momingjan's place,
She saw this girl.
From the portrait Krichorao took back,
She also saw this girl.

Ayichulek made a cough deliberately,
Gulinar was a very smart girl,
Chulek made her recall her memory,
She remembered when they met in the garden.

She stood up immediately,
Came to the side of Chulek,
Ayichulek held her hands:
"Gorgeous young girl,
Pretty young girl,
Can I ask who are you?"

Gulinar answered immediately:
"In my father's garden one year ago,

I was playing and appreciated the scenery,
You appeared in front of me.
You are Akun Khan's daughter,
I guessed like this that day.

"You will come and visit by destiny,
Dear sister, whom will you complain to?
You endure hardships and come from afar,
What big issue do you have to discuss?
My father is Olus Khan,
He never communicates with others,
He is iron-hearted.

"I heard there are three guests come,
He is busy here and there,
Serve well and warm.
He is extremely deferential,
Why does he turn into this?
Prophetic sister Chulek,
Can you tell me what is it?"

"My name is Ayichulek,
Seytek is unrestrained and naughty,
He insists on looking for the girl in the portrait.
The girl he saw is like you,
So we come here and see you."

Gulinar thought after she heard this,
Her mind was in a whirl:
"Seytek appeared in my dream,
Now he comes and looks for me,
If I can see his face,
I will be happy.

"If clouds envelope the earth,
It will block the sunshine.
If the moon rushes out of the clouds,

The night will be lightened by the moonlight.

"The young man looks for the lover,
If he appears by my side suddenly.
Seytek appeared in my dream,
If he appears in front of me suddenly,
I will feel the moon rises immediately,
It will light the night suddenly.
Not only it is like bright moon in the sky,
But also it is like the sun shines.
The light of love is equal to the sun and the moon,
It lightens up my heart.

"If it is not Seytek but is other people,
Or it is inferior to the man in my dream,
I will feel the clouds envelope the earth,
The bloomy sky does not see sunshine."

Seytek could not control his excitement,
He could hardly wait to get out of the palace,
He was eager to see the girl in the portrait,
His heart was flying.

He walked close nervously,
To Zulipukai, Chulek and Gulinar.
Zulipukai and Chulek saw him coming,
They walked in another room.

Gulinar was lost in thought,
Zulipukai and Ayichulek watched carefully,
Gulinar fell in love.
Gulinar did not notice they had left,
Seytek got close to her.

Seytek saw Gulinar,
He confirmed his judgment:
"At the cross of forty-one roads,

The girl in the portrait is in front of me now."
He could not see enough of her.

Gulinar was lost in thought,
She looked around when she came back,
Zulipukai and Ayichulek,
Had left for a while.

Young Seytek,
Appeared in front of her suddenly.
"The young man I saw in my dream,
How I can see him when I am awake?"
She looked at him with a smile.

Ayichulek and Zulipukai,
Watched how they communicated with each other secretly.
Seytek was still thinking of the portrait,
He wanted to fondle her face.
So he reached his hand out,
And grabbed her plait.

Gulinar did not come to the real world,
She thought it was in her dream.
She opened her arms,
Put her right hand over Seytek's neck.

In Seytek's mind,
They were meeting in the portrait,
But her plait,
Was surely in his hand.

In Gulinar's mind,
She thought they were in the dream of last night,
But her right arm,
Was on Seytek's neck.

It was like the day was coming,

Stars in the sky faded away to the west.
Gulinar seemed to wake up from her dream,
She opened the eyes and looked around.

She felt lucky that her dream came true,
She felt happy about her dream.
She turned round,
Shoulder to shoulder with Seytek,
As brilliant as the morning sunlight,
As comfortable as morning breeze.

The pair of lovers' eyelash touched eyelash,
Seytek braced himself up,
Grabbed the girl's plait tight.
It seemed he was afraid she would turn round,
And return into the portrait.

The breeze gently blew,
Trees and flowers rustled,
They seemed to play a happy song.
Night type birds chirped,
All roosters crowed,
Larks and orioles sang to their content.
The lake rippled gently,
Stars twinkled like candle lights,
Lightened the earth bright.

People had nothing to do,
And wandered everywhere,
Seeing the mysterious scene,
They were confused about what had happened.

Zulipukai came to Olus Khan,
Reported everything had happened.
Ayichulek stood by the side,
Watched how they discussed about the issue.
Olus Khan sat there and stroked his beard,

He was silent with a wistful look.

"You were a handsome young man in the past,
I was a pretty girl with five plaits,
As long as you saw my footprints,
You would not wait day and night in vain.
I got the stick you once played,
Carried it and did not eat for whole three days and nights.
You should feel for others,
No one can stop such a thing.

"Seytek is hero Ayikoler's offspring,
Do not make him disappointed.
Hero Ayikoler's offspring Seytek,
Once had disasters pressed over his head.
He saw the portrait but not the girl herself,
He just can come and look for the girl.
It is not easy to do it,
Please think it over hard!

"Akun Khan's daughter Chulek,
Her fame of a fairy has spread all over the world.
The great man sits there,
He is Almanbet's son Krichorao,
He is a famous and brave general.

"They lost their scepter,
They lost their people and left their hometown,
They come to this place lonely.
Kanjekai has agreed on the marriage,
She has written a letter to you,
They came here with her letter.

"You should help them achieve all their aims,
Make them happy,
Make them satisfied.
Do not think too much and waste time here,

Do not make your daughter impatient and elope to other place."

Hearing Zulipakai's persuasion,
Olus Khan with a ghastly pale face,
Had no choice but to yield:
"If it is like that, Zulipukai,
You prepare bridal chamber for our daughter and son-in-law.
You should pick right young married lady as sister-in-law,
You should pick right girl as younger aunt.
All people in Urum,
You should reform them and do not leave anyone behind!"

Krichorao observed by the side,
As he heard what Olus Khan had said,
He came up immediately and appreciated Olus Khan.
Ayichulek came to Gulinar,
Helped her wear earrings of engagement.

Olus held a ten-day wedding,
He held the ceremony generously,
Served guests with plenty meat.
Cooked horseback placed in front of old men,
Old women ate sheep tail fat,
Young people played the game "Lovers meet",
They were all happy.

Everywhere Seytek went,
It proceeded without hindrance,
His wish was fulfilled.
The spirit of hero Ayikoler was in the other world,
It blessed him all the time.

In front of Olus Khan,
There were ten ministers and thirty Bayis,
Sixty Begans and forty giants,
They were elites of Urum,
People respected and admired them very much.

There were eight young people,
They were growing up healthily.
There were two elderly persons,
They were over one hundred and thirty years old,
Olus Khan invited them and gathered with them.

Spread the tablecloth,
All kinds of food were available.
Seytek and Gulinar,
Were invited into the hall too.

Olus Khan asked to hang the curtain,
At the corner of the room.
Asked her daughter to come in and take a seat,
She could hear what happened outside.

Olus Khan announced to his subjects,
Dowry he would offer to the princess:
"I, Olus Khan, am in Urum,
I have a property to present to my daughter,
And my son[1] Seytek.

"As everyone knows, I have twelve daughters,
How can I have a son?
My eldest daughter is Kanjekai,
She is Eirtoshtuk's wife.

"Gulinar is my youngest daughter,
She meets Manas' offspring by accident,
Now they become husband and wife.
My daughter is very lucky,
She has her wish come true.

"When Badikoler made a comeback in the past,
He occupied six tribes.

1 According to Kirgiz custom, father-in-law calls son-in-law as son face to face.

Right at the critical moment,
Lion Ayikoler Manas,
Stood out bravely and rescued six tribes.

"Khans near us,
All think my origin is Kirgiz.
They dare not expose in public,
They all hide like cats.

"When hero Ayikoler passed away,
Badikoler's son Mardkuler invaded six tribes again,
And assembled and blocked six tribes.
Pressed and made them impossible to raise their heads,
They never imagined they could suffer the consequences.

"He forced Karmanap,
To give up his wife.
Kardhachy at the moment,
Sent messenger to communicate with Semtay.
Lion hero's son,
Destroyed enemy's blockade.
Like twist crow's head off,
He made the enemy's head and body parted.
He saved Karmanap,
He made Baran and Shangkay people,
Got rid of disaster and got freedom.

"In Yilan people's deep heart,
They also wanted to plunder us.
But after that,
Yilan people have to tuck their tails and keep silent.

"I, Olus Khan, mounted the throne,
It has been eighty six years.
The reason I am still on the throne,
Is because Manas and Toshtuk,
And Semtay are my support.

"Seytek comes today and proposes to my daughter,
If I think he is an orphan,
Do not allow him to marry my daughter, is it ok?
Manas has gone to the other world,
Does his spirit in heaven let me off?

"Kirgiz people all over the world,
Hero Manas protected them all.
In Kerzilkyasaha,
Kunwuerbayi made a trap and sent invitation,
Semtay was deceived and accepted the invitation.

"Hero Semtay, Krichorao and Kanchorao,
Came into crowded Kangayi people.
Kunwuerbayi was full of cunning crafts,
He asked to pay the life with land,
Asked Semtay to stamp on the contract,
Made troubles deliberately.
Kunwuerbayi was defeated in the battle,
He whipped Alkala steed and ran away.

"Karamark people swarmed up,
Balaban battle drum was beat,
Bullets were shot ceaselessly,
Smoke enveloped the battlefield.
Semtay used Ackelty firelock,
Stopped invaders' attack alone.
Krichorao, he is here now,
Rode on outstanding steed Surkoyun,
Whipped and galloped the steed and chased.

"When slave Kunwuerbayi fled in all directions,
He had no choice but to jump into a rapid river.
Krichorao threw out the lasso,
Caught the person and the horse together.
After two day's journey,

He dragged them to the front of hero Semtay.
Got the hero's permission,
He cut his head off as a punishment.
Kangayi people took his headless body as god,
They still worshiped him in Kangayi.

"Krichorao said at the moment:
'There is Olus Khan in the west,
He also belongs to Kirgiz.
We will go and fight no matter who invades us!
Krichorao's heroic utterance,
Passed through the west.
From then on till now,
No people from the west dare invade.

"Please come and have a look,
My fellow people,
I am coming down from the peak of my life.
I will let you get to know your new master,
I will let Seytek administer you."

He said to Seytek loudly:
"My subjects and territory,
My throne and my cities,
I give them all to you,
God will bless you forever!

"Two Nuoyis separated,
Turned into great songs for singers,
Turned into Kumuzchy's music.
Kirgiz Nuoyi tribes,
As long as you can reunite,
I am willing to contribute everything I have.

"Respected everyone here,
If anyone feels not comfortable,
Please say in public and do not hide in heart!"

Olus Khan finished his words,
No one said anything in about one-meal time.
There was a man called Tatalbek,
He was one hundred and thirty years old.
He expressed his wish:
"My Khan, as long as you think it is proper,
No one else will have different opinions.
If they do not feel comfortable,
They have already talked at once.

"Semtay is not dead and he is alive,
I do not believe Keyaz could kill him,
I have infinite faith in it.

"On Kokotoy's ceremony,
In front of the gathered people,
Virtuous Kanikai,
Received Koshaoyi's prayer.
Koshaoyi's eyes were like morning stars,
Crescent ears were big like shields,
His praying brought luck to his hometown.

"Sage Koshaoyi prayed and blessed,
Semtay's life.
Hero Ayikoler Manas,
Was his father.

"I, an old man, heard at home,
Keyaz and Kanchorao killed him,
But could not find his corpse.
Tiger Ayikoler Manas,
Had many mysterious protectors by his side.
One of them arrived there,
Transferred Semtay to a mysterious place.
Maybe he has been cured,
Maybe he is not dead at all.

"Semtay must come back to his people,
If invaders unite and go against him,
He considered them lower than his pants legs.
Karamark and Khitan people in the past,
Colluded with strong Kaidan people,
Felt itchy for a try.
Wushan led Karamark people,
All turned out for a battle.
Muradler came and joined them proudly,
Orokger rode on an elephant,
Came and entered the sneak attack.

"Semtay dropped his guard,
The enemies besieged the city.
Two warriors were not with him,
They had gone to herd their livestock on mountains.
When Buruler steed was ready,
Lion's son Semtay,
Mounted the steed and rushed out of the city gate.

"Enemies headed by slave Kunwuer,
Fled in all directions,
They tried their best to keep their lives.
Muradler, Wushan, Niskara,
And Orokger were killed on the spot.
Has anyone ever seen,
Such a scene of fighting enemies bravely,
And defeating invaders!

"Hero Krichorao,
You fulfill the task of escorting for your neohew,
Ayichulek,
You get the support from another group of people.
Seytek,
You achieve another big thing in your life,
Do not stay long and set out tomorrow.
You will overturn Keyaz's throne,

You will return to your homeland Talas.

"When you kill Kanchorao,
Take Sire city back,
Then you come back to Urum,
Take Gulinar away with you."

Tatalbek's bosom words.
Urum people headed by Olus Khan,
They all agreed and praised.
Ayichulek and krichorao,
Agreed on old Khan's advice too.

They stayed there for two more days,
Then mounted and returned.
Seytek and Ayichulek,
Returned to Keyaz's palace.
Krichorao slone,
Toward Kankoler's Sire city,
Toward Kirgiz Arashi with white felt hat,
Toward the capital hero Ayikoler once built,
Whipped and galloped.

Krichorao Returned to Talas

Krichorao Met Kargalday

Ayichulek and Seytek,
Returned to Keyaz's place,
Told him their experience:
"I have proposed for our son,
Also held the proposing ceremony for them.
When the time of frost comes,
We will let you take the lead,
And welcome your daughter-in-law back home.

"The betrothal gifts and other etiquette,
We should try to follow the rules.
Do you agree on my idea?
We want to know what you are thinking."

Keyaz kept silent,
Said no good words and no bad words either.
Who knew what he was thinking,
What plots he was planning!

Seytek went to where horses were again,
Waited for his uncle to come back early,
He looked toward Talas eagerly.

Your hero uncle Krichorao,
Look, how he diverted himself.
He rode on Surkoyun steed excitedly,
Galloped toward Talas.
He raised his hands and prayed for father Manas,

He received his people's blessing and great trust,
Mounted and set out on a hard and long journey.
For the sake of meeting Kanikai and Bakay,
Hero Kris galloped forward in a hurry,
He came to the edge of Timirtao mountain.

Torsoldoy's son Kargalday,
Stayed at home and felt bored,
He did not wear felt hat and wore a cap,
He went out on a horse with no saddle.
He was just over twenty years old,
He was outgoing but careless.
He had become excellent hunter,
He made swans dare not rest on lake surface,
He made snow cocks had no way to flee.

Kalgalday calculated in his mind,
He would hunt female argali in valley today.
He rode on his horse and marched on the hillside,
Went toward the direction of hero Krichorao.

Krichorao saw him in a distance,
He reined his horse and stopped.

At the edge of Timirtao mountain,
There was a valley.
It was a trackless valley,
It was called Bakay's Tuyouk valley[①].

Krichorao dismounted there,
Said to the steed: "This is a place you are familiar,
Let you drink the sweet water here,
Let you eat grass with a fragrance of rice now."

He let Surkoyun steed free,

① Tuyouk valley: Kirgiz language. It means a valley with a dead end.

He took off his fine clothes off,
And put on beggar clothes.
Toward the man came to him,
He walked up in poor clothes.

Smart Surkoyun steed,
Its ears were like scissors.
It reckoned it was not the dream but the truth,
The poor animal cried miserably,
Tears swarmed out of its eyes.

It thought it was Kankoler,
It thought it finally saw its loving hometown.
It reached its mouth to water and drank it,
It opened its mouth and tasted the grass.
It lay down and rolled and shook,
It seemed it smelled the fragrance of Kankoler dirt.

Kargalday saw the beggar traveled on foot,
Krichorao came up to him excitedly,
A warm glow swept over Kargalday's heart.
He could not greet on the horseback,
He dismounted immediately,
According to Kirgiz etiquette,
He crossed two hands over his chest,
Made a salute and greeted Krichorao.
Krichorao accepted the greeting,
But he did not take a special look of the young man,
He just gave a light glance at him,
He knew he was an outgoing young man.

The young man asked:
"Please tell me where are you from?
Why do not you ride a horse but go on foot?
You do not have a gun with you if I say you are a hunter.
If I have no animal trap with you,
If I say you are a beast trapper,

It seemed that you came here because you lost your way."
Krichorao heard the young man's questions,
He did not reply immediately to ease his excitement:
"My cute naughty boy,
Fortunately we meet in the wilderness,
If I have fine clothes to wear and horse to ride,
If I have tools with me to hunt,
My benefactor, will I still bathe in sweat,
And struggle on the hard journey?

"I am a man wander everywhere,
Look at me carefully.
I drink cold water and wander about the streets,
Eat in household who accommodates me.
I am alone with no companion,
Wander in the wilderness alone.
I heard Kirgiz people are rich and generous,
I am going to visit them,
Maybe I can get what I lack.

"My kid, what is your name?
Who is your father?
Since we meet here in the wilderness,
Let me know your identity."

The young man began to talk,
About his background:
"My big brother,
You leave our home and come here.
I was born in Kirgiz tribe,
My hometown is in Kankoler,
My father's name is Torsoldoy.
He is always sad and cries alone,
He cried himself blind.

"My name is Kargalday,
I have nothing to do at home and feel bored,

I come here to relieve my boredom.
My home is down the mountain and in the plain,
We only have cows and goats,
We make a living on milking cows and goats.

"My father has been over sixty years old,
I cannot wander in the wilderness too long,
I need go back home soon.
I invite you to go with me,
Stay at my home for two or three days,
You can talk with my father,
Talk with him freely.
Though my father can see nothing,
But he will be satisfied through talking."

While they were talking,
The sun went down and the evening closed in.
They went forward in the hills,
They encountered a flock of female argali.

Kargalday lifted his gun immediately,
He shot one female argali.
Kargalday ran to the game hurriedly,
Butchered the argali.
Then carried it on the colt back,
They went on foot.

There were livestock everywhere,
Numerous roofs of luxury houses,
Grand and magnificent black city,
Appeared in front of Krichorao.

Hero Krichorao gazed with his eyes wildly open,
As if absorbed in thought.
He was about to speak but saying nothing for a few times,
Just licked his lips with his tongue.
Smart young man Kargalday noticed it:

"Does he feel scared?
Look at his giant body,
He is not like a coward.
Maybe he is having something in his mind,
When he met me in the wilderness,
Why does he always ask about my father?"

When Kargalday turned this over in his mind,
Krichorao saw a figure,
Rushing around and herding calves,
In Tarmalsaz grassland.
"Hey, cute young boy,
Forgive me for forgetting your name,
Please point where your house is,
I will go to visit later.
Look, I sweat and smell bad,
I need go and wash myself in the river first."

Kargalday replied at the moment:
"My respected brother,
My father is older than you,
We have pottery water vat and water kettle,
We also have wooden bailer.
You cannot take a bath with cold water,
You cannot part with me here.
I have a virtuous wife,
She can prepare warm water for you at home."

"I appreciate it, Kargalday,
Look, how clear the water is.
I understand from your introduction just now,
Kankoler is the name of this place.
This is lion Manas' hometown,
Arashi people live here.
If I do not bathe in this river,
It does not make sense.
I predicted my sweat I have today,

Will wash all my misery off,
Will bring me my happiness tomorrow."

Krichorao told Kargalday,
A lot of meaningful words,
Then he stayed there.
Kargalday pointed him where his house was,
Said he would wait at his door,
To avoid his dog acting bad to the guest.

Kargalday set out and went home,
Let's see what Krichorao's arrangement was.
He had two important things in his mind,
He thought the woman herded the calves,
Was probably aunt Kanikai,
He guessed like this.

Kanchorao built splendid castle for himself,
He lived separately with others,
He moved and lived alone in other place.
He abandoned Artenbulak Mazar,
No one was in charge and no one worshiped.

It was the river Manas washed his feet,
It was the river Semtay washed his hands,
It was the river Bakay and Kanikai made tea everyday,
Anyone saw it would feel it was amazing.

The river made him long for,
The river made people drink it happy,
Was as sweet as honey,
Was as tasty as horse milk wine.
It did not freeze in deep winter,
It did not get warmer in hot summer,
It did not change color and did not change the taste either.
Krichorao had long eagerly awaited,
Drinking water from the river.

"I will quench my thirst with the spring water,
I will make up my mind and tighten my belt,
Go to father's tomb,
Pray for and worship father's spirit.

"If I do not bathe in Kankoler's river,
If I do not drink Kankoler's spring water,
If I do not pray for the hero's spirit,
How can I go into the village?

"If I do not ask about uncle's whereabouts,
Just rush to the Ayinla,
How can I find where he is now?"

Respectful lion turned this over in his mind,
Moved his heaven steps slowly.
He bathed in the river as much as he liked,
He stretched his arms and legs,
It seemed he became taller.
He became excited and his chest heaved rapidly,
He was going to burst into tears.

He rushed at once to the spring,
Could not control the impulse in his heart,
Flung himself down by the spring,
Reached his head down in the water.
He drank the spring water greedily,
He was anxious to drink all spring water,
It made his belly as round as a ball.

He showed Krihcorao's true color,
He stood up and lost in thought.
He opened his eyes wide and concentrated,
Calmed down and calculated again.
He looked round and chose a target,
Rushed directly to the front,

Approached the place where the old woman herded.

He saw the old woman was Kanikai,
It seemed her experience was extremely miserable.
The poor and ragged clothes on her,
Could not completely cover her body.
She heard acquaintance would present her clothes,
Chachykai did not allow resolutely,
She said Kanikai had worn out all she could have.

Kanikai dare not set her legs apart,
Huddled up and dare not stretch out.
She became a fist-size old woman,
She could be lifted up with one hand.
Her hair fell too much and nearly nothing was left,
The rest short hair was unkempt,

When Krichorao saw his mother's appearance,
His heart was burning,
Sadness and anger filled up his bones!
"How can I get close to her?
Her body is not covered.
How can I visit my mother?
If I know it is like this,
I will bring sister-in-law together and visit mother."
The idea flashed past his mind,
He walked way silently.
He was going to see Bakay,
He would watch him carefully by the side.

Roared male camels,
Young male camels shook heads and flicked tails,
Female camels raised their heads high,
Baby camels skipped and jumped about,
They were arrogant and pride,
Bakay had no mount and it was impossible to tame them.
He held a wood stick in his hand,

His hurry steps moved forward.
His long beard flew in wind,
Crossed his shoulders and draped on his back.

Every of his mustache stood up,
He was skinny with a pale face and standing hair.
His hair was never trimmed,
It was unkempt like stallion's mane.

His back was bent and could not stand upright,
His eyes were open but with a dull look.
He almost stumbled down,
He thought he was going too hurriedly.

Krichorao saw everything,
He bit his lip broken sadly,
He felt his bones all over his body would be smashed.

When he saw mother Kanikai,
He was overwhelmed by grief.
When he saw Khan Bakay,
Miserable bloody tears swelled up in his eyes.
He prayed to God solemnly:
"If God makes my wish fulfilled,
I will give those two damned evil enemies,
To Khan Bakay and let him try them in person!"

It got dark,
The night was coming.
Torsoldoy's son Kargalday,
Lead his colt and returned home in a hurry.
He ordered his wife as he came in:
"A guest will come today,
You should cook earlier,
And let the guest take a rest early.
After the guest go to sleep,
You go and milk cows and goats,

It will not be too late."

His wife Akmandai,
Replied him:
"You have not brought the guest back,
You have been so restless,
If the guest does not want to go to sleep early,
He can talk with father for longer time.
If the guest you invite is outgoing,
It proves you are able to recognize great people.

"When there were guests at home in the past,
You did not care,
You just sat by the side silently.
What's wrong with you today?
Why are you so worried and hurried?
Whom do you invite and where is the guest?
You should tell me first,
Then I will butcher goat and treat him warmly!"

Kargalday was so excited,
He rushed here and there:
"You stir fry meat first,
Then I will butcher a goat for the guest.
The guest will come today is a beggar,
I am curious about him and appreciate him too.
At Talaxia hill,
I encountered him.
We stood there and talked,
A female argali appeared in front of me.
It seemed it was tied there,
It stood still not far from me.

"I shot the female argali down,
Put it on the back of my colt.
We came down the hill together,
Came to the edge of Tarmalsaz.

We saw Kanchorao's castle,
He asked me who built it,
He looked at Mazarsu river,
Angry light sprayed out of his eyes.

"He was filled with rage,
He gnashed his teeth in anger.
I was so scared that my joints all shook,
I was almost scared out of my wits.

"He asked me to point him my house,
He said he would visit us in the evening.
He said he was too dirty,
He would wash in the river first.
The man said he would stay there alone,
He asked when I was going to leave:
'What is your name and is your father well?'

"I did not come home directly,
I climbed on the hill,
Watched his movement secretly.
I saw from a distance,
He went to the place where aunt Kanikai herded calves.

"He took a bath in Mazarsu river,
Do you know that he is different from ordinary people?
He walked along the spring,
He saw Bakay herding camels,
He stopped and watched for a long time.

"I stood on the hill and watched clearly,
He grabbed his collar,
He got so angry.
His eyes splashed with flames,
I saw his eyes on the hill.
Then he turned round and came this way,
I guess he will arrive at our yurt soon."

Kargalday told Akmandai,
What he had seen.
Torsoldoy lay in the room,
Heard their conversation.
"My kid Kargalday,
Is it a truth or a lie you just said?
If it is true,
Is not it God's blessing?
Almanbet's son lion Krichorao,
He was born to give you good luck.
Will he really come here?
My kid, invite him to come quickly.

"If he is really Krichorao,
I am so lucky to sit by him.
As long as I can eat his leftover in his bowl,
As long as I can kiss his chest,
I will completely recover in forty days,
I will get rid of my blind eyes and see again.

"I will plead him sincerely,
Ask him to bring me a pinch of dust from Sire city,
I put it on my eyes for three times,
I will completely recover.
Son, you will become very lucky,
Because you meet the lion on your way.

"Since hero Krichorao left,
My daughter-in-law had no mood to embroider,
You did not get a position as official.
We are Ajibayi's neighbor,
So we have had enough of Kanchorao's rejection.

"Chachykai and Kanchorao,
Elbowed out Kermanbayi.
They did not allow him to do good to ordinary people,

Made everyone get angry with him."

Torsoldoy stopped here,
Dogs outside barked suddenly.
Young Kargalday went out of the room hurriedly,
Stepped swiftly to the guest.
Some male dogs barked,
But dare not attack.
Young Kargalday rushed busy around,
Welcomed the guest into the room.

Krichorao stepped in the room,
Saluted elder Torsoldoy.
The elder stretched his hands immediately,
Accepted his greetings.

Krichorao held the elder's hands,
Torsoldoy stroked Krihcorao's hands,
Said excitedly:
"Are you a leopard or a lion?
I cannot see you.
But I feel your hands are so warm,
Are you my sun Krichorao?

"Now I am blind,
I cannot see your sun-like face,
I smell your musk-like fragrance,
I am sweating allover,
I feel very comfortable!"

Krichorao replied him:
"People all say,
If Kanchorao hears the name Krichorao,
He will gnash his teeth with anger.
I am a poor beggar,
I cannot find a place to stay,
Do I come here to get me killed?

"Elder, please tell me what is your name?
If you keep talking with such a loud voice,
I cannot spend the night in your Ayinla."

Old Torsoldoy said:
"My son and daughter-in-law,
Will not let out my words,
You do not need to worry about it.

"If you are not Krichorao,
You must be the messenger Krichorao sends here,
Your track has proved it.
Listen to me although I cannot see,
Since Semtay disappeared,
Since Krichorao got injured,
Since Ayichulek became a trophy,
Artenbulak Mazarsu,
Has had no one visited and worshiped.

"The place Kanikai stays,
Never has been visited.
Bakay suffers greatly,
No one dare visit either.
You went to Bulak and bathed there,
You witnessed Kanikai's miserable life,
You observed Bakay's hardships.

"You watched from afar,
The castle Kanchorao built,
Why did you shake your head sadly?
I have heard all these,
So I can conclude Krichorao has come to this place.

"My only son Kargalday,
Treats me, blind Torsoldoy, very well,
He never makes things difficult for me.

He delivers food to Bakay,
Never let other people notice.
Kargalday goes everyday,
Gives Bakay thoughtful attentions.

"Giant Bakay is as thin as a lath,
He herds camel everyday.
Old giant Bakay,
Herds camel on foot poorly.
Humiliations Bakay suffered,
Living people never experienced.

"What a pity, such a good man is abused,
His living condition is worse and worse.
Kanikai's life is harder than him,
She sometimes even has no time to drink water,
Chachykai abused her badly.

"If Kanikai drives calves,
And picks dung in Ayinla,
They will not let women and kids see her.
If someone sees or hears her affair,
Chachykai will create all sorts of obstacles for her.

"Do not allow her to walk in people yards,
Do not allow her to talk with fellow people,
Do not allow her to taste fellow people's food.

"When the hot summer comes,
Do not allow her to wear dress,
Hope her to become dry jerky.
When the cold winter comes,
Do now allow sear warm clothes,
Hope her hands and feet to freeze.

"Give him very limited amount of yogurt in summer,
Give her a little meat soup in winter.

When I hear Kanikai and Bakay,
Are suffered from merciless humiliation,
My heart is bleeding."

Torsoldoy finished what he wanted to say,
Then passed out tiredly.

Kargalday and Akmandai,
Were busy with cooking,
Carried the cooked meat on the tablecloth.
Then brought a lamb,
They woke their father up,
Let the guest pray for them.

They even did not leave the lamb thin intestines,
Put them all in pot and boiled.
Filled a big basin with cooked meat,
Put in front of his father and Krichorao.

Krichorao watched and found,
Young Kargalday,
Talked secretly with his wife:
"My wife, these two ribs,
We should send to Khan father and mother secretly",
They discussed and saved two pieces of meat.

Krichorao watched carefully,
Heard what they talked,
Krichorao appreciated the young man very much,
He thought they were clear about what was right and wrong,
They were very kind.

It was time to go to sleep,
Kargalday and Akmandai,
Spread fine bedding at the upper place of the room,
Let his father and the guest sleep well.
They said it was their turn to guard their livestock,

So they carried their bedding and went out.

People closed door and stopped going out at night,
People all fell asleep.
Torsoldoy lay down and could not fall asleep,
Poured out his heart to Krihcorao:
"My honorable guest,
I bother your sleep, please forgive me.
I guess from your palm and smell,
You are hero Krichorao.
The earth shakes if you move slightly,
I guess you are lion Krichorao.
If I leak the secret,
Let my family be ruined.

"Since you come to my home,
My heart becomes light,
I have full of hope suddenly.
I lie here shoulder to shoulder with you,
I am so excited and so happy,
I cannot close my eyes and go to sleep."

Hero Krichorao answered him:
"You are an experienced elder,
You can see through with great insight.
I lose my way and wander everywhere,
Come to your place lonely.

"You gave a name Krichorao,
You get close to me specially.
I cannot tell lie,
Fall in dilemma in front of you.

"Please give me some time,
You also can have a good sleep.

"Every beggar should go to Mazar and worship,

I will go and worship Ayikoler's grave.
I will hold his spirit and cry loudly,
Cry out my endless thoughts.

"I will go to Sire city,
Bring back a bag of sacred dirt and present to you.
I will come back to you,
I will stay a few more days then."

When the lion stood up slowly,
He was going to set out at night
Torsoldoy grabbed his hand:
"My honored guest, please,
Open your clothes and let me smell."
Krichorao thought God should punish the old man,
He would not let him go if he did not agree,
He had no choice but opened his clothes.
Torsoldoy stretched his head,
Smelled Krichorao's special smell,
He cried excitedly:
"From yesterday,
I have a presentiment of good luck,
In this false world,
There is always someone can walk through the disaster!"

Hero Krichorao said:
"Ok, Torsoldoy, calm down,
You should respect my decision.
I will go to black mane wolf's grave,
I cannot delay and I must do it now.
I will ask my father Ayikoler,
I want to know whether I can go to battle."

Krichorao wanted to go to Ayikoler's grave,
Torsoldoy could not stop him.
Kargalday and Akmandai,
Stood by the side and listened to their talk.

They talked to each other in low voice excitedly:
"It seems God gives us blessings."

They could not control their happiness,
They were overjoyed.
Kargalday said to his wife:
"God gives us blessings,
By mistake,
Lion Krichorao comes to our home.
It seems my dream comes true,
My good fortune is coming on the way.
If lion Krichorao returns,
I will be at least a manager in the palace."
The couple discussed secretly.

Krichorao Visited Ancestors' Tombs and the Spirits Made Their Presence

Krichorao walked out of the yurt quietly,
He groped forward carefully.
Under the cover of the night,
He came to lion Ayikoler's tomb.

Poor hero was extremely grieved,
He could not help crying.
He did not have strength to talk,
He tortured his poor life.
His tears ran down in streams,
He cried sadly:

"My ancestor, lion Ayikoler Manas,
My hometown, vast Talas,
My father, Almanbet,
He was your bosom friend.
Your contemporary, agile Chuwak,
Was with you since you were little.
Your brother, hero Sirak,
His heroic achievement is always in people's heart.

"I shed my tears here,
Please give me power and courage.
I, Krichorao, suffer from disasters,
My body was pierced through.
My two scapula were cut off,
My gristles were cut off.

"Please understand your fellow people's sufferings,

Let Talas people have everything they wish,
Let them get rid of Kanchorao's slavery!

"Big brother was born after the prayer,
I do not think he is dead.
Wise Khan Koshaoyi's blessing,
Once brought prosperous to them.
Khans have passed away,
I will pray to their spirits.

"Elder Bakay is still alive,
But he is suffering from endless cruelty.
I could not approach my mother,
I could not watch her embarrassed look.
Your son also wants to be free,
But Talas gets so narrow to me.

"You partner once slept in your arms,
Now is suffering great humiliation.
My uncle Bakay,
Once was always together with you,
Discussed big issues and the future.
He is the outstanding sage in the world,
Now he lives a miserable life.

"Seytek grows up lonely,
He tosses and turns and cannot go to sleep at night,
He misses hometown Talas.
Ayichulek was very anxious,
She misses fellow people of white felt hat.
Father Ayikoler, please promise me,
Bless me a bright future!"

Hero Krichorao opened his arms,
Embraced the threshold of the tomb tight,
He crouched there,
Poured out his heart sadly.

His tears ran like streams,
Like waves surged on lake.

He was overwhelmed by grief,
He was exhausted and calmed down gradually.
His father Almanbet Sultan,
Had great compassion for his poor and lonely son.
He decided to help at the moment.

Light appeared from the eastern horizon,
Stars all over the sky,
Rushed to the west in a hurry.
A heavy gale blew from west suddenly,
It roared and swept the earth.

Tiger roared suddenly,
It made the earth and mountain shaken.
A big flock of male camels came in anger,
White foams sprayed out their mouths.
Many elephants came with heavy paces,
Tall and strong hero galloped his steed and arrived.

He swung the long spear in his hand,
He mounted strong Ackura steed,
He wore wide Ackube battle gown,
He held shining Ackelty firelock on his shoulder,
He carried shining Achy Albars battle knife,
His Khitan style red drum,
Will make sound loudly even a fly knocks it.
Black mane wolf's charming glow,
Was towering like high mountains.

Clouds over Talas were expelled immediately,
Flowers blossomed everywhere.
Hero Krichorao felt comfortable,
His warm body sweated.

Another hero rode on Kokala[1] steed,
Wore blue Lapis long robe,
He was as tall as a plane tree,
If invaders from all directions invaded together,
He could swallow them all once.

His eyebrows were as thick as black sheep crouched there,
His head was like the round top of a white tomb.
His prestige was aggressive like cold wind in wilderness,
If you want to know his real appearance,
His body was like a hill when he stood upright.
He looked as great as full grain,
A warrior like him was few in the world.

His face was covered with anger when he got angry,
His look was like burning flame.
Even if he just strolled,
It was still like a storm.
He was famous Chuwak,
He appeared in such a majestic way.

The hero right after him,
Rode on Ayisariala[2] steed.
He wore light black long robe with gold edge,
Strong bow and sharp arrows crossed his shoulders.
He wore lark-eye-style multi-layer armor,
Sewed with Badana iron sheets,
Held red spear with blue tassel.
He could knock enemy down easily,
No one could run out of his palm.
His face flashed with golden light,
He never beat about the bush when he talked,

1 Kokala: It refers to green white-spotted horse.

2 Ayisariala: Ayi means moonlight. Sariala means cream-like colour. It is the name of the horse. It means moon-like cream-colour steed.

He was in high spirits and radiant with vigor,
He carried sword on his waist.
Gold-made Malakay helmet,
Buckled tight on his head.

He was alone with his steed,
Facing Kunwuerbayi, Georoy, Niskara,
Facing Bolangchu and girl Saykal,
Facing Bozkertik and Oronko,
Facing Muradler and Wushan,
He never felt feared and fought bravely.
Budanchang rode on Kerk Kuron steed,
He made his blood shed like water.

He could poke the vital part as he poked the spear out,
Thousands of giants and warriors,
He threw them several meters away like pheasant.
He pricked giant Majili to death,
He wiped Bolangchu out,
He defeated Kunwuerbayi and made him flee away hurriedly.
He was like making of steel,
He was general Almanbet.

The warrior came right after him,
Was strong and heroic in bearing.
Since he was nine years old,
His heroic name was spreading wide in the world.
In the fierce battle in Begin city in the past,
He was brave and admired.
In the battle in Afghanistan in the past,
He directly faced the rushing elephant bravely.
Afghanistan people covered him with iron net,
They could not drag him back to their camp.

He rode on Tilkerzil steed,
Iron-made armor was his uniform.
His Nakaner boots had bronze shoe heel,

It fitted him beautifully.
He tied iron belt on his waist,
He rushed about and no one could stop him.

Crack troops and brilliant generals in Begin,
Were all scared of him.
He fought alone in the battle in Begin,
He challenged one hundred thousand Kangayi and hundreds of Karlday,
He made them suffer a crushing defeat.

Kunwuerbayi was scared out of his wits,
In order to keep his barely-alive life,
He abandoned Alkara steed and ran away on foot.
No matter what kind of enemies he met,
He never yielded and gave up.
He was outstanding Sirak,
He was a world famous general,
He was also on the way with them.

The warrior followed tight after him,
Kokala steed had a horse cloak on,
Blue Kobe robe covered over its body,
You only could see its head.
It was hard to find such a hero in the world,
He and intelligent and courageous hero Manas,
They were always together.
He was Ayidar Khan's brave son Kokcher,
He was also coming with them.

Held a fine horse whip in the hand,
Rode on mountain-size Toru steed,
Who else knew what he knew?
His blessing made his hometown prosperous.
He was sage Koshaoyi,
He also came with other heroes.
Hero came after him,

Was Budayk Khan's son Muzburchak,
His thick beard was lapful.
He put the white wrap sideways on his head,
There was blood all over his body,
He wrapped himself with Sufu fabric.
He rode on white steed,
He and uncle Bakay were friends until death,
They are life-long sworn brothers,
He came together with heroes.

Forty warriors headed by Kergelchal,
Incomparable Began Ajibayi,
He has a gentle nature and a silver tongue,
He even did not injure the sheep in the least,
He galloped his steed and marched ahead with other heroes.

Almanbet was marching ahead,
He said to Krichorao:
"My son, in front of you,
There is no difficulty cannot be overcome.
Do not talk back,
To your unique and wise brother.
You should repay your mother's nurturing grace,
Remember her all the time.
In front of old Bakay Khan,
Do not cut in his way.
Do not make the back of the mount worn with saddle,
For Arashi Kirgiz with felt hat,
Do not hurt their feeling!

"You should go and discuss with your sister-in-law,
Then go back to Talas as soon as possible,
Do not delay at all.
You should give the power of making decisions,
Always to giant Bakay.
If you each act of your own free will,
None of you will achieve what you wish.

"Sage Koshaoyi led massive troops,
Did you see?
Make enemies with beast-like people,
People were killed, did you see?
Broad-minded Manas was bright as moon,
Point out the way for you, do you see it?"
Almanbet whipped the steed and got close to his son,
Stroked Krichorao's shoulder gently.

Hero Krichorao reached his hands out suddenly,
Wanted to shake hands with him and greet him,
His closed eyes opened suddenly,
It was just a dream,
Everything disappeared in front of his eyes.

Krichorao opened his eyes and felt surprised,
He thought: "Though it is a dream,
It predicts our career will be successful."

Accompanied by Hero Ayikoler,
Met with ancestors,
Krichorao's happiness was surging in his heart.
In the charming moment,
The whole world became full of vigor suddenly:

Like when Semtay was alive,
Stars in the sky were all shining.
It seemed the sun rose in the east,
It lightened the earth.
Breeze swept gently,
Vast Kankoler was cool.

Flowers blossomed colorfully,
Ever-green pines drifted fragrance.
Luxuriant grass rippled with wind,
Clear stream ran silently.

Leaves on trees rustled in wind,
Like boy and girl's giggles.
Kuchala flower was crystal clear,
Butterflies flew in flowers,
Creatures in the world all sang for the hero's epiphany.

Fish swam in clear water,
Jumped and played happily.
Black Kunaz and Geogzbeast birds,
Gathered in groups and spread their wings.
Wild ducks quacked excitedly,
Wild geese screamed happily.
Mandarin ducks echoed each other,
Groups of falcon,
Flew up and down along the river.

Fish hawk flew freely over the lake,
Otters exposed their shining skin from river.
Larks and nightingales,
Sang to their heart content.
Red foxes and sliver foxes skipped and jumped,
Stuck their tails to the sky.
Tigers in mountains walked back and forth,
Lions opened their eyes and watched,
Leopards came out of caves one by one,
Bears all stood up and watched.

All birds and animals,
As seeing hero Ayikoler's spirit,
Felt comfortable.
White hunting dog had been sick for a lone time,
Jumped and barked suddenly.
White camel replaced the position of the black camel,
Rolled in the dirt and jumped up.
All ants turned out,
None of them hid in the holes.
Silver birch trees straightened their twisted bodies,

Grasshoppers called loudly.
Kestrels flew freely in the sky,
Korolu and Kashkaldak birds,
Circled sometimes high and sometimes low,
Passed the news to all creatures:
"Come and worship lion Ayikoler now."

Male argali jumped from the hill excitedly,
Wild hares pricked up their ears and hopped in grassland.
Deer waved their antlers,
With happy songs.
From birds in the sky to animals on the land,
They all could not help singing,
The singing echoed to the clouds.

Cattle mooed,
It seemed they said: "Kankolata,
The master of Talas has come!"

All horses stretched their bodies and braced up,
Those bony old horses,
Became fat suddenly.
One-year-old colts could not control their excitement,
With tails holding up and galloping ahead.

All camels were proud,
High camel humps were like hills.
They drooped the thick lips,
Ate enough fennel grass and wormwood,
Ruminated the special flavored wormwood.

It was like snow in spring,
Fell with Koldolong[1] in deep fall at the same time.
Sheep groaned,

1 Koldolong: Kirgiz language. It means the snow, which was as warm as a hide quilt, falls before the winter.

Goats twitched noses,
Sneezed one after another ceaselessly.

Could not hear infants' cry,
Even did not want to latch mother's milk,
Went into sweet dreams in cradles.
Old and shaky elders,
Young and ignorant kids,
Went to sleep smoothly,
Painful patients went to sleep peacefully.

Many people dreamed of divine spirit,
Tears well up in their eyes.
Kanchorao and Chachykai,
Had nightmares every night.
Upper teeth and lower teeth knocked,
They sweated every night.

Entered his dreaming Sire city,
Hero Krichorao did not stay at all.
He took a handful of dirt from the city gate,
Wrapped tight with white Kada fabric.
He rushed back to Ayinla,
Walked in Torsoldoy's yurt.

Torsoldoy, his son and his daughter-in-law,
Did not sleep at all the whole night.
Krichorao stepped in cautiously without any noise,
Akmandai stood up and greeted him.
Kargalday carried a yellow goat,
He would butcher it to pray for the peace.

Torsoldoy was overjoyed,
He believed his eyes could be cured:
"As long as my eyes are good again,
As long as I can see again,
Kanikai and Bakay's appearance.

As long as I can see again,
Ayichulek's graceful bearing.
As long as I can see Krichorao's majesty,
As long as I can see,
Semtay's only son Seytek,
Even if I become blind again,
I will have no regret!"

Krichorao Visited Kanchorao

Krichorao walked leisurely,
Came to Kanchorao's palace in the morning.
He pushed the door open and took a look inside,
Then stepped in.

Kanchorao lay in the throne,
Pompous,
And arrogant.
Chachykai stood by his side,
Dessert and food was in front of them.

Kanchorao did not take his stretched legs back,
Did not open his half-closed eyes either.
"My Khan,
How have you been?"
Kanchorao did not return a salute,
He leaned to one side and reached his hand out.
No one gave the guest a seat,
Hero Krichorao gracefully,
Sat on the felt on right.

Stupid woman Chachykai,
Was too lazy to talk.
The door opened at the moment,
Two slave girls came in.
Chachykai ordered them,
To bring the expired yogurt.
Slave girls brought expired yogurt and naan,

To Krichorao.

What had happened there,
Anyone who saw it would feel strange.
It was sacred homeland Talas,
No matter what food was put in the front,
It would reduce your luck if you do not taste.
Krichorao touched the yogurt with his lips,
Nipped off a piece of naan and put it into mouth slowly.

Krichorao expressed directly his purpose of coming calmly:
"Kanchorao, are you well?
I have come last night,
I did not disturb you rudely,
I spent the night in your yard.
Because this is your home,
If I accommodate at other's home,
I will feel bad.

"We grew up together and played together,
You are my brother.
I am like a walking flesh now,
I have to wander everywhere to keep me alive.

"Keyaz, God should punish him,
He took me to his territory,
But abandoned me.
I cut firewood during the day and feed horses at night,
I never have even one-day rest.

"I went to Ayichulek for three times,
To complain what I suffer.
But she wore Elichek sideways,
Kept a straight face and got angry with me.
She did not listen to my complaints at all,
She does not care me alive or dead at all.

"I have no choice,
But leave Jedigair secretly and come here.
I long to see your goat grey eyes,
You are my only reliable brother.
I come to you now,
Do not you want to listen to my miserable experience?"

Before Kanchorao replied,
Chachykai beat him to answer:
"You whipped your fine steed in the past,
You sore Burum elegantly.
You cared for nobody and aggrandized yourself,
Every time you hunted swans in wilderness,
You put it across the front of the saddle like holding a lamb,
Presented to Chulek quickly.

"We allow you to go with the siren to enjoy your life,
What are you doing here?

"You come here in a hurry,
It will cause Keyaz's complaints toward Kanchorao,
You will bring us troubles,
You break the peace and the world will be in a mess.
Do not think yourself smart and wander around,
Do not stay here after you eat full,
Return to your master as soon as possible."

After said to Krichorao,
Chachykai ordered the servants:
"Let the damned old woman,
Herd the rest calves!
Go to that lonely old man,
The camel fiber collected,
You should bring them all and leave nothing to him.

"Inform all women in Ayinla,
Come and wait for my order.

No one here will cook for them,
Ask them to prepare drink and food for themselves,
You should tell them clearly about it!"

Chachykai gave out such an order,
Called all women in her yard.
Asked them put up fence around,
To fluff camel fiber softer.
She made gestures to the women,
Used fellow people casually.
Then she went back to Kanchorao,
Lay by his side and enjoyed their life.

Krichorao lost in thought at the moment,
He calculated in his mind:
"Do I fix them now?
It is a god-given chance.
Do I wipe these two damned persons out now?
Do not leave a trouble to the future.
Do I behead them first,
Then report to Seytek and Chulek,
And express my regret?"
Then he remembered a saying:
"'Anger is a devil, reason is friend',
It is not thoughtful if I do it.

"Keyaz is a bloodsucker,
His life is not in his body.
If I do not discuss with sister-in-law,
I will not succeed if I act recklessly.

"Kanchorao's castle,
Is his palace where he acts like an overlord.
He recruits giants,
They are strong and tall like mountains.
He recruits super strong men in the world,
Their arms are like plane trees.

He has sixty giants under him,
It is not easy to kill him."

Krichorao calculated like this,
Stood up and left Kanchorao.
He did not let anyone notice,
He came to Torsoldoy's house quietly.

When Krichorao walked in,
Kargalday couple had returned.
"Kids, where did you go?"
Elder Torsoldoy asked his son and daughter-in-law.
Without any hesitation,
Kargalday replied directly:
"I went to see uncle Bakay,
Father,
Your daughter-in-law,
Went to see aunt Kanikai.
No one keeps an eye on him,
He finishes all food I deliver."

Krichorao said to Torsoldoy:
"Uncle,
Please pray for your son,
Let him go with me,
Go to the hill over there.

"Dear elder,
I bring a gift for you,
Now I will give it to you.
Smear on your eyes everyday,
Keep using for forty days.
You must remember the time,
So I can rest my heart and set out."

Torsoldoy understood:
"He will come in forty days.

He brings dirt from Sire city,
Gives it to me as a gift.
I smear it on my eyes everyday,
It must cure my eyes and I must see again."

Kargalday was overjoyed,
He was so excited that his heart was going to jump out.
He had prepared food and did not let Krichorao know,
He had been ready to go with Krichorao.

"Kargalday, please remember,
We cannot set out together from here.
You set out in the name of hunting,
We meet at the foot of Yuchy Koshaoyi mountain,
I will try best to catch up with you,
I will not delay."

Krichorao said to the young man,
He left with his poor clothes.

Kargalday mounted the saddled steed,
Leather bags with full of food were tied on the back the saddle.
He took a few plates of fried cakes,
Took dozens of naans,
And several bowls of crème.

He held his loved gun in the hand,
Carried the bow on his shoulder,
Carried belt of throwing rocks in his clothes,
Hunted on the way and went to Yuchy Koshaoyi mountain.

Before Kargalday arrived there,
Krichorao had arrived at Talasha in Timir mountain.
Although Surkoyun steed was resting,
It had noticed its master's coming.
The steed woke up and shook and stood up,
Its mane and tail was beautiful.

Krichorao fondled the steed's forehead,
He did not think the steed could not understand human,
He told the steed what he had seen and heard.
When it heard the name Kanikai,
Surkoyun neighed sadly.
When it heard the name Bakay,
Surkoyun cried into the air.

When it heard Kanchorao's name,
Surkoyun shook with anger.
When it heard Chachykai's name,
Surkoyun pawed the ground with its fore hoof angrily,
It dug several deep holes on the grassland.

When it heard the name of spirit,
Surkoyun got excited.
It raised its head high and stuck its mane up,
It seemed it showed the respect to the spirits.

Hero Krichorao saddled Surkoyun steed,
Mounted gracefully.
He galloped around the hill,
In a blink of an eye,
He arrived at the appointed place at Yuchy Koshaoyi mountain.

Kargalday arrived there first,
He felt scared when he saw Krichorao's figure.
No matter how he encouraged himself,
He was still scared out of his wits,
He had to turn his horse round and run away.
His clothes edge made great noise,
His feet had left stirrups.

Hero Krichorao had been bored too long,
How could he give up this chance for fun?
He whipped and galloped Surkoyun steed,

Came in the front and blocked Kargalday's way.

Kargalday was quite taken aback,
He turned the horse round and rushed back.
He felt dizzy and could not get rid of him,
He thought he had no way to go.

Outstanding fine steed Surkoyun,
Galloped its hooves forward.
Hero Krichorao shouted,
And rushed to the front of Kargalday:

"Hey,
What's wrong with you, Kargalday?
Where are you running to?
Kargalday,
It has been two days,
We live in one room and eat together.
I am the guest at your house,
How cannot you recognize me?"

"I have never seen you before,
How do I know your name?
How are you familiar with me?
The guest I saw has no mount,
He has no such fine clothes on him,
He only wears ragged camel cloak."

Kargalday had many questions,
He felt he could not get rid of him.
He dismounted and came on foot,
Held the rein in his hand.

Hero Krichorao saw his expression,
The hero burst into laughter.

Kargalday fixed his eyes and watched,

He was sure the guest at his house.
He blamed himself for not seeing clearly,
He was hero Krichorao his father mentioned.

"Come on here,
Brother Kargalday,
Where is Kermanbayi's Ayinla, please?
I want you to deliver him an oral message,
Bring him secretly to me!"

Kargalday galloped away,
His mount sweated all over.
Kargalday whipped his steed,
The waving whip did not stop.
During the time of cooking a pot of lamb,
He arrived at Kermanbayi's village.

Cute young man Kargalday,
Walked in and saluted.
As soon as seeing him,
Kermanbayi knew there was important thing.
"Is it Kanchorao's decision,
To send Kargalday here?
Or the young man gets news from afar,
Does he specially come and deliver me the good news?"
Kermanbayi guessed,
About the young man's purpose of coming.

He invited Kargalday to take a seat,
Asked servant to bring basin to wash hands,
Spread tablecloth and put on plates,
There were full of delicious food in plates.
They took the tablecloth away after they enjoyed the food,
Lifted their hands and prayed.
Kargalday started to say,
He passed on hero Krichorao's opinion:
"Numerous outstanding warriors come,

Gather at the foot of Yuchy Koshaoyi mountain.
There are countless wild goats,
They invite you to hunt with them,
They send me specially to invite you.
They warn me not to stay here for the night,
Ask me to take you and go back this very same day.
Brother Began,
Let's go now!
We have a lot more to say on the way."

Kargalday stood up immediately,
Showed him a hurried expression.
Kermanbayi's steed Sutokbes[1],
Had been saddled and tied on the pole.
It went fast and steady,
Even a bowl of water on its back would not shake.

Kermanbayi wore Kemantayi,
He got ready and set out immediately.
Kermanbayi was in the front,
Whipped and galloped Sutokbes forward.
Kargalday followed Kermanbayi tight,
Launched into endless information he saw and heard.
Damned[2] Sutokbes,
Had disappeared in the sight.
They were close to where Krichorao stayed,
They finished the long journey fast.

It was a night with no moon,
Only hero Krichorao's Surkoyun,
Cream white fur was shiny and silvery.
Kermanbayi saw Surkoyun,
He dismounted and came to Krichorao.

1 Sutokbes: It is the name of a horse. It means the horse would not shake even it carries water on its back.

2 Damned: It is antiphrasis Kirgiz people are used to.

"Ancestor Ayikoler's spirit,
Shows up today and blesses us.
My hero Krichorao,
Why do you wait here?
My sister-in-law as pretty as the moon,
Where is she now?

"Please tell me the fine steed's offspring,
The eagle's son Seytek,
Is your Young fellow's vigor,
Like a hawk[1] looks down to everything?

"Please tell me, your young fellow,
Do his wings fully grow?
Please tell me, your young fellow,
Does he grow up to a big tree with full of fruit?

"Please tell me, your young fellow,
Does he bring larks here to stay and sing?
Please tell me, your young fellow,
Does he inherit ancestors' rules and tradition?
Please tell me, your young fellow,
Does he see clearly what is before his eyes now and future?
Please tell me, your young fellow,
Does he distinguish close friends and strange people clearly?

"We have no choice but obey the adversity,
This is our destiny God gives us.
It has been more than five years,
I never visit Sire city again,
I did not visit uncle even once.
In Tarmalsaz grassland,
I saw aunt in distance.

[1] Hawk: It belongs to eagle class. It refers to the bird that has a shoulder like magpie's and has wings cover its whole body.

I fixed my eyes on the ground and my heart was tortured,
I had no heart to watch my dear ones to be humiliated.

"It was cloudy at that time,
It continued raining and was dark all the time.
Fellow people gathered and discussed,
Cried to move to Jetikayit.
Setertay came from the city,
He hinted us,
My sister-in-law was pregnant.

"I said we could not give up Talas,
Tried my best and persuaded them not to move.
My tiger hero, you finally come,
Talas fellow people have waited for you too long time!

"People's Began Setertay,
He knows the secret things of the palace well.
He never leaks to others.
He came to me secretly,
We discussed and made plans,
We live a life under other's administration,
Keep our lives hard here."

Kermanbayi just finished his words,
Hero Krichorao said:
"Kermanbayi,
Good fortune is smiling to you,
The boy you expected,
Has grown up into a big tree,
He is like a huge boat brave winds and waves.

"People expelled to Jetisu from Talas,
Have been strong and powerful like pythons.
What I have done get good reward,
Your big brother, I, has recovered completely.
The time of us going to battle is coming,

We should prepare food and do it.

"I look up and watch the moon,
Calculate the day and night carefully.
The fifteenth day of Bashiona[1] month,
Is Thursday,
You should keep it in mind.
Kermanbayi,
You are smart,
So do not delay.
You should go household to household now,
Deliver the news to smart people.

"On the fifteenth day of Bashiona month,
You must go to Manas' sacred grave,
Meet with your sister-in-law and the hero's only son!

"Tell fellow people that do not feel reluctant to leave the livestock,
Do not leave any adult at home.
Do not look back but march ahead bravely,
Go directly and attack Kanchorao's palace.

"At such a crucial moment,
Do not hesitate, fight bravely.

"Do not disturb,
Aunt Kanikai and Bakay Khan,
Hide from them temporarily.
Till we achieve the success,
Take over the power of administration.
Women and kids cannot stay either,
Let all fellow people gather at the appointed place."

Krichorao turned to Kargalday:
"Kargalday,

1 Bashiona: It is Kirgiz calendar. It refers to June.

Please hurry on,
Bring the leather bags with full of drink."
Krichorao and Kermanbayi,
Drank the drink in the leather bags happily.
They went on and talked,
It added gloss to Yuchy Koshaoyi mountain.

The parting time was coming,
Krichorao told young Kargalday:
"Say hi to your father Torsoldoy for me,
The message of me coming here,
Do not leak it to anyone."

Hero Krichorao was excited,
He mounted Surkoyun steed.
He said goodbye to Kermanbayi and Kargalday,
He turned his horse round quickly,
Stepped on the returning journey to Jetisu.

In a blink of an eye,
He climbed over the mountain and disappeared,
You only could see the dust behind him.
Among animals with four legs,
Could you find any one faster than Surkoyun steed?

Left numerous passes behind,
Left numerous uneven gentle slopes behind.
Left numerous rolling hills behind,
Left numerous valleys behind.
Left many flat prairies behind,
Left numerous clear rivers behind.
Left numerous stiff ridges behind,
Left numerous thick forests behind.
Left numerous overlapping mountains behind,
Left numerous gullies and deep valleys behind.
Left numerous long and difficult paths behind,
Left numerous wild animals behind.

Left many dry Gobi Deserts behind,
Left many boundless deserts behind.
